Splendid Quality Ice Being Stored

Despite the fact that well over a foot of snow covers the ice on the Bay of Quinte, storage ice absolutely free of snow-ice of any description is still being stored by the two local dealers who reap their annual harvest from the bay during the winter months. Storage of ice is now well underway although shortage of manpower has made it necessary to work with slightly reduced staffs resulting in slower operation.

Less than one half of the ice house at Callaghan's is now filled, it was reported by a worker today, while somewhat better progress had been accomplished at Smith's where it was stated another week would see storage facilities filled.

Thickness of ice on the bay has not increased any during the past few weeks, according to workers who indicated there was still only fifteen to sixteen inches of clear ice on the bay. What snow is on the ice may still be scraped off permitting clear ice to be packed into the ice houses.

Carmel

Carmel — Miss E. English of Belleville, Miss Hilda and Mr. Harold Howes and Mr. Joe Brintnell were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clare Horton on Saturday night of last week, Miss English spending the weekend.

Mrs. F. Whitney, a patient at Belleville General Hospital with a serious leg injury, is reported as doing favorably.

Mr. and Mrs. Garfield Cooney attended the funeral of Mr. A. Wilson at Bethel, last week.

The Radio Farm Forum met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gerow's on Monday night.

Miss Jean Latonne returned home after spending a week with Mr. and Mrs. Carl Sheffield at Corbyville. Mr. Earl Latonne is helping Mr. Sheffied get out wood this week.

Miss Ruth Brintnell, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Brintnell and little son, Leigh, of Oshawa, spent the weekend with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Brintnell; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Chambers and little sons, Gary and Glen, were Sunday guests also, as it was Mr. Brintnell's birthday.

Mr. Henry Juby has suffered another stroke and will be taken to Belleville General Hospital today.

Mrs. Frank Sullivan returned home last week after spending a few weeks with Mrs. Earl Pearsall of Picton.

5th Tyendinaga

5th Line Tyendinaga — The roads are now passable after the heavy storm of last week.

Mr. John F. Williams, who is spending the winter in Belleville, spent a few days in the community and attended the funeral of his sister, Mrs. Jno. Donnavon.

One evening last week a large number of neighbors and relatives gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas P. Walsh to tender them a party on the occasion of their wedding anniversary. Mrs. Jno. J. Murphy read an address of congratulations and Mrs. F. W. Brennan on behalf of the gathering, presented the couple with a beautiful set of dishes. Although taken completely by surprise they both made very suitable replies. Refreshments were served at midnight and everyone enjoyed a very pleasant evening.

Mrs. Edward Brennan Sr., is spending a week at the home of her son, Mr. F. W. Brennan.

Mr. Jno. Roach of Agincourt, spent the weekend at home, also the Misses Edna and Helen Roach of Belleville.

Mrs. Thomas Walsh recently had the misfortune to break her wrist. Glad to report she is recovering favorably.

Mr. Tom Cullin is erecting a new house.

Miss Rita McWilliams of Belleville, spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Henry McCullough and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin McDermott are moving to Hilton where Mr. McDermott will be employed in the cheese industry.

Mr. Gordon Doyle of Belleville, visited over the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Doyle.

A good crowd from this district attended the dance at Marysville on Friday night and reported an enjoyable evening.

Mr. Clare Brennan is on the sick list.

Mr. Leon Sagriff and Mr. Jno. Crawford are busy cutting wood for Mr. Jim Murphy.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Daly are spending the winter in Belleville.

Mrs. T. Quinn of Tweed visited for a week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Walsh.

FOUR DEAD IN STORM

Los Angeles, Feb. 23. (AP)—Four persons are dead and more than 300 had been evacuated from flooded homes today as a four-day storm, marked by floodwaters, snows, damaging tides, lightning, wind and a tornado, began tapering off.

Improving weather, with occasional moderate showers, was forecast. Rainfall totalled 7.17 inches, the heaviest downpour in six years.

RCAF Women's Auxiliary Marks Year of Success

Trenton, Feb. 23. (Special.)— The R.C.A.F. Women's Auxiliary has had a most successful year according to their financial statement released this week, and they are to be highly commended for the work which they are doing. Meetings are held each Monday afternoon in their neat and well-equipped workrooms on King Street, and it is the intention of the Auxiliary to open these rooms almost immediately for the use of the girls in the Air Force blue in and around Trenton, where they may go for a quiet hour of leisure, writing, reading or just getting acquainted.

The annual statement for the year 1943, audited by one of the bank managers in town, gives the following details:—

During the year the auxiliary held 22 dances which netted them $791.36, less all expenses, membership fees brought in 36; a garden party and rummage sales brought in $169.82, while other activities amounting to $300.18 brought the total receipts to $1,297.01. Expenditures which included $15 to the Greek Relief, $15 to St. George's Church, $125.30 to Red Cross Prisoners-of-War Fund, $100.15 to Red Cross Prisoners' Christmas Fund, and $100 to the Airmen's Mess, making the total donations of the auxiliary $355.45. Cigarettes for airmen overseas, mints and chocolate bars, ice cream and Christmas cheer for hospital patients, the latter covering a period of two years, amounted to $390.46. Special projects and miscellaneous expenditures amounted to $156.44, and general expenses for operating the auxiliary, inclusive of rent of room at $225 and room furnishings and expenses involved of $129.32, and other expenses coming to $35.63, bringing the total expenditures to $1,292.30. A balance of $229.42 was carried forward from 1942 which, added to the total receipts and less the total expenditures left a balance of $234.13 on hand.

Arrives Overseas.

Trenton, (Special.) — Word has been received here by his wife and by his parents, Dr. and Mrs. H. V. Wright, that Flying Officer Donald Wright has arrived safely overseas.

FO. Wright enlisted in June 1940 and trained at London, Ont., and Camp Borden receiving his wings at the latter station in December 1940. He was posted to Trenton, where he took an instructor's course later serving at Dauphin, Bagotville, Tofino, (Vancouver Island), Boundary Bay and Patricia Bay.

He was posted overseas in January this year.

A brother Flt. Sgt. Gerald Wright is stationed at Mont Joli, Que., in the Transport Branch, of the R.C.A.F.

Despite the stormy weather an exceptionally large crowd of ladies attended the Red Cross on Tuesday and much work was accomplished, together with several shipments made to headquarters. Two dollars was received from Miss Cochrane's Room No. 10 of Dufferin School and $1.95 was received as proceeds of raffle of home-made soup donated by Mrs. O. G. Alyea. Mrs. J. Shurie, Mrs. McAvoy and Mrs. R. Black were the lucky winners.

Mrs. C. V. Wilkins, sewing convener, stressed the need for women to make bed jackets and dressing gowns for the hospitals. These may be taken home and done during any spare time which might be available at home by those who are unable to attend the work rooms.

An announcement was made regarding the forth coming drive for Red Cross funds which begins next Monday and an appeal made for volunteers to do the canvassing. The objective for Trenton has been set at $8,500, the same as last year, and it is hoped each and every citizen will do his utmost to see that objective is raised. A house-to-house canvass is to be made and that means that many volunteers will be needed for this work. Those interested kindly contact the President, Mr. B. P. Joyce or the Secretary, Mrs. V. P. Carswell.

LAST OF QUADS DIES

Decatur, Ala., Feb. 24 —(AP)— Dianne Hutto, last of the quadruplets born to the 23-year-old wife of an army paratrooper Tuesday, died this morning in Benevolent Hospital.

Death, as in the cases of her two sisters and brother, resulted from "weakness and prematurity," hospital attaches said.

Her mother, Mrs. Spencer Edmund Hutto, 23, was in good condition. The father, Pte. Hutto, 25, came here yesterday from Fort Benning, Ga.

Build Up Strength and Energy to Guard Against Colds—Flu

Many Persons Taking Syntona Say They Have Had Fewer Colds. Rids System of Acids and Poisons. Improves Action of Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

Helps Throw Off Lingering After-Effects.

If you are unable to throw off the after-effects of colds, flu or grippe, you are probably rundown and need a good tonic like Syntona to improve the action of the stomach, increase appetite, promote elimination of excess acids and poisonous waste matter, and to purify the blood.

Syntona contains 12 medicinal ingredients in a perfectly balanced formula to give the best of results and hundreds who have used this new medicine state that they have never taken anything like it before.

Mrs. Jennie Rouse, of Elmira, says: "I was rundown, had a weak, sickly stomach and felt so nervous that the least thing startled me. I had pains through my side and chest and seemed to have pains through my joints and muscles. I'd get severe colds and didn't seem to be able to get rid of them.

"I started taking Syntona and right from the first my food began to digest better. The aches and pains went away and now it is wonderful how different I feel. The nervous, irritable feeling is all cleared up and I haven't had a cold since. I am certainly pleased with Syntona and I will use it whenever I am feeling rundown."

Syntona is sold and recommended in Belleville at DOLAN THE DRUGGIST.

HUGE FORCES OF R.A.F. STING GERMANY GREAT STRONGHOLD OF VITEBSK FALLS TO REDS

Schweinfurt Hit By 1,000 Bombers After U.S. Attack

Raids Also Pressed Home on Steyr in Austria—Nazis Lose 156 Planes Thurs.

R.A.F. LOSES 35

London, Feb. 25 — (CP) — Great formations of American heavy bombers carried the unprecedented Allied aerial offensive thundering through its sixth day today with smashes deep within Germany at aircraft production plants at Regensburg, Stuttgart, and other targets.

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
(Associated Press Staff Writer.)

London, Feb. 25 (AP)—The R.A.F., with "many squadrons" from the R.C.A.F. bomber group, took up the two-way scourge of the German aircraft industry Thursday night, flying 1,000 bombers from Britain to Schweinfurt.

Other R.A.F. formations flew from Italy to Steyr after the U.S. air force hit the same targets in simultaneous daylight blows from the western and southern bases Thursday.

An R.C.A.F. communique announced the loss of seven Canadian bombers, part of the total night's losses of 35 planes announced by the Air Ministry.

Day Attacks Continue.

Today great fleets of daylight bombers crossed the channel to carry the battle into its sixth consecutive day.

The R.A.F.'s night-riding bombers were guided to both targets by the flaming wreckage left a few hours before by the American daylight raiders. The British and Canadian bombs added still further damage to Schweinfurt's sprawling ball bearing plants and the R.A.F. hit the German aircraft factory at Steyr, in Austria.

U. S. headquarters announced that the powerful American air fleet which flew from the west and south shot down 156 Nazi planes. Eighth air force bombers from Britain downed 83 Nazi planes during their attacks on Schweinfurt and fighter plane factories at Gotha while their accompanying fighters accounted for 37 others in terrific air battles. Bombers of the 15th air force from Italy attacking Steyr bagged 36 Nazi fighters.

U.S. Lose 80 Planes.

The Britain-based American forces lost 49 bombers and 10 fighters; the Italy-based formations lost 16 bombers and three fighters with two other fighters missing.

Says Polish Govt. Refuses to Accept Curzon Line

London, Feb. 25 — (AP) — The Polish government in London was reported today to have sent to Foreign Secretary Eden a refusal to accept the Curzon Line as a future Polish-Russian frontier and to have expressed displeasure at Prime Minister Churchill's support of the Soviet demands.

The semi-official Polish newspaper Dziennik Polski, which said yesterday the Curzon Line was not acceptable, intimated the Soviet-Polish dispute had reached an impasse and that marked differences had arisen between the British and Polish governments over the boundary issue.

Marshal Stalin's rejection of the latest compromise offer of the Polish government in London was regarded as an almost foregone conclusion. The Russian reply to a proposal for the boundaries, reported to have been transmitted by Mr. Churchill, is expected to restate Soviet insistence for acceptance now of the Curzon Line and some reshuffling of the Polish cabinet.

Churchill's Reference

Commenting on Prime Minister Churchill's House of Commons speech Tuesday, Dziennik Polski cited the resolution of the Council of Ambassadors on behalf of Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan Mar. 15, 1923, and a similar action by the United States April 5, 1923, recognizing Poland's eastern pre-war frontier, and added:—

"It is on the basis of these historic facts and these Allied documents that the Polish government has taken a determined stand in refusing the so-called Curzon Line as the future Soviet frontier. The Polish government will hold fast to this attitude."

Mr. Churchill told Commons that although Britain is sympathetic to the Poles, she recognizes Russia's right of reassurance against future attacks from the west and is "going all the way" with Russia to see that she gets it. Britain, he added, has never guaranteed "any particular frontier line" to Poland.

MUST KEEP APPOINTMENTS

Kingston, Feb. 25 — (CP) Something new in division court actions popped up here today when Dr. E. B. Sparks, local dentist, sued Russell Charleton for $2 claiming Charleton failed to keep a dental appointment.

Dr. Sparks told Judge J. C. Reynolds he kept an otherwise productive period open during busy office hours for Charleton. Judge Reynolds gave Doctor Sparks judgment for $2 plus $3 costs.

Tojo Finding That Bold Jap Gamble For World Empire Is Back-Firing

By JAMES D. WHITE
Associated Press Staff Writer

Washington, Feb, 25 — (AP) — Premier General Hideki Tojo finally has unified the Japanese government. For the first time in modern Japanese history, the government and the High Command are one.

Tojo himself now is both Premier and Army Chief of Staff. His Navy minister, Admiral Shigetaro Shimada, is doubling as Navy Chief of Staff.

Thus the traditional dualism in Tokyo—military and civilian—fades as Tojo gathers all controls into his hands.

The background of some of Tojo's new ministers indicate that he felt the changes were necessary to reassure the Japanese people, just let in on the fact that the Pacific War is going against them.

Tojo found his recent cabinet reshuffle expedient just after he let the Japanese know about the loss of Marshall islands outposts and the American assault on Truk—which the Japanese people had been told could never be attacked, much less attacked with Japanese losses admitted to an unprecedented extent.

On the home front Tojo made these changes:-

Out of the finance ministry he kicked Okinori Kaya, a bureaucrat with much experience in exploiting conquered territories like north China.

His successor as finance minister is another bureaucrat, Sotaro Ishiwata—but more Orthodox than Kaya. It may be significant that Ishiwata was finance minister once before—in the short-lived Hiranuma cabinet which before the outbreak of war tried to prevent Japan's adherence to the pact with Germany and Italy.

Shinya Uchida is the new minister of agriculture. He formerly was identified with the old Seiyuaki Party, which until its abolition stood for what passed in Japan as liberalism.

Keita Goto is the new minister of transport and communications. He is a rarity in Japan, a private railway operator.

This looks like domestic appeasement.

Tojo, who since late summer has been ramming through a drastic war program, may be trying to overcome criticism levelled at the government's handling of finance, food and transport.

To the Japanese, Tojo personifies the war, the bold gamble for world empire. He himself is hinting to the Japanese people that the bold gamble is back-firing.

He may have to go.

FIVE ARE KILLED IN BOMBER CRASH NEAR CONSECON

Crew From Mountain View R.C.A.F. Station Returning to Base After Exercises

INQUIRY ORDERED

Five R.C.A.F. fliers stationed at Mountain View Bombing and Gunnery School crashed to their deaths in the Melville-Consecon district during mid-afternoon on Thursday as their Bolingbroke training bomber went out of control and crashed to the ground in a densely wooded section of Prince Edward county. Next of kin of all have been notified, it being learned one of the fliers was Pilot Officer William Kennedy, formerly of Southampton, but now residing in Belleville.

Announcement of the crash which claimed the lives of the plane's crew members was made by the station commanding officer Group Captain R. C. Ripley, who stated the plane had been returning to the station following a practice flight over the bombing ranges in the Consecon area. A court of enquiry is being held to determine the cause of the accident.

Pilot Officer Kennedy, son of Rev. Kennedy and Mrs. Kennedy of Southampton had resided in Belleville with his wife for the past nine months. They had an apartment at 183 Church Street. After being notified of the death of her husband, Mrs. Kennedy left for her home in Bruce county early Thursday evening.

'Our Bomb' Stirs London Section On Morning After

By MARGARET ECKER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, Feb. 25 — (CP Cable) — The excitement of the day in our neighborhood is "our bomb."

Now its morning again, the roll has been called, and everybody is here. Now one can have a proprietory air about "our bomb."

The charwoman is so proud of it she arrived 15 minutes early so she could get in a bit of gossip before starting work. In the butcher and greengrocer shops it's quite the biggest, fiercest bomb that has fallen anywhere in London.

"Our bomb" did us proud but last night around midnight when the attack was lit with searchlights and bursting star shells, smoke puffs from anti-aircraft, when fire glowed at the foot of the street, nobody was quite so happy about "our bomb."

When the Bomb Falls

It came with coffee at the end of a late, after-the-show dinner. Suddenly in the midst of the guns' roar there was something that could never be limited by the description of "sound." It seemed more like an atmospheric convulsion. The air felt full of waves as tumultuous as a mid-Atlantic storm beating against you. Pain in the ears was excruciating. Your knees shook and you failed to remember that if you can hear a bomb it didn't get you.

The lights went out, then flickered on simultaneously with a crash in the kitchen as the concussion poured from the flat, taking the window with it. The six-storey building gradually ceased its cancan.

From the roof later you can see four fires glowing in a small arc on the horizon. The nearest is spectacular with flames and smoke billowing. You remember a line in yesterday's paper following just such a fire: "Several families were trapped in a burning building."

No, people, when you think of that, this show is not an enjoyable one.

Prisoner's Plea Wins Commutation of Sentence

Nashville, Tenn., Feb. 25—(AP)—A prisoner serving a 60-day federal sentence complained of his jail associates in a letter to the district judge. "All I hear is the boys talking of robbing banks and cracking safes and killing people," he wrote. "That sure gets on my nerves. If you will let me out of here, I'll never make no more whisky." The judge commuted sentence and sent him home to his plowing.

LANDS PLANE HANGING ON TAIL

Pictured here is probably the only pilot who ever landed a Spitfire while hanging on the tail, and lived to tell about it. He is PO. James Abbotts of Owen Sound, Ont., now a prisoner of war in Germany. When he bailed out of his spinning plane, he found himself dangling behind with the chute cords tangled inside the cockpit. It was his weight on the tail-planes which brought the machine out of its dive and it landed in occupied territory. The pilot was only slightly injured.

Reported Russian Terms For Finnish Armistice Said To Be Delivered

Stockholm, Feb. 25. (AP)—Reported Russian terms for an armistice with Finland, especially those regarding the disposition of German troops garrisoned in Northern Finland, are understood here to have met with a mixed reception in Finnish circles.

The London correspondent of Dagens Nyheter listed today six Soviet armistice demands from unofficial but well-informed non-British sources who he said were optimistic about Finland's chances of quitting the war.

The dispatch said Moscow conditions included:—

1.—Re-establishment of the 1940 border.

2.— Interment of German troops in Northern Finland for the duration.

3.—If Finland desires, the Red Army will march into the country to assist in putting the Germans under control, but Finland's decision on this point will be voluntary.

4.—If Finland and Russia agree on the Red Army marching in, Russia will guarantee to retire after the military operations against the Germans are completed.

5.—Moscow makes no demands for changes in the Finnish government.

6.—Demobilization of the Finnish army and war damages are to be settled by later negotiations.

Against this optimistic approach was the statement of a Finn just arrived in Sweden who said Finland was profoundly disturbed by what is understood to be one of the Russian demands—that the Finnish army combine with the Russians in a drive to exterminate the seven German divisions now in Finland.

RAMIREZ OUSTED AS PRESIDENT OF ARGENTINA

Result of a Palace Coup Within Revolutionary Regime

GEN. FARRELL IN

Montevideo, Feb. 25—(AP)—Gen. Edelmiro J. Farrell succeeded Gen. Pedro Ramirez as president of the military government of Argentina today as a result of another palace coup within the revolutionary regime which less than nine months ago unseated president Ramon Castillo.

Farrell, vice-president in the Ramirez regime, previously resigned his post as minister of war, apparently as a means of obtaining a free hand to push Ramirez out of office.

He is known as an intimate friend of Col. Juan Domingo Peron, secretary of labor and welfare, who frequently has been mentioned as the mainspring of the G.O.U., or "Colonles' Group", which was described as the power behind the Ramirez regime.

Confusion prevailed last night in high Argentine circles, according to private reports from Buenos Aires, but strict censorship was clamped down on foreign correspondents in

GEN. WORTHINGTON TO TAKE COMMAND AT CAMP BORDEN

Will Return to Canada to Take Over New Duties at Once

5 BRIGADIERS NAMED

Ottawa, Feb. 25 — (CP) — Promotion of a Brigadier to the acting rank of Major-General, appointment of five new Brigadiers and announcement of the return to Canada of Maj.-Gen. F. F. Worthington, an overseas divisional commander, to take command of Camp Borden, was announced today by defence headquarters.

Here is the lineup:—

Maj.-Gen. F. F. Worthington, C.B., M.C., M.M., 54, a native Scot and expert on mobile armour, returns to Canada to take over command at Camp Borden.

Brig. A. C. Spencer, 56, of London, Ont., present commander at Camp Borden becomes Chief Administrative Officer at the camp;

Brig. George Kitching, D.S.O., 33, of Montreal, succeeds General Worthington as commander of a Canadian division overseas;

Lt.-Col. Geoffrey Walsh, D.S.O., 34, of St. Catharines, Ont., is promoted to the acting rank of Brigadier and is appointed chief engi-

Despite Large Force 5th Army Steadily Improves Positions In This Sector

OFFENSIVE EXPECTED

Naples, Feb. 25 — (AP) — German forces ringing the Anzio beachhead, now swollen to 10 divisions, pecked at British and American lines yesterday in two fruitless attacks southwest of Carroceto as the 5th Army steadily improved its positions, it was announced today.

The enemy likewise in light force assaulted French positions on Mount Abate 1½ miles east of Terelle on the Cassino front, but artillery fire broke up the thrust, and on the lower Garigliano sector German probing attempts were blocked.

Despite a seven-inch snowfall in the mountains around Cassino, Allied troops improved their positions on Mount Castellone in the mountains west of the village of Cairo, midway between Cassino and Terelle.

The new German division added to the nine which have been containing the Anzio beachhead for some days was said to have been brought from northern Italy. It was identified as the 362nd infantry.

The two beachhead attacks were launched by only a company of infantry in each case — usually about 200 men. They were repulsed with heavy losses to the enemy, it was announced.

Allied artillery got the range of a German tank concentration near the so-called factory in the Carroceto area and forced it to disperse.

Time to Strengthen Defences.

Although the Germans maintained close contact against the Allied beachhead, the passing of another day, the fifth, without major developments gave the 5th Army valuable time to strengthen its defences against an expected third full-scale German offensive.

The Germans continued to make a number of nuisance infiltrations around Allied outposts south of the Nazis' main rallying point at Carroceto, but a 5th Army spokesman said these were being kept under control.

Patrols sent out by the British 8th Army found German positions still firm. Allied mortar fire tore into a considerable German movement in the Arielli area inland from the Adriatic coast.

Mediterranean air forces flew 950 sorties yesterday in operations ranging from a second heavy bomber attack in two days on an aircraft parts factory at Steyr, Austria, to routine patrols over the beachhead where only four German planes were observed during the attack.

Father, Mother Two Children Burned to Death

Acton, Feb. 25 (CP)—Four persons, a mother, father and two children, were burned to death when their home was destroyed by fire here early today.

They were Mr. and Mrs. George Mills and their children, Patsy, aged four, and Garry, two. The House was completely destroyed.

The fire, believed from an overheated stove, apparently broke out while the family slept. Robert McLeod, a boarder, escaped by breaking through his bedroom window but the flames were so severe he was unable to assist the others.

McLeod was brought to Guelph hospital for treatment of burns but his condition is not serious.

Stanley McHugh of Acton who was passing the Mills' home, first noticed the fire and gave the alarm. The flames at that time were shooting through the roof.

The bodies of the victims were recovered. The children's bodies were found in their cribs while the parents bodies were located in different parts of the house, indicating they had tried to gain safety.

The Mills family came to Acton, 15 miles from Guelph, from Georgetown, only last fall. Mrs. Mills' father, John Armstrong, lives at Brantford.

Germans Admit Loss of Junction Of Four Railways

Important Centre Has Been Under Siege by Russians Since November

CAPTURE ROGACHEV

London, Feb. 25 —(CP)— Germany's Transocean News Agency broadcast today said German troops have evacuated the great White Russian stronghold of Vitebsk, to fall back toward the old Polish frontier 70 miles to the West.

The German High Command's communique, broadcast later, did not mention Vitebsk but confirmed an earlier Berlin announcement—also made by Moscow—that Russian troops had taken Rogachev, a centre 150 miles south of Vitebsk.

Moscow army authorities said Hitler's Rogachev-Vitebsk line, one of the strongest of the Russian front, is smashed. Red Army men streamed across the ice of the Dnieper river which forms a large part of the line, dispatches said.

No Red Statement.

Moscow had not announced the capture of Vitebsk.

The German Transocean News Agency, in a Berlin broadcast recorded here by the Ministry of Information, said Vitebsk, important junction of four trunk railways, under siege by Red Army troops since last November, was evacuated only after bitter fighting. An earlier Berlin broadcast acknowledged the "evacuation" of Rogachev.

Premier Stalin, in one of two orders of the day issued yesterday in Moscow, announced Gen. Konstantin Rokossovsky's army, in a new offensive north of the Pripet marshes, had stormed and captured Rogachev and had advanced 15 miles on a 30-mile-wide front, taking more than 30 towns and villages.

One Soviet formation alone killed 4,000 enemy troops, captured many prisoners and quantities of war material, the announcement said.

Head for Minsk.

The fall of Rogachev and Vitebsk—the former a rail town 15 miles north of Zhlobin, junction point on the Vitebsk-Gomel and Gomel-Minsk railways—was viewed here as an indication the Russians intend to mount a new offensive aimed at the White Russian capital of Minsk, less than 100 miles west of the nearest Russian lines on this rapidly-changing front.

Red Army troops for weeks have been astride the railway between Vitebsk and Polotsk, another strategic Nazi stronghold 55 miles to the west on the Vitebsk-Riga railway. The Germans are still in possession of Orsha, 50 miles south of Vitebsk, and that part of the Moscow-Warsaw trunk railway west of Orsha which runs through Minsk and best-Litovsk to the Polish capital.

30,000 Germans Routed.

On the Baltic front, 220 miles north of the Vitebsk sector, Red Army troops converging on Pskov captured Dno, last important Nazi base to the east of Pskov, and occupied a village 20 miles to the north, Moscow said.

The Russians under Gen. Leonid A. Govorov and Gen. Markian M. Popov routed 30,000 Germans in the storming of Dno, the Russian bulletin added. Smashed Nazi divisions falling back on Latvia were said to be abandoning great quantities of equipment.

Moscow said 190 localities were captured in a three-pronged advance on Pskov from the north, northeast and east which was averaging between 10 and 17 miles a day.

Berlin acknowledging loss of Dno by "evacuation," also told of renewed fighting 90 miles inside the pre-war Polish border, where it was Rojische, 11 miles north of Luck claimed the Germans recaptured (Lutsk) and 46 miles from the 1941 German-Russian frontier. Moscow has never announced capture of Rojische.

Jap Destroyer, 2 Merchant Ships Sunk by U.S.

Allied Headquarters, Southwest Pacific, Feb. 25 —(AP)— American destroyers sank two more Japanese merchant vessels and a destroyer off New Ireland Tuesday, underscoring an Allied announcement today that the Allies dominate the sea north of the Bismarck Archipelago.

More air raids on Rabaul, New Britain, Monday and Tuesday, with 164 tons of bombs dropped on airdromes and shipping in Keravia Bay, continued neutralization of the enemy's air bases.

United States troops have pushed beyond the Mot river on the northeastern New Guinea coast and are about 12 miles northwest of Saidor, moving toward Madang, Japanese coastal base about 45 miles farther northwest.

International at a Glance

AIR—R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. bomb Schweinfurt, Germany, and R.A.F. from Italy hits Steyr, Austria, maintaining attack against German fighter plane units; both cities hit by American bombers yesterday. Attack continues today with large fleets over Western Europe. London bombed again last night.

RUSSIA—Germans give up Vitebsk, White Russian base, as Russians sweep west from Rogachev and Dno against faltering German defences.

ITALY—Allies improve positions in Anzio beachhead and around Cassino, beating off minor attacks; new division reinforces Germans around beachhead.

FINLAND—Russia reported to have offered Finland peace terms including acceptance of 1940 border, internment of seven German divisions and demobilization of Finnish army, without Russian occupation.

Old City of London Squadron Hottest Group of Night Fighters in War

By GEORGE TUCKER
(AP War Correspondent)

Advance Air Headquarters, Italy, Feb. 25 —(AP)— One of the hottest groups of night fighters in the war is a gang of kids who call themselves the Old City of London Squadron. They have shot down 128 enemy planes, all at night.

While they work other pilots sleep. Seventeen of these victories were in England. In North Africa they got 38, in Sicily 42 and so far in Italy they've bagged 31.

Against this in more than four years of fighting is the incredible figure of only two ships lost by enemy action. Both were shot down at night over Bone, North Africa, but the pilot of each got an enemy ship before he went down.

The Boss is Wing Cmdr. Paddy Green, a South African-born Englishman who learned to fly at Burbank, Calif.

Green and his observer Flt. Lt. R. J. Gillies, a reformed travelling salesman from London, have scored 11 victories. In night fighter squadrons observers and pilots always share victories.

Highest scoring pilot in the squadron now is Flt. Lt. Johnny Turnbull, a lanky bank clerk from St. Thomas, Ont. He is the only Canadian in the outfit and has been credited with 12½ German planes.

Turnbull has been wounded and shot down twice. Once he was shot down while fighting at 30,000 feet and centrifugal force pinned him in so tightly that he was only 1,000 feet off the ground when he managed to bail out. Turnbull said he began to worry a little during that last 500 feet.

It was FO. Alwayn Downing who shot down five Junkers 52's in 10 minutes off the Sardinia coast one night, and for it was awarded the United States Air Medal.

The closest co-operation imaginable exists between this squadron and American night fighters.

NIGHT RATES ON LONG DISTANCE CALLS WILL BEGIN HOUR EARLIER

The announcement that from March 1, night rates on long distance calls will begin at 6 p.m., instead of 7 as heretofore, will be of special interest to boys and girls telephoning home from camps and barracks all over the country. The change will be effective also on all lines of the Trans-Canada Telephone System.

Two main results are expected from this change— the added convenience of the longer night rate period, and lessened congestion on war-busy lines which, because of material shortages, cannot be extended.

Further, of course, there will be an obvious saving to users through the one-hour's lengthening of the night rate period.

IDENTIFICATION BRACELET FOUND

Mr. A. R. Cameron, local barrister, found an R.C.A.F. identification bracelet lying on the sidewalk at the intersection of Bridge and Front Sts. yesterday. The initials on the bracelet are N. H. M. Mr. Cameron reported his finding to police headquarters in hopes of locating the owner.

THEFTS FROM MILK BOTTLES CONTINUE

Pilferings from milk bottles continue in different sections of the city, police learned today. Residents at 142 West Moira St. reported the theft of 25c from a milk bottle left for collection. Reports from various sections of the city pertaining to money and milk tickets being stolen when left for collection have been received quite frequently by police authorities this week. It is rather difficult to cope with this type of petty crime as they are executed by sneak thieves usually operating at night. Reports of a similar nature have been received with regularity from both sides of the Moira River and at different intervals.

RED SHIELD REPORT

Over two thousand articles made up of socks, sweaters, scarves and quilts, including more than one thousand articles of women's and children's clothing were shipped to Toronto headquarters by the Belleville branch of the Salvation Army Red Shield Auxiliary, it is reported by Jean M. Wardle, secretary. Included were 482 pairs of socks, 97 sweaters, 61 scarves, 223 quilts and 61 complete layettes. Warm thanks is extended to all local groups and individuals who assisted in knitting and sewing the articles, and also to those who contributed materials or cash, or assisted in any other way in furthering the work of the auxiliary.

PO. EDWARD DONNAN POSTED OVERSEAS

Pilot Officer Edward Donnan, son of Lieut.-Col. B. C. Donnan, of this city, received word that he had been posted overseas with the R. C. A. F. yesterday. He is at present home on leave.

PO. Donnan was employed with the R.C.A.F. as a civilian instructor in 1940 and was posted on the west coast for some time before being assigned to the Mountain View R.C.A.F. base where he subsequently enlisted into the service as a pilot officer. He has been engaged in instructional work at the Mountain View Bombing & Gunnery School for the past three years.

PO. Donnan has a brother overseas, PO. Bryson "Buster" Donnan, who recently received a promotion while on active service. A younger brother, "Tommy" is also a student cadet in the R.C.A.F. and training here in Canada.

CPL. TOMMY PEDDER WOUNDED IN ITALY

Member of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, Cpl. T. Pedder, son of Mrs. Eliza Pedder, North Moira St., is in hospital as the result of wounds suffered on the Italian front, according to word received by his mother. It was the second time Cpl. Pedder had been wounded since Christmas.

Well-known in Belleville for his prowess as a swimmer and as weight-lifter, Cpl. Pedder had participated in C.N.E. swimming meets and once won out in his own class in an international weight-lifting match in Cleveland. He enlisted early in the war and after training at Camp Borden proceeded overseas more than three years ago. Prior to his enlistment he was employed with the Canadian National Railways.

SNEAK THIEVES STEAL GROCERIES

In daylight on Front St., sneak thieves entered a motor car and stole a quantity of groceries during the busy noon-hour period on Thursday. The theft was reported to police by F/L. H. Davidson of the R.C.A.F., owner of the car and the groceries. He admitted failing to lock his motor car but naturally was quite indignant to find that sneak thieves could steal two large bags of groceries in the busy section of a city in the middle of the day.

TRENTON MEN CHARGED WITH THEFT OF CAR

Leslie McEwen, 17, and Lloyd Genereau, 20, both of Trenton, who were arrested in Perth on Wednesday in possession of a motor car reported stolen in Belleville the day previous, today appeared before Magistrate J. L. Lloyd jointly charged with the theft of a motor car, the property of Gordon Blue of this city. The pair were not asked to plead as their solicitor, E. O. Butler, was granted a week's enlargement in the matter. Bail was sought but the accused lads could not meet the requirements of recognizance established by Crown Attorney B. C. Donnan, K.C. The case will be heard next Friday.

BADLY BRUISED LEG SUFFERED IN FALL

While employed as a civilian carpenter at Mountain View, Laddy Domosley, 16 Benjamin Street, fell sustaining a badly bruised leg yesterday. The injured man was brought to the Belleville General Hospital, where X-rays disclosed no fractures had resulted. Mr. Domosley, who was attended by Dr. G. S. Cronk, returned to his home today.

W.C. Springer Recalls Early Efforts To Establish Belleville Hardware Co.

Mr. W. C. Springer, retired manufacturer of this city, who for many years was the managing director of the Springer Lock Manufacturing Company in the city, which is now embraced in the Corbin Lock Company of Canada, Limited, recalled recently when in conversation with the Ontario Intelligencer, the time, nearly forty-three years ago, when he came to Belleville to organize a company to manufacture various hardware lines.

"I had visited Belleville," Mr. Springer said, "on several occasions and liked the town and the people I met, and felt that I should like to make my home here, so when ready to promote a company I returned to Belleville and I have been here since that time. I met with encouragement from business men in organizing the company, but I also met the knockers, who were numerous at that time and they told me that I could never make a success of the industry here. When I asked them why, they replied that 'nothing ever goes in this town.' I told them that it would be a different story this time and some of them lived to see my prediction come true."

On April 26th., 1901, the following news item appeared in the Belleville Daily Sun with regards to Mr. Springer's locating in Belleville:

"Many citizens will no doubt be surprised to learn that a new industry has been started here and, that too, without any fuss in the way of asking for bonus, free site, or any other concession from the city. The old Chown factory has been leased by a local company to be known as "The Belleville Hardware Mfg. Co." The company purpose to manufacture builders' hardware of all kinds and already have a lot of the most up-to-date machinery on hand and more is to follow.

The venture is starting in a modest way, but those interested hope to very soon extend their business so that they may employ a large number of hands. Mr. W. C. Springer, of Cleveland, is in charge and with him are associated many of Belleville's best known citizens.

A "Sun" reporter called at the works today and was most courteously received by that gentleman, who did not hold out any inducements for an immediate rush in the way of employing a large number of hands but he said he would try to increase his staff as far as possible as business grew. He thinks the opening here is a good one and has every hope of ultimate success. A complete plant, with iron and brass foundries and plating and polishing outfit is being installed."

The foregoing was the "send off" Mr. Springer received from the press at that time, and the success attained by the new enterprise in the following years is well known to Belleville citizens.

Native of Cleveland

Mr. Springer was born in Cleveland, Ohio, and at an early age he manifested much interest in making things. Machinery of all kinds had for him a strong attraction and eventually he went to work where they made things in earnest. His experience in manufacturing covered a period of over fifty years and at the start he acquired valuable knowledge in various establishments, including the manufacture of plumbing supplies, such as steam cocks and globe valves. After being in this line of work for some time he became associated with the Whipple Manufacturing Company, of Cleveland, Ohio, manufacturers of builders' hardware.

In April, 1885, Mr. Springer came to Canada with a group of five men to commence the manufacture of builders' hardware in Peterborough, Ont. Mr. Springer was the first one to get down to actual work in the factory where he remained until 1894, when he went back to Cleveland. After a term of about four years, he came back to Canada and again took up the manufacture of hardware.

In April, 1901, he came to Belleville from Toronto and organized the Belleville Hardware Company. After nine years of successful operation, he resigned and decided to organize a new company in the same city under his own name. The quality of the goods and the service given were found so satisfactory to the trade that it was found necessary to add buildings and equipment from time to time to meet the ever-growing demand until 42,000 square feet of floor space were in use.

Goods were shipped all over Canada as well as to England, New Zealand, Australia, China and Mexico. Springer hardware of exclusive hand chased special period designs was selected for the Lieut.-Governor's residence in Toronto. The Sun Life head office building at Montreal, which is the largest and finest finished office building in the British Empire, has Springer hardware throughout as well as their London, England, building. In these buildings nothing but the highest grade of hardware in solid bronze was acceptable.

Mr. Springer was always a hard worker, but now he is enjoying the success of his labor and is "taking things easy." He is glad that he came to Belleville and Belleville is glad that he did so.

Weatherproof Jackets for 'Belleville' Crew Donated by Deacon Co. Staff

When the corvette H.M.C.S. "Belleville" plows her sleek bows through the icy waves of the Atlantic next winter in execution of her duty as convoy patrol, her crew members may well be the envy of thousands of R.C.N.V.R. personnel.

For in addition to the shipboard comforts supplied through generous contribution from Belleville citizens, their bodies will be protected from winter's icy blasts by weatherproof jackets especially designed to ward away the elements. And these jackets will be the special contribution of employees of Deacon Brothers Ltd., of Belleville.

From the standpoint of Deacon Brothers employees, community efforts are all very fine. They claim, however, that there is nothing so tangible as individual efforts or contribution toward a worthy cause. True, they contributed generously toward the H.M.C.S. Belleville Fund, but as an added contribution that greater comforts might be supplied to the men who will man the "Belleville" they are giving their time and effort to make possible the seventy odd jackets which will be formally presented to the ship's crew members.

Specially Designed.

And the jackets which "Belleville" crew members will proudly wear and appreciate are not just ordinary jackets. They are jackets specially designed for the intended purpose. They cannot be purchased through regular trade channels. Their design was evolved by company designers who incorporated the ideas of several Belleville seamen, and the best that Canadian naval and United States navy general issue jackets had to offer.

Manufactured of blue gray windproof and water repellent materials the jackets are three-quarter length and lined with Quebec 56's wool for warmth. They are closed with quick release zippers for rapid discard and have a zippered parka hood which may be divided to fold back as a collar for shore wear. This dual purpose use is one of the jackets' features.

A special crest will be woven into the jacket to distinguish the wearer as a member of the "Belleville". The design of this crest will be approved by the Naval department and will also have the approval of the "Belleville's" commander before it is accepted for weaving into the jackets.

Contribute Working Time.

Although special operators at the Deacon Brothers' plant will manufacture the garments on company machines, the entire company staff will have a hand in the gift of the jackets to the ship's crew members, and will contribute some of their working time for the cause. The company is supplying the materials needed for the manufacture of the jackets.

In addition to the crew members of the "Belleville", several sailors from the city will also be presented with jackets, the gift of Deacon Brothers employees. These boys are those whose views were considered when the design of the jacket was being decided upon. Models of the jackets are expected to be placed in local store windows for viewing by the general public.

'Belleville' Fund

Contributions to the H.M.C.S. Belleville Fund continue to be received at the city hall with Thursday's receipts bringing the fund to $6,757.49. Included also among the contributions was a communication from the Minerva Chapter of the O.E.S. offering to furnish a set of boxing gloves for the corvette, also two electric irons and an electric toaster. Following are the contributions received yesterday:

1,300 Maltese Children Receive Toys From Toronto

Valetta, Malta, Feb. 23. — (CP-Reuters)—Maj. Bert Wemp, former mayor of Toronto, was present with Governor Lord Gort when the first 1,300 to 40,000 toys, books and games, contributed by war veterans of the Toronto Police to the Toronto Evening Telegram's British War Victims' Fund were distributed at the Empire Stadium of Malta today.

Wemp is a war correspondent for The Telegram.

The gifts were distributed at a children's carnival party for 1,300 children, mostly orphans. Many of them had never seen toys as they were too young at the outbreak of war.

TWO AIRMEN KILLED

Crediton, Feb. 25 — (CP) — Two airmen from No. 9 Service Flying Training School of the RCAF at nearby Centralia were killed yesterday when their Anson bombers collided in mid-air and crashed in a field near this Huron-Perth county community. They were the only occupants of the craft.

Unlawful to Park Motor Cars In Front of Theatres

It is in violation to city by-laws to park motor vehicles directly in front of the entrances to local theatres.

Two local motorists found this out, much to their sorrow, Thursday night, when they emerged from a theatre to find their parked motor cars missing. The automobiles were found in a nearby parking lot where they had been towed by a garage towing truck upon the instructions of police authorities. It cost each motorist $1 towing fee.

While on patrol Thursday night police observed two motor cars parked directly in front of a local theatre, which is very much in violation to city traffic regulations. The officer on the beat immediately employed a garage tow truck to clear that section of the street.

Today Chief Probert pointed out that the area in front of all theatres must be kept clear of vehicles and obstructions, especially when the shows are in progress. "It is only a precautionary program, but it will be rigidly enforced in the future," added Chief Probert as he instructed all constables to enforce this parking regulation, which is also included in the Ontario Highway Department regulations.

CLARENCE JOHN MIKEL

Clarence John (Count) Mikel died at his home, 31 Octavia Street, early Thursday evening after an illness of several months' duration.

The late Mr. Mikel, who was in his 51st year, was born in Belleville and was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Riley Mikel. All his life was passed in Belleville and he was widely known as a motor car salesman, being associated with the Riggs' Motor Sales for a considerable time, prior to taking on civilian duties at the Trenton Airport where he was engaged for some time until illness made it necessary for him to give up the airport work. To many friends and acquaintances his death has brought much regret.

Surviving him are two sisters, Miss Greta Mikel and Mrs. Burton MacMillan both at home.

Resting at the Martin Funeral Home, Church Street, until this evening then at 31 Octavia Street; the funeral announcement is made in this issue.

LATE MRS. GEORGE E. COUCH.
(Trenton.)

Trenton, Feb. 25. (Special.)—The funeral of Mrs. George Edward Couch took place on Thursday afternoon from her late residence, York Road. The service in the home and at St. George's Cemetery, where entombment took place, was conducted by the Rev. J. D. Martin, minister of King Street United Church.

The bearers were Messrs. Max Waldorf, G. Fitzgibbon, O. M. Newton, Francis Little, Flt. Sergeant Lloyd Kinsella and LAC. Larry McClintock.

MRS. JOHN WALKER
(Contributed)

The death occurred on Thursday, Feb. 17th., of Lillie E. beloved wife of John Walker. Deceased who was 62 years of age was born in Seaforth, Ont., and was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robt. McFarlane. She was well known for her kind and charitable disposition and her passing is greatly regretted by many friends. She was in failing health for several months, but the end came very suddenly.

The funeral was held on Saturday last from her late residence. An impressive service was conducted by the Rev. Taylor of Peterboro of the Brehen, assisted by A. E. Burley of Deseronto, after which the body was conveyed to All Saints Church on the Reserve where Rev. Rural Dean Pringle conducted the service.

Interment took place in All Saints cemetery.

Surviving besides her husband are a sister, Miss Mary McFarlane, Belleville; a brother, Wm. McFarlane, Shannonville; a niece, Mrs. Alvin McKenzie, Deseronto, and a nephew, Trooper Wilbert McFarlane of Camp Borden.

The pall bearers were Arthur Burtt, Damon Hinchey, Sydney Fitzgerald, Floyd Hill, James Brant, Barney Brant.

Judge Hawley Mott At Bridge St. Church

Sunday, February 27th., will be marked at Bridge Street United Church as the 122nd anniversary of the Sunday School. In the morning service which will be for parents and scholars, Rev. Dr. Semple, the minister, will conduct, and the superintendents of the school will take part. There will be a special anniversary program in the school in the afternoon.

One of the best known men in the Dominion on the question of the training and education of children, Judge Hawley Mott, who presides over Toronto Juvenile Court, will speak at the Sunday evening service. His coming here is in association with the S.S. anniversary. Judge Mott has had a wide experience with the young and his message will be one of great importance.

RESISTS DECAY

Tests have shown that fluorine, in the proportion of one part to a million parts of water, builds long-term resistance to decay in the teeth of children.

SCHWEINFURT

said that Thursday night's heavy assault on Schweinfurt actually was carried out in two separate raids.

"Schweinfurt, the German centre of ball bearing production was the main object and was attacked twice during the night," it said. "Fires started yesterday by the United States 8th air force were still burning on the arrival of our first force.

"The target was effectively marked and by the end of the second attack a great conflagration was seen with smoke rising to a great height.

"Objectives in northwest Germany also were bombed and a very extensive mine laying program was completed. Thirty-five of our aircraft are missing."

Heavy Flak.

R.A.F. fliers returning to Italy from the night raid on the Steyr area said they attacked built up areas and railroads as well as the aircraft factory. They dropped their missiles in the midst of the flames started by the Americans and still gutting the factory. They also reported heavy flak and some night fighters.

Another announcement said that of all the formations of R.A.F. and American medium and light bombers that pounded northern France and Holland yesterday, only one Mosquito bomber failed to return.

An American fleet of mediums went back over Belgium and Holland this morning.

In the afternoon military objectives in northern France were hit by fighter-escorted Allied medium bombers.

Vital Aircraft Targets.

Schweinfurt, site of important Nazi ball-bearing manufacturing plants, was only one of several targets vital to the German aircraft industry which American heavy bombers hit yesterday in the second two-way assault in three days from bases in England and Italy.

Co-ordinated American operations —by the 8th Air Force in Britain and the 15th Air Force in Italy— carried into the fifth successive day the mightiest air onslaught of history.

From Italy, heavy bombers leaped across the Alps and battered the Daimler aircraft parts and bearing factory at Steyr, in Austria, for the second successive day, leaving the targets afire. Other Italian-based craft hit an oil refinery at Fiume on the Adriatic coast.

From Britain, squadrons of four-engined bombers attacked five bearing works in Schweinfurt while one group blasted a Messerschmitt factory and other plane plants at Gotha, southwest of Berlin, and a second group hit undisclosed targets in northern Germany.

Forty-nine of the 9th Air Force bombers and 10 fighters failed to return to their British bases, a communique said. The losses of the Italian contingent were not immediately disclosed.

Italian Allied headquarters today gave over-all losses of 21 planes in the Mediterranean theatre yesterday in widespread operations.

Heavy bombers based in Britain accounted for 83 Nazi planes, and British-based planes scored 37 more victims. Bombers and fighters flying from Italian bases destroyed 36.

In the first five days this week, American four-engined aerial forces in Britain were idle only one day —Wednesday—but on that day the Italian contingent kept the ball rolling by making their first attack on Steyr, 90 miles west of Vienna.

The first two-way co-ordinated raids of the present series came Tuesday when Fortresses and Liberators from Italy attacked an aircraft plant at Regensburg, 50 miles north of Munich, while aircraft from Britain were hitting similar targets elsewhere in Germany.

By LOUIS HUNTER

Canadian Press War Correspondent

London, Feb. 25 — (CP Cable) — The 14-month-old Canadian bomber group staged its greatest effort of the war Thursday night, participating in the huge R.A.F.-R.C.A.F. raids on targets in Germany.

At least 13 squadrons of Lancaster and Halifax bombers joined the double-barreled blow at ball bearing plants at Schweinfurt and at other objectives in northwest Germany.

Seven Canadian planes are among the 35 missing from the operations.

Of approximately 7,000 airmen who carried out the night's attacks from Britain, more than 1,000 were Canadians including those in the bomber group and others serving in R.A.F. squadrons. It is estimated the group's effort represented the work of 10,000 men in the air and on the ground.

the Argentine capital and they were not permitted to transmit details, except that the action of Ramirez in stepping down from the presidency was attributed officially to ill health.

The resignation of Ramirez, according to reports circulating here, is the result of smouldering opposition within his own cabinet which was climaxed when he finally decided to break relations with the Axis Jan. 26.

What effect the government upheaval might have upon Argentine foreign relations was not immediately clear.

neer of a Canadian Corps.

Col. William Smith Ziegler, 34, of Edmonton, Alta., is promoted to the acting rank of Brigadier commanding the artillery of a Canadian division.

Lt.-Col. John Napier Lane, 34, of Halifax, N.S., is promoted to the active rank of Brigadier commanding the artillery of a Canadian division;

Lt.-Col. Eric Leslie Booth, D.S.O., 37, of Toronto, is promoted to the acting rank of a brigadier and given command of a brigade.

Lt.-Col. Earle Ritchie Suttie, 34, of Yarmouth, N. S., is promoted to the acting rank of a brigadier and given command of a group of artillery.

General Worthington has, since the First Great War, been a strong advocate in the use of mobile armour. Born in Scotland, he emigrated in his early youth to California where he barely completed his schooling before embarking on a career of soldier-of-fortune. He took part in a revolution in Nacaragua and a rebellion in Mexico and when world war broke out he sped from Chile to Montreal to enlist with the Black Watch as a private.

Representative Urges Break With Spain

Washington, Feb. 25 — (AP)—Representative John M. Coffee (Dem., Wash.), demanded yesterday the U. S. immediately break all diplomatic relations with Spain.

"We must make this break now on our own terms," he said in a speech prepared for delivery in the House of Representatives, "before the Axis forces us to break with Fascist Spain on terms such as Japan handed us at Pearl Harbor."

Coffee, who previously has called for a House investigation of Falanguist activities in South America, denounced General Franco as "Hitler's faithful puppet" and as a man of worthless promises.

"'Neutral' Spanish ships," he said, "deliver thousands of Nazi agents to ports in every American nation."

BIRTH

TURNEY — At Kingston General Hospital, on Sunday, February 20th., 1944, to Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Turney (nee Grace Bellyou) a son—Robert Franklin.

McMULLEN — At the Belleville General Hospital on Wednesday, February 23rd., 1944, to Mr. and Mrs. Harry McMullen of Cannifton, a daughter. A sister for Donald.

SHARPE — At Ottawa Hospital, on Wednesday, February 23rd., 1944, to Mr. and Mrs. Farley Sharpe (nee Hilda Rowbotham) a daughter.

IN MEMORIAM

COUSINS — In loving memory of my dear wife, who passed away on February 25th., 1943.

Time speeds on, one year has passed
Since death its gloom, its shadow cast
Within our home, where all seemed bright,
And took from us a shining light.

We miss that light, and ever will,
Her vacant place there's none to fill,
Down here we mourn, but not in vain;
For up in Heaven we will meet again.
—Sadly missed by Husband.

COUSINS — In loving memory of a dear mother, Marilla Cousins who passed away on February 25, 1943.

A wonderful mother, woman and aid;
One who was better God never made.
A wonderful worker, loyal and true,
One in a million, that, mother, was you.
Just in your judgment, always right,
Honest and liberal, ever upright;
Loved by your friends and all whom you knew;
A wonderful mother, that, mother was you.
—Ever remembered by daughter, Elsie, and son-in-law.

Chairmen of Various Boards Report on Activities Durinf Fifth Year of War

DIRECTORS NAMED

The 51st annual meeting of the Belleville Young Men's Christian Association was held in the Association building Thursday evening at which time reports were given and elections made to the Board of Directors. H. W. Ackerman and N. E. Edwards were re-appointed to the Board for a period of three years. The Board consists of 21 members from whose number the officers are subsequently named.

J. B. Boyce, President of the Y. M. C. A. for the year 1943, expressed his personal appreciation and thanks to the various Association chairmen and especially the Ladies Auxiliary for their united efforts during the last year.

"It is amazing to read these annual reports of the various departments and find the amount of services and work the Y. M. C. A. has rendered in Belleville during the past year. The Association is a credit to the community and the Board is to be congratulated upon the fine effort, especially in the provision of comforts and recreation for our armed services during this fifth year of war," stated President Boyce as he drew attention to the fact, that while the Association's work multiplied considerable the deficit shown did not mount accordingly. This fact was attributed to the untiring efforts of the Board as a whole, Mr. Boyce thought. He also pointed out that the works of the "Y" had tripled since the outbreak of war.

Following a banquet, prepared by the Ladies Auxiliary, reports were given and a short program enjoyed. The Devotional period was conducted by Rev. J. G. Hornsby while the blessing was said by Dr. Jas. Semple.

During the program Alec Gordon showed colored moving pictures of the activities at the Belleville Boy's Camp on Moira Lake which were taken during the 1943 camp period. These pictures proved intensely interesting as they showed the children's activities while at camp. Miss Leona Riggs gave two well received solos to add to the evening's success.

Secretary's Report

In opening his report, J. E. Shortt, General Secretary of the Belleville Y. M. C. A., reviewed the activities of the Y. M. C. A. at large pointing out that the Canadian "Y" was serving service men at 3,450 points at home and abroad and during 1943 these points entertained a total of 175,856,140 men of the armed services.

Speaking generally Secretary Shortt pointed out that there are seventy-nine Y. M. C. A.'s in Canada. In 1943 we had 49,394 members and we served an additional 50,000. Of the 49,394, 13,627 were boys under fourteen; 5,171 were boys fifteen to seventeen. 7,328 were young men eighteen to twenty-four; 4,284 were men twenty-five to twenty-nine and 8,079 were men thirty and up. 6,428 were women. In our 34 different camps, we had 9,355 different campers. There were 11 Hi-Y. Clubs; 947 other different boys groups; and 336 young men's groups. At the end of 1942, there was an investment in plant and equipment in the Canadian Y. M. C. A.'s of $8,178,300. We had a total of 150 different employed officers, and we had 7,813 board and committee people.

Evidenced in Character

Continuing in reference to the Belleville Association Secretary Shortt said—"The Local Association Reports presented will give you some idea of the work accomplished last year. Our Educational, Religious, Industrial and Social Work is interwoven and permeating all activities. This type of work is not tabulated in figures but evidenced in Character. During the year we were grieved to part with two past Presidents of the Association, in the death of Mr. W. B. Deacon and Mr. C. B. Smith—both faithful and loyal in their support of this work. I want to say a word of appreciation of the splendid efforts by the membership of our Women's Auxiliary and the magnificent financial support given by them to the Association. We are happy indeed in the close co-operation of the Press, the Church and School Leaders and Groups, the Service Clubs and the general public. Our warmest thanks are extended to all for their generous help and support."

Splendid Co-operation

One of the most interesting reports was submitted by H. W. Ackerman, chairman of the "Y" War Services Committee, an organization that rendered care and recreation to over 50,000 members of the armed forces here last year.

Speaking on the "Y" War Service Chairman Ackerman revealed the following facts—"A popular feature of our War Services program is the Sunday "Open House" when men and women of the Services are made welcome. Social Games, reading and writing accommodation, showers and swim, bowling, refreshments and entertainment are provided for groups that range from 20 to 350 per Sunday.

In this work we have the hearty co-operation of Service Clubs, Church Groups, Fraternal organizations, Ministerial Association, Pastors and a large number of entertainers. During the year the following groups have provided refreshments and entertainment for the men and women in uniform:-

Bridge Street Church Women's Association; Canadian Women's Service Force; Children of Mary; Kiwanis Club; Kinsmen Club; Quintena Rebeccas; High School Teachers; C. N. R. Veterans; Catholic Women's League; Deebee Club; University Women's Club; Public School Teachers; Jewish Women; Knights of Columbus; St. Andrews Church Women's Association; Order of the Eastern Star No. 55; Young Women's Guild; Red Cross Society; Army and Navy Veterans; Women's Auxiliary to the Y. M. C. A.; St. Julien Chapter I. O. D. E.; Rotary Club; Tabernacle Church Women's Association; Holloway Street Church Women's Association," he said.

In addition the following services have been rendered to those is uniforms:-

|---|---|
| Free Baths and Swim | 8,400 |
| Rooms and Bed —50c per night | 7,856 |
| Free Lobby and personal service | 57,169 |
| Free Bowling | 2,347 |

1,382 Group Sessions

J. W. Imlah, chairman of the House and Dormitory Committee, reported as follows—The Building continues to be a busy centre in the service of this community. In our local work (apart from war service) there were during the year 1,382 group sessions held with a total attendance of 35,287; of these 15,161 were "Y" members and 20,145 non members. In the Dormitories, we have 40 beds for permanent residents and 65 cots for transients. The latter are occupied mostly by active service men on leave or in transit. Beds occupied during the year total 20,394. The income from dormitories exceeds that of last year. Behind all this activity there is an abundance of program planning, care of equipment, shifting of furniture and endless cleaning.

During the year many improvements have been made. The windows caulked, storm windows put on the gymnasium, the building painted outside and several rooms inside cleaned and tinted. Tile flooring placed in rooms on main floor and lobby, gym floor cleaned and repaired—new ceiling over second floor dormitories.

15,118 Games Bowled

The bowling alley report submitted by I. E. Shapiro, chairman read—The season of 1942-43 was a good one—closing with a banquet on June 16th. 15,118 games of social bowling were played. The receipts for the year exceeded those of 1942 by $105.00. The season 1943-44 will evidently surpass all records. We now have eight teams in Ladies Afternoon League bowling for the Laurie Lewis Cup and fourteen teams in the Ladies Evening League "McIntosh Cup" series. Mr. Jack McIntosh kindly donated this magnificent cup last fall. Nurses, Telephone Girls, Front Street Merchants and other groups fill up the spare hours. There is need for more Alleys and more pin boys. Mr. Lee is doing a good job under difficulties.

World Brotherhood

World Brotherhood program, under the direction of W. L. MacDougall, chairman, saw the following activities at the "Y" throughout 1943—Our World Service Department (Missionary Work) is at work among the men and boys of 30 countries. Our contribution toward the normal work was $166.00. The National Councils of U. S. A. and Canada have developed a deficit because of emergency work in war torn countries of $121,500.00 and our Association was pleased to contribute $800.00 toward the reduction of this debt. Dr. A. J. Brace after 40 years of service (26 of these in China) retired this year, and his place as head of the Foreign Work Department is being taken by Hartley Fowler—a former Secretary of John R. Mott. Our objective for the present year is $250.00. Dr. Brace talked to our Board, our Women's Auxiliary, Boys Groups and Rotary Club while here. Boys at Camp contributed and Boy members sold Christmas cards to help raise our objective this past year. We expect to have Mr. Fowler here in April.

Boys' Camp Report

The report of the Belleville Boys Camp, situated at Moira Lake, presented by A. G. Stackhouse, chairman showed that a total of 177 campers and 33 of a staff utilized the camp during the three periods of operation including "Y" boys and the C. G. I. T.

Chairman Stackhouse explained the 1943 camp operated from June 30th. to July 14th. with 73 campers and a staff of 13—86 in all. Limited equipment made it impossible to accept all those desirous of attending. The camp was in charge of E. Shortt, Alec Gordon and Rod Cameron, with John Locke, Bill Gilbert, George Garrow, Langley Evans, Bill Holway, George Wonnacott, Ron Walmsley and Campbell Cameron assisting as Group Leaders. The three Honor Campers were: Senior, Bill Jackson; Junior, Charlie Delong; First year, Donald Claus.

Messrs. A. G. Stackhouse, Gerald Delong, Lorne MacDougall, Howard Clarke, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cameron, Eddie James, Norman Whytock, contributed treats for the Campers. J. E. Shortt assisted in program leadership. Mrs. Diment and C. N. R. ladies contributed a fine evenings entertainment and refreshments for the entire camp.

Capital expenditures were very high in order to accommodate the increased attendance. Two new tents, two new boats, four tent flys, three new tent floors, 36 new mattresses and an administration building were added to our equipment. All buildings were painted.

| Total Receipts—Fees; Tag Day and Donations | $1,895.78 |
| Expenses, Operating | $1,030.97 |
| Capital | 1,042.79 |
| | $2,073.76 |
| Deficit | $177.98 |

A loan was secured from the Y. M. C. A. enabling us to pay all Accounts.

Treasurer's Report

The Treasurer's report was submitted by B. F. Jennings, chairman, and read as follows:-

| | |
|---|---|
| Bank balance as of December 31st | $6,842.15 |
| Accounts due for payment | 323.66 |

The Balance on hand is a portion of the Campaign Funds and will be required to meet the month to month deficit till next campaign in October. The 4 in 1—Salvation Army; V. O. N. Children's Aid and Y. M. C. A. Joint Campaign was quite successful; 1761 subscriptions for a total of $13,564.09. Our sincere thanks is expressed to all those assisting in the campaign. During the year $1500.00 of endowment funds were invested in Victory Loan.

Gym Activities

The report of J. M. Wilson, chairman of the physical activities and gymnasium classes read as follows—During the year we have conducted 1104 classes with a total attendance of 14,232. 87 learned to swim. 245 have passed graded swimming tests. In March last our boys Juvenile Basketball Team and our Girls Junior and Senior Teams represented this district in the playdowns in Toronto; the Boys playing at Central "Y" and the Girls at Oakwood Collegiate. Our Senior Girls were beaten in the Ontario final by a very narrow margin. April 16th, some 300 members took part in a very creditable physical display in our own gymnasium. In May a number of boys and girls of our Association journeyed to Trenton to enter the events in connection with Rotary "Youth Week". They were successful in winning most of the events and five out of six championships. In October we lost the services of our Physical Director, Mr. Ed. Shortt, and have carried on with the assistance of George Woods, Gordon Bankier, George Garrow, Mrs. Crane and Mrs. Walling.

The members of the Junior Leaders Corps have been of valued assistance in this period.

At the close of the year we have in Basketball, Juvenile Boys Team, a Junior and Senior Girls Team, and a Girls Industrial League, composed of four teams. We hope soon to secure an experienced qualified full time Director. There is a great scarcity of these men at present.

Membership Slightly Lower

In the report of the membership committee made by Chairman Newton Thompson a decrease of 28 members from 1942 was noted, which was considered commendable regarding the fact so many of the older boys and girls are enlisting in the armed services.

"More of our older boys and seniors are now being drawn into other activities. The Boys and Girls Groups have an increased attendance. We now have 292 former members of the "Y" on active service. Lyle Armstrong, Tony Broadribb; Tom Coxon; Leo Corr; Earl Day; John Embury; Edward Galley; Charles Kidd; Duncan Lewis; John Mackenzie; Arthur Martin; Gerald Morris; James Pepper; George Pepper; John Price; Thomas Peets; Wade Tripp; Charles Tripp and John White, have made the supreme sacrifice.

Our Board has extended the membership of all leaving on active service, as paid in full to a date six months after the ceasing of hostilities. Our Honor Roll Committee composed of Messrs Howard, Thompson and Shortt are now at work on the list to be placed on the Roll you see on display," concluded Mr. Thompson.

Boys' and Girls' Work

In the Boys' and Girls' Work Department activities Mr. W. H. Finkle, chairman, submitted the following report—In addition to the regular Gym and Swim classes the program in the early part of the year included sleigh rides and skating parties for all the junior groups.

The Father and Son—Mother and Daughter—banquet in May crowded our gym to seating capacity—a very delightful affair. On May the 16th. a Church parade of junior members was held at Tabernacle Church.

During May and June the Ki-Y Softball games were conducted with 14 clubs in the 3 series, Bantam, Midget and Juvenile. Crests were presented the winners on August 20th. In May also we offered a low rate summer membership which brought a considerable number in for swimming, hikes and other programs from May to September.

On June 14th. a largely attended decoration banquet was held when awards and recognitions were distributed.

During July and August, with the co-operation of the School Board we supervised and operated the two city playgrounds, with Messrs Finkle, Kells and Shortt of the Committee, and Arthur Clare, Kathleen Rankin, Joan Watson and Gordon Bankier as Supervisors. Over 6500 children enjoyed the playground activities. Over 300 individuals took part in the closing athletic events which covered a three day period.

The Air Cadets, first organized by the "Y" and also the Sea Cadets, have been entertained periodically through the year.

Boys Scouts and Trail Ranger Boys have had the use of our facilities for swimming and other tests required in their program. A plan was developed in May for the extension of the "Y" program to all sections of the city through neighborhood "Y" groups. The plan received support from Civic officials, Police Officials and Service Club Members. The launching was temporarily held up for lack of staff and leadership.

The "Y" representatives are working in close touch with Post War Planning and City Council on a thorough plan of city recreation and play grounds.

Ladies' Auxiliary Has Balance

The report of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. showed receipts of $1600.77 for the year 1943 as against disbursements amounting to $1303.92 leaving a balance on hand on Dec. 31st of $296.85. This report was given by Mrs. Jessie Fairfield, Auxiliary treasurer.

For the tenth consecutive year Mrs. J. Arbuckle presented the Auxiliary report as secretary which showed the Ladies Auxiliary had established a canteen for the purpose of serving light lunches and soft drinks to the members of the armed services on the main floor of the Association building just one year ago. The report also lauded the work of Mrs. J. E. Shortt, president of the Ladies Auxiliary for her untiring efforts in 1943 and also paid tribute to all officers and members of the Auxiliary for their willingness to assist at all times in order to assist the furtherment of "Y" activities in Belleville.

CANADIANS IN ITALY BECOME EXPERTS WITH PIAT GUN AND MINE DETECTING

Spr. G. C. Bullock, Kingston, Ont., places a "Hot Cross Bun" to mark the spot where Spr. R. T. Gilpin, Toronto, Ont., indicates a mine. The instrument is a Polish mine detector.

Pte. Edmund Arsenault, Egmond, P.E.I., crouches in his fox hole ready to fire the PIAT. Pte. Arsenault is attending a training school west of Ortona, Italy, to pick up some more essential training in warfare. The shell from this gun will penetrate the turret of a German tank.

A Canadian Bluenose in battle training near Ortona, Italy, scores a direct hit on the heavily armored turret of a captured German Mark IV tank. Had this been the real thing, the PIAT shell, fired from the fox hole, would have penetrated the turret and killed those inside.

Briefs From Britain

Inverness, Scotland — (CP) — Harold Fraser-Simson, 65, composer of the "Maid of the Mountains" and other musical plays died at his home here.

London — (CP) — Prof. W. H. Florey, famous for his work in developing pencillin, has left Britain for Russia to pass on his knowledge to Soviet doctors.

Newport, Monmouthshire — (CP) —For the fourth successive time, this town's council decided by one vote, 14 to 13, against the opening of movie houses on Sunday.

London — (CP) — K. M. Kirkham, London taxi-driver, found £293 (($1,318) in sovereigns and half-sovergeins in a brief case left in his taxi. No one claimed the case.

Bath, England — (CP) — Frank Warwick, for 25 years head verger at Bath Abbey, and his wife, who were 81 and 84 years old respectively, died within a few hours of each other.

London — (CP) — Five tons of sugar, rationed in wartime, were stolen by thieves who drove it away in a truck. The truck was recovered empty a few hours later.

Torquay, England — (CP) —Rev. Joseph Johnson, 80-year-old clergyman, and his wife, who came here from an east coast town three years ago, returned home recently and the next night a bomb smashed their home. Now they are in hospital suffering from shock.

Guildford, Surrey — (CP) — Five sets of twins were born within 28 hours at a nursing home here. The home is in charge of the Franciscan Sisters.

London — (CP) — Berlin radio reported quadruplets born to a French family living near Chambury, Savoy. The mother, at 20, now has seven children.

Liverpool — (CP) — A former sergeant in the R. A. F. applying for a pension, told the tribunal that "working with five WAAF assistants split my mind and caused me to develop a split personality. I was all right with my airmen storekeepers." He was granted a pension.

London — (CP) — Maj.-Gen. Wilhelm Hansteen, invasion commander of the Norwegian forces in Britain, has qualified as a paratrooper, it was disclosed here. He is 47 and became Norwegian commander-in-chief in 1942.

Tiverton, England — (CP) — Tiverton town council adopted a resolution to circularize all county authorities in a "crusade" against officialdom which, council said, "completely ruled local committees."

BEGAN CANNING INDUSTRY

Napoleon's efforts to preserve perishable foods for his armies created the canning industry.

Little Benny's Note Book

Pop was opening his mail and drinking his coffee this morning, saying to ma, Well, they've got a holey nerve, I must say.

Why, what is it, who? ma said, and pop said, I admit I legally and legitimately owe the money, and I wouldn't mind if they sent me a courteous statement to that effect, but when they come out with a crude notice demanding payment, it rubs me the wrong way and gets under my skin and in my craw and makes my dander rise. It isn't as if they've had to dun me for it, because this is the first I've heard from them about it. I've got a good mind to write and tell them what I think of them, he said.

The best way to treat people like that is to delibritly make them wait for their money and teach them manners, ma said. Our credit is as good as anybody's and better than most, I never heard of such a thing for land sakes, she said, and pop said, By gollies is would be a good lesson to them.

And further and what's more, when you do finely pay them after you've kept them dangling on tender hooks for a good long time, I sincerely hope you're not going to deal with them any more, ma said, and pop said, I really shouldn't, I suppose.

Why, I dont know how you can think of patronizing such people after this, the idea, ma said, and pop said, Well, if you're game, I am. They say France is going to be a good country to live in when the excitement dies down, or we might move to Russia just for the excitement, he said.

Now William what on earth are you talking about? ma said, and pop said, Why, this notise is from the government demanding the current payment of my income tax, didn't I tell you?

No you didn't tell me, and you're the silliest, most aggrevating man that ever set across a breakfast table, and if there's anything funny, go ahead and laugh, I'm sure, ma said.

NATIONAL WAR LABOUR BOARD

Incorporation of Cost of Living Bonus into Wage Rates

THE ATTENTION of all employers in Canada, subject to the Wartime Wages Control Order 1943 (P.C. 9384), is directed to the provisions of the Order requiring them to establish for each of their occupational classifications, not above the rank of foreman, a single wage rate or range of wage rates as prescribed by the rules set out in Schedule "A" of the Order by adding to the previous authorized single wage rate or previous authorized range of wage rates the amount of previous authorized cost of living bonus, and that such established single wage rate or range of wage rates shall be effective for the first payroll period beginning on or after February 15, 1944.

Employers who may not be paying previous authorized cost of living bonus as required by General Orders of the National War Labour Board, issued under dates of August 4, 1942, and November 3, 1943, pursuant to the provisions of the Wartime Wages Control Order, P.C. 5963, are required to include such amounts of cost of living bonus in the establishment of wage rates of their employees under P.C. 9384 effective for the first payroll period beginning on or after February 15, 1944, as stated.

More Russian Victories

Again the sound of doom rings for Adolf Hitler and his Hitlerites on the Russian front. Marshal Stalin has announced the capture of Rogachev on the White Russian front and Dno, the last remaining bastion to the east of Pskov, the gateway to the Baltics.

Such is the steady march of the Russian phalanxes, drawing near to the Baltic States and closer and closer to Germany.

With recent disasters along the eastern line, Hitler has not been able to show a single victory. The past year has been one of unbroken victories for the Russians and of continued German retreat.

Russian victories have been coming so fast that the record of them sounds like the record of British victories as the Seven Years' War was drawing to a close, when it used to be said that victory upon victory came so swiftly and in such unbroken line to English armies that people in England had to ask every morning what new victory had been won, lest they overlook one.

The progress of the Russians is an inspiration to the people of Russia. They see their land being freed from the invader's grip and the time approaching when the Germans will be backing up on German ground. They see the foe in the process of being expelled, that foe which has been the enemy of Russia and the foe that has threatened Russia for years now on the way to being crushed so thoroughly that Germany never again may threaten the peace of the freedom-loving nations.

Motoring in 1974

Thirty years in the future motor cars will move swiftly, according to the Deputy Minister of Highways for the Province of Ontario, who forecasts speeds of one hundred miles an hour in 1974, and two million motor cars in Ontario using the highways in that day. Then there will be a car for every four persons as against one for every five persons today.

In the pre-war days when motoring was at its height, the speed of fifty miles an hour was the legal maximum on highways but there were many prosecutions for speeding above that limit. Then many of these no doubt believed that the speed of one hundred miles an hour would be possible in the very near future. But for those who restricted themselves to the legal rate, one hundred miles an hour possibly seemed far enough away. Under the present laws the speed is forty miles on highways except where municipalities rule otherwise and so from 40 miles the increase to 100 miles an hour may seem far off.

Yet when one looks over the mechanical improvements which have come in the last thirty years, since 1914 when the first Great War started, to the comfortable motor vehicles of today, one hundred miles an hour does not seem impossible in the next 30 years. Improved road building will continue and some may feel that the century of miles an hour may be achieved long before thirty years are up.

But Deputy Minister J. D. Miller no doubt means an average speed of one hundred miles an hour and even to the fast driving of a few years ago that may seem rather much to look forward to.

One thing is certain, the children of today are going to see marvels in transportation before they are of mature years. They won't have the pleasure of the leisurely means of transportation of yore when a trotting horse or even a jog trot was the top limit of civilization's rate of travel, but they will see swiftly moving automobiles on super-highways.

This brings up the thought of air developments, how fast they will have developed by 1974 and how they will affect motoring. Will the skies be filled with airy argosies of commerce and passenger travel touching every inhabited part of this New World continent? Men of today are planning vast aerial developments looking to an aviation age of private passenger planes, helicopters, passenger air transports, freight glider trains and transports and the like.

Many travel developments cannot but come in the next thirty years.

Lent

The Christian world has now entered the solemn period of Lent which turns the thoughts to the great realities of life and matters of religion. In this time of war more attention is paid to Lent than in the days before war.

The observance of Lent is peculiarly fitting during war when the principles of truth and justice are fighting so that the ideal of freedom may continue to live in future ages, while the enemy, the Axis, uses every device of evil and revives ancient savagery to crush that which is right. What is true in the spiritual realm is true in the world at war, the evil motives of enemy policy assure ultimate defeat for Nazism and Fascism.

The world cannot fail to observe the fact that there is a world energy which the enemy ignores, a sense of world consciousness of right among nations that implies devotion to the cause of democratic freedom and works itself out in lives of self-sacrifice for the maintenance of truth and freedom among men.

The enemy on the other hand armed himself with evil and threw himself against all the beneficent powers and influences which are at work in the world. The enemy's hand is against mankind. But the forces of right can and will carry on the struggle until evil is beaten down and men, women and children again breathe freely the pure air of freedom and security.

Lent symbolizes this eternal struggle of right against the powers of darkness as in the well-known hymn:—

"Christian, canst thou see them
On the holy ground,
How the hosts of darkness
Compass thee around?
Christian, up and smite them,
Counting gain but loss;
Smite them by the merit
Of the Holy Cross."

Lent is the season of prayer and meditation "with heart-searching fears."

Lent is a fitting mood in which to look out upon the war and the world. It emphasizes service and sacrifice.

Living Forever

We have been doing a bit of research in the lore of longevity and have found the prospect encouraging to all who, for reasons best known to themselves, may be desirous of sticking around for the next two or three world wars, writes a Chicago Tribune columnist.

The formula proposed by Aldous Huxley's Dr. Obispo, whether based on science or on sciolism, calls for a raw fish diet which a gourmet could accept only with reluctance (unless in capsule form).

In the Encyclopaedia Britannica, however, (formerly published by Sears Roebuck and Company, now by the University of Chicago Press), a simpler and more pleasing plan is suggested by Sir Humphrey Davy Rolleston, physician-in-ordinary to the King.

He points out that "the majority of centenarians have been small eaters," and cites the Montaigne aphorism that "Man does not die, he kills himself," and the proverb, "You dig your grave with your teeth."

An extension of this idea happily suggests that Americans today are perhaps prolonging their lives in proportion as they export food instead of eating it, and might win a war by the device of underfeeding themselves and overfeeding the enemy.

A possibility of error in such strategy, however, seems indicated by Sir Humphrey himself when he contemplates the brief terrestrial career of the imago of the Ephemerid, a frivolous insect which dies after only an hour or two of "aerial life devoted to love," and does not stay to dinner at all; whereas the gluttonous tortoise lives for a century or more.

When words are scarce they're seldom spent in vain.—Shakespeare.

THE THINKER

When Rodin carved "The Thinker" he Conceived him, elbow on the knee
And chin in hand; so nicely wrought,
'Tis plain the man is lost in thought,
Is deaf to sound, to beauty blind,
A serious problem on his mind.

A different choice Rodin had made
If he at bridge had ever played.
He then had carved in manner grand
The fellow with a card in hand,
Held just above the table top,
He knows he must, but will not drop.

He'd show him sitting in his chair,
Upon his face a vacant stare,
Moving a four-spot to and fro,
His playmates screaming: "Let it go!"
A wise kibitzer near to say:
"You've nothing else that you can play."

And there he'd sit from day to day,
Thinking the fleeting time away.
Forever passersby would stop
To say: "I wish that card he'd drop!"
Strangers would add: "The statue's pat.
I have a friend who does just that."

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BY-GONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

FEB. 25TH., 1924.

A large part of the goods stolen from the fur store of Mr. George T. Woodley in January last, has been recovered according to a telephone message received by Chief of Police A. Kidd last evening from Montreal from Sergeant-Detective Jack Truaisch, who has been working on the case continuously since the robbery. All pelts taken from the store amounting in value to $4,500, have been found in Montreal and it is expected that a large part of the finished furs will be recovered shortly. Officer Truaisch has done excellent work in tracing the stolen goods. Mr. George T. Woodley is now in Montreal.

Mayor William McGregor of Napanee was in town today.

Mr. and Mrs. James Weir of this city will spend the weekend with friends at Melrose.

30 YEARS AGO

FEB. 25TH., 1914.

A large quantity of ice is being shipped from here to Kingston for use by the Grand Trunk Railway.

Mrs. A. Hunter has left to visit friends at Fernie, B.C. Capt. Hunter is at present at Sioux Lookout, Ontario.

A horse belonging to Mr. John Boyd of Thurlow Township ran away in town yesterday and was captured by Mr. Joseph Bolster, who was complimented for the pluck he showed in stopping the horse.

The journeymen barbers of this city met last evening and organized a union to be known as Union No. 723. The following were elected officers: President, A. L. Watts; Vice President, J. McCourt; Financial Secretary, J. Boyle; Treasurer, H. Osborne; Recorder, W. Malyea; Guide, A. Skinner; Guardian, G. Smith.

40 YEARS AGO

FEB. 25TH., 1904.

Large quantities of snow are being removed from back yards along Front Street and deposited on Pinnacle Street north of Victoria Avenue.

The oldest inhabitant never saw as severe a winter as we have experienced this year and he never wants to see another like it; so say we all.

Major J. R. Orr of Madoc, has been promoted to the rank of Lieut. Colonel and will succeed Lieut. Colonel E. Harrison as commanding officer of the 49th. Regiment, Hastings Rifles. Lieut. Colonel Harrison's term of office expired recently.

Mr. Fred S. Deacon, an old Belleville boy, who has been living in New York for some years, has returned to the "Old Home Town" to reside. He will be welcomed by many friends.

50 YEARS AGO

FEB. 25TH., 1894.

Messrs. Wallbridge & Clarke, whose Front Street store in the Templeton Block on the east side of Front Street, was destroyed by fire some time ago, have purchased the stock of Messrs. Mr. A. R. Chown of Kingston was in town today.

Mr. W. J. Magrath spent yesterday in Peterboro.

Mr. George Fax will succeed Mr. A. Brignall as leader of the choir in John Street Presbyterian Church. Mr. Brignall is leaving the city.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. McCamon have returned home from the Southern States and are stopping at the Huffman House.

Verbatim Copies Of Proceedings Given Members

Toronto, Feb. 25 — (CP) — The Ontario legislature gave its approval yesterday to a motion by Premier Drew that a stenographic report be made of House proceedings with a number of copies printed for distribution among party leaders.

The premier said that report would not be like the Hansard of the House of Commons but simply would be mimeographed verbatim copies of the proceedings of the day.

C.C.F. opposition leader E. B. Jolliffe commended the proposal but said he would like assurance that it would be a "full report." The Premier replied that it would and Liberal leader Harry C. Nixon said the proposal was acceptable to his group.

TO HAVE JOBS BEFORE MEN ARE DEMOBILIZED

Toronto, Feb. 25—(CP)—David de Witt Meyer, accredited representative of the Union of South Africa in Canada, said last night that no members of the South African Armed Forces will be demobilized after the war until they have jobs to go to at living wages. Speaking at the 38th annual banquet of the Ontario Horticultural Association, Mr. Meyer said that full allowances will be paid to soldiers, sailors and airmen until they find employment.

STILL LOSES BY ONE VOTE

Lake Zurich, Ill., Feb. 25—(AP)—Arthur H. Froelich ran for election as a village trustee last April and lost by one vote—123-124. "It can't happen again," said Froelich, so he ran again for the same office. He got more votes this time, but so did his new opponent—and he lost 139-140.

Letter to The Editor

KNOCKS THE "STRIKER"

Editor,
The Ontario Intelligencer,

Attention Bellevillians and beware, for a striker is in our midst! Yes, sir, a striker gone berserk. Strange to relate, it is one of your oldest and most respected citizens, and bold he is about it, too. Could it be that he has Bats in his belfry? That hardly seems possible for with the temperature around zero his head should be cool enough.

It may be that the city father, whose duty it is to keep him in hand, absentmindedly, wound the clock and put in the cat. Cats and the winding of clocks have somehow always been connected, or perhaps, after all these years of "going stiddy" the old boy has gone modern, slipped over the traces and is on the rampage.

But he can't do that to us. We depend on him to get us to school and work on time: to keep appointments and to catch trains; yes, even do we take our pills at his "say so".

Furthermore, our youths and maidens linger longingly on door steps and time their farewells by him. Think what a surprise it would be to an amorous couple, when they paused to count what they expected would be eleven, to count instead that unlucky number thirteen! Would their faces be red? Modern youth ought not to be forced to bear such useless shock!

Last Friday night, at the witching hour of midnight he struck seventeen times—17, think of that! Has he adopted railroad time or is he trying to railroad the citizens of Belleville into the realization of the fact that "Tempus is fugiting" indeed.

After listening for several days to our striker's lying reports, I walked to Front Street to investigate and there he stood, shamedly, with his hands before his face, or I should say faces, for he is two faced—yea and more Peering from behind, his slim hands I thought I saw him chuckle as he pointed to 10 a.m. and boldly struck twelve. Immediately hunger gnawed at my vitals. 12 o'clock was my lunch hour. Should I believe my ears, my eyes or my stomach? What was any loyal citizen to believe?

That our striker dwells too close to the liquor commission has always been my contention, and if this digression from the "straight and narrow" is only a fling on the "Primrose Path", then let us hope that he soon gets over his binge and sobers up. On the other hand if it is a strike—which is such a popular pastime in our fair America—then by all means call on the government and bring on the militia, or have an arbitration meeting or something before he disrupts the even tenor of our lives.

You may be one who takes little or no interest in the running of civic affairs and content to leave such matters for the mayor and his council to settle, or you may, perhaps, possess one of those modern and much-advertised watches and do not depend on the city clock to keep your appointments, nor do you give a hoot whether the clock strikes twelve or seventeen. Then think of the loss to literature and humanity in general if the Prince's ballroom clock had struck seventeen instead of twelve!

This erratic behaviour of our official timekeeper is getting in my hair: To be very candid, I think the old boy's trouble is 'rheumatiz' and if some kindly city father would take a bottle of coal oil and with a goose quill spread it generously over the striker's anatomy, he would behave himself and once more time would slip honestly into eternity. How about it?

POST-WAR PLANNING IN BELLEVILLE

Editor,
The Ontario Intelligencer.

If you could find space in your valuable paper, I would appreciate it very much if you would allow me to enlighten the public on what has been done as to our post-war planning in Belleville.

In answer to a letter published in your paper on Wednesday, Feb. 23 by Mr. Jamieson Bone re the inactivity of our committee, I might say that the post-war planning committee has had full co-operation from the city council on all matters.

Since I have been elected chairman we have recommended to the council that they employ Mr. Storrie, who is a competent engineer, and also a sewage disposal specialist to survey the entire city for sewage disposal.

The council concurred by a large majority in our recommendation.

As to flood control a committee from the council and the post-war committee waited on the Provincial Government a short while ago and was promised an engineer to survey the river at no cost to the city.

On the subject of the esplanade or riverside drive the post-war committee recommended to the council that they proceed at once with a complete plan.

That recommendation also passed council by a large majority.

Hoping the information has clarified the situation as to the friendly relations between our post-war committee and council.

(Signed) Harold G. Woodley,
Chairman Post-War Planning.

FOREST HILL PENSION PLAN

Toronto, Feb. 25 —(CP)— Each municipal employee in suburban Forest Hill village will receive $12 per year for each year of service according to a pensioning plan announced yesterday by Reeve F. C. Gardiner. The system will be inaugurated as soon as the Dominion government can supply the necessary statistics on employment records.

Canadian Scene A Century Ago

By J. L. G.

Jobs crowded in upon the settler with the coming of spring. He had ploughing, fencing, sowing and planting to do. In addition, he had to remove the hams and bacon that had been salted down in barrels during the preceding autumn and, after washing them off, hang them in the smoke-house. This was a room into which one never dashed without certain precautions. One took a deep breath and held it. At the same time one squinted, or held a hand over the eyes, so that the smoke would not bother too much . . . Beech or maple wood was burned on the earthen floor. The smoke from this blaze was oily and, in the confined space, acted as a preservative while giving the meat a special flavour.

According to the old saying, a new broom always sweeps clean. But does it? It would seem that the cleanliness depends not only on the energies of the broom-wielder but also on the broom itself. There is no doubt that home-makers of long ago were handicapped by their primitive sweeping devices, which more often than not left tell-tale patches of dust and dirt in their wake. For centuries up until comparatively recent times people bound with their hands pliant twigs of trees and bushes . . . or of corn . . . using thongs, cord or wire to hold the broom together. When the modern lathe, the hollow mandrel, the power-driven shuttle and the broom-sewing machine were invented, the modern type of broom came into being.

The humble brush made by machine is of even more recent origin. It's hard to believe, but the first brush of this type appeared only towards the close of the 19th century. The first brush-making machine to attract general attention was patented in 1870.

Digitalis Maintains Life In Many Serious Heart Cases.

A mining engineer was ordered to Australia to leave in two weeks' time. Knowing his heart "acted up" at times causing some shortness of breath, he consulted his physician as to whether it would be safe to take the trip. His physician felt that he should first have at least 4 weeks rest, than should be given digitalis for some time to see how much would be required to keep the heart in a safe condition. However, as the man had to catch his ship within two weeks there was no time for the prescribed rest and obtaining information as to the value of digitalis in safeguarding the heart.

The physician sent him immediately to a heart specialist who, by means of the fluroscope (Xray) and the electrocardiograph which registers the rhythm and strength of the heart beats, was able to prescribe the safe daily dosage of digitalis to permit the patient to take passage to Australia as scheduled.

Sometimes you read of the failure of digitalis to control or strengthen a failing heart and it is true that it does fail in some cases. In fact, one authority has stated that only about 15 per cent, about 1 to 7, live safely by the regular use of digitalis.

However, in the British Medical Journal, Dr. Alfred S. Rogen, Glasgow, reports the study of twenty cases who were receiving a maintenance dose of digitalis (enough to enable them to live safely) in the heart clinic in Glasgow. All of these patients, after spending a rest period in hospital had been attending the clinic at regular intervals for as long as four years. When digitalis was found necessary, the amount needed to maintain them safely was learned, and they continued the use of the digitalis over this period of time. These patients varied from 20 to 70 years of age and they had taken the digitalis from a few weeks to more than four years. All but three had suffered with rheumatic fever. The daily maintenance dose varied from 1-2 to 4 grains of the powdered digitalis leaf. The digitalis treatment was stopped and no treatment was given until symptoms of heart failure appeared. In 16, the signs of heart failure appeared within a few days and before the patient noticed them. The remaining four did not show or feel symptoms for two to six weeks. By restarting the digitalis, all patients were restored to their previous health in a short time.

Digitalis makes life safe for many serious heart cases.

THE HOLY LAND

It is an interesting fact that Palestine, the historic homeland of the Jews, did not receive its name from the Israelites, but from their ancient enemies, the Philistines.

"Palestine" is derived through Greek and Latin from "Philistia," a strip of seacoast inhabited by the Philistines, who were a non-Semitic people supposed to have come originally from Crete and other Greek islands.

Herodotus was the first to refer to Palestine by that name. The Father of History uses several phrases such as "the Phoenicians and the Syrians of Palestina" and "in that part of Syria called Palestine."

Josephus in his "Antiquities of the Jews" wrote: "Now all the children of Mesraim (apparently one of the four sons of Ham), being eight in number, possessed the country from Gaza to Egypt, though it retained the name of one only, the Philistim; for the Greeks call part of that country Palestine."

Naturally the Greeks and Romans had more knowledge of the Philistines, a seacoast people of warriors and sea traders, than they did of the Israelites in the interior.

The Latin form "Palestina" occurs several times in the King James Version of the Bible. Exodus 15:14 says: "The people shall hear, and be afraid: sorrow shall take hold on the inhabitants of Palestina." In Isaiah 14 the prophet says: "Rejoice not thou, whole Palestina, because the rod of him that smote thee is broken," and "Howl, O gate; cry, O city; thou, whole Palestina, art dissolved."

Only once is the modern English form "Palestine" used. Joel 3:4 says: "Yea, and what have ye to do with me, O Tyre, and Zidon, and all the coasts of Palestine?" Neither form "Palestine" occur in the New Testament.

At first this region, or part of it, was called Canaan, or the land of Canaan, after the son of Ham and grandson of Noah.

After Canaan was promised to Abraham and his seed as a permanent country it came to be called the Promised Land, "a land that floweth with milk and honey."

After the conquest of the Promised Land by the Israelites under Joshua it became known as Israel or the Land of Israel.

"Holy Land," still widely used as a popular name for Palestine, occurs only once in Zechariah 2:12, which reads: "And the Lord shall inherit Judah his portion in the holy land, and shall choose Jerusalem again."

Judea, which was only a small part of Palestine, is several times referred to in the Bible as "Jewry."

DREW ACCEPTS CHALLENGE OF C.C.F. LEADER

Tells Party Conservatives Do Not Intend to Govern in Spirit of Fear

STUDY 15 GOVT. BILLS

Toronto, Feb. 25 — (CP) — With the first full-dress verbal clash between premier Drew and C. C. F. opposition leader Jolliffe already on the record, the Ontario Legislature will take time-out from the Throne Speech debate today and turn its attention to bills up for second reading — the stage where they may be debated.

Routine business and a number of the 15 government bills now before the House will occupy the legislators before they take their first week-end adjournment, ringing down the curtain on a week that saw Premier Drew declare his Progressive Conservative administration would gladly meet the issue of a want of confidence motion from the opposition.

Premier Drew threw down the gauntlet to the opposition yesterday after C.C.F. leader Jolliffe had declared in a two-hour address that if the government failed to implement its 22-point program as promised "certain consequences will inevitably follow."

Not Minority Gov't.

Speaking after Mr. Jolliffe, the premier declared that "warnings" had been heard all afternoon from the opposition leader. Addressing himself to the opposition benches, he said: "This is not and cannot be a minority government. If you haven't confidence in it, then you have the alternative of a want of confidence motion, which we shall be glad to accept as an issue.

"We do not intend to govern here in any spirit of fear."

After reviewing some of the steps already taken and those planned by his government in various fields, the premier adjourned the debate, indicating he will continue his address when it resumes on Tuesday. Liberal leader Harry C. Nixon, whose 14 followers hold the balance of power in the closely-divided House, is also expected to be heard in the speech debate Tuesday.

Asked to End Rumors

Mr. Jolliffe, in the course of his lengthy address had said that so far as his party was concerned, defeat of a government measure in the legislature would not constitute want of confidence in the government unless the C.C.F. so defined it before the division. And he had issued a call for the Premier to state on behalf of his government what circumstances it would interpret as giving rise to a question of confidence or no confidence.

The opposition leader also called on the Premier to put an end to rumors the government was planning a snap election. He said his party would support government legislation "for what it was worth" and claimed that some of the government's 22-point program was contained in the C.C.F. election platform of 1937.

Tells of Department

Premier Drew spoke for little more than half an hour and devoted much of his address to the establishment of a new department of planning and development. He said it would play a vital role in co-ordinating the many planning agencies now looking to the future and in planning in directions not yet explored by organized effort.

He hoped the bill would be tabled next week and other steps would be taken to create the small but expert staff necessary to begin the planning work.

Mr. Drew said that with research in mind, the government had given a grant of $400,000 to the University of Toronto and grants of $250,000 each to Queen's University and University of Western Ontario. He also commended the work of the Ontario Research Foundation, which he said was playing a role of tremendous importance in the research phase of the war effort.

World Needs Things We Have

Speaking of the new department of planning and development, the Premier said "When we speak of employment, many people are speaking in terms of our present levels of employment. But the truth is that the lands, the forests, the mines and the manufacturing industries, are capable of a very greatly expanded production. We have the raw material, we have the industrial skill and the world is going to need the things that we can make.

". . . It will be the first function of this new department to coordinate the many planning agencies now looking to the future, and also to stimulate new planning in directions which have not yet been explored by any organized effort."

Referring to industry, the Premier said "What we need more than anything else to assure a continuance of our industrial growth is a sufficiently large pool of trained, creative, industrial designers with a background of real experience."

It was hoped that by effective collaboration between the various research organizations and the new department of development and planning that it would be possible to measure the requirements in this field and take immediate steps toward assurance of the number that will be required.

FIGHTING TALK

R.C.A.F. Learns Mike Technique

Left—Clear speech is essential to flyers. Even with the transmitter in an oxygen mask and "buns" around the earphones, airmen are still deafened by the noise of the "prop." The voice must be pitched high and articulated distinctly to be heard. Lives may depend on messages getting through. Instructor in this Harvard trainer at Trenton is Squadron-Leader George Godderham, of Toronto.

Centre—George L. Long, of the Bell Telephone Company, demonstrates the mirrophone, which records the voice upon magnetic steel tape instead of the usual gramophone disc. A recording can be made and repeated back immediately. Thus airmen can hear their own voices as others hear them. P/O. E. H. Harries, R.A.F., training at Trenton, records his voice on the magnetic tape. Mr. Long has demonstrated the mirrophone to airmen at No. 1 Flying Instructors' School, Trenton, No. 3 F.I.S., Arnprior, and No. 1 Wireless School, Montreal.

Right—Most persons are amazed on hearing their own voices. No one ever really hears his own voice, because it comes to the inner ear directly from the vocal cords, before it is modified in the mouth. That is why the mirrophone is invaluable in speech training. A.W.2 Jean Grand, left, of Chatham, and A.W.2 Kathryn Lederman, of Kitchener, listen to their own voices as reproduced by the mirrophone.

House of Commons Turns To a Discussion of C.B.C.

Ralston Has No Information on Report Given House on Nazi Prisoners

CONSIDER ESTIMATES

By JAMES McCOOK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Ottawa, Feb. 25 — (CP) — The House of Commons today turns to discussion of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation after a day spent on events associated with the war.

First business this afternoon is to be a resolution to set up a House committee on radio broadcasting similar to that which operated last year and which reviewed activities of the C.B.C.

Defence Minister Ralston said last night he had no information to support reports given the House by Howard Green (PC — Vancouver south) that Nazi prisoners had been murdered by their fellows.

Mr. Green said he understood there had been certain cases of men being murdered in prison camps and that others had run to the wires for help. As he understood it, the discipline within the prison camps was handled entirely by the Nazis themselves.

Statement Ill-Advised Claim

Col. Ralston said he thought the statement by Mr. Green was "a bit ill-advised." He had not heard of any such events. Within the last three weeks a representative of the protecting power for Germany had visited the camps and would report to the German government. An endeavor had been made to show him everything.

J. F. Pouliot (L — Temiscouata) said second-hand army clothing used to be available to him for distribution to the poor who could cut it down to use for children's garments. Now it was being sold by the defence department or made available free to the Indians.

"If it is good for the Indians why is it impossible for the good red-blooded Canadians to have it?" he asked.

The House spent the day on army items under the $3,650,000,000 war appropriations resolution.

Merit Only Factor

Col. Ralston said, in answer to Mr. Green, that merit was the factor in the promotion of officers, whether they were permanent or non-permanent force men. Mr. Green had said there was a feeling there should be no distinction in retiring officers. When a man was no longer needed he should be released whether he was permanent or non-permanent.

Col. Ralston said, the treasury might favor a policy of retiring the permanent force man who had contributed to his pension while the non-permanent man had not; but such a policy was not followed. If there were a case of two men of equal merit he would favor the retirement of the non-permanent man, since he was going back into civil life in any event and should be able to become re-established as soon as possible.

Mr. Green said the rehabilitation grant of one month's pay and allowances was unsufficient for discharged men. The grant should be sufficient for those leaving the forces to think they were being treated fairly.

The outlook of young men and women in the forces was vital to the future of Canada and small allowances when they left the service had the effect of shattering their vision of a new Canada, Mr. Green said.

All Must be United

Col. Ralston replied that he agreed all had to be united in taking the lead in order to awaken the nation to necessity of receiving servicemen and servicewomen some day and helping "to make this country a country fit for heroes, both men and women, to live in."

But the first thing was to ensure victory so there would be a "post-war." Those in the forces looked forward to the peace years and had the right to have parliament consider their future. The government had tried to give the lead which Mr. Green had suggested, and a program to provide for extending the rehabilitation program had been outlined in the Throne Speech.

Several members raised the question of service mother's allowances, suggesting they should be higher than the present maximum of $25 a month for those who have sons in the forces and can prove their need. A frequent suggestion was that they should be as high as those granted a soldier's wife — $35 a month.

Col. Ralston said the allowance of $35 a month to a soldier's wife was granted automatically, but the need of the mother had to be shown. In special cases the dependents' board of trustees would consider supplementary sums to relieve the anxiety of the soldier about his dependents.

Union Vale

Union Vale — Many friends and neighbors are calling on Mrs. Earl Pearsall to sympathize with her and the family in their most sad bereavement in the loss of a loving husband and father.

His sudden death came as a terrible shock to everyone, as he was only a patient in the Belleville General Hospital one day. He will not only be missed in the family circle but by everyone who knew him.

Quite a number attended Farm Forum group on Monday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Vincent.

Mrs. F. Sullivan returned to her home at Corbyville last week after staying two weeks' with her daughter, Mrs. Earl Pearsall of Picton.

Mr. D. O. Reynolds spent several days in Toronto last week on business.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Marisett and Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Reynolds spent Monday night with the Woodville people to help organize a Farm Forum meeting.

RAWDON

Y.P.U. Pie Social Is Successful Event

Rawdon — On February 18th the Young People's Union sponsored a very successful pie social when over $40 was taken in at the door. The proceeds will be used for the M. & M. Fund. Mount Pleasant church hall was tastefully decorated with valentines.

Rev. T. P. Townsend was master of ceremonies and Mrs. Kenneth Weaver introduced the characters for a half hour play entitled "The Red Lamp" which was presented in two acts. The scenes took place in the living room of the Deering home in the New York suburbs. The cast was as follows: Elderly Spinster, Miss Muriel Welbourn; Her Nephew, Harold Deering, Mr. Eric Summers; Her Niece, Alice Deering, Miss Keitha Bush; Archie Clark, young lawyer, Mr. Frank Spencer; Bill Worth, man of all trades, Mr. Ralph Jeffs; Irish maid, Miss Gladys Summers.

Act 1 presented a lot of worry over the Red Lamp which came from South America and was supposed to bring good luck.

The second act brought the luck and everybody was well pleased after all the various mixups were straightened out.

Between acts Mr. Robert Elliott of Bethel, presented a piano solo.

Miss Margaret Gray, Stirling, sang a vocal number. Miss Doris Pollock, Wellman's, gave a reading, "Dora Dumb turns Poet." Master Neil Hubble of Mount Pleasant the popular boy soloist delighted with a comic and a patriotic number both of which were heartily applauded.

Several members of the Young People's Union served sandwiches and various kinds of pie.

Mrs. Carleton Potts presided at the piano on Sunday evening at Mount Pleasant.

Mrs. Frank Smith, Belleville, spent a few days last week with Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Smith.

Among those from other points who attended the pie social were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Elliott, Mr. and Mrs. Don Heath, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Welbourn, Vivian and Ruth and Mr. Stewart Hoover, Bethel.

Miss Eleanor Brown and Miss Joan Hoard of Hoard's, Dr. and Mrs. P. V. Helliwell, Stirling.

Mr. C. Gay and a party of men with two tractors are moving the bungalow from the Sharp farm on the fourth concession Rawdon to his home on the second concesion. At present the bungalow is stuck in the railroad hill and travellers have to detour.

Marion Phillips C.W.A.C., spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Phillips.

Trenton Band To Give Concert At Armouries

In order to assist the H.M.C.S. corvette "Belleville" fund, the members of the C.W.S.F. under command of Major Marion Harden will hold a band concert in the armouries on Sunday evening, the program to be given by the Trenton R.C.A.F. band under direction of WO. E. Hancock and by kind permission of Group Captain A. D. Bell-Irving, M.C. The Women's Service Force has been very active in the city and have adopted a regiment in Italy to supply comforts, besides conducting the canteen for the armouries. Twenty-five per cent of the silver collection will be donated to the Corvette fund. Besides the work of the canteen, the C.W.S.F. assist the Red Triangle Club with their weekly dances and are also trying to secure funds to put the bowling alleys at the armouries in first class shape so they can be used by all the service personnel. The Trenton band has arranged a special program for this event and will have as featured soloist, LAW. Dorothy Kinton. The armouries will be heated and the C.W.S.F. hopes that a large turnout will be in evidence to assist in their worthy work. Station Warrant Officer, John Silver will be Master of Ceremonies. The program is as follows:

March: Coronation March—Meyerbeer.

Rhapsody: Rythms of Rio—Bennett.

Soloist: My Shining Hour—LAW. Dorothy Kinton.

Waltz: Estudiantina—Waldteufel.

Popular Number: Make Believe—Kern. Solo by LAC. Hill, Saxophonist.

Piano Solo: Selected. LAC. Ivan Stumpf, A.C.C.M.

Finale of the Fourth Symphony—Tschaikowsky.

Soloist: When They Talk About You. LAW. Dorothy Kinton.

March: Pilots of the R.A.F. — Hancock.

Popular Number: Stormy Weather—Arlen. Trumpet solo by LAC. Gaetz.

Bolero: El Relicario—Pudilla.

Choral: Jesu Joy of Man's Desiring—Bach.

Our National Anthem.

Wm. Branscombe Installed Pres. Kinsmen Club

Picton, Feb. 25.—William Branscombe was installed as president of the new Kinsmen Club at the initial meeting Wednesday night. Dayton Wark is vice president; T. J. Bourke, secretary and C. W. Lewis, treasurer. Directors are Dr. K. E. McQueen, Ralph Warren and George Anderson.

The Club is sponsoring a "Milk For Britain Fund" with Fred Stafford, R. Warren, FO. Joe Bennett, Claude Cole as a committee in charge of this project.

Meetings are to be held on the second and fourth Mondays of the month, with the second meeting in March as Charter Night.

Home From Overseas.

Pte. George Crowther, who has been overseas since 1939, has returned to Canada. He served with Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment. He is spending leave at his home in Hillier.

Receives O.B.E.

Lieut.-Col. J. N. Medhurst was among a group of Canadians who was summoned to an investiture at Buckingham Palace recently. He was awarded the Order of the British Empire, as announced in the New Year's honor list. He is the son of Major and Mrs. N. Medhurst Picton.

Band to Broadcast.

Canada's spotlight band, Mart Kenny's Western Gentlemen, is to broadcast over the CBC, from the R.A.F. Station here on March 3rd. Previous to the broadcast, there is a program for service personnel and friends, with dancing later at the station.

Barn Destroyed.

Fire destroyed the barn on the farm of Jack Shelley, near Cherry Valley, late Wednesday night. All the feed, a sow and six pigs were lost. Other livestock was led to safety. A bucket-brigade succeeded in saving the house nearby.

Suffers Wounds.

Pte. Fred Goodmurphy has been wounded in action in Italy, his mother, Mrs. Joel Goodmurphy, Wellington, has been advised. He had been overseas since 1939 with Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment. In a recent letter home he told how he and six other soldiers had spent Christmas in Italy. Dinner was cooked at a farm house and they had chicken, spaghetti, tea, bread and butter. Having sugar, they made candy with native nuts added.

Fifth Wolf Shot.

Alton Hineman and Nelson Moore of Cherry Valley, on Wednesday, shot their fifth wolf this winter. It was a male and weighed 45 lbs., the largest yet shot. During February they have shot three in Athol and South Marysburg townships. Bounties on each total $75. The wolf was trailed for two hours through deep snow before being shot on the pasture farm of Gerald Ackerman, near Point Traverse.

Day of Prayer.

Mrs. R. Hooper, wife of Sqdn. Leader Hooper, R.A.F. padre, and for some years a missionary in China, was the speaker at the World Day of Prayer held in the Presbyterian church, yesterday. ## The War Today— Claims Hitler's Bombing Fleet Only Shadow of Former Self

By DeWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

Prime Minister Churchill stalked through London areas damaged by Hitler's new "non-stop" blitz and held up his fingers in the famous "V" sign as he told the crowds with grim belligerency:—

"We'll stick it out and give it."

This sudden renewal of the aerial offensive on Britain is a nasty affair. Still, I don't believe we need regard it as a phenomenon.

It is in part an answer to the unprecedented Anglo-American bombing of western Europe and the Reich which daily and nightly is blasting away the foundations of Hitler's fortress. Indications are, however, that it is being conducted more for its moral effect on the world at large than for military reasons.

The Fuehrer's primary object undoubtedly is to convince both his own people and foreign nations that the Reich still possesses great striking power in the air. He aims at sustaining morale at home and at creating a bargaining point for use in case some unforeseen event should impel the Allies to abandon their demand for unconditional surrender and consider peace negotiations.

However, while the present German raids are the most severe since the blitz of 1940-41, there's no sign that Germany has sufficient air strength to bring London to its knees, or anything like it.

The Nazis are using much smaller bombing fleets than in the old days, because their air force is only a shadow of its former self, but they're employing more powerful bombs. The net result is that they are causing a lot of destruction which has little military value, and are killing a good many civilians. In short, from the military viewpoint the raids thus far have had only nuisance value.

Hitler Tries War of Attrition, Seeks Compromise

The peace angle is important from Hitler's point of view. It long has been apparent that he is conducting a war of attrition in the hope of wearing the Allies down to a point where they will compromise. Recently it has been disclosed, too, that his agents have been putting out peace feelers in many quarters.

These overtures, though, have contemplated a negotiated peace which would enable the Nazis to salvage much from the wreckage. Thus the sum total is that we must smash Hitler on the battle-field.

WEDDINGS

CALBERY—PURVIS

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the United Church parsonage, Deseronto, at 7 p.m., Saturday evening, Feb. 19, when Mary Eleanor Purvis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Purvis, Main St., was united in marriage to James Calbery, son of Mrs. Myrtle Calbery, of Belleville. Rev. H. A. Bunt, B.A., officiated.

The bride was becomingly attired in a two-piece suit of Nassau blue crepe, navy accessories and corsage of red roses. She was attended by her sister, Mrs. William Perlick, who wore a frock of Nassau blue crepe, navy accessories and corsage of red roses. Sgt. H. H. Smart, R.C.A.F., attended the groom.

Following a reception at the home of the bride's parents, the young couple left for Belleville where they will reside.

BRADSHAW—CONDIE

A quiet wedding was solemnized by the Rev. J. A. Diltz, 44 Hillside St., on Feb. 19th, of Elendar Thossie Condie, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Condie, Callander, Ont., to Glenn Geddes, only son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Bradshaw, Front of Thurlow. The bridal couple were attended by Miss Freda Hornick and Mr. Clinton Vader, of Belleville. A short honeymoon was spent in Kingston and points east.

ASHTON—TAYLOR

Southminster United Church, Ottawa, was the scene of a very quiet wedding Thursday evening, Feb. 17, when Edith Dorland, daughter of Mr. John Henry Taylor, and the late Mrs. Taylor, Hillier, Ont., was united in marriage to FO. Arthur Lawrence Ashton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Ashton, Bowmanville, Ont. Rev. Charles Donald officiated and Mr. Ward McAdam was at the organ. There were no attendants.

The bride was charming in a dressmaker suit of brown gabardine, matching Milan straw hat and accessories and carried a bouquet of Talisman roses.

Following the ceremony the bride and groom received at a small reception at the Chateau Laurier.

On their return from a brief stay in the Laurentians, FO. and Mrs. Ashton will reside at Trenton, Ont.

SUTHERLAND—MUMMERY

The Anglican Church of St. Timothy in Toronto was the setting for a pretty wedding on Saturday, Feb. 19, when Rev. H. H. Marsh officiated at the marriage of Miss Ruth Marguerite Mummery, younger daughter of Mrs. F. E. Mummery and the late Mr. Frank Mummery, to Mr. William Alexander Sutherland, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Sutherland, Stirling, Ont.

Given in marriage by Mr. W. D. Grierson, the bride was lovely in a period gown of white chenille taffeta, the long fitted bodice of which was scalloped onto a full skirt. The sweetheart neckline and hem edge were trimmed with pulled taffeta ruching. Her finger-tip veil was caught to a wing style Juliette cap of the same material as her dress. Long white velvet streamers fell from the back of the cap to the floor and she carried a bouquet of white carnations and fresia.

Miss Helen Mummery was her sister's bridesmaid, gowned in powder blue chenille taffeta similar in style to that of the bride. Her headdress of the same material as her dress, was a duplicate of the bride's and was trimmed with red velvet ribbon to match her arm cascade of American Beauty roses.

The groomsman was Mr. A. J. McTaggart, the ushers, Mr. W. Mirrlees and Mr. H. A. Graham, all of Toronto.

During the signing of the register Miss Margaret McInnes sang "Because."

A reception for sixty-five guests was held at the bride's home, 149 Deloraine Ave., tastefully decorated with vari-hued snapdragons, as was the church altar. The bride's mother received, wearing a dress of heaven blue crepe with matching hat and corsage of red roses. The groom's mother, also receiving, was in a black and gold dress with black accessories and corsage of Talisman roses.

For the wedding trip to Montreal, the bride chose a pink wool suit, camel hair fleece coat and black accessories. On their return, Mr. and Mrs. Sutherland will make their home in Stirling, Ont. The bride is a graduate of Macdonald Hall, Guelph and Acadia College, N.S. The groom is an O.A.C. graduate.

DEMURE BUT DEVASTATING when worn with a centre-part smooth hairdo is a bonnet of yellow angora straw banding with a side rippled brim. Trimmed on either side with loops and ends of bright green grosgrain ribbon and tiny yellow glass flowers, it's a real Spring affair.

Buying Spring Wardrobe

Betty Hutton models a becoming Spring outfit

By HELEN FOLLETT

SOON YOU WILL be scurrying around the shops, getting together your spring wardrobe. If you are going to spend March in sunny climes you're already at the job. It might be timely to suggest that hit and miss buying is expensive, and you are not likely to get the kind of duds that are flattering. The ensemble must be kept in mind.

Start with the purchase of a coat. That's the most difficult garment to select, and you want one with which you can live happily. Get a cheerful color that will be on friendly terms with the complexion and eyes. We need bright, gay colors now; they boost morale, help us get through the dreary days of war. Some of the novelty materials are youthful and chic.

Be fussy about the fit. Cast a keen eye on lines and cut. Frocks should bear a certain relationship to the coat. Hats, of course, must be congenial to the rest of the sartorial trappings. Some of the spring offerings are slightly crazy, some conservative; the type you select depends upon the type of girl you are.

Avoid confusion of colors, but don't twang on one string. A girl all in brown or blue is not an alluring composition; she needs a bit of contrast in hat, purse or gloves.

Make-up and Clothes

It often happens that make-up must be changed to suit the color of the frock or chapeau, especially the lipstick that dominates the face these days. When vivid colors are worn, make-up must be toned down. With dark clothes the cherry mouth veneer is ingratiating and effective.

When buying shoes think deeply and count ten before deciding. The lady of fashion wears conservative shoes on the street. She doesn't go in for over decorated effects that are not suitable in combination with street wear.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Wedding Reception at Bride's Home

Dear Mrs. Beeckman,

1. I would very much like to have my daughter's wedding reception in our home. But I am worried about the size of our house, wondering if it could possibly accommodate a hundred guests. We have an average-sized living room and dining-room, a sitting room of fair size although somewhat smaller than the living room, and a more-than-average-sized entrance hall. What do you think?

2. Another problem: what should I wear? It is to be a formal wedding, to take place at four o'clock in the afternoon.

P. N.

1. I think there is no wedding reception so lovely and dignified and memorable as the reception held in the bride's home. Please carry out your wish. . .which I am sure is your daughter's wish too. And your house is ample to accommodate a hundred guests. Some of the largest pieces of furniture might be "moved out", and other pieces might be put against the walls. . .fortunately the guests will not expect to be seated. The dining-room table may be moved against the wall, then set as a buffet table (this will provide much more space). You will have the bedrooms and possibly a closet in the entrance-hall for wraps. And you're mightly fortunate to have both a living-room and sitting-room.

2. For the formal afternoon wedding you should wear a floor-length gown of a simple type (or, if you prefer, an ensemble, long dress and matching short jacket or bolero, very much in favor with "the mothers" today). At the church ceremony you wear your hat and gloves, of course, but at the reception, you, as hostess, would not wear hat or gloves.

Corsage For School From

Dear Mrs. Breeckman,

To my school Prom I am going to wear a velvet dress, the bodice of maroon and the skirt of a contrasting color. What do you think would be an appropriate corsage? Also if a corsage is worn, are pearls necessary?

B. S.

With so much color in your dress I suggest you wear gardenias, which are lovely, youthful, and "becoming" to all colors. Two are the perfect number to be worn on an evening dress, three only if they are very small. And don't let the florist add any fern or other greenery; their own glistening leaves are enough. And I think a ribbon-bow detracts too from their beauty. Wear pearls if you wish and if they are harmonious to the neck-line of your dress. . .they combine particularly well with gardenias.

Use Your Married Name

Dear Mrs. Beeckman,

When a married woman has occasion to introduce herself (for example, at a large tea) what form of name should she give. . ."I am Katherine Allen", or "I am Mrs. Walter Allen"?

R. T.

So that a stranger may know her correct title, a married woman introduces herself either as "Mrs. Allen", or as "Mrs. Walter Allen." (If she introduces herself as "I am Katherine Allen", the stranger would take for granted that she is "Miss Allen.)

The Marry-Go-Round

"Traitor's Market"

The Black Market should be called a Traitor's Market. And next to the Black Marketeer, perhaps the worst traitor is the man or woman who foolishly or selfishly buys from him and thereby stabs his country in the back.

For inflation can wreck this country—more quickly and completely than could an air-raid by the enemy. And it is the Black Marketeers and their stupid customers who are doing most to bring on that terrible calamity.

STUPID? It is difficult to believe that anybody could be so stupid as to be a Black Marketeer. What good will all his war-profits and blood-money do him, if he makes it practically worthless? Midas couldn't eat gold!

Do you remember what happened to the German mark and the French franc during and after World War One? If not, you probably think you are very "smart" to get nylon stockings or more than your ration of gasoline or a railroad ticket at an exorbitant price. Oh yes, Black Market chiselers are now dealing in railroad reservations—buying them and then re-selling them for $50 more than their face-value. And whoever buys them is "smart like a nit-wit." He is committing fincancial hara kiri!

The success of Black Marketeers in getting hold of money can be attributed entirely to the stupidity of weak-minded shoppers in letting go of it. Inflation is a curious thing. It makes us buy a lot of things that we won't need and can't afford and don't actually want—and then laughs at us when we're broke and our dollar is worth only a quarter.

The other day at a house-party one girl had on black nylon stockings. They were beauties, and we all exclaimed with envy, as she stretched out her legs and triumphantly showed them to us.

"Where? Where? Where did you get them?" we demanded.

"Shwartze Market," she said airily, ad translated with a wink, "Black Market."

"Black Market!" we echoed and drew a long breath.

"If that's true," exclaimed our hostess, rising promptly, "please take yourself and your ill-gotten, unpatriotic Black Market stockings right out of my house! I don't harbor traitors. And a Black Market is a Traitor's Market!"

Since then, when anybody tells me of steaks, silk stockings, gas or anything else bought on the Black Market, I simply wither him or her, by hissing "Traitor!" It may not do him any good; but it does ME lots of good!

Thompson Triplets Lively and Gay On 2nd Birthday

The occasional sudden and noisy rattling of three baby cribs in the nursery of the Robert G. Thompson home at 349 Bleecker Ave., although admittedly annoying to the parents trying to get their usual night's rest, nevertheless is not exactly held as being a distress signal. Rather it is regarded as audible proof of perfect health records of their triplets, Jean, James and John, today celebrating their second birthdays.

Jean, James and John are not the only set of triplets of which Belleville has boasted, but today they are the only complete set in the city.

Splendid examples of perfect health enjoyed by the normal Canadian child, the Thompson triplets' daily round of continuous activity is evidence of the fact they have never been ill in the two years since their birth on February 25, 1942. They visit the doctor only as a routine matter, a recent check-up by a Kingston specialist having seen all three rate a perfect health slate. Jean weighs 25 pounds, James, 26 and John, slightly the largest of the three, topping the scales at one pound more than his brother.

A real birthday party with all the trimmings was enjoyed by the three Thompson children today—and planning a triple birthday party calls for some thought as Mrs. Thompson can vouch. First there is the three sets of presents and gifts to consider, then the three cakes and all other phases which go for a successful party. In fact the mother admits the development of some kind of a tri-complex.

For today's party the triplets' grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Hutton, of Brantford, were the special guests, coming to Belleville for the occasion. When the representative of The Ontario Intelligencer called at the home, the three children were already engrossed in the especially interesting gifts which could not wait for the party.

The perfect health of the children is attributed by the grandparents to the fact that their mother was a nurse prior to her marriage. Mrs. Thompson, however, disagrees with this, claiming that tradition has it the other way around.

"I think that Evelyn has a bigger job than any woman working on war production," assured Mrs. Hutton in appreciation of her daughter's daily task. "She has twenty-four-hour responsibility and no maid to help her out."

To this Mrs. Thompson merely laughs, assuring that she still recommends triplets to any couple.

Mr. and Mrs. Thompson have another child, a boy.

BEAUTY By Helen Jameson

Fingernail Problems

One thought the candidate for pretty hands must keep in mind, and that is that she must do more than varnish her finger nails. She does that well enough, we know Talons of deep rose tints are displayed by every woman, no matter what her station in life may be, what kind of a job she has—or no job at all. They have become an institution; like ruby-tinted lips and locks that are subjected to the hard boiled wave.

Protective work must be done, so the nail fabric will not thicken or become impaired. Cuticle demands almost daily attention if the surrounding nail tissues are to be free of hangnails. And who, by the way ever named them that? They aren't nails, and they dont' hang. They stand out and catch on things, rip and tear and make you as mad as a wet hen. And, by the way, why are wet hens mad?

The anemic woman will have colorless nails, she of impaired circulation may even have blue ones. Brittle nails, with ridges, are often due to a diet deficiency. Get your vitamins and mineral salts and nails will be normal again. So, on this beauty subject, as on many others, we get down to the basic principles of health and vitality.

The nail should arch in the center; if it does not, there is some condition of the nutritive system that is not precisely normal. The ideal pattern is long and narrow, extending over the cushiony terminal of the finger. Nails that are pliable and bend easily are strengthened by daily lubrication.

Cold water and harsh soaps dry out the nail fabric, just as they chap the skin. After washing the hands, nails should be thoroughly dried, the cuticle pressed back gently with a soft towel.

To permit the flesh to bank up tightly over the nail base is to invite troubles—shredded cuticle and a lusterles surface. Never use a metal instrument for detaching the flesh. Apply a cream every night; friction it in. After washing the hands with warm, soapy water, pass the orange wood stick under the flesh. Do not press it back harshly at the base; lift it gently. Rough treatment there may injure the matrix from which new cells emerge.

Grime is death to the pink loveliness of nails—protect them from it as much as you can, it will damage them as it ruins fine fabrics. Laundry work with strong soaps dulls the nails, removing the natural, protective film of oil.

When shaping the nails file them with a thin, flexible steel file, pass the orange stick under the eaves to bring out uncut shreds, have a final shaping with a beveling file of emery board.

A Treatment for Chilblain

We have been told that the B-vitamins can do many wonderful things, and recently one of the B-vitamins, niacin, has been reported as helping to prevent and to cure chilblain. Chilblain is the inflammation and swelling that sometimes occur in fingers, feet or toes that have been frostbitten or exposed to cold. In the past a number of different forms of treatment have been used for the pain and tingling of chilblain. Massage is helpful as is also the use of certain preparations put directly onto the skin which may help relieve the sensitiveness.

Dr. H. Birkhauser, of Switzerland has tried a new treatment for chilblain. He uses one of the vitamins in the vitamin B-complex called niacinamide. He thought of using the niacin because in pellagra, which is due to a lack of this vitamin, there is a skin eruption affecting those parts of the skin that are exposed to light and he also noted that chilblain developed frequently during a period of cold, fair weather with much sunshine. It also has been noted that niacin improves the circulation of the blood vessels in the skin.

Chilblain occurs particularly in the late fall. It would appear that the condition develops especially in those who have poor circulation. Of course, the trouble does not occur except when the weather becomes colder. Dr. Birkhauser believes that many of the persons who have chilblain are also sensitive to light.

In using the niacinamide it was thought better to give it by injection under the skin or into a vein, than to give it by mouth. In many instances, it was found that improvement in the condition started quickly after the first several injections of the niacin had been administered. In some cases, the improvement did not begin at once but, after several weeks, a lessening of the symptoms was noted. In all of the patients who were treated, it was thought that improvement occurred much more rapidly than would have taken place if the treatment had not been employed.

It would appear that further observations with this form of treatment will be necessary to determine its exact value in chilblain.

FASHION FLASHES

IT'S A CINCH that this is to be the biggest suit year ever. A charming model has a skirt of black tweed and a trimly tailored jacket of faqua and black checkered tweed with high revers and black scroll work at the hip pockets.

FORWARD MARCH is the order for many of the new hats, worn very much forward tilted with trimming in back. A rolled, narrow brim and a bunch of forget-me-nots in back are features of a forward tilted hat of burnt straw with big loops of taffeta ribbon to match the flowers.

ANOTHER REVIVAL noted at winter resorts is the strapless bathing suit. Smart in red, blue and white candy striped cotton with tiny bows for trimming.

IDEAL for the very youthful and slim figure is the stark princess line. Ready for warm weather is a princess frock in aqua mesh with huge white polka dots. Luggage tan linen revers, buttons all the way down and ruffles and cord embroidery down each side to accentuate the slim lines.

By C. R. BLACKBURN
(CP Staff Writer)

Washington, Feb. 25 — (CP) — Unity of action, freedom from sectional pressure group obstruction and adherence to carefully planned use of natural, industrial and human resources, was the theme of the Baruch report to the United States Government for post-war economic reconstruction.

The alternative to this program is disunity and chaos, depression and a weakening of United States prestige abroad, says Bernard M. (Barney) Baruch, 73-year-old financier.

He has been philosopher and guide to governments for several decades and is known as "the bottle neck buster." Wealthy and leisured, he uses his leisure to help the United States Government out of difficulties, believing that by so doing he is helping the American people.

Tall, lean, white haired, with sparkling black eyes behind pince nez spectacles, he is a familiar figure in Washington. He spends several days a week in the capital. His "office" sometimes is a bench in Lafayette Park across Pennsylvania Avenue from the White House. There he watches the birds and squirrels, thinks about the most urgent problems of the government, then pops into the office concerned and tells the head man what he thinks is the remedy. Usually he is right.

PRES. ROOSEVELT IS TAKING REST

Is Getting Measure of Relaxation as He Shakes Off Effects of Flu

BY DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
(Associated Press Staff Writer.)

With the Presidential Party, Feb. 25 (AP)—President Roosevelt, slow to shake off effects of a recent attack of influenza, is getting a measure of rest and relaxation away from politically stormy Washington.

He is isolated personally from representatives of the press.

But it woud be inaccurate to say that he is isolated also from the repercussions of his veto of the tax bill since special facilities permit him almost instant communication with the White House.

The President himself had disclosed that he was out of town when he urged Senate majority leader Alben Barkley not to resign that post in protest against the tax bill veto. No official explanation of his absence has been forthcoming.

Mr. Roosevelt, however, contracted influenza shortly after Christmas and the case was severe enough to drop his weight 10 pounds. His personal physician, Vice-Admiral Ross T. McIntyre, had been urging him to get out of the capital, to take it easy for a time and regain his strength.

McIntyre has seen no cause for alarm over the condition of h's number one patient, inasmuch as the after-effects of the flu were considered normal.

POLICE COURT

Walter Zacariah, Picton, pleaded not guilty to a charge of vagrancy when he appeared before Magistrate Lloyd here today. Zacariah was wearing a reserve army uniform from the 2nd Battalion Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment and immediately upon hearing his plea Crown Attorney B. C. Donnan K.C. instructed the civilian authorities to hold him. "There will be another charge of unlawfully wearing the King's uniform in this case," revealed Mr. Donnan as he was granted a week's enlargement in the matter.

Zacariah was instructed to procure civilian clothes and return the army issue while on remand.

Chief Probert asked to withdraw a charge of vagrancy against Patrick Quinlan, no address given. "This man was trying to sell a new pair of trousers at a local secondhand store when he was apprehended a week ago. We held him for investigation, but our investigations revealed Quinlan apparently owns the trousers," explained Chief Probert.

R. W. Lowry, Bloomfield, paid $7.50, including costs, upon being convicted on a charge of careless driving.

Subsidies to Dairy Industry Will Boost Flow of Cheese to Britain

Ottawa, Feb. 25—(CP)—Agriculture Minister Gardiner said yesterday in the Commons that an agreement is being negotiated under which it is hoped the United Kingdom will take all the cheese Canada can provide during the next two years.

The Minister said that any surpluses of butter or canned milk produced also can be marketed in the United Kingdom.

During the calendar year 1943 Canadian cheese exports totalled more than 145,000,000 pounds, almost all of which went to the United Kingdom.

Mr. Gardiner announced the proposed cheese contracts as he outlined dairy-product subsidies to be effective during the summer season of the dairy year 1944-45—from May 1 to Sept. 30—and for the other seven months from Oct. 1 to April 30.

Subsidies will continue to be higher during the fall, winter and early spring months than in the summer. Thus, the subsidy on fluid milk generally will be 55 cents per 100 pounds from Oct. 1 to April 30, 1945, the same as in the corresponding months of 1943-44. The milk-for-cheese subsidy will be down 10 cents per 100 pounds at 20 cents.

As in the case in the present year, the fluid milk subsidy will be only 25 cents per 100 pounds in some districts.

The 10-cents-a-pound butter subsidy will be continued, along with the 30-cents-per-100-pounds subsidy on concentrated whole milk.

During the summer months, starting May 1, the fluid-milk subsidy will be 35 cents per 100 pounds, 10 cents higher than the subsidy being paid last summer. The milk-for-cheese subsidy this year will be 20 cents per 100 pounds. No subsidy was paid in this category last summer.

The 1944-45 summer subsidy of 10 cents a pound for butterfat used in butter production compares with eight cents last summer. The 15-cents-per-100-pounds subsidy for concentrated whole milk, payable this summer, was not in effect last year.

Mr. Gardiner said it was thought the subsidies, together with the floor under dairy-product prices already otherwise, should result in record production during 1944, if the weather is favorable.

Mr. Gardiner said authority is being taken through the food board to direct plants to depend on the same sources of milk supply as in the previous year.

The Government was "most anxious" that butter and fluid-milk supplies should meet domestic requirements and that cheese should be available for both domestic and Allied markets.

350 U.S. Civilians At Biarritz, France To Be Repatriated

Irun, Spain, Feb. 25 — (AP) — German occupation authorities at Biarritz, France, have made arrangements for some 350 American civilians interned as enemy aliens in German-controlled territories to join the American diplomatic party at Lisbon which is being exchanged for German Nationals.

The American civilians are scheduled to cross the Spanish frontier Feb. 28 and to be repatriated aboard the Gripsholm along with 37 wounded United States war prisoners, diplomats, and several hundred other civilians, including newspaper correspondents.

Announcement of the new repatriation was made at the last minute as the diplomatic internees were leaving Germany, and apparently was intended as a precedent to initiate exchange with the United States of this new category. The civilian internees will include almost all United States citizens in the German internment camps of Tittmoning and Laufen, both on the old Austro-German frontier.

Taylor Henry, Associated Press bureau chief at Vichy when the Germans took over there and one of the American citizens being exchanged, said one of the most striking points to an observer inside Germany is the fact the defeat of the Nazis must come through the defeat of their armed forces. There is almost no sign an internal collapse is worthy of consideration as far as the people as a whole are concerned, he said.

Henry said an equally striking fact is the decrease in German fighting strength which became apparent as their morale increased. This decrease was based mainly on losses of manpower on the Russian front and the inability of German war production to compete with that of the United States.

London, Feb. 25 — (CP) — Yugoslav Partisan troops have landed on the Dalmatian island of Brac, just south of the port of Split, and have taken a heavy toll of German forces garrisoned there, a communique from the headquarters of Marshal Josip Broz (Tito) said today.

The communique, broadcast by the Free Yugoslav Radio and recorded by the Associated Press, declaring the landing was a "complete success," No further details were reported.

Names of 5 Airmen Lost in Crash Released by R.C.A.F.

Names of the five airmen from Mountain View Bombing and Gunnery School, who died when their Bolingbroke bomber went out of control to crash in the Melville district in Prince Edward County, Thursday afternoon, were released by station officers this Friday afternoon following confirmation that next of kin had been notified of their deaths. Names of the five airmen, two of them student airmen from Great Britain, are as follows:

FO. William E. Kennedy, Belleville.

Sgt. D. W. Sangster of Stratford, Ontario.

Sgt. H. H. Wright of Hagersville, Ontario.

LAC. N. A. T. Wright of Bishopmill, Scotland.

LAC. R. H. Watt of Bristol, England.

The funeral of FO. Kennedy will take place at Norwich, Ont., that of Sgt. Sangster at Stratford, and that of Sgt. H. H. Wright at Beamsville; while the burial of LAC. N. A. T. Wright and LAC. R. H. Watt both of the R.A.F., will take place on Saturday afternoon, at two o'clock from the burial parlors of Corrigan and O'Brien and interment will take place in the R.C.A.F. plot at Trenton.

Labor Congress Opposes Family Allowance Grants

Ottawa, Feb. 25 (CP)—The Trades and Labor Congress of Canada today asked the government to appoint immediately a national committee to study the problem of lay-offs in war industries.

The Congress, in its annual brief prepared for presentation to Prime Minister Mackenzie King and members of the cabinet, expressed opposition to the government's proposal to introduce family allowances on the ground they would form a substitute for adequate wages.

Other recommendations by the Congress included:-

1. Early enactment of a National Health Insurance plan under the control of contributors;
2. A more generous and uniform policy on beer and liquor control in all provinces;
3. Increased old-age pensions;
4. Improved shipping regulations for the safety of sailors;
5. Free transportation to members of the armed forces and increased clothing allowance on discharge;
6. Payment of overtime rates to postal employees.

The Congress said it recognized the war still was the most important job facing Canadians and that controls were necessary. However, there was a tendency by some persons to emulate the things which the war was being waged to destroy by introducing "unwarranted dictatorial methods in their attitude towards and dealing with labor."

On Shipping regulations the Congress asked it be made compulsory for all ships on the Great Lakes and Coastal Service to adopt the "three-watch" system and, regardless of tonnage, to carry ship-to-shore communications.

Many Casualties Result From Nazi Raid on London

London, Feb. 25—(CP)—Londoners flocked into underground shelters again Thursday night as German bombers attacked the capital for the fifth time in six nights.

The raiders, coming high—apparently from three directions—showered incendiaries and explosives over a fairly wide area, causing a number of casualties and considerable property damage. Ten were shot down during the pre-midnight attack.

Prime Minister Churchill, visiting the scene of one big fire where a number of houses and two restaurants were demolished, repeatedly raised his fingers in the "V" sign and told spectators who crowded around: "We'll stick it out and give it."

The new attack came while wreckage still was being searched for victims of the previous night's raid.

Many casualties apparently resulted when a dance hall was hit. Several diners were buried in one corner of a restaurant. A fire was started in one of three hospitals that suffered hits. A large sports stadium was damaged. Many homes and other buildings were damaged or destroyed.

Although the strength of the raids still is well below those of 1940-41, the punch per plane is heavier.

Incidence of V.D. In Armed Forces Halved in 3 Years

By JACK BRALEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Ottawa, Feb. 25—(CP)—The incidence of venereal disease among Canada's Armed Forces has been halved from one man in every 18 in 1940 to one in every 35 in the first six months of 1943, the Defence Department announced today.

The figures compared with a rate of one in very six for the First Great War period.

In making public figures showing the services successful battle against the diseases, a departmental press release stressed that "all armed forces infections are acquired in the civilian population," the release added that by virtue of this fact the services situation is simply a reflection of a similar situation existing in the civilian population.

Accurate Records

"It should be recognized that if the armed forces had not kept accurate figures on venereal infection it is doubtful whether the public of Canada would have been conscious of the serious civilian venereal disease situation reflected in the armed forces statistics.

"With these considerations in mind, it is felt in the best interests of both the armed forces and civilian population that the armed forces figures be given to the public."

And here they are:-

35,036 Cases

In the period from Jan. 1 1940 to June 30, 1943, there have been 35,036 cases of gonorrhoea and syphilis in the three services, broken down to 4,279 cases for the navy, 23,054 for the army and 7,703 for the air force.

In the Navy, the highest incidence was observed in 1941 when one man in every 15 was infected. By 1943 this had dropped to one in 18.

The army's worst year was in 1940 when one in 16 reported sick with gonorrhoea or syphilis while in the first six months of 1943 the incidence was one in 31.

The Air Force suffered its greatest venereal disease rate in 1940 with one man in 36 infected but by 1943 this had dropped to one in every 56.

Port Hope Showers 'Adopted' Minesweeper With Many Gifts

An East Coast Canadian Port, Feb. 25—(CP)—So many gifts has the Lake Ontario community of Port Hope showered upon its "adopted" ship— the minesweeper H. M. C. S. Port Hope—that the crew is cheerily defying the crew of any other Canadian minesweeper to disprove the claim that Port Hope is the "best cared for 'adopted' mine-sweeper in the Royal Canadian Navy."

The minesweeper was formally adopted shortly after her commissioning at Toronto in July, 1942.

Since then, said the minesweeper's commanding officer, Lieut. R. K. Lester of Vancouver, the citizens of Port Hope have deluged the ship with so many gifts "that we're beginning to feel they've adopted not only our ship but each one of us personally. We are all tremendously grateful."

Gifts given the men of the Port Hope include cigarettes, eight radios, electric irons and toasters, phonograph and records, clothing of all kinds, books by the hundred, subscriptions to magazines and what Lieut. Lester described as a "great glorious washing machine."

Group Endorses Allowance Plan

Ottawa, Feb. 25 — (CP) — The Canadian Catholic Confederation of Labor today endorsed the principle of family allowances on conditions they form a supplement to an adequate wage and not a means of freezing wages at low levels.

In its annual brief prepared for presentation to members of the cabinet, the Confederation urged revision of the new wage-control order and asked that care be taken in labor legislation and social security measures to protect the autonomy of the provinces.

Among proposed amendments to National Selective Service regulations, the brief recommended repeal of the compulsory labor-transfer provisions. Increased unemployment insurance benefits for workers with dependents were also asked.

The Confederation said it was opposed to a school of thought which favored increased centralization at Ottawa, and urged return to the provinces after the war of all jurisdictional rights they previously held as "the only one in which the existence of the Canadian Confederation can be protected."

SENATE OVERRIDES ROOSEVELT VETO

Teams Up With House of Representatives and Votes 72 to 14

Washington, Feb. 25. (AP)— A determined Senate teamed up with the House of Representatives today to override President Roosevelt and enact a $2,315,200,000 tax increase bill over his caustic veto. The Senate vote to override was 72 to 14, for more than the necessary two-thirds majority.

The President's veto message started a Congressional revolt which from the start left no doubt as to the final outcome of the second wartime tax measure, which Mr. Roosevelt called inadequate.

Senator Barkley's dramatic resignation as Senate Democratic leader yesterday only furnished visual proof of a seemingly inevitable break between the White House and Capitol Hill. The Senate Democrats promptly demonstrated a new independence by unanimously re-electing the Kentuckian to the position.

In the House Democrats joined Republicans in rolling up a 299 to 95 vote to override the veto yesterday.

Wounded 'Vets' Reach Halifax

Halifax, Feb. 25—(CP)—Wounded veterans of the battles of Sicily and Italy "crocked up" but still cheerful, airmen who have seen action in the sky battles of Britain, over Italy and out of Malta, the George Cross Island, have arrived here aboard the Canadian Hospital Ship Lady Nelson on their way back home—or at least to their home military districts across the Dominion.

With them were two Canadian officers who had been captured at bloody Dieppe and had spent the intervening 14 months in German hospitals and prison camps. The officers, Maj. R. R. Laird of Vancouver and Capt. F. J. L. Woodcock of Winona, Ont., had been repatriated last November in the exchange of wounded and ill prisoners between Germany and the Allies.

The red, white and green painted hospital ship, her lights aglow, sailed in here last night and docked with nearly a full complement of 485 wounded and ill repatriates aboard her. Unloading of the returning Canadians began late this morning, and one hospital train moved out of the city on its westward journey to Ottawa, Kingston, Ont., and the Western Provinces.

Airmen aboard the ship included W.O.I Ole Buckman of Delhi, Ont., who isn't any ghost, but he's "powerful lucky even to be alive." He was the only survivor of a crew of six in a big Wellington bomber that crashed into a fog-shrouded hill in Britain with a full bomb load aboard.

Other men returning included Pte. Dennis Kellihar of Galt, Ont., Pte. Jim McPhee, Smiths Falls, Ont., Cpl. Charles Roke, London, Ont., Tpr. Harry Lightley, Toronto and Kincardine, Ont., L-Cpl. Elmer Wismer, St. Catharines, Ont., Pte. Ray Vodden, Londesboro, Ont.

High Commissioner Makes Plea For Canadians to Have Faith To Carry Them Thru Struggle

Toronto, Feb. 26 — (CP) — A view of Canada from abroad and the part she must play as a community in the world were outlined today by Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, High Commissioner for Canada in the United Kingdom.

Home for the first time since 1937, Mr. Massey in an address to the Canadian Club told how the war has broadened Canadian contacts and given new ones, how Canadians and Britons have gained a wider knowledge of the problems confronting each country and a better understanding of their peoples.

To his fellow-countrymen Mr. Massey made a direct plea for faith in themselves, a faith that will carry them through the struggle today and lead them to their proper role in the world of tomorrow.

"As we run over our advantages in the world of today, it is an impressive list, the things we have: our favorable place on the map, our natural wealth, our links and kinship with Britain; above all, the human beings which are Canada. But may I suggest we need something more than these, we need faith in ourselves. I sometimes wonder if we really have acquired it yet."

"If we need faith in ourselves and in the future, and the job Canada can do," he went on, "the soldier and the sailor and the airman will help us. There never has been a moment when we could look to them with greater confidence or greater pride than now."

With that faith and "out of our experience and maturity and with an honest sense of accomplishment," Canadians will make "a worthy contribution to the problems which lie ahead."

Mr. Massey had a word, too, for the people of Britain who "without any diversion from the war effort are facing the problems of peace which lie ahead."

"Reconstruction plans are being considered without much regard for the 'isms of the extreme right or extreme left, but with characteristic moderation and common sense."

War experience has brought Britons "a new consideration, a new tolerance by all classes of society and a renewed strength .... which augurs well for sustained effort..."

The real Britain is personified in the life of The King and Queen who "have caught and reflected the spirit of the vigorous communities over which they reign".

Canadians in England and Scotland have become well liked.

He told of a recent conversation with Gen. Montgomery and the special tribute of that great leader to the Canadian army: "Of all the troops that have served under my command none are finer than the fighting men of Canada".

The minds of Canadians overseas are concentrated on their jobs, but they do give thought to the future and want a "real opportunity" to do something for themselves. They will require sympathetic understanding in the period of readjustment as they prepare themselves for the "rightful place for youth in the future Canada".

Caution Against Optimism.

A caution against false optimism which "might well make the struggle longer" was voiced by Mr. Massey.

"We are approaching the greatest testing time in modern history".

To the men who will carry the final battle to the enemy Mr. Massey paid frank tribute:

"Modern war is a thing of many fronts—industrial, agricultural, financial, but there is one front to which all others are subordinate, the fighting front. Whatever may be the effort—and how fine and vital it has been—of countless men and women in all these fields, the man who will win this war for us is the fighting man. We talk about equality of sacrifice. There is no equality of sacrifice between his and that of anyone else".

Radio Patrol Cops Thrice Beat Stork To Hospital

Halifax, Feb. 25. (CP) —Radio Patrol Police Officers Tom Chambers and Bill Austen beat the stork three times to hospital in under an hour in pre-dawn emergencies here today. They thought they had created something of a record for humanity's sake until they heard about some combined operations of army and navy under Able Seaman Ross Brown, R.C.N.

It happened a few days ago at three in the morning at the height of a snowstorm and 40-mile gale, but it was told today for the first time. This is the story:

Brown trudged his way into an army camp near his home here and asked for help. His wife, he said, had to be moved to hospital right away, but the roads were blocked. So the army went to work.

They gathered in a navy plough, took two extra trucks along and broke the trail to the seaman's home. Mrs. Brown was carried out and placed on an improvised stretcher in one of the trucks, and the "convoy" fought its way back through blinding snow.

Ross Brown, Jr., weighing seven pounds, was born a few hours later.

Among those giving invaluable assistance in "convoy" duty were Lieut. W. Matthews of Montreal, and Gunners Ronald Pasquantonio and Anthony Robert, both of Niagara Falls, Ont.

Corvette 'Rosthern' Weathered Many Sub Attacks While on Convoy Duty

By ROSS MUNRO
(CP War Correspondent)

A Port in Northern Ireland, Feb. 25—(CP)—The corvette "Rosthern" of the Royal Canadian Navy has been through some of the heaviest German submarine attacks on the North Atlantic convoys, and veteran that she is, she still rocks her way back and forth between Newfoundland and this Irish base.

Since the fall of 1942 she has been captained by bearded Lt.-Cmdr. R. J. G. Johnson of Toronto who was in life insurance before the war.

Johnson made five crossings with the Rosthern before anything happened. Then action came with a bang. Escorting a convoy to Canada a merchant ship was torpedoed and the Rosthern picked up a contact indicating a submarine was close by.

She attacked with depth charges and after they went off there was a tremendous underwater explosion. They couldn't claim a U-boat destroyed for no wreckage appeared on the surface.

The submarine pack closed in on the convoy again and again and the battle raged on. Johnson didn't sleep for four days, keeping his vigil on the bridge.

This was during the heaviest German U-boat warfare last winter but the Rosthern and the other escorts fought off many attacks and were complimented for the battle they put up.

The Rosthern made other attacks before she got into port, with her depth charges practically all expended.

In two days she sailed again and had another terrific crossing, fighting U-boats for days.

"Things were peaceful for a while and then on a return trip to Britain a heavy sea blew up and waves bashed in our bridge," said Johnson. "Our compasses were damaged but we tied one together and limped into port with this makeshift compass."

On a later convoy, German U-boat packs shadowed the ships for days but only one merchantman was sunk. For the Rosthern this marked the turn in the U-boat warfare when the Allied escorts and aircraft began to get the upper hand. "That convoy was the last action we saw," continued Johnson. "Last spring we joined the all-Canadian escort group and haven't seen a sub since."

Canadiens Set Their Sights On N.H.L. Season Without Loss of Game on Home Ice

Record Kept Intact When Habitants Defeat Toronto 3 to 1

RANGERS TIE WINGS

By The Canadian Press

Montreal Canadiens have definitely set their sights now on a National Hockey League season without defeat on home ice.

Already five points above their former club record of 60 points in a season, and needing only a win or two draws in 10 remaining games to clinch first place, the Canucks have just a couple more things they want to do before playoff time — top the league record of 77 points in a season and remain undefeated on home ice.

They've won 18 games and played three ties so far at the Forum this year, and have five games more to go — one against each team in the loop. Boston, Detroit and Toronto have each tied the Canucks once in Montreal — all by 2-2 scores.

Canadiens hurdled quite an obstacle in the way of their objective last night when they set back the Leafs 3-1 in a game that was looked upon as probably a playoff preview. In the only other game of the night, New York Rangers pulled a surprise on the faithful home fans by battling to a 3-3 tie with Detroit.

Come From Behind

The surprising thing about the tie Rangers pulled off against the second-place Red Wings was the fact that they came from behind late in the game instead of falling apart in the third period as they have done at various times in the past.

Bryan Hextall scored the goal that tied it up and gave Rangers their second tie against 10 defeats in their last 12 games. Billy Gooden had given them the lead in the opening period and a gift goal, when Bill Jennings drove the puck into his own set, while attempting to clear, kept them in the running after Don Grosso tied it up.

Then Detroit got two early in the third, from the sticks of Murray Armstrong and Carl Liscombe, and it looked as though the Ranger's downfall was on the way. But they rallied to gain the tie.

All the scoring was crammed — just barely — into the second period in the Montreal game. Phil Watson and Ray Getliffe combined for two goals within the first 28 seconds of the frame, and Toe Blake collected the third Canadien counter with a second to go at the period's end.

In between those goals came the only Toronto score of the night, a gift to the Leafs by Bill Durnan, who omitted to get behind his stick on a slow rolling shot by Elwin Morris and the puck hopped over the stick.

Hockey's Big Seven

(By The Canadian Press)

Carl Liscombe, Detroit, scored one goal last night when Red Wings and Rangers fought to a 3-3 tie to put himself in a fifth-place tie with his teammate Joe Carveth. Each has 54 points. None of the scoring leaders gained any points when Canadiens defeated Leafs 3-1.

Sportsmen Told Ontario Hunting, Fishing Wonderland

Several hundred thousand American sportsmen are going to be startled by some of the facts about Ontario's fish and game resources when they read their March issue of Field & Stream. It contains an illustrated and informative article on ONTARIO by Titus. Harold Titus, famous conservation writer, points out in this article that: —"There are 412,000 square miles of Ontario — two-thirds of it public land — from ringneck country to the nesting grounds of the blue goose — actually thousands of unnamed lakes that have never been fished by man; with uncounted miles of virgin rivers.

"The annual moose take is about 8,000 and three times that many deer will normally be killed. Bear are plentiful and well distributed—the ruffed grouse is the principal upland game bird. It's fishing, however, that takes most non-residents to Ontario. Where less than 3,500 non-resident hunting licences will be sold, over 100,000 outsiders will fork over for the right to fish."

Titus describes several interesting examples of Ontario's unique attractions for sportsmen such as the Pelee Island ringneck hunt and the European hare hunting in the southern part of the province. He also pays high tribute to the energy and foresight of the Game and Fisheries Department of Ontario which when dealing with wilderness conditions realizes the importance of preservation rather than restoration. Decent regulation of the take and cooperation with local authorities have resulted in management that is becoming increasingly efficient.

Every sportsman in Ontario will find something in this article to add to his knowledge of his own province. And every sportsman who is thinking of after-the-war sport will file it away in his mind as a place he must go to when conditions permit.

Toronto, Feb. 25 — (CP) — It would come from Brooklyn! There's a proposal from the banks of the Gowanus that lights be done away with in night baseball and "instead use phosphorescent paint applied to balls, bats, uniforms, bases, foul lines etc. This luminous glow would be a thrilling novelty to the spectators." A certain Butch Hoffman made the suggestion. Dick Young of the New York News comments: "And how's your glow today, Butch?"

Service fight cards have revived boxing interest in the Dominion. Some 2,500 fans watched a service fight card in Edmonton where men from the U. S. Air Base joined Canadian servicemen in producing a fine series of bouts . . . Western Air Command intends to hold a mammoth boxing show in Vancouver, possibly on St. Patrick's Day, March 17, with proceeds going to the R.C.A.F. benevolent fund. Canadian service boxers will be matched with men from the United States forces.

Mr. Chips:

Larry (Montreal Star) O'Brien calls his fellow citizen, Harold Bott, the Mr. Chips of Skidom. Bott, 54-year-old high school teacher, has played a quietly unobstrusive but effective role in development of skiing in Montreal, particularly among the youngsters. His latest efforts have brought revival of ski-jumping interest there. A son, Punch Bott, is one of the Dominion's outstanding skiers and four other members of the family are keen enthusiasts.

Incidentally:

Three members of the Regina Army Caps, Saskatchewan senior hockey champions last year, have since been discharged from the Army. They are Murray Armstrong, now with Detroit Red Wings, goalie Tiger Mitchell and defenceman Butch McDonald . . . Vancouver Hedlunds, Canadian women's basketball champions, have received an offer for an eight-game tour of Mexico at 1,000 pesos a game—about $110 in Canadian money . . . Art Chapman, scouting the west for Eddie Shore of Buffalo Bisons, told Herb (Winnipeg Tribune) Manning that Shore doesn't want an N.H.L. franchise because "He can pack his rink at major league prices for minor league hockey."

Lamotta's Earnings at Detroit Have Already Passed $60,000

(By The Canadian Press)

Immediate fistic activities hold the spotlight at both New York and Detroit. Filling his 10th engagement in 14 months at Detroit tonight, Jake Lamotta of New York takes on Ossie (Bulldog) Harris of Pittsburgh in a 10-round return bout, giving Jumping Jake a chance to wipe out the split decision which resulted from their previous go and collect at flat 35 per cent of the gate. Lamotta's earnings in Olympia Stadium have already passed the $60,000 mark.

The first heavyweight battle of the season in Madison Square Garden brings together Tami Mauriello, 195, and Joe Baksi, 210, in a 10-round feature tonight. Mauriello, heavily backed by the Bronx, has been beaten only twice, both times by Cleveland's Jimmy Bivens who is considered No. 1 contender for the crown of Sgt. Joe Louis. Baksi, Pennsylvania coal miner, has dropped two decisions in 43 contests since 1940.

After winning the Canadian army lightweight title at Epsom, Sgt. Jack Innis of Windsor, Ont., failed to qualify for the British army championships at Blackpool March 8 when he was defeated last night in the southern area tourney by L. Bdr. Johnny Scott of the British army at Slough, Buckinghamshire. Gnr. Doug Marsh, of Verdun in the middleweight division will be the only Canadian for the British finals.

At its annual meetings in Montreal yesterday, the Royal Canadian Golf Association heard there would be a sufficient quantity of re-made golf balls to enable players to continue their sport this year. One of the featured events will be the Red Cross tournament June 24. Championships will not be revived in 1944.

Boston Bruins spotted Ottawa All-Stars two early goals here last night but came from behind with a show of National Hockey League power to win the exhibition game 8-4. A crowd estimated at more than 6,000 saw the game, put on by an Ottawa service club (Kiwanis) for the benefit of the Air Cadet League Squadron it sponsors.

NO SERVICEMEN OTHER THAN NAVY ALLOWED TO PLAY

Players Lost to Clubs Through Ruling Can be Replaced Says O.H.A.

SOME APPROVED

Toronto, Feb. 25.—(CP)—Ontario Hockey Association officials announced today that no servicemen other than Navy personnel will be eligible for the playoffs, but any players lost to clubs through this ruling may be replaced by men in the same or lower category.

Wartime replacements for Junior "A" Clubs approved by a sub-committee meeting of the O.H.A. are:

PORT COLBORNE: — William Walsh for W. A. Burgess; Frank Imonti for Mike Kereluk; Frank Uniac for Donald Wincott.

..STRATFORD:— Sam McNabney for F. Sicoli; Peter Kapusta for Gar Sands; Edward Kullman for H. W. Hilliard.

OSHAWA:—Albert Shewchuk for E. Reigle; one to come.

ST. MICHAEL'S COLLEGE: — James Thomson for G. Carter.

GALT: — Winfield Mousseau for O. H. Temminen; Sandford Shantz for W. A. Brennan; Peter Bebando for R. Rowe; Stanley Maxwell for Robert Bedard.

BRANTFORD: — Paul Theriault for Jack Mason; Bucky Basso for James Fitzpatrick, two to come.

In the Senior "A" and Junior "A" playoff games two referees will be in charge and neutral goal judges will be assigned. The sub-committee also reinstated Conrad Hill of Sudbury, who was suspended last season.

Owen Sound was granted Junior "A" rating for the 1944-45 season. New clubs accepted into association membership include Norval, Richmond Hill District League and St. Catharines.

Navy Juniors declared they would challenge for the Junior "A" play downs, according to their right, but first must defeat Markham in the group final. If Navy moves into "A" playdowns, Markham will carry on in the Junior "B" playoffs.

BUFFALO BISONS HELD TO DRAW

(By The Canadian Press)

Buffalo Bisons and Indianapolis Capitals fought to a 6-6 draw last night in the American Hockey League's only game. Both teams are in second place in the eastern and western division respectively.

Bisons, who have played to a draw five times this season with Caps but have yet to beat them.

Bisons held an apparently safe 6-3 lead early in the third period but Bernie Ruelle scored from the right boards and Dick Kowcinak banged two counters into the net within little more than a minute. He also opened the scoring with a goal in the first period.

Alex Titson and Rod Morrison scored the other Cap tallies.

Fred Thurier, Fred Hunt, Larry Thibeault and Eldy Kobussen each scored a counter for Buffalo in the first period.

Roger Léger added the fifth in the second and Thurier scored the sixth early in the third.

LAST NIGHT'S STARS

(By The Canadian Press)

Ray Getliffe and Phil Watson, Canadiens, who paced Montreal's 3-1 attack on Leafs. Each got a goal and an assist.

Lorne Carr, Toronto, who led the Leaf offensive although Elwin Morris bagged their only goal on an easy roller.

Bryan Hextall, Rangers, who scored the tying goal and drew an assist on another as Rangers gained a 3-3 tie with Detroit.

Ken McAuley, Ranger netminder, who had to handle 42 shots, against 18 fired by his team-mates at the Detroit cage.

Don Grosso, Detroit, who bagged one goal and an assist.

TINKER THINKS BASEBALL AS PLAYED PERFECT

Says Game Will Require No Major Changes for Years to Come

PRAISES LANDIS

Orlando, Fla., Feb. 25 (AP)—Joe Tinker, 63-year-old diamond veteran whose exploits as a member of the famous Tinker-Evers-Chance double play combination thrilled fans four decades ago, thinks the game of baseball has been perfected to the point that it will require no major changes for years to come.

"They can't change baseball," the gray-haired former star said.

"If they lengthened or cut down on the 90 feet between bases it would ruin the game," he observed.

"If the pitcher's box were moved back the pitcher would be throwing the ball all over the place, and if it were moved closer to the plate it would cut down on the hitting—and that's what the fans like."

Tinker, who was at his peak with the Chicago Cubs from 1902-12, is not apprehensive over the possibility that football, despite the growing popularity of the professional game, will ever displace baseball as the national pastime.

"The word baseball has become synonymous with good clean sport," he explained, "and a large share of the credit must go to Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis—he saved baseball."

Sports Roundup

(By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.)

(Associated Press Sport Writer.)

New York, Feb. 25. (AP) — Besides turning out a basketball team that hasn't lost to a college rival this season, Western Michigan College is one institution that makes college baseball pay its own way. . . . .Since this dept. has become involved in a discussion of why so few colleges can do that, we put it up to drum beater Homer Dunham.

Dunham maintains that a good schedule and sound coaching will do the trick. . . . Back in 1928, Western Michigan took on Chicago and Notre Dame, its first major rivals; five years later Wisconsin spoiled a perfect record against all major rivals and for the last ten years Western Michigan has made a .634 average against big ten colleges. . . . The Kalamazoo fans took to it because the college provided better baseball than the city industrial league and scheduled its mid-week games when the factory workers were just coming off duty.

One Man's Opinion.

"Any college can do the same thing if the athletic heads are willing to work", Dunham argues, "if the teams are consistently poor, it means that the coach is lazy".

Report here is that the staid west side tennis club is considering leasing the Forest Hills Stadium for boxing next summer.

CASUAL COMMENT by K.J.C.

Attractive Girl (stranger to a well-known planing mill man): Did my father leave an order with you this morning for a load of wood?

Man I don't know, Miss. There was a genteman in who said to deliver a load to a driver who would call and said it was for Mr. Zell.

Girl: Very well! Thank you, I'm Gladys Zell.

Man (gulping): Eh, what?

Girl "I'm Gladys Zell.

Man: Oh, yes, of course. So am I.

(Creditable record.)

Despite increased activities for the members of the armed services the reports of various departments of the Belleville Y.M.C.A. are to be commended. Each evening, including Sundays, the "Y" is open to members of the armed services for their accommodation. Aside from this a total of 1,104 classes for civilians were held with an attendance of 14,232. Of this number 245 members passed graded swimming tests. There was only a decrease of 28 in the association membership from 1942, according to Chairman Newt Thompson at the annual meeting Thursday night. With so many teen-aged boys and girls joining the armed services this is not a serious decrease in any measure.

The "Y" is also being used each Monday night to provide recreation for the lady war workers in Belleville with a four teamed basketball league. The local Y.M.C.A. also sponsored ladies' and boys' juvenile cage teams in the Provincial Basketball playdowns last season.

The publication Forest and Stream, the angler and nimrods' bible, annually publishes record catches of all kinds of game fish. In the 1943 contest to Ontario went the daddy of all Wall-eyed Pike, a 22 pound four ounce beauty caught in the Niagara River by Patrick Noon wielding a homemade rod, a Shakespeare reel, Gladding line and live minnow bait.

In 1942 a Wall-eyed Pike weighing 19 pounds 12 ounces was caught which was supposed to be tops, but on May 28th, 1943 in the Niagara River Mr. Noon added 2 pounds 8 ounces to the former record. Ontario and Quebec lead the contest for record catches of Brook Trout, while Catherine Creek in New York State saw the champion Rainbow Trout taken. Bill Walshe, sports editor of the Kingston Whig Standard, took top honors for Maskinonge, a 54 pound beauty caught in the St. Lawrence River last summer. Incidentally Bill is still talking about that one. In this class Ontario placed seven prizes, Wisconsin two and Quebec one. The record large mouth Black Bass was taken at Napier Lake, Tenn., and weighed 10 pounds 8 ounces. Ontario again led the prize winners with a score of 13 percent and New York State was second with 11 percent.

(Hockey program.)

Bill Dennis' Belleville juveniles are scheduled to play in Whitby tonight in the first game of the second round O.J.H.A. playdowns with the return game here possibly next Wednesday. On Wednesday night Coach Dennis took his juveniles to Tweed where the 17-and-unders beat Jerry Quinn's Tweed juniors 3-2 in as fast and clean a game as one could desire. Incidentally the juveniles will be minus the services of Harry Boyd if there is ice in Whitby tonight.

Fl. McLaughlin, in charge of the district Air Force hockey playdowns, phoned today to say that in the event ice is not availabe for the No. 6 Depot-Mountain View game tonight the game will be played Saturday night. In other words they'll play the first night ice is available. There is a possibility that in the event of a third game between the Combines and Trenton the game may yet be played at the Hume Arena and that should be good for the season's largest assembly of puck fans.

Ed Shortt has entered two cage teams from the "Y" into provincial basketball competition again this year. His Belleville "Y" girls should round out a strong team to take to Toronto next month, as Ed has the benefit of drawing from the four local quintettes that have been entertaining the fans each Monday night. Then Coach Shortt has again entered his good "Y" juveniles in the Eastern Ontario round and will doubtless meet the Kingston juveniles in their first round.

In order to prepare for these provincial playdowns Skipper Shortt is presenting both of his loop squads in exhibition games at the Y.M.C.A. on Saturday evening prior to their attempt to lift provincial cage titles. A strong team of service girls will oppose the "Y" lassies in one game while the local juveniles meet up with the strong Picton R.A.F. quintette. Dancing will be featured after the twin bill.

(Remember when)

Frank Gotch, whose retirement in 1913 as world's heavyweight wrestling champion threw that sport into confusion from which no universally-recognized champion has emerged since, was defeated by Tom Jenkins 41 years ago tonight in a catch-as-catch-can bout at Cleveland. Jenkins retained the championship until 1905 when he lost to George Hackenschmidt who was defeated by Gotch the same year.

MOVEMENT SPREADING

Chungking, Feb. 24 (AP)—Reports attributed to Japanese in Shanghai and transmitted by the "Central News Agency said today a "movement to overthrow Premier Tojo is spreading throughout Japan," where conditions were said to be growing "increasingly unstable." Handbills carrying slogans such as "down with Tojo" and "eliminate Tojo" have been secretly distributed in Tokyo, Osaka and other large Japanese cities, it was reported.

Horse Sense Bridge

LESSON NO. 312

By SAM GORDON

The Kibitzer

The love life of a bridge nut is not all silk and sunny. Some of it is fraught with whatnots and worries. It has a constant menace and a frequent puzzler.

There is always the fear from distribution of opponent cards. And when it is possible to finesse in either direction, there is often a doubt as to which way to finesse.

Nothing is sure in the play of any deal. But a good player is no chump. He looks for a legitimate edge and takes it. And his legitimate edge is his knowledge of what is most likely to happen.

He makes a rule of what is likely to work more often than not. He may not always follow that rule. But he has it on tap as a guide. Nor does he expect it to work always. But it excels a hunch.

Horse Sense uses the easiest rule for deciding the possible distribution of outstanding opponent cards. It is: An even number divides unequally; and odd numbers as equally as possible.

That rule frequently will help you decide which way to finesse when you have nothing better to guide you. And that is what you may figure out in this deal:

NORTH
♥Q 7 6 2
♦K 7 6 2
♣None

| WEST | EAST |
|---|---|
| ♠8 7 6 | ♠Q J 9 5 4 |
| ♥3 | ♥10 9 5 |
| ♦Q 9 5 | ♦3 |
| ♣K Q 10 7 3 2 | ♣J 9 8 6 |

SOUTH
♠None
♥A K J 8 4
♦A J 10 8 4
♣A 5 4

You are declarer in the south at a slam contract in hearts. You could take all 13 tricks if you knew which way to finesse the diamond suit. You must decide who holds the diamond queen.

Don't look at the west and east cards. Assume that west leads the club king. Then, look only at the dummy cards in north and the cards in your own south hand.

How would you figure out who holds the queen of diamonds? Don't peek. Use the rule with your bean.

AT THE CAPITOL

"Panama Hattie"
(Musical Hit)

One of the most diversified musicals to reach the screen in many months is Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Panama Hattie", which opened at the Capitol Theatre last night. Starring Red Skelton and Ann Sothern, the film is fast-moving with an excellent human story, an exhilarating comedy routine, elaborate production and tunes you'll whistle on your way out.

Finest Role of Career.

As Panama Hattie, a night club entertainer with a heart of gold, Miss Sothern has one of the finest roles of her career. In love with a soldier, Dan Dailey, Jr., the scenes in which she meets his daughter, Jackie Horner, and overcomes the child's dislike of her, are especially appealing.

In addition to the four Cole Porter songs, "Let's Be Buddies", "Fresh as a Daisy", "Just One of Those Things" and "I've Still Got My Health", are five other numbers, "Good Neighbors", "Panama Hattie", "The Son of a Gun Who Picks on Uncle Sam", "At the Savoy" and "The Spring".

Red Skelton continues his amazing stride in the cinema heavens. Here he is one of the sailors who have sworn to protect Hattie from one and all. The others are Rags Ragland and Ben Blue, as funny a combination of comedians as ever came out of Hollywood.

"Wagon Tracks West"

Wild Bill Elliott is again seen in one of his typical roles in his newest Republic release "Wagon Tracks West" the added hit at the Capitol Theatre.

He is cowboy both on and off the screen, as all his spare time is spent on his San Franando Valley ranch with his beloved horses, all of which are his favorite 'children', and when he is not 'tending' his horses, he is keeping up with his roping, at which he is an expert.

A color cartoon and the serial "Secret Service in Darkest Africa", completes the bill.

AT THE BELLE

"Henry Aldrich Haunts a House"

If the wail of the banshee is heard in your neighborhood some night this week, don't go calling the police. Those strange noises will be coming from the screen of the Belle Theatre where Henry Aldrich in the person of Jimmy Lydon does his stuff in Paramount's "Henry Aldrich Haunts a House".

Others in the harum-scarum cast of this spooky comedy are Charles Smith, as Dizzy, Vaughan Glaser, John Litel, Olive Blakeney and Joan Mortimer, a newcomer.

"Uncensored", Suspenseful

Suspenseful and excitement abound in "Uncensored" the added thrill-feature attraction featuring Eric Portman, Phyllis Calvert and Barry Jones.

A new Community Sing film completes the program.

Mickey and Judy in "Girl Crazy"

In addition to their singing and famed impersonations, Mickey Rooney and Judy Garland dance their most extensive routines yet in M-G-M-'s filmization of the Gershwin Broadway hit of a few seasons ago, "Girl Crazy", coming to the Belle Theatre this weekend. Judy sings and dances the lovely melody, "Embraceable You", and teams with Mickey in the finale number to dance and sing "I Got Rhythm".

In addition, Mickey does two novelty numbers, "Treat Me Right", with June Allyson, and "Can You Use Me?" with Judy. Tommy Dorsey and his band supply the musical background. Also in the cast are Nancy Walker, Gil Stratton, Robert E. Strickland, "Rags" Ragland, Frances Rafferty and Guy Kibbee. Norman Taurog directed.

AT THE BELLE — The Belleville favourite, Judy Garland, and Mickey Rooney "Go West," in the swing-happy musical comedy "Girl Crazy," Gershwin's famous musical, coming to the Belle this weekend.

Hollywood and HERE

By HYE BOSSIN

Bing Crosby, Charles Boyer and Jack Benny are among the stars who wear wigs, or "dome doilies," as they are known in Hollywood. Even Filmland's best technicians, who have devised many things of value to the war effort, haven't found the answer to the unfertile conk and there, as here, it's case of hair today and gone tomorrow.

Would you call the boys fresh hair fiends?

• • •

Elmo Lincoln, who played the first Tarzan role in 1919, will appear in "The Hairy Ape," which is being produced in Hollywood by Jules Levey, ex-Torontonian who got into the film business as a salesman... Did you hear about the two aspirins talking. One said that it had a headache. "Why don't you take a man?" asked the other. "I did," was the reply, "but I took an overdose—Sidney Greenstreet" . . . The reason why so many fans ask that photos of the stars be autographed in white ink has been discovered. The fans wash the white ink off and write what they would like to have on the photo... Hollywood does things in a big way. One film company has started a pension scheme in which persons earning over $200,000 per year are to receive $1,000 per week when they reach the age of sixty.

• • •

A Chicago firm just found the answer to serious absenteeism. On two days each week, during the rest periods, workers are shown movie serials. The suspense is kept going from week to week and on those days absenteeism is reduced.

Might be an idea for absent members of legislative bodies, committees and so on.

Beverly Whitney, the Toronto songbird who was signed for Hollywood in New York, is in the midst of a movie city romance, it's said. Not so long ago she was reported engaged to Tommy Manville . . . Leslie Fenton, who dropped out of pictures to join the British army, was invested with the D.S.C. by King George at Buckingham Palace. Fenton distinguished himself during a Commando raid on the French coast . . . They're having a war loan drive across the line right now and Gene Tierney auctioned off one pair of nylon hose for $200,000 in bonds.

Hollywood's prize portrayer of Nazis is Helmut Dantine, who plays one in "Northern Pursuit," a film in which Errol Flynn again does his one-man army routine. Dantine was a Nazi in "Edge of Darkness," "The Pied Piper" and "Mrs. Miniver."

An Austrian soldier, he was interned when Hitler grabbed that country and freed three months later when he agreed to leave his native land. American relatives brought him to Los Angeles. After getting some education the acting bug bit him.

Right now he's a very happy man. He just became a USA citizen and in "Passage to Marseilles" he gets his first important role of a more sympathetic nature—that of a convict who sides with the Free French.

W. Huntingdon Ties Zion Hill For Leadership

With only one more game to play to complete the regular playing schedule, the race for the top slot in the Central Hastings Rural Hockey League tightened up on Tuesday night with West Huntingdon, pulling up even with Zion Hill as the result of a close contest, which saw Zion bow to their arch enemies by a 2-1 score. In the other half of the doubleheader, Centenary pulled out a win over Corbyville by a close 3-2 count, the latter two teams being tied for cellar positions

West Huntingdon and Zion battled through a scoreless first period in the first contest with the ultimate winners going ahead as the second canto got underway as Fargey netted a pass from L. Sills. Zion came back to even the score a few minutes latter as Empson clicked on a pass-out from Simms. Huntingdon netted the only goal in the final period with R. Sills getting the counter on a pass from G. Pyear. The game was fairly clean with Referee Wallace handing out only two penalties, one to each team, in the second period.

Lineups: Huntingdon; goal, Hagerman; defence, Rodgers and G. Pyear; forwards, R. Sills, L. Sills, and Hagerman. Subs. Fargey, Wright, Tucker, D. Pyear, McCurdy and Kingston.

Zion; goal, Hicks; defence, Guay and Walt; forwards, Jarrell, Brough, and C. Thompson. Subs: Empson, Simms, G. Tummon, A. Tummon, Ray, Sills and Ketcheson.

Just Missed Tieing Score.

Apparently taking pattern from the first contest, the two teams in the nightcap really made a game of it and although Centenary led throughout, the Corbyville lads staged a final period really, that just missed tieing the score. The first period was scoreless with Centenary notching the only counter in the second with Donnelly batting in F. Waite's rebound. Waite soloed to start the final canto putting Centenary two up but Corbyville whittled down the margin when L. Sills soloed. Waite again turned the trick for Centenary when he took a pass from his brother, D. Waite. C. Carleton notched the final goal for Corbyville at the 15 minute mark but the victors stood off the attack until the gong.

Lineups: Centenary, goal, Gay; defence, Hall and F. Waite; forwards, Donnelly, Bellis and D. Harder; subs, Cousineau, D. Waite, Mac Waite, R. Marshall, Harder and Hubble.

Corbyville: goal, D. Martin; defence; Doug Marting and Gray; forwards, G. Denyes, N. Ritz, C. Sheffield; subs: Hains, D. Sills, L. Sills, Walker, Huffman and Carleton.

AT THE McCARTHY — A scene from "Crime Doctor's Strangest Case" starring Warner Baxter coming next to the McCarthy Theatre. Second feature hit is "Paris Honeymoon," with Bing Crosby.

'Y' Girls Cage Team Defeats Kingston

Belleville's Y.M.C.A. Girls basketball team journeyed to Kingston Thursday evening for an exhibition cage game with the Kingston C.W.A.C. quintette. Ed. Shortt's Belleville lassies won 18 to 14. The score at the halfway mark stood at 14 to 7 for Belleville.

"Pee Wee" Lepore and Dot Mansfield paced the Belleville girls on the attack with six points each while "WAACS" Wallau and Flett accounted for the bulk of the Kingston C.WA.C. scoring.

The game was played for the purpose of giving both teams practice, as the Belleville girls are entered in the L.O.B.A. intermediate group. On Saturday evening at the Belleville "Y" Coach Ed Shortt's local cage lassies meet a strong team of girls from the nearby armed service's camps in the opening game of a dual bill that sees the Belleville "Y" juveniles meet a team from the Picton R.A.F. camp in the nightcap.

The line-ups for the game in Kingston— Belleville Y.M.C.A. — Salisbury 2, Lazenby 2, Ronsky 2, Mansfield 6, Oliphant, Gilbert Lepore, 6, Stoliker, Rowbotnam and Wonnacott. Kingston CWAC—Gyran 2, Wallau 7, Davis. Flett 5, Halter, Nonman, Reed, Blaxe, Hackett, Tonkin and Turner. Referee—Ray Menary, timer, Bert Salisbury and scorer, Dot Price.

Sanderson, while Mrs. Don McInroy and Mrs. Arthur Brown, both playing as gentlemen, tied for the men's prize, the prize going to Mrs. Brown on the break of the tie. In the drawing held later, the first prize, a silver tea service, was won by Mrs. Charles Gordenier, Bonarlaw; second prize, a hand-painted china jug, was won by C. R. Whittemore, Deloro; third prize, silver salad bowl and spoon, was won by Mrs. Eugene Brady; 4th prize, a silver relish dish was won by Miss Jennie Gray.

Refreshments were served by St. Paul's Ladies' Guild.

King George Watches British Troops Practise With Live Shells

Somewhere in England, Feb 25—(CP Cable)—Live shells screamed overhead as the King watched British troops prepare for the forthcoming European invasion during a two-day visit to army units which was completed last night. The battles were so realistic that at one time his Majesty, with a divisional commander and his staff, had to take cover behind a pile of three trunks as massive explosions sent showers of earth over their heads.

Churchill Govt. On Offensive

By ROSS MUNRO
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

London, Feb. 25 (CP Cable)—The Churchill coalition government is going on the offensive in future by-elections in Britain and will carry the fight to the vigorous Common Wealth campaigners and others who have revelled in political controversy in recent by-eection contests.

Conversations have been taking place, it is learned, between National headquarters of the Conservative, Labor, Liberal and National Liberal parties which form the coalition government regarding the best methods of co-operation in combatting activities of belligerent and outspoken anti-government organizations.

Until now, in view of the party truce agreed upon by the four parties in the government, conduct of by-elections has been left to the party defending the seat.

Not Registered Salesmen Two Men Are Fined

Oshawa, Ont., Feb. 25 (CP)—Leo Dorfman of Toronto and Samuel Golab, alias A. Dacks, of New York, were fined $1,000 apiece and costs in court yesterday after pleading guilty to trading in securities when not registered as salesmen with the Ontario Securities Commission.

Arthur H. Stickle of Toronto, charged with making false representations to James F. Carnwith of Oshawa, was fined $350 and costs.

Crown Attorney A. N. Annis told the court investigation showed the men had made between 50 and 60 sales in various parts of Ontario.

READY TO ACCEPT TERMS

New York, Feb. 25 (AP)—Commenting on the possibility of peace between Finland and Russia, Finnish Finance Minister Vaino Tanner said yesterday "if terms are acceptable, we shall accept them immediately," a Finnish home radio broadcast reported last night.

CHAPTER 30

The hotel people could tell him nothing. They had heard no shot nor any disturbance. So far as they knew, Metcalf had had no visitors during the evening. The patient who had called upon him, if there had really been one, had come and gone unobserved. Neither the superintendent, doorman or elevator boys had noticed anyone enter or leave the building who seemed in any way suspicious. At the end of ten minutes Duffy dismissed them with a wave of the hand.

"There's a bunch of reporters downstairs," the superintendent remarked, as he was leaving. "Can't I send them up?"

"Not just yet," said Duffy. "Tell them I'll see them just as soon as I can."

The superintendent went out with a face of gloomy resignation. Duffy closed the door after him and returned to the inner room.

Then he saw Metcalf's house boy standing in the doorway to the stairs leading to the floor above.

"Please, sir, what has happen?" the boy asked.

"Looks like Dr. Metcalf killed himself," answered Duffy.

"He—he is d-d-dead?" stammered the boy.

"Yes. You go back upstairs and stay there. Don't dare to leave or to touch anything. I want to question you."

"Me no leave," muttered the boy.

Duffy dropped wearily into the chair in front of the doctor's desk—the patient's chair. Tony drew up another.

"Well, Tony, guess you were right and I was wrong. Metcalf must have been mixed up with McKibben in blackmail, found out that McKibben was double-crossing him and bumped him off. He thought he was safe until you showed up this afternoon and told him about that record we found in McKibben's safe. Then he knew it would be traced to him, and that the jig was up."

"He certainly didn't give any indication that he was going to kill himself," said Tony. "He wasn't even upset."

"Maybe there were some reasons we don't know about yet," Duffy said and picked up the automatic from the desk where the photographer had left it. "This is a fancy little gun, isn't it?"

It was a Colt baby .25 automatic, about four inches long, so small it could be carried in the vest pocket or concealed in the hand and it had a beautifully-engraved ivory stock.

"It looks to me more like a woman's pistol than a man's," Tony observed.

"It would suit a psychiatrist all right," Duffy retorted. "In fact it is just the sort I'd expect him to buy. I wonder if Metcalf had a license," he added as he turned the pistol over. And then he snorted. "That proves he was a crook! Look the number has been filed off. Neat job, too. We'll bring the number out again and find out where he got it." He opened the magazine and found that it contained four cartridges.

"How many cartridges do these baby magazines hold?" Tony asked.

"Six."

"Then two shots have been fired."

"That doesn't mean anything," said Duffy. "Maybe he didn't fill the magazine, or maybe he fired the other shot a long time ago." He laid the pistol back on the desk. "Now suppose we look around. First, what about that dictograph?"

Tony was conscious of something beating faintly at the back of his mind, some association of ideas which he could not bring together, like the ghost of a memory knocking for admittance. But he could not recapture it and in a moment it was gone.

"What's the matter with you?" Duffy asked. "Gone to sleep?"

"I was just trying to remember something and couldn't."

"All right. Wake up. I want you to show me how this dictograph works."

"There's the receiver in the front of the desk," Tony said. "See that perforated panel? Well, that's it. The switch that controls it is in the floor under the desk somewhere. Metcalf worked it with his foot."

Duffy got out his flashlight and turned it under the desk. "I see it," he said. "It's a push-button," and he sat down in the doctor's chair and felt for it with his foot. "I've got it."

"There's another control under the head of that couch in the next room," Tony went on. "I suppose most of the confessions were made in there. It's a clever arrangement."

"Talk for a minute and let's see how the thing works," said Duffy, his foot on the switch.

"There is one point," Tony began, "which makes me think that Metcalf either killed himself or was shot suddenly by someone whom he trusted."

"Somebody could have sneaked up on him from behind," Duffy suggested. "Don't forget that that little pistol could be concealed in the hand. Metcalf might not have known that the other fellow had it. That's enough," he added, taking his foot off the button. "Let's see what we've got."

They found the dictograph after a few minutes' search. It was in the cabinet of polished wood which stood against the wall beside the door leading to the inner office. It was a powerful detecto-dictograph, of the latest make. It included not only a recorder, but a reproducer and a reconditioner, and the recorder was of an intricate magazine construction which loaded a fresh record onto the cylinder when the old one was filled and slipped the old one off. There was a half-filled record on the cylinder now. Tony slipped it off gently, placed it in the reproducer and turned the switch.

There were two sharp clicks, then for a moment only a confused low sound, then a faint tapping . . .

"The contraption wasn't working," said Duffy in disgust.

"Listen!" and Tony held up his hand.

There was a moment's silence, then the tapping began again, and then they caught the almost inaudible ringing of a bell, then a moment's silence, then a little more faint tapping. Tony snapped off the switch, his eyes blazing with excitement.

"Do you know what that is?" he asked. "That's Metcalf's typewriter!"

"You mean he had his foot on the button while he wrote that message?"

"Looks like it," Tony said, and switched the record back to the beginning. "Now listen carefully. Perhaps we'll hear the shot."

But they did not hear the shot. There was, at the beginning, only the same confused sounds, then a faint sound like the opening of a drawer, then the uneven tapping in two little spurts, then a moment's silence, and then the tapping began again, punctuated by the ringing of the bell, and finally a sequence of confused sounds, ending with a faint click, and then suddenly, quite loud, Tony was saying, "There is one point which makes me think Metcalf either killed himself . . . ."

Tony switched the record off again. "That was Metcalf typing all right," he said. "Did you notice how slow and uneven it was? But what happened after that? Why wasn't there any shot?"

"That's easy," Duffy answered. "He took his foot off the button."

"But, those other sounds. It seemed to me that someone was walking around."

"Maybe it was Metcalf."

"But if Metcalf was walking around, his foot couldn't have been on the button."

"I don't see how it could have been on the button anyway," said Duffy. "A man couldn't sit at that desk with his foot on the button and write on that machine at the same time."

"Let's take a look," said Tony, and they went to the desk and experimented. They found that it could be done, but it was a most uncomfortable posture.

"Maybe that button got stuck in some way," said Duffy. "Let's play the record over again."

Tony did so and the two listened intently.

"That walking-around stuff is just your imagination," said Duffy, when Tony switched the record off.

"That walking-around stuff is just your imagination," said Duffy, when Tony switched the record off. "That was Metcalf at his desk—he was fussing around doing something—looking through the drawers or getting out his automatic, making up his mind—and then, when he was ready, he shifted his feet, leaned back and shot himself."

"Probably you're right," Tony agreed and closed the dictograph. "But if I were you, Jim, I would have this machine taken down to headquarters and locked up. I should like to play that record sometime with an amplifier on it. It might bring out those faint sounds so that we could tell what they are. And why not impound the typewriter for a while?"

"I don't see much sense in it," Duffy growled. "But all right, if you say so."

The detective dialed his office and asked for a patrol wagon and an electrician. Then he went through Metcalf's desk, but there was nothing there except some letter-heads and envelopes in the top drawer, and in the others a jumble of cancelled checks, receipted bills, etc.

"There's nothing in here," he said at last. "What's in that big steel cabinet back there?"

"Metcalf said that is where he kept his dictograph records."

Duffy strode back to the cabinet, took the doctor's keyes from his pocket, found the one which fitted the lock and opened the central door. On a series of shelves inside were ranged perhaps a hundred round cardboard boxes about three inches in diameter and six or seven inches long. Some two dozen of them were on an upper shelf, and each of these bore a label on which were a name and a date.

"Those lower ones are blanks, I suppose," said Tony. "These labelled ones are where the dynamite is," and he picked up one of the boxes, took off the cover, and drew the wax cylinder half-way out. Then, with an exclamation of surprise, he drew it all the way out and looked at it closely.

"Why, it's a blank, too" he cried.

"A blank?" Duffy echoed. "How the deuce can that be?"

He took the cylinder and held it up to the light. There could be no doubt about it. Its surface was as smooth and polished as when it came from the factory.

"It has been reconditioned," Tony said, and strode over to the machine in the corner. "Look here," and Duffy saw at the bottom of the reconditioning compartment a pile of thin wax shavings. "Metcalf must have done that tonight—put them in here one after the other, so that no incriminating confessions would be left behind. I must say, it makes me think more highly of him."

"Yes," Duffy nodded. "And it's also proof positive that he was getting ready to kill himself."

Tony went back to the cabinet and examined three or four more of the records. They were all blank.

"It was quite a racket while it lasted," Duffy went on, as he locked up the cabinet. "I'll bet there's a woman in the woodpile somewhere. What are you frowning about? Aren't you satisfied yet? You don't think Metcalf was murdered, do you?"

"I don't think anything—but I never cared much for confessions. Too many people confess things they never did."

"You seldom heard of anybody confessing a murder he never did," retorted Duffy. "But don't worry—we'll find some confirmation—we're bound to. We'll go over his rooms upstairs and put some heat on that Jap boy of his. He wasn't telling all he knew."

They had returned to the outer room and Tony picked up the coquettish little automatic.

"There may be something in your idea that there's a woman in the case, Jim," he said. "This certainly is a woman's gun—"

"Or a psychiatrists's," the detective added.

Tony laid the pistol back on the desk and picked up the key which Duffy had found in Metcalf's vest pocket.

"That's the key to his apartment," the detective remarked.

"I wonder why he didn't carry it on his key ring?" Tony said. "Look here, Jim. This apartment is 710. The number on this key is 708. That's the Graham apartment next door."

"Let's go," and Duffy led the way into the hall.

Apartment 708 was smaller than 610, 710 and 810, the only others which Tony had seen in this building and was furnished less luxuriously, but it was still a very pleasant habitation. He walked straight to the windows looking down on McKibben's terrace and in a moment he found what he was looking for. The paint on the window sill nearest Metcalf's apartment was rubbed and scored.

"There you are," said Tony. "That is the way he got down. You see it wasn't a rope, it was a ladder—there are two marks right across the sill. It was probably tied to this radiator under the window. If we could only find that ladder!"

"He wouldn't be such a fool as to keep it," grunted Duffy. "Is this where that fellow Graham lives?"

"Yes. He has been in California for a month."

"And gave Metcalf the key and asked him to look after the place while he was away?"

"I don't see why he should expect Metcalf to bother, especially when the place is inspected twice a week by the superintendent. No, I think there is more to Metcalf's having the key than that. Shall we look around a little?"

They didn't find anything and finally left the place, locking the door after them, and returned to Metcalf's office.

"Now we'll go upstairs," said Duffy. "Come along, Freeman," he added to the stenographer who had been waiting patiently until his services might be required, and led the way up the stairs to Metcalf's living rooms.

They found the Jap houseboy seated in the kitchen. His face was drawn and sallow and seemed to have shrunk to half its usual size.

"What's the matter with you?" Duffy demanded. "What are you afraid of?"

"Not afraid of nothing," retorted the boy.

"Then what's the matter?"

"Him very good to me," the boy explained and his eyes were filled with misery.

Duffy paused for a moment, "Well, brace up," he said, not unkindly. "I've got to ask you some questions."

The boy followed along to the library, where the detectives sat down again in the easy chair with the pile of papers beside it on the floor, and motioned the stenographer to draw up another.

"Now tell me your name again," he began.

"Noguchi Kato, sir. Doctor call me Joe."

"Yes, I know. How long have you been with Metcalf?"

"Four year, sir."

"Ever see a fellow named Jack McKibben up here?"

Joe shook his head. "No know," he said and as Tony looked at him he saw that that was going to be the reply to every question which, for any reason, Joe preferred not to answer.

"Now I want you to think back to last Monday night," Duffy went on. "This is Thursday. Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday Where was Metcalf Monday night?"

"Him here. Him have dinner here."

"By himself?"

"Yes, sir," answered the boy stolidly.

"Seemed to be fond of dining by himself," the detective commented ironically. "What did he do after dinner Monday night?"

"No know."

"Why don't you know?" Duffy barked.

"Monday night my night off. Leave soon as I clear up kitchen."

"And you didn't get back till when?"

"Till next morning."

"All right. Give me the name and address of the girl you were with."

"No girl. Me with father and mother," said Joe sullenly.

"Ah, a home boy! All right. Let's have your father's name and address."

"His name Takashi Kato."

"Where does he live?"

"Twenty-five Grand St."

"And you spend every Monday night at home?"

"Yes, sir. Except doctor need me here."

"That's the reason Metcalf chose Monday night to put McKibben away," Duffy remarked, turning to Tony. "He knew the coast would be clear. Now another thing, Joe. What kind of pistol did Metcalf have?"

"Him never have pistol," said the boy quickly.

"Do you mean to say that you have never seen a pistol anywhere around here?"

"Him never have pistol."

"How can you be so sure?"

"Me never see pistol all time I been here."

"That doesn't prove he never had one," Duffy pointed out. "Now you stay right here. We're going to take a look around."

The detective and the columnist proceeded to a systematic search of the apartment, and presently they found what they were looking for but had scarcely hoped to find. Shoved back on a high shelf in a closet in Metcalf's bedroom was an old suitcase, and in it were a pair of suede gloves on one of which was a dark stain, a scorched and crumpled towel with a powder-marked hole in it, and a rope-ladder about twenty feet in length.

"That ladder looks Japanese to me," observed Duffy.

It was made of two fine but very strong silken cords, in which rungs of bamboo had been knotted about ten inches apart. He strode out to the library with the ladder in his hands.

"What do you know about this, Joe?" he asked and shook it in front of the houseboy's face.

Joe stared at it in evident astonishment—a little too evident, perhaps, Tony thought.

"Where you find him?" Joe asked.

"Come and I'll show you," and Duffy led the way back into the bedroom. "I found it on that shelf up there in the closet. It was in this suitcase. Do you recognize the suitcase?"

"Doctor's suitcase," said Joe. "But he no keep him up there. Keep him in storeroom."

"Oh, he did, did he? And when did you get it out of the storeroom?"

Japs Driven From Positions South of Ngakyedank Pass

New Delhi, Feb. 25. (CP)— Japanese have been driven from their positions south of Ngakyedauk Pass through the Mayu Hills in the Arakan Sector of Burma and British troops already are using the road after a long battle with Japanese who at one time were attacking the Pass from all sides, southeast Asia headquarters announced today.

Two columns of Allied troops meanwhile were driving down from the north and attacking the enemy at the northeastern end of the Pass where the heaviest resistance has been countered.

Japanese attacks on the hills just east and north of the Buedaung-Maungdaw Road were broken up, the communique said.

In North Burma, Chinese patrols occupied Yanbang Ga.

United States heavy bombers attacked Akyab airfields, while R.A.F. heavy bombers smashed at Moulmein and Martaban Jetties and railway sheds.

HOW TO RELIEVE PiLE TORTURE QUICKLY AND EASILY

If you are troubled with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not delay treatment and run the risk of letting this condition become chronic. Any itching or soreness or painful passage of stool is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once.

For this purpose get a package of Hem-Roid from J. S. McKeown or any I.D.A or other drug store and use as directed. This formula which is used internally is a small, easy to take tablet, will quickly relieve the itching and soreness and aid in healing the sore tender spots. Hem-Roid is pleasant to use, is highly recommended and it seems the height of folly for any one to risk a painful and chronic pile condition when such a fine remedy may be had at such a small cost.

If you try Hem-Roid and are not entirely pleased with the results, your druggist will gladly return your money.

KING AND QUEEN VISIT AREA OF LATEST BOMBING

London, Feb. 25 (CP)—The King and Queen today visited London areas which were bombed most heavily in last night's raid.

TORONTO EXCHANGE

Toronto, Feb. 25. (CP) — Prices were a bit soft in the industrial and gold share sections and a bit stronger in the base metals and western oils during the early hours. Trading volume continued comparatively small at 290,000 shares for the first three hours.

Preston, East Malartic, Chesterville, Beattie, Bidgood-Kirkland and Upper Canada weakened a few cents while Pickle Crow and Cochenour Willans gained slightly.

Noranda, Nickel and Steep Rock were stronger base metals. In the western oil group prices were up for Calgary and Edmonton and British-Dominion.

Union Gas changed hands in considerable volume on a gain of 3-4 to 7 3-4. Other Utilities were mainly weak. Steels and beverages displayed moderate weakness.

NEW YORK EXCHANGE

New York, Feb. 25 (AP)—Except for a handful of relatively strong specialties, the stock market rally stalled today and price trends generally were indefinite.

Financial contingents still were optimistic over the revolt in Congress but this development seemed to wane as a purchasing argument and, as usual at the approach of a weekend, profits were cashed here and there and accounts lightened.

Dealings dwindled after a moderately active opening.

New 1943-44 highs were posted for Delaware & Hudson, Macy and American Telephone.

Canadian issues were generally firm with Hiram Walker, Distillers Seagrams and Lake Shore adding fractions. Canadian Pacific yielded a fraction.

HOGS

Toronto, Feb. 25 (CP)—Prices were unchanged at bacon-hog markets reporting today.

Dressedweight: Chatham $16.60 plus transportation, Brantford $16.50 plus transportation, Hamilton $17.05 delivered, Hull $16.95 delivered, London, Barrie, Stratford $17 delivered.

Says Nazis Speculate Allies Study Plan Simultaneous Landings

London, Feb. 25 (CP-Reuters)—The Swiss newspaper La Swisse said today that Germans are speculating that the Allies are examining a plan providing for simultaneous landings in Brittany, Northern France and the Marseilles area.

The paper called this a "strategic de Gaulle plan" and said the Germans are considering that its object would be cut France in two, isolate her from Spain and alter the strategic position in Italy.

German press reports, the paid said, describe Sardinia and Corsica as large-scale Allied military bases.

MOBILIZE FRENCH WOMEN

Some 3,000 French women living in North Africa have been mobilized by the French National Committee as auxiliaries in the French fighting forces.

Weekly Livestock Report

Toronto, Feb. 25—(CP)—Weighty steers dropped 25 cents cwt. while other grades of cattle were steady in trade on the livestock market here this week. Hogs held steady to 10 cents higher. Calves, lambs and sheep were unchanged.

Good to choice weighty steers, which have been selling slightly above current beef ceilings, were scaled down 25 cents cwt. with top choice at $12.50 for a full load and others from $12.25 to $12.35. Common steers sold downward to $11. Butcher steers and heifers were $10 to $11.75 and a few light steers reached $12. Butcher cows were $7.25 to $9 with canners and cutters at $5 to $7. Bulls sold from $7 to $8.75. Fed yearlings were $10.75 to 13.50. A few common to medium stockers sold at $8 to $10.25. Good milkers and springers were $140 to $160 each. About 200 head of plain cattle were unsold at the close.

Calves were steady at $16 to $17 cwt. for choice vealers with common downward to $10. The bulk of sales were between $14 and $16.50. Grassers brought $7.50 to $8.50.

Lamb receipts included four cars of Westerns which were sold at $13.50 cwt. A few good local lambs brought $13.25 to $13.50. Culls were plentiful at $7.50 to $11. Local sheep were $2.50 to $6 cwt. with light Westerns at $6.25.

Hogs were a shade lower at a general $17.15 for the yard supply with a few at $17.25. Off truck deliveries at packing plants were from $17.05 to $17.25. Sows were $13 dressed.

Weekly Summary of Receipts:

Light Receipts Dressed Poultry

Toronto, Feb. 25 (CP)—The dressed poultry market is receiving very light volume of fresh dressed chickens and fowl, the Dominion Department of Agriculture reports. Quite a percentage of the chicken is in the staggy stage. Local demand is very good for chicken and there appears to be a fair inquiry for turkeys. Demand from nearby outside points is good for heavy chicken grading A milk-fed and B milk-fed. There has been very little inquiry from the Maritimes this week and no export movement.

Dealers are paying for live fowl; heavies 24 cents lb., lights 21 cents lb., stags 20 cents lb.

Dealers are paying producers and country shippers for fresh-dressed poultry:

Chicken: Grade A milk-fed, 5 lbs. and up 32-33 cents lb., 4 to 5 lbs. 31-32, under 4 lbs. 30-31; Grade B milk-fed and Grade A, 5 lbs. and up 30-31, 4 to 5 lbs. 29-30, under 4 lbs. 28-29; Grade B, 5 lbs. and up 28-29, 4 to 5 lbs. 27-28, under 4 lbs. 26-27; Grade C, 5 lbs. and up 25-26, 4 to 5 lbs. 24-25, under 4 lbs. 23.

Fowl: Grade A, over 5 lbs. 26-26 1-2, 4 to 5 lbs. 25-26, under 4 lbs. 24-25; Grade B, 5 lbs. and up 24-24 1-2, 4 to 5 lbs. 23-24, under 4 lbs. 22-23; Grade C, 5 lbs. and up 21-21 1-2, 4 to 5 lbs. 20-21, under 4 lbs. 19-20.

Kinsmen 'Fags' Seem to Arrive Just When Needed

"Your shipments of cigarettes seem to arrive just when they are most needed over here," wrote Mark Storms while thanking the Kinsmen Fag Fund for their most recent shipment of cigarettes to Belleville boys serving in all theatres of war.

"Your smokes arrived at a most opportune time now that we are at the front, where cigarettes of any kind are hardly obtainable at all," wrote Jack Barrett, while F. Smith assured the Kinsmen, that the cigarettes sent "help to keep up our morale and our pride in the old home town." These excerpts are only a few of the many replies received by Chairman "Buster" LaBarr to prove the value of increased shipments of cigarettes to Belleville boys serving overseas.

The following Belleville boys were sent individual shipments of 300 cigarettes each through the Kinsmen Fag Fund this week:

Canadian Corporal And English Bride Killed in Air Raid

London, Feb. 24. (CP Cable)—Cpl. Clarence Thoburn of Montreal, member of the Canadian Army, was killed with his English bride of a few months in Sunday night's German air raid on London, it was disclosed today. Their bodies, and that of a third person, were found near a bomb crater in a London suburb.

Neighbors Build New House Quickly For Burned-Outs

London, Ont., Feb. 24. (CP) — Mr. and Mrs. Harry Robson, who less than two weeks ago lost their home and all their belongings in a fire on Concession 13, London Township, will be able to move into a new home next month.

Fifty neighbors, who realized the plight of the couple, got together and now are building a new house. The foundation and framework has been completed.

The community movement was started two days after the fire—Feb. 13—when a committee was formed and one farmer was assigned to canvas each concession in the Ilderton area. Several hundred dollars was donated, some unsolicited from business establishments in London.

Turned to Plunder Instead of Britain

London, Ont., Feb. 24. (CP)—"For some reason or other, Hitler in the mad rush of the Summer of 1940 turned to plunder the well-stocked cellars of France before going to reach for the prize of Britain, apparently at his mercy. How near he came to us, and why he did not consummate his great desire, will remain one of the mysteries of all time!"

This was one of the striking sentences in an address given before the Canadian Club yesterday by Rt. Hon. Leslie Burgin, M.P., former member of the British Cabinet now engaged in an officially-sponsored lecture tour of North and South America. Dr. Burgin was minister of Supply in Britain during the first years of the war.

WingCmdr. Jacobs Given High Post

With the R.C.A.F. Bomber Group Overseas, Feb. 24. (CP)—A 29-year-old wing commander who crash-landed his heavily damaged bomber after a raid on Osnabruck, bringing it in with the hydraulic system out of action, no flaps, the undercarriage damaged and the rear gunner killed has been named commanding officer of the Canadian Bomber Group's "Goose" Squadron.

He is Wing Cmdr. D. S. (Jake) Jacobs, D.F.C. of Toronto, and his appointment climaxes a hectic tour of operations which has included bombing the Ruhr Valley in twin-engined Hampdens and low-level daylight attacks over enemy territory in Wellington Bombers.

Jacobs' navigator, Flt. Lt. T. R. (Sammy) McDougall, D.F.C., of North Bay, Ont., joined the "Goose" Squadron and will act as squadron navigation officer.

Urges Return To Standard Time

Toronto, Feb. 23—(CP)—Return to standard time to alleviate "general inconvenience" in rural areas was urged in a resolution adopted last night at the annual conference of the Toronto Association of Rural Municipalities, attended by 450 delegates representing 22 counties, 160 townships, towns and villages. Copies of the resolution will be sent to Prime Minister King and Premier Drew, of Ontario.

Establishment of a uniform industrial Hydro rate by the Ontario Hydro Commission, a school rehabilitation program with expenses shared by the federal and provincial governments, reduction of current interest rates charged by chartered banks and granting of additional gasoline allowances to municipal council members were among other measures advocated in resolutions passed by the session.

Officers elected were: President, N. A. Fletcher, Hannon; Vice-Presidents, J. N. Corry, Atwood and Peter J. Mather, Keene; Secretary-Treasurer, W. S. Wilmine, Stoney Creek; Directors, D. A. Hill, Waterford; C. Foster, Staples; H. E. Killman, Fenwick; J. P. Meilleur, Casseman; George McIntosh, Moose Creek; S. Nicolson, Belleville; E. Campbell, Chatham; H. L. Muir, Casselman.

NEW GAS RATION COUPON ISSUE

Above are shown the new gasoline ration coupons and windshield stickers for the 1944-45 gas rationing year which starts April 1. The plan will be basically the same as the system now in effect. Only major change is that owners must write in ink on each gasoline coupon the provincial licence number of their vehicle. Service station attendants will refuse coupons which do not bear the correct licence number.

Film Portrays Progress of Post-War Planning in U.S. to Absorb Workers

That post-war planning has progressed far beyond the "talk" stage and that broad preparations are being made by industrial heads throughout Canada and the United States to attain the fullest employment possible in the post-war period was demonstrated to members of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce Wednesday evening when following their annual banquet they saw screened strip slide film outlining the contemplated result of definite planning.

The slides were shown by Mr. Joseph T. Crowder, secretary-manager of Maximum Industrial Employment, who was the guest speaker at the Chamber of Commerce annual banquet held in the Hotel Quinte.

Two films were shown by Mr. Crowder. The first "Target for Peace" indicated the many phases of industrial manufacturing and public services which would absorb workers now employed in war production programs. The film was of American origin and dealt directly with the United States problem, the objectives set and the income and production values shown, being expressly American. A second film shown dealt entirely with post-war planning as might be handled in any one particular plant with possible expansion, utilization of new materials and other angles of the production picture being considered. The net result indicated the employment of considerably larger numbers of workers than in the immediate pre-war period.

Following the viewing of the film Mr. Crowder asked the general opinion of Chamber of Commerce members as to whether a Canadian film using only Canadian material should be prepared for Canadian use, or if a Canadian introduction and trailer to the American film would be practical. The general opinion was that Canadian material presenting a true picture of Canadian conditions and requirements would meet with better success.

Jamieson Bone held that the Canadian post-war picture might be entirely different through reason of natural resources, while J. B. Boyce stated the American national income and other objectives would be confusing to the Canadian audience. It is planned to show the picture viewed last evening or a like film using Canadian materials in all Canadian industrial plants.

Pilot Boat Blown Onto Dangerous Reef at Halifax

Halifax, Feb. 24 — (CP) — The pilot boat Camperdown was blown onto dangerous Thrum Cape reef in Halifax harbor today, but information reaching here indicated all aboard the 108-ton ship had been rescued as the ship remained fast on the ledge.

At the same time, a large steamship was blown ashore in Bedford Basin, Halifax's inner harbor, but it was reported she suffered no damage.

Pilot service officials here reported the Camperdown carried 15 men — six of the pilots—and according to word received at the port's pilotage office, all had reached safety.

At the dockyard, the navy reported "two boatloads" of men had been taken from the pilot ship. The lifeboats, it was understood, proceeded out from McNab's Island. Thrum Cape is located off the island.

It was not known immediately if navy vessels made the rescue.

The Camperdown, a motorship built in 1941, was placed in service to replace the schooner Hebridean, sunk with the loss of nine lives when she was rammed in this harbor by a freighter in 1940.

Trenton and District

FO. J. D. Campbell Reported Safe

Trenton (Special)— Flying Officer J. D. L. Campbell, co-pilot on the Liberator which was forced down off the East Coast last Friday is reported safe along with all other members of the crew. The one passenger, FO. David Griffin, R.C.A.F. Public Relations Officer, was killed.

FO. Campbell's wife is at present living in Trenton at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, 55 Marmora Street. He was born in Cobourg and is the only son of Mrs. Douglas Campbell, Cobourg, and the late Mr. Campbell, who was killed during the last war. He enlisted three-and-a-half years ago obtaining his wings at Brantford in June, 1941. He took an instructors' course at Rivers, Man., and spent nine months at Aylmer and several months at Weyburn, Sask., before going to the East Coast.

News was received on Sunday by Mrs. Campbell that her husband was missing and she spent many anxious hours until the message came on Tuesday that he was safe. However, no further word has been received by her as to his exact whereabouts or if he has been injured.

While at Cobourg Collegiate he was keen at basketball and baseball.

Lt.-Gen. McNaughton Attends Reception In Honor of Red Army

Ottawa, Feb. 24. (CP)—Lt.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, former commander of the Canadian army overseas, made his first public appearance last night since his return to Canada when he attended a Russian Legation reception in honor of the 26th anniversary of the Red Army.

As soon as he entered the Legation Gen. McNaughton was surrounded by guests and he shook hands all around.

He told newsmen he planned to continue his rest at nearby Rockcliffe and later would visit Kingston, Ont., where his daughter, Leslie, is attending Queen's University.

Prisoner of War 2½ Years, Free

By ROSS MUNRO
(CP War Correspondent.)

London, Feb. 24. (CP)— For 2 1-2 years, Lieut. Jim Gardner of Regina, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. T. Gardner, now live in Kitchener, Ont., was a prisoner of war in Italy.

A short time ago, he escaped from his prison camp and made his way by devious means to the 8th Army lines in Italy. Now he is in London.

He can't talk about his escape, for there are others using the same method of getting away, but his odyssey through the battlefields of Africa as a member of the Royal Tank regiment of the British Army is, in itself, a story.

In June, 1940, Gardner graduated from the Royal Military College, Kingston, Ont., and was commissioned in the British Army. From England, he was sent to the Middle East. There he shared in the campaign in the Sudan, Eritrea and Abyssinia and in May, 1941, went to the Western Desert with the Royal Tank regiment when Sir Archibald Wavell was waging his touch-and-go campaigns with the minimums of troops and equipment.

Gardner took part in the fierce desert fighting in May and June and was in the push for the relief of Tobruk.

"That was where I came to grief", he said in an interview. "I was in a Matilda tank during one battle and it was knocked out. We were captured by the Germans".

Gardner is trying to switch to the Canadian Armored Corps, but the British are diffident about letting an experienced Tank officer go.

Raid by Great Bird Is Attracted by Child Dressed in Red

Chatham, Feb. 24 (CP)—Chatham's first "air raid" of the war fizzled yesterday when the lone, unsupported attacker's apparent objective—a small child dressed in red—was removed. First mistaken by onlookers for an aircraft, a great bird with wingspread of several feet swooped low over Patterson Avenue, lifted, circled and flew away after the child was hurriedly taken indoors.

GUILTY OF MANSLAUGHTER

Toronto, Feb. 24. (CP)—Edward J. Logan, 68, charged with the murder of Mrs. Ann Donovan, 67, yesterday was found guilty of manslaughter by a criminal assize court jury. He will be sentenced March third.

The woman's death resulted from a knife wound in the abdomen, which the Crown charged was inflicted by Logan during a drinking bout in a Toronto rooming house, where the two had rooms.

The defence was based on a plea of "pathological drunkenness".

Ngakyedauk Pass Nearly Cleared Of Jap Troops

New Delhi, Feb. 24. (CP)—Allied troops mopping up Japanese forces in the Ngakyedauk Pass in Burma have all but cleared the pass of the enemy after repulsing one attack at the eastern exit yesterday, a communique said today.

Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten's southeast Asia command announced that an important hill point near Kyauktaw in the Kaladan Valley was captured and that destruction of a Japanese raiding party is proceeding north of the Ngakyedauk Pass sector in the Mayu range.

"Allied troops are wresting the initiative from the Japanese on the Arakan front", a communique said yesterday, reporting that knife-wielding Indian Gurkhas were attacking the Japanese in the Pass.

U.S. fighter-bombers supported ground troos in the Hukawng Valley area Feb. 22, heavily raiding military installations, troops concentrations and communication lines. R.A.F. medium and heavy bombers bombed targets in South Burma, including the big enemy base at Akyab, and set off explosions seen 50 miles away in an assault on Prome.

The survey will be under the direction of the Canadian National Railways Industrial Department, acting on the invitation of city council.

E-BOAT SUNK

London, Feb. 24 — (CP) — British light naval forces blew up one German E-boat and scattered other groups of enemy forces attempting to attack a small Allied convoy off the east coast of Britain yesterday, the Admiralty announced today.

The Admiralty said the destroyer Garth, commanded by Capt. C.R.L. Parry sank the E-boat. The Garth successfully avoided several torpedoes fired at her. Altogether there were four short actions against the enemy. There were no damage or casualties to the British naval craft or ships of the convoy.

17,000 TONS BOMBS DROPPED IN SIX-DAY ASSAULT AGAINST NAZI AIRCRAFT INDUSTRY

Massive RAF Fleet Delivers Crushing Raid on Augsburg

Germans Also Say Large-Scale Raid Made at Frankfurt At Same Time

24 BOMBERS LOST

London, Feb. 26—(AP)—A massive fleet of R.A.F., R. C. A. F. bombers carried out a crushing attack on the burning city of Augsburg Friday night, and piled up a total of more than 17,000 tons of bombs dropped on Germany in an unparalleled six-day offensive against Germany's aircraft industry.

The German radio said large-scale attacks on the chemical centre of Frankfurt were made at the same time, and the Swiss radio said night fighters crossed Switzerland from Italy—raising the distinct possibility that Italian-based Wellingtons of the R. A. F. again carried out a two-way British assault as they did the night before.

The Air Ministry communique announcing the operation against Augsburg said it was carried out in "very great strength" and that the city, a centre of aerial engine production, was attacked twice during the night by large forces of Lancaster and Halifax bombers.

At least eight squadrons of the R. C. A. F. bomber group were reported to have participated.

"The weather was favorable and reports indicated the bombing was concentrated and effective," the communique added.

Twenty-four planes were lost in these assaults and in simultaneous Mosquito operations over Southwest Germany and the low country and in extensive minelaying sweeps. Eight of the missing planes are Canadian.

Heavy bombers from Britain made the 1,600-mile round trip to Augsburg yesterday, setting fires which lighted the way for the R.A.F.

The night blow was in the wake of an unprecedented two-way stab at Regensburg's Messerschmitt factory by American heavy bombers from both England and Italy yesterday in which 70 United States bombers were lost, and at least 200 enemy fighters destroyed. Thirty-one of the bombers lost were from England and 39 from Italy. The Italy-based 15th U.S. air force shot down 93 enemy planes at Regensburg, while the fighters accompanying the Britain-based bombers shot down 27.

The score of the heavy bombers from Britain had not yet been tallied.

The night blow followed an unprecedented two-way stab yesterday at a single target—Regensburg's Messerschmitt factory. American heavy bombers flew from both Britain and Italy.

"In a vain effort to protect the vital remnants of German fighter production, the Luftwaffe opposed out attacking forces furiously", army headquarters announced. "The 15th A.A.F. (from Italy) encountered 250 to 300 enemy aircraft (and) destroyed 93 fighters in a violent and prolonged air battle".

Together, the attacking forces destroyed 142 enemy aircraft against a loss of 69 heavy bombers. The 15th lost 39 bombers, the 8th, 30.

Photographs made at Augsburg, Furth, a Stuttgart ballbearing plant and Regensburg "showed good results", the communique said.

The greatest U. S. fighter group ever dispatched from British bases—estimated at more than 1,000 planes—escorted the American bombers from England which dumped their loads on the Regensburg factory already burning from the attack of the Italy-based bombers.

The assault marked the third time this week that U. S. bombers from Britain and Italy struck at enemy targets at the same time, but it was the first time they both hit at the same target simultaneously.

The R.A.F. also took up the two-way attack Thursday night, with British-based bombers striking at Schweinfurt while formations from Italy blasted Steyr, in Austria.

Snow About Target Reflects Glow From Fires Started Say Canadian Airmen

C.O'S LEAD SQUADRONS

By ALAN RANDAL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

A Canadian Bomber Base in Britain, Feb. 26 — (CP Cable) — For the fourth night this week, the R.C.A.F. bomber group sent a force deep into Germany last night to blast strategic targets. Chief objective of the R.A.F.-R.C.A.F. operations this time was Augsburg.

The Canadian contribution to the Allied raid was termed "a good-sized force of Lancasters and Halifaxes."

It was officially announced eight Canadian planes were among the total of 24 reported missing.

Some of these may have been lost in operations other than the attack on Augsburg. The Canadian bomber group sent considerable numbers of planes to join R. A. F. units in extensive minelaying operations and intruder patrols over the Low Countries.

Squadrons Led by C.O.'s.

Two Canadian squadrons were led personally by their Commanding Officers — Wing Cmdr. W. A. McKay of Vancouver, logging the 9th trip of his second tour of operations with the Leasides, and Wing Cmdr. Dan MacIntosh of Regina marking trip no. 20 with the Snowy Owls.

Other units participating included the Goose, Thunderbird, Lion, Alouette, Porcupine and Tiger Squadrons.

There was no doubt in the minds of the returning fliers that Augsburg took a heavy smashing.

Crews noted snow about the target which served to reflect the glow from fires started by the massive raid.

Pathfinder aircraft had already visited Augsburg when the Canadians arrived, and as they approached they could see the red glow of the city for 90 miles.

"By the reflection of the red flames from the snow, we could see lots of detail," W/O V. C. McDonald of Meota, Sask., said.

His crew bombed the centre of the city, and reported fires were more concentrated here than on the outskirts. They said they saw plenty of Nazi night fighters and encountered heavy flak but skirted trouble.

135 JAP PLANES LOST AS GUAM HEAVILY POUNDED

American Outpost Occupied by Japan At Outset of War Attacked First Time

NO SHIPS LOST

Pearl Harbor, Feb. 26 — The escorted American task force which ranged 3,800 miles west of Pearl Harbor Tuesday to strike at the Marianas, less than 1,500 miles from Tokyo, wiped out 135 Japanese planes, scored against shipping, caused heavy destruction and lost no warships, Admiral Chester W. Nimitz announced yesterday.

The warships were not even damaged despite the fact their approach was detected the day before the attack and enemy torpedo planes repeatedly tried to sink them. Only six out of hundreds of attacking carrier planes were lost.

Guam, American outpost occupied by Japan at the outset of the Pacific war, was bombed for the first time.

The task force sent against the Marianas duplicated the Feb. 16-17 feat at Truk of risking capital ships deep inside Japan's island defences and emerging intact.

The 135 planes bagged in the Marianas were added to 201 destroyed during the two-day attack on Truk. From the standpoint of enemy ships, the bag at Truk was much better — between 19 and 26, including at least 11 warships.

It was learned yesterday a total of 793 Japanese planes have been destroyed by Allied fliers since the campaign to reduce Rabaul from the air got under way last Dec. 17.

G. Murray Replies To E. B. Jolliffe

Toronto, Feb. 26. (CP) —Gladstone Murray, Toronto policy counsel, whose name was linked by E. B. Jolliffe, Ontario C.C.F. leader, with those of several industrialists described as a "danger" to democracy, said in a statement Friday:

"Mr. Jolliffe shares with Mr. Coldwell (National C.C.F. Leader M. J. Coldwell) indignation at my having included in a list of personal references some of the leaders of Canadian industry, the suggestion being that whatever notice is taken on my views is due to the alleged wealth of these leaders of industry. The fact is that the evidence and the arguments for free enterprise which it is my purpose to disseminate receive just the same notice they deserve from an impartial press".

Speaking in the Ontario Legislature Thursday, Mr. Jolliffe said democracy is in danger when a large part of political policy does not come from responsible political leaders but from men whose only claim to a hearing is that "they have millions". He said Mr. Murray's efforts to speak on behalf of democracy should be "examined with care".

WELCOMES DAUGHTER INTO SERVICE

Welcoming his daughter into service with the Royal Canadian Air Force, Air Marshal W. A. Air Marshal Bishop took the salute and stopped to chat with his daughter, asking what her name was, where she lived and if she liked the service. To the latter question she answered, "Oh, I like it fine, sir!" without the trace of a smile.

FOUR MEMBERS OF DELHI FAMILY BURNED TO DEATH

Stove Explodes as Mother Pours Coal Oil on Burning Wood

ONE CHILD ESCAPES

Simcoe, Ont., Feb. 26 — (CP) — Four members of a tobacco share grower's family were dead today, victims of a fire which raced through their 10-room house two miles west of nearby Delhi.

The dead are Mrs. Ernest Lewis, 29; two sons, Richard, three and Wray, two; and an eight-month-old daughter, Bernice, who was burned to death as she lay on a blanket in front of the living-room stove. Mrs. Lewis and the two sons died in hospital last night.

Police said the fire occurred yesterday when the stove exploded as Mrs. Lewis poured coal oil on burning wood in an effort to "boost up" the fire.

Her clothing ignited into a blazing torch, Mrs. Lewis ran screaming from the house and rolled in a snowbank. Her cries attracted the attention of Henry Pearson, Highways Department road foreman, and two helpers. Pearson carried the boys out of the house after beating out the flames on their clothing and then removed the baby's body.

The three men then took shovels and threw snow into the living-room until the flames were smothered.

A fourth child, eight-year-old Clara, escaped from the house with slight burns. Two others, Donald, nine and Jacob, six were at school. The father, who works as a share grower for a tobacco firm, was at Delhi when the explosion occurred.

The fire followed a few hours after four persons — a mother, father and two children — were burned to death when fire destroyed their Acton, Ont., home.

LIGHTS OF LONDON ON

London, Feb. 26. (CP) — The lights of London shone again ten days ago for the first time in four and a half years of war-enforced blackout when a dust-laden cloud of fog descended in mid-afternoon. For nearly an hour thousands of lights gleamed from office buildings and shop windows. Security regulations prevented previous mention of the fog.

GREETINGS SENT STALIN

New York, Feb. 26 — (AP)—Greetings from the "Meetings of Slav Fighting Men" held in Moscow Wednesday and Thursday have been sent to Marshal Stalin, Prime Minister Churchill, President Roosevelt, Dr. Eduard Benes, President of the Czecho-Slovak Republic and Marshal Josip Broz (Tito) Commander-in-Chief of the Yugoslav peoples Army of National Liberation, the Moscow radio reported last night.

ENGINEER KILLED, FIREMAN INJURED IN TRAIN WRECK

Eastbound C. N. Passenger Train Collides With Derailed Cars Near Cardinal

TRAINS REROUTED

Brockville, Ont., Feb. 26 (CP) — Engineer William Eccles of Montreal was killed and fireman W. Houle of Montreal injured early today when an east-bound Canadian National Railways passenger train collided with a derailed freight car a mile east of Cardinal, Ont. The accident occurred at four a.m.

The engine and two baggage cars of the passenger train were derailed in the collision with the freight, part of a west-bound Montreal-BBrockville train. The passenger was running from Toronto to Montreal.

Remaining coaches of the passenger train (No. 18) were brought here this morning and the passengers fed.

No one else was reported hurt, although local doctors and nurses were rushed to the scene.

The right of way was blocked and all trains were being re-routed through Ottawa.

25 Freight Cars Derailed.

Montreal, Feb. 26 —(CP)— William Eccles of Montreal, engineer on an eastbound express and passenger train, was killed today when his train collided with derailed cars of a westbound freight train 1½ miles east of Cardinal, Ont., Canadian National Railways officials announced here.

The westbound 95-car freight train was just abreast of the eastbound train on double tracking when about 25 cars were derailed. The eastbound train collided with the cars.

A fireman, W. Houle, of Verdun, Que., was "slightly injured," but there were no passengers hurt, railway officials said.

Seven express cars and two coaches on the eastbound express and passenger train were derailed when it collided with the freight cars. Cause of the freight-car derailment was not known, officials said, and an investigation will be conducted.

A relief train pulled the coaches to Brockville, Ont., and they were rerouted to Montreal.

CHAPLAIN KNOWS TOWN

Charleston, S.C., Feb. 26 —(AP) —Mrs. Abraham C. Steele received a letter from her soldier husband, saying he could not tell her what English town he was stationed in but it had a castle with stuffed birds in the cellar and a cathedral famous for its spire. She sought in vain for a clue from guide books until she met a Royal Navy Chaplain who exclaimed, "that's my home town. My father is Canon of the cathedral."

ENEMY CONTINUES PRESSURE AGAINST ANZIO BRIDGEHEAD

Harasses Allied Forces With Shells And Bombs—Snowstorms Keep Sector Quiet

E-BOATS REPULSED

Naples, Feb. 26 — (AP) — German forces maintaining steady pressure on the Allied beachhead south of Rome, harassed British and American forces with shells and bombs but were knocked back in their single small attack yesterday, Allied headquarters announced today.

The ineffective Nazi stab was made on the Allied right flank in the Pontine Marsh area about four miles from the coast at a point south of Cisterna and west of Littoria. Taking advantage of the ravine terrain near Carroceto on the other end of the beachhead, the Nazis tried to slip through the Allied lines, but all their attempts were unsuccessful.

High winds sweeping the mountains on the Allied 5th Army Cassino front together with snow flurries helped to keep that sector more or less stationary except for patrolling, but the Germans again attacked a French-held hill northwest of Cassino and again were thrown back. On this front as well as on the beachhead heavy guns of both sides kept up their endless shellings.

93 German Planes Downed

Headquarters announced that 93 German planes were destroyed and 14 more probably were knocked down on the Italian leg of yesterday's simultaneous American heavy bomber assault against Regensburg, Germany, by bombers flying from Italy and Britain.

Thirty-nine bombers and five fighters were reported missing from the heavy bomber thrusts, also aimed at the Italian ports of Fiume and Pola, the Yugoslav port of Zara, and an airfield near Graz in Southern Austria.

The total of German fighters destroyed on the Regensburg mission and elsewhere yesterday was fixed at 95, setting a new record for the Mediterranean air force. The previous high was 87 German planes knocked out in Tunisia last April.

Indian troops of the British 8th Army threw back three separate night attacks near Orsogna. Allied artillery fire also broke up an enemy raid at another point in the Orsogna area and a patrol inflicted casualties on the Germans in a clash north of Arielli, between Orsogna and the Adriatic coast.

Reinforcements Pour In

Guns and supplies still were flowing into the beachhead area despite bad weather, continued Nazi shelling of the port of Anzio and a new attempt by the Germans to interrupt the process by employing torpedo-boat stabs at shipping off the harbor.

The Allied communique said an E-boat attack on the anchorage three nights ago was broken up by patrol craft.

Heavy bombers attacking port and rail facilities at Fiume flew through heavy flak. Like the Regensburg raiders, they met vicious fighter opposition, with some of the enemy planes carrying rockets. The crews reported direct hits on the harbor and nearby installations.

Fierce Resistance Fails to Seal Gap In German Lines

Reds Press Ahead On 400-Mile Front Between Rogachev And Pskov

VITEBSK OBSCURE

London, Feb. 26 — (CP) — Russian armies massed on the 400-mile-long front between Pskov and Rogachev are pressing westward in White Russia toward Latvia and the northern part of Poland despite increased German resistance, a Moscow communique reported today.

German commanders threw fresh reinforcements into the Rogachev area yesterday in a futile attempt to seal the gap torn in their lines by Gen. Constantine Rokossovsky's 1st White Russian Army Thursday.

Fourteen fierce counter-attacks north of captured Rogachev were thrown back by the Soviets, the Russian communique said, and the Germans lost 2,500 men killed. Gen. Rokossovsky's men surged forward and captured several unidentified localities and a large number of prisoners.

To date the battle around Rodachev has cost the Germans 6,000 men and enormous stores of war equipment, the Moscow bulletin added.

20 Miles from Pskov

On the northern end of the front, Russian troops converging on Pskov, Baltic gateway stronghold south of Lake Peipus, drove the Germans further west toward Latvia. They killed another 1,100 Germans and captured 54 towns and hamlets, the Moscow bulletin said, and at one point to the northwest were less than 20 miles from the great communications centre.

A second force was 22 miles north of Pskov at Lutovo, another 28 miles northeast at Kebska, and to the east still another column had reached the outskirts of Porkhov, last important town before Pskov, 45 miles away.

Twenty miles south of Dno on the railway leading to Nevel, the station of Dedovichi was captured, as well as the town of Barlayevo and Dorka, southwest of Kholm. All these towns are within 80 miles of the Latvian border.

Situation Uncertain

The situation around Vitebsk was still obscure. A Berlin radio report that the great stronghold 150 miles north of Rogachev had been evacuated was not confirmed by subsequent Russian and German communiques, although the controlled Paris radio repeated the report early today. Berlin reported abandonment of the city, which has been under siege by the Russians since November, after 'particularly bitter' fighting.

Developments in the Dnieper Bend were not mentioned in the Moscow war bulletin, but a German broadcast claimed Russian pressure in that sector had "decreased considerably."

GIVEN NEW BADGE

New York, Feb. 26 — (AP) — The Berlin radio in an apparent reference to operations against guerillas in occupied countries said last night that Hitler has introduced a "gang-fighting badge" for German soldiers who have taken part in such struggles.

Reds Reported Ready to Hand Out Peace Terms

London, Feb. 26—(CP)—A Reuters news agency dispatch from Stockholm said today the Russians were reported to have proposed a Finnish military and political delegation to go to Moscow as soon as possible to receive terms for quitting the war.

Stockholm dispatches, quoting unofficial informants, said yesterday and Thursday that Russian armistice conditions demanded re-establishment of the 1940 border and made no demand for changes in the Finnish government, but that the Finns were profoundly disturbed by an alleged demand that their army combine with the Russians in a drive against the Germans in the northern part of Finland.

WANTS PROTECTION

Ottawa, Feb. 26 —(CP)— H. H. Hatfield (PC-Victoria-Carleton) said last night in the Commons that if too many United States potatoes are allowed to enter Canada the domestic market will be demoralized. Protection should be given to home producers, he said.

Mr. Hatfield spoke during discussion of agriculture department estimates for the fiscal year 1944-45.

NO CONFIRMATION

London, Feb. 26 —(AP)— The Berlin radio, quoting "reports from Geneva," said today that Gen. Charles de Gaulle had been wounded in an attempted assassination.

There was no confirmation from any Allied source.

GIRLS CONFESS TO CRIMES

Fort Erie, Ont., Feb. 26—(CP)—Two girls, aged 11 and nine, have confessed to a series of crimes in the Crystal Beach area this week. Police said the smaller girl would break a window, climb through and unlock the doors of the home for the older girl. Plunder worth an estimated $150 was taken from vacant summer homes.

ALUMINUM PRODUCED

New York, Feb. 26 —(AP)— The Chungking radio said today aluminum is being produced in Yunan Province for the first time in China's mining history. The broadcast was recorded by United States government monitors.

FORGOT HIS KEY

Decatur, Ill., Feb. 26 —(AP)—Mrs. Louis Carey woke at dawn when she heard the cry, "Hey, Mom! Let me in. I forgot my key." It was her son, Pte. Francis Carey, arriving on furlough after two years in Alaska.

Anzio Landing Offers Preview Of Second-Front Difficulties

By RELMAN MORIN
(AP War Correspondent)

Algiers, Feb. 26. (AP)— A third and unique lesson in landing operations is being written today at the Anzio beachhead, vividly illustrating hazards which will confront Allied armies when they strike at Europe from the west. Anzio displays to advantage German speed in moving troops.

They plugged the gap with incredible swiftness. Some of their divisions came down from Northern Italy. At least one was in France. Still another shot across from Yugoslavia. Their speed of movement probably averted a major disaster.

Experts used to calculate a full division moving in column at 25 miles an hour required five hours to pass a given point. The Germans obviously went much faster than that as they converged on the beach south of Rome.

If they could do this in Italy, with its comparatively few main highways and with its rail communications badly chewed by Allied bombing, how fast will German armies move toward the beachhead of western Europe?

This is the question that Anzio poses.

The North African invasion was the biggest in point of men, ships and armament involved in the landing. Salerno showed us what it will mean to hit prepared positions with the Germans waiting on the beach. Anzio, a complete surprise on an undefended shore, has proven that not even these two factors are certain guarantees of success.

At the same time, the three landings taken together constitute a story that will not fail to rob a good many Germans of a lot of sleep these nights.

In no instance have the Allies failed to put troops on shore. In no instance have they been thrown back into the sea, and in no instance have they failed ultimately to achieve their objectives.

Crossing of Atlantic Now Pleasure Cruise Compared to Dark Days of '42

By FRANK LOWE
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, Feb. 26. (CP) — The comparison between a North Atlantic crossing in 1942 and a crossing in 1944 is like the comparison between a preliminary boy and a champion. There's that much difference.

In 1942 the British and Canadian escort force keeping open the North Atlantic was a stripling, weary and over-worked.

For the convoy I travelled with back in '42 Lady Luck worked overtime. We arrived without a scratch despite some 14 days and nights of spasmodic but fierce fighting.

Other convoys near us, similarly protected, were broken and bloodied with frightening regularity.

But this winter, sailing from the same Canadian port and in the same type of convoy, the water hop was a wartime approximation of a pleasure cruise. It was simply a matter of keeping in convoy formation. The only fight was against boredom.

Once there was a U-boat alert and at another time a few exploding depth charges shook our ship. That was all.

The reason for this difference, of course, was the expansion in escort strength. The stripling had grown up and in place of two destroyers and a mere handful of corvettes—standard protection 18 months ago—were several destroyers bolstered by numbers of frigates and corvettes.

Baby flat-tops also were in the convoy, their broods of planes nestling on deck ready for instant use or circling ahead of the plodding ships, anxious to drop canisters of sudden death on any U-boat that might develop fighting ideas.

And this was no special effort, just an ordinary convoy, 1944 style.

Kingston, Feb. 26 — Corporal P. Caldwell, C.W.A.C., of 65 Bridge Street East, Belleville, has been promoted to the rank of Acting Sergeant, it has been announced from A-21 Canadian Ordnance Corps Training Centre, Barriefield, Ont. Sergeant Caldwell is a graduate of the Ontario Business College, and for 13 months prior to her enlistment, on September 1, 1942, she was employed as a civilian stenographer at the R.C.A.F. Station, Trenton.

STIRLING, MARMORA FANS FOLLOW TEAM

A large number of Stirling and Marmora fans will accompany their team "The Combines" when they play in Trenton tonight against Stan Jackson's Trenton squad. The Combines won the first game of the group playoffs in Stirling 8-2 and expect to repeat the dose if Combines win they will meet Kingston squad in the next round that leads to the provincial title. This game tonight should be one of the best to be played in this district this season.

COURT OBSERVER KNOWN IN CITY

Squadron Leader J. M. McPherson, of the Royal Canadian Air Force, whose picture appeared in Friday's edition of The Ontario Intelligencer and who is official observer for the R.C.A.F. at the murder trial of Wayne Lonergan, being tried in New York for the murder of his wife, was a one time resident of Belleville. Squadron Leader McPherson and Mrs. McPherson resided at 165A Dundas Street East here during his tour of duty at R.C.A.F. Station Mountain View where he was stationed for over a year. The squadron leader and his wife became well known in the city during his stay here.

Red Cross Drive For $25,000 Starts Here Mon.

The most intense pre-campaign organizing in the history of the Ontario Division has been carried on in preparation for the annual campaign for funds, when this division of the Canadian Red Cross Society will ask for $5,000,000 in voluntary subscriptions from Ontario citizens beginning February 28th. The quota set for Belleville is $25,000 which will be solicited by a special group of canvassers made up of business and professional men in the city. These men will start making their calls at the homes of Belleville citizenry on Monday.

Mr. Ian R. Dowie heads the division staff of volunteer workers, with Mr. G. A. Freeman heading the campaign staff in the local area. "With a provincial quota of $5,000,000 the Ontario Division must raise one-half of the national objective, which in these days of imperative need for the services which only the Red Cross can give, is a great responsibility," Mr. Dowie stated. All reports, he said, reflect great optimism and determination among the organizers in the branches, and a general appreciation among the public of the need to support Red Cross more generously than ever before.

World Day of Prayer Observed

Trenton (Special) — Uniting with women in every corner of the known world to observe "The World Day of Prayer," several hundred Trenton women gathered in King Street United Church on Friday, with representatives from most of the Protestant churches in town taking part.

The program was divided into three parts "Myrrh, Frankincense, and Gold" and those taking part included: Mrs. P. Adams, in charge of the service for King Street United Church; Mrs. C. London, for St. George's Anglican; Mrs. C. Weaver for St. Andrew's Presbyterian, and Mrs. Ralph Coutts for Grace United. Mrs. J. F. Cox of King Street Church Young Women's Missionary Society read the scripture lesson and a delightful solo "My Task" was rendered by Mrs. McCord.

Mrs. R. L. Taylor, gave the Devotional Exercise making particular mention of the many thousands of Christian peoples who are today centered in concentration camps throughout the occupied countries, and how God has called leaders into those places from among those taken prisoner. Many of these leaders who might otherwise have given up hope for any future happiness have today, through the light of the Gospel of Jesus Christ, been able to give succour and assistance to countless thousands.

She stressed the need for more leaders in the field of service for the young in Canada and the United States and voiced an opinion, based on recent statistics, that many thousands in our country have never been inside a Sunday School or church of God. Leadership is everything she said in bringing these young people into the church.

POWER OF PERSUASION

London, (CP)— The persuasive powers of Mrs. Winston Churchill are great. She visited the stock exchange and made an appeal on behalf of the Y.W.C.A. wartime fund. Members of the exchange immediately donated more than $18,000.

MUSIC FRAGMENTS LIVE

Sheffield, England. (CP)—Fragments of a composition left by Michael Hemming killed in action with the British army, have been made the basis of Antony Collins' "A threnody for a soldier killed in action". It recently received its first performance here.

Legislature Well Into Heavy Agenda In First Week

Toronto, Feb. 26—(CP)—The work of a not-too-hectic week behind it, the Ontario Legislature went into its first weekend adjournment today, already well into the heavy agenda that is expected to provide a busy session in the weeks to come.

The House rose for the weekend after a brief, 45-minute sitting yesterday during which eight government bills passed second reading without much debate, and Premier Drew criticized federal figures forecasting post-war employment possibilities in Ontario.

There were no crossfire speeches much as set the political tone in the House Thursday when the Premier accused C. C. F. Leader Jolliffe of threatening the government and said the progressive conservatives were ready to meet any want of confidence motion. That provided the highlight of the week and may possibly recur Tuesday when the Premier continues the debate in reply to the Throne speech.

Routine business will occupy the House when it re-convenes Monday.

Premier Drew's criticism of federal post-war employment figures referred to those prepared by Dr. G. M. Weir, acting Director of Training in the Federal Pensions Department, which were tabled in Commons last Wednesday.

Figures Not Given by Gov't.

The Premier said the figures, showing more than 17,000 post-war jobs expected to be available in Ontario, had not been supplied by his government, nor had the government been asked to supply them. The Premier declared that the figures were far under what the actual Ontario post-war possibilities would be and were "wholly inconsistent with figures we would have supplied, even on the basis of post-war plans now prepared."

Chief among the bills passing second reading was one entitled the Abitibi Power and Paper Company, Limited, Moratorium Act, 1944, which Attorney - General Blackwell told the House simply prevented the bondholders from foreclosing on Abitibi property for another year.

Replies in Affirmative.

Opposition Leader Jolliffe asked if the act could be terminated by order-in-council. Premier Drew replied that it could, but that such action would be taken only if a satisfactory arrangement were reached with the bondholders to take the Abitibi Company out of receivership.

There was some discussion of an amendment to the legitimation act, which the Attorney-General said would place illegitimate children on the same basis as legitimate children for the purposes of intestate succession rights to the mother's estate where there were no legitimate children of such a mother.

Opposition Leader Jolliffe believed the amendment should be supported although it did not, and apparently could not, go far enough.

Other bills passing second reading included amendments to the Weed Control Act; the Justices of the Peace Act; the Nurses Registration Act and the Law Society Act.

'Belleville' Fund Officially Closed

At a meeting of the H.M.C.S. "Belleville" Fund held on Thursday in the Council Chamber of the City Hall, it was unanimously decided to notify the public that the Fund was officially closed. The fund was closed on February 19th., following the successful tag day, but contributions continued to come into the office of the treasurer with undiminishing volume, and, apparently will continue to be made for several weeks to come. However, although contributions will still be accepted, acknowledgement in the press will be discontinued with the Thursday, March 2nd., issue of the paper.

Trail Rangers, Explorers, Parents Are Banqueted

On Friday night, the Trail Rangers and Explorers of Tabernacle Church sponsored a banquet for the boys and their parents in the Parish Hall. Approximately 150 sat down to dinner, followed by a short worship service conducted by one of the boys' groups under the leadership of Bill McIntosh. A toast was made to the fathers by Benny Legate and responded to by Mr. Stackhouse. One was made to the boys by Mr. Joss and responded to by Albert Thompson and another to the ladies by Mr. McCullough and responded to by Mrs. R. Irwin.

Short addresses were delivered by Mr. Trusdale, Mr. Edmundson and Rev. Dr. A. J. W. Myers. Messrs. McCullough, Archibald, Clark James and Reg. Edwards were thanked and complimented for their leadership given to the boys in regards to their work during the year.

A most entertaining program was then conducted, including a cornet solo by Donald Charlton, accompanied by Barbara Diment and two vocal solos by Norma Vaughn and Barbara Diment. The evening's entertainment was brought to a close by a very interesting demonstration of archery given by Mr. Hamilton.

All the numbers were greatly appreciated as well as the work of the ladies in preparing the banquet and the decorating of the tables by Mrs. Windover.

Whitby's Juvenile Team Takes Four-Goal Lead Over Locals In First Game of Playdowns

Belleville Boys Blanked 4-0 but Game Very Fast and Exciting

FREE-FOR-ALL STAGED

Cobourg, Feb. 26—Whitby's classy juvenile B team took a four-goal lead in the first game of their second round O.M.H.A. playoff series with Belleville here Friday night when they blanked the visiting kids 4-0 in a spirited tussle.

Whitby boys turned in their best game of the season to register their clean-cut win and at that they were extended by the smart Belleville team. Play was fast throughout, with Belleville's ace line quite able to hold Whitby's No. 1 attacking trio of Smanski, Barden and Pascoe in. In previous games this year, this trio has done most of the scoring but Belleville's close checking tactics blanketed them effectively. However the alternates rose to the occasion and took command, with McCloskey, setting a dazzling pace with three assists in four goals. Gates opened the scoring in the first on a pass from McCloskey and moved in close to beat Fitzpatrick cleanly.

Whitby continued to assert the pressure and finally clicked midway through the second stanza when Lintner scored from right in front of the net when McClosky passed out nicely from the corner. Ross Lowe made it 3-0 when he battled his way through the entire Belleville team and scored with a sizzling backhand shot. Late in this period, Moher stepped through the entire Whitby team, only to be foiled at the goal mouth by Heffering's smart work.

After Dillon had made it 4-0 in up with the visitors mixing it the third period, play roughened freely, the homesters wading right back A free-for-all netted major penalties for W. Lowe and Bishop.

McCloskey with his fine performance on the second line, including three set-ups for goals, was easily the Whitby star. Lintner, Dilling and R. Lowe were other standouts. Semark was easily the pick of the Belleville team with Fitzpatrick in the nets. Holway, Green, Moher and Coleman showed up well in spots.

The teams:

Belleville—Goal, Fitzpatrick; defence, Holway and Green; centre, Semark; wings, Moher and Adams; alternates, Lyall, Coleman, Bishop, Wardaugh, Ostrom and Meagher.

Whitby—Goal, Heffering; defence, Valentine and R. Lowe; centre, Samanski; wings, Harden and Pascoe; alternates, Dilling, McCloskey, Lintner, Gates and W Lowe.

Summary

1st Period

Whitby, Gates (McCloskey) 15.40

Penalties: Lyall and Lintner, (misconduct)

2nd Period

Whitby, Lintner (McCloskey) 10.40

Whitby, R. Lowe ............ 14.20

Penalty: Valentine.

3rd Period

Whitby, Dilling (McCloskey) 10.05

Penalties: Valentine, Green, McCloskey, Coleman, W. Lowe (major), Harden and Bishop (major).

125 Boxes Clothing and Shoes Shipped to Greek Relief Headquarters

An announcement from the chairman of the local Greek War Relief Committee, Mr. Sam Pappas, discloses that their campaign to collect clothing for the relief of their fellow countrymen, women and children has been met with exceptional success. The committee has boxed over one hundred and twenty-five boxes of clothing of all sorts, men's, women's and children's suits, shoes, underwear, dresses, socks, sweaters, and many other articles which were uncovered from the homes of Belleville citizens who felt it their part to help these less fortunate people.

Mr. Pappas wishes to express his thanks, and the appreciation of the committee and Greek community as a whole for the splendid response the people of the city have given. He wishes, especially, to thank those retail merchants of Front Street who donated unused clothing from their stores, sending a number of most useful articles of wearing apparel to the Greek War Relief Committee.

The quality of used clothing received has maintained a high standard throughout, ninety percent being of first class condition. When the campaign is closed on the 29th of this month, the clothing collected will be shipped to Montreal where it will be sorted, fumigated and repacked for shipment to Greece aboard special cargo vessels sailing under the insignia of the International Red Cross.

Wm. House, Trenton, Elected Pres. South Hastings PC Association

Full confidence in the executive members who had headed the party organization during the past year was indicated by members of the Hastings South Progressive Conservative Association when they met at their annual meeting in the city hall at Belleville Friday evening. All high ranking executive officers were returned to office with one new position, that of 2nd vice president, being established.

For the ensuing year Mr. William House of Trenton, will again head the Association with T. C. Graham of Tweed, as vice president. Both men were nominated for the first position but on a standing vote the former won out by a close majority. Second vice president named was Mrs. J. W. Kinnear of Belleville, with secretary treasurer, being R. H. Ketcheson and treasurer, J. F. Wilson of Sidney Township.

Vice Presidents.

Vice presidents of the various municipalities were also for the most part returned to office with Dr. J. W. Kinnear being appointed for Belleville, Roland Whitley, Trenton; C. M. Campbell, Deseronto; Hungerford Township, Clarence Carleton; Tyendinaga, Earl Whiteman; Thurlow, Frank Hicks, and Sidney Township, Frank Woods. Appointment of vice presidents for Stirling and Frankford was left to the different organizations. Auditors for the Association will be Arthur Burke and Clem Ketcheson.

Assistant organizer for the Progressive Conservative party in Ontario, Mr. C. E. Desmond, M.P., for Kent County, was the guest speaker for the evening, being introduced by Mr. George H. Stokes, M.P., for Hastings South. Mr. Desmond was elected to the Federal House in 1940, in a traditionally Liberal riding.

Four Essentials.

Speaking briefly on party organization and Progressive Conservative policy the speaker stated there were four essentials for successful party organization. These were able leadership, which the Progressive Conservative had in John Bracken, their leader; a policy for which party members can fight believing that it is best; an able candidate, and efficient riding organization.

Although claiming the day of criticism in party politics was past and that a party or its leader today is sold on past reputation, Mr. Desmond, nevertheless, reviewed the stand taken by the Liberal administration at Ottawa and asserted Conservatives had been branded as saboteurs obstructing the war effort when they had offered co-operation. The 1941 census was termed as unnecessary, costing Canada two-and-one-half millions. In 1942 the plebiscite had been staged and again the Conservatives had extended themselves in co-operation despite the behaviour of Mr. King. The result of the plebiscite was termed "nothing."

Hobbled by Gov't. Policy

The three Canadian armed services were referred to as being hobbled by the Liberal government through its National Selective Service policy. Efforts of the armed forces were not being backed up on the home front to the fullest extent. "The three Canadian armed services are capably headed," he said, "but they are being hobbled by government policy."

Mr. Desmond lamented the fact that the present younger generation were not as partisan as their forebears, but he held they were, nevertheless, just as intensely interested in the future welfare of the country. To those who felt that democracy had failed, the speaker asked if really it was not that "we had failed democracy." The CCF party was ready to try to prove that socialism was the answer if the two old parties failed, he said.

Bracken Keeps His Promises

The unimpeachableness of the Conservative leader, Mr. Bracken, was referred to by the speaker who pointed to his 20-year record which had been held by faithfully keeping promises. "He is the type of Canadian needed if Canada's heritage was to be preserved," he said.

Bracken had chosen the "middle road" policy and heartily disapproved of the bureaucracy being practised at Ottawa. As an example, Mr. Desmond pointed to the 3,000 Orders-in-Council which had been passed after the House had adjourned, a policy of government which was termed dictatorial.

Pays Tribute to Women.

Tribute was paid by the speaker to the many responsibilities women had assumed since the beginning of the war and predicted that even greater responsibilities would be borne by them. He claimed that young people working on the farm and in the factory were just as loyal as those serving on the battle front. Young people today are frank and the job of the government is not to misinform but to present facts.

A policy of preparedness within the organization was urged by Mr. Desmond in closing. Emphasis should be placed on young people's organization and on the work of the women. If faith in Bracken's policy was carried out then all would be well with the future of the country, it was held.

Appreciation of the members was expressed by Mr. Arthur Burke.

Hastings members of the provincial house, R. D. Arnott and Roscoe Robson spoke briefly to the members giving the highlights of the first week's proceedings since the opening of the house at Queen's Park. Mr. Arnott claimed that Premier Drew intended to enact legislature in accordance with his 22-point program the same as if he had a clear working majority over the house.

56th Anniversary Wedding Marked

Picton, Feb. 26 — Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Galey are marking the 56th anniversary of their wedding at their home here on Sunday. Both are enjoying good health. Mr. Galey is 76 years of age and Mrs. Galey is three years his junior. They were married on the anniversary of her mother's wedding, and the observance is featured by the fact that Mrs. Galey's mother, Mrs. Mary A. Johnston will be able to be with them. She is 95 years of age and continues active.

The maintenance section of the Royal Air Force held a Plumbers' Ball in the armouries Friday night. The Legion Ladies' Auxiliary provided refreshments.

Basketball.

In exhibition basketball games at Picton Collegiate Thursday night, the collegiate boys defeated the air force boys while the girls' team defeated collegiate Grads. The collegiate league games open here Monday night with Belleville collegiate girls' team playing Picton.

Fishermen at Point Traverse have been keeping watch for a plane reported missing early in the week from near Oswego. It is now learned that parts of the plane have been found in the lake near that port.

Postmaster Gerald Way is a patient in Prince Edward County Hospital. Last fall, he had a foot removed as a result of infection, and later this spread to the other foot. This was amputated at the knee. He is reported to be progressing favorably.

United churches in Prince Edward County are taking special offerings at services this month. These will be used for relief in China and India. The Chinese Relief Fund, sponsored by Chief of Police Bert Biddle is also being well supported.

Late MRS. MARGARET ELLIOTT

The funeral of Mrs. Margaret (Stainthorpe) Elliott, widow of Arthur Elliott, and formerly of Port Hope, took place from the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. R. Smith, 62 Alexander Street, on Friday afternoon. The service in the home was conducted by the Rev. Dr. A. J. William Myers of the Tabernacle United Church.

At the close of the service the body was conveyed to Port Hope Cemetery where the service was conducted by the Rev. J. W. Gordon, minister of Port Hope United Church.

The bearers at Belleville were Messrs. Louis C. Richardson, J. R. Smith, Fred Jobson, Charles Dolan, M. P. Duff and Dr. J. W. Kinnear.

At Port Hope the bearers were the following grandsons of the deceased: Bruce Elliott, Wayne Elliott, Howard Elliott and John Elliott.

MASSIVE RAF

Thirty-one British-based American heavy bombers failed to return yesterday, a communique said. The fighters, which flew a round trip of 1,100 miles for the deepest American fighter penetration into enemy territory yet, destroyed 27 Nazi planes for a loss of three.

Number of enemy planes shot down by the bombers was not announced immediately.

The bombers from Britain also struck at a ball bearing factory at Stuttgart, the Messerschmitt assembly centre and experimental station at Augsburg, and a major air frame components factory at Furth, five miles northwest of Nurenberg.

Other heavy bomber formations from Italy blasted the Italian Adriatic ports of Pola and Fiume, the Yugoslav port of Zaran and Airdomr near Graz in southern Austria and the railway junction at Zell Am See, 33 miles southwest of Salzberg.

A communique from Allied Headquarters in Naples today said 93 enemy aircraft were destroyed in operations yesterday in that theatre, most of them presumably on the heavy bomber flights. Thirty-nine Italian-based heavy bombers and five fighters were missing.

BIRTH

DOHERTY — At Belleville General Hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Doherty of Shannonville (nee Lillian Scrimshaw) on Friday, February 25th., 1944—a son.

IN MEMORIAM

RYAN — In loving memory of my dearest mother, Emma Ryan, who passed away February 26, 1943.

Just a thought of sweet remembrance,
Just a memory, sweet and true,
Just the love and sweet devotion
Of one who thinks of you.

We watched you suffer day by day,
And we could not help in any way,
But just stood by and watched you pass
Into the Saviour's arms at last.

—Sadly missed by her daughter, Mrs. W. A. Mosier and family.

MEYERS — In loving memory of S. H. Meyers who departed this life February 26, 1941.

Only a memory of bygone days,
And a sigh for a face unseen,
But a constant feeling that God alone
Knows just what should have been.

—Lovingly remembered by his Family.

THE NEED GROWS

—as Victory Nears

In life, as in fiction, events mount to a CRISIS . . . that supreme hour of tension and effort when everything we have and are, our lives, our wealth, our prayers must be thrown, unreservedly and with all our might, into the balance. That hour is near. Now, as never before, the Mercy that is Red Cross will be needed to support and comfort our brothers . . . our husbands . . . our sons in their great crisis. It is in their name, and against their fast-approaching need, that the Canadian Red Cross now asks your most liberal generosity to this National Appeal.

THE BIG JOBS AHEAD . . . THE BIG NEED IS NOW!

Week of Unparalleled Raids

A week without parallel in history of Germany and of the world is closing. It has been a week of the mightiest offensive by air of all time, day and night against the German war power. Beside it the German Luftwaffe's power at its height seems pale and anaemic.

The week opened well for the Allies and bad for the Hun. It has so continued all week. Early in the week Prime Minister Churchill promised—and he never breaks a promise—that Germany would be the target of demonstrations of British and American air power beyond all imagination.

Now the Germans are right in the midst of this intensification of Allied air offensive. The roll of cities visited with bombs grows to an impressive length.

Mr. Churchill's promise has been and will be further implemented "beyond imagination" of the Germans and of the rest of the world, because behind the promise is the outstanding fact of United Nation air power still in process of expansion.

During the week there have been impressive co-operation raids by planes based in Britain and by planes from airports in Italy. Steyr and other centres in Austria have been hit heavily. German planes have been destroyed in great numbers, the Thursday combined raids having accounted for 156 Nazi planes. The destruction caused by the raids of this week is shown by the fact that the night-flying R.A.F. has been guided by fires set during the day by American raiders.

Further sign of the result is seen in reports that the authorities are preparing to evacuate Vienna, the capital of Austria, which Hitler snatched or as he called it "anschlussed" before the outbreak of the present war.

The Fuehrer, whose grasping mind sought to take in all the globe, now finds that he is being bombarded in his "fortress of Europe" and is helpless to prevent the aerial visits that are making havoc of his empire of aggression.

The future of Hitlerite Germany is full of darkness and disaster. Hitler is striving to make an impression by the revival of raids on Britain and by the defence steps which the Germans are making below Rome as has been pointed out by Dewitt MacKenzie, war analyst. But his London raids are not causing any important loss to the British war mechanism, whereas the British and American raids are taking a terrific toll of the war production machinery of Germany. This Hitler is unable to prevent.

Coal Replacing Sawdust

(Canada Lumberman)

A report from Vancouver suggests a definite swing away from sawdust as a domestic fuel. Thousands of sawdust-burners have been taken out during the past year. Sawmills which had supplied regular customers for years were unable to guarantee continued delivery, so a switch has been made to coal. Sawdust is an ideal fuel. It is clean, easy to control and throws an amazing heat. But with the lumber industry facing an uncertain situation the future of the sawdust business is said to be not any too reassuring.

German Atrocities

German terror in occupied Poland is fantastic in its cruelty says "Poland Fights," citing recent events to show the degeneracy of the Germans, who call themselves the "master race."

Trained dogs were allowed to tear a man to pieces in the village of Niedzwiedzica, Poland, because the Nazis claimed they had found arms in the home of a local peasant.

The Germans have sent all the males from three villages to Lublin prison in retaliation for an armed attack by the Polish underground forces in that district.

Nazis have cut Lublin district into two parts and the southern part is to be utterly destroyed. In the northern part the population is to be evicted. With thoroughness and exactness the Huns have observed the dividing line and inhabitants of one village after another have been evicted systematically but sometimes one or two villages have been left untouched in the midst of the depopulated areas. It is hardly necessary to say that the Germans hold these villages as collective hostages at their mercy and whim.

Among the Poles slated for eviction, there were some political suspects. The Germans stamped a cross on their heads with indelible ink and sent them to a concentration camp.

Underground reports tell of German criminals being inducted into the German Wehrmacht on account of the manpower shortage.

In Oswiecim on account of this shortage the Germans have discontinued mass shootings and wholesale gas murders and turned the death camp into a labor camp. This new situation does not apply to all interned persons but applies only to those who are thought to be least dangerous by the Nazis.

Band Played On

(By Bennett Cerf, in Saturday Review)

One place where they really take their music seriously is aboard a certain British airplane carrier. Every afternoon at four, unless there's a heavy gale running or the enemy actually has engaged the ship, there is a concert on deck.

The band sits on the principal 'plane elevator, which is depressed about two feet, so that the musicians may follow better the baton-wielding of the conductor. He stands at the edge of the deck above, his back to the audience, which is always ample, since every man who can be spared is there under official orders.

On the afternoon in question, the carrier was coursing lazily through Mediterranean waters, and the concert was in full cry.

Suddenly a mechanic in the control room noticed the 'plane-elevator indicator, which registered the fact that it was not quite flush with the deck. Afraid that the mechanism was out of kilter, he pressed a button hard.

The ship's band, in the middle of the overture from "Carmen," suddenly disappeared from the view of the entranced audience and plunged into the bowels of the ship.

The mechanic, horrified when he saw what he had done, hastily pushed another button. The elevator shot skyward. It came to the surface with a jolt that sent every musician bouncing at least three feet in the air.

But ah, those imperturbable British! Not one man stopped tooting his instrument for a moment during the entire round trip. The leader never lost a beat. When the overture was concluded, the unsmiling ship's company applauded politely.

P As In Puzzling

(Washington Star)

The President's penchant for words beginning with a "P"—puerile, politics and picayune—presents a problem and portrays the predicament of the people. There is a paradox in the predication of a paragon to parry presentiments, in pique if not petulance, pertaining to his plans. Are pesky pressmen presumptuous in palavers with the President, in pressing the perennial point as to his purposes, the portents of which are perfectly plausible if not palpable? Prone though they are to provocative prediction, they are not preposterous in their pertinacity. One cannot placate them with prolix parables. They are not pusillanimous puppets nor partisan poltroons, but plucky patriots. A prestidigitator should preserve his poise, not precipitate a pother over the persistent pursuit of pitiless publicity on the President's propensity for postponing the publication of providential pronouncements.

How War Darkens Women's Hair

(New York Herald Tribune)

One of the less momentous by-products of the war has been the disappearance of thousands of blondes. The chief reason is the dwindling supply of peroxide. As for the blondes whose tresses were dyed, many have found themselves too busy to spare the time for the frequent retouchings that are necessary. No effect has been noted on the relatively few women whose locks were just naturally blonde.

In the moral world there is nothing impossible if we can bring a thorough will to do it.—Man can do everything with himself, but he must not attempt to do too much with others.—Humboldt.

MISSING

Missing! So the cold wire said,
Meaning: Captured, maimed or dead!

Missing! Somewhere land or sea,
From a base in Italy.

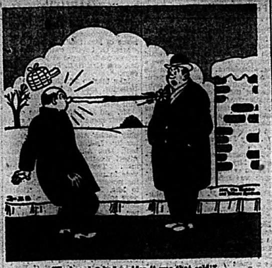
Missing! Mother, bear it well.
Nothing further yet to tell.

Missing! Mother, bear the pain.
Others have come home again.

Hold the faith and thought that he
Somewhere safe and well may be.

Missing! Brave and steadfast stay.
Come again to you he may.

OFF THE RECORD By Ed Reed



"Gosh, pal, I had no idea it was that cold!"

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BY-GONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

February 26, 1924.

Samuel Russell, registrar for Hastings County, and former M.P.P. for East Hastings, died early this afternoon at his home on George Street, at the age of seventy-six years. He was born in Newcastle, N.B. For some time he was editor of the Deseronto Tribune. He was elected to the Legislature as a supporter of the Liberal Party in 1873. In religion he was a Presbyterian and an elder of John Street Presbyterian Church.

At a meeting of the Quarterly Official Board of the Tabernacle, the pastor, the Rev. H. B. Kenny, was unanimously invited to remain for a second year.

30 YEARS AGO

February 26, 1914.

Members of Bethany Methodist Church recently visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. Foster who are leaving the neighborhood to reside in Tweed. During the evening Mr. and Mrs. Foster were presented with a beautiful oak combination, book and writing desk accompanied with an address in which regret was expressed at their departure from the community. The pastor of the church, the Rev. S. A. Kemp, made a brief speech and the address was read by Mr. J. E. Cooley. The address was signed by Messrs. Fred Swain, Daniel Phillips and J. E. Cooley.

Tramps are numerous; ten of them spent last night at the police station.

Mr. John A. McCoy of Madoc, has returned home after a trip to Cuba.

Mr. and Mrs. George Brown have returned home from Toronto.

40 YEARS AGO

February 26, 1904.

Mr. William Johnson, who has been superintendent of Bridge Street Methodist Church Sunday School for thirty-six years, will attend the World's Sunday School Convention which will be held in Palestine. The trip, including all expenses, is being given to Mr. Johnson by the officers and teachers of the Sunday School. A purse has been provided to cover all expenses including a trip to Ireland, the home of Mr. Johnson's early days. Many former pupils and teachers of the school have asked to be permitted in assisting in financing the trip. Mr. Johnson has been selected as one of the speakers from Canada.

The Rev. G. R. Beamish, rector of St. Thomas's Church, preached a special lenten sermon in St. Luke's Church, Peterboro, on Wednesday evening.

50 YEARS AGO

February 26, 1894.

Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Morden are visiting friends in Toronto.

Mr. H. L. Henderson, Montreal, is in town visiting his father, Mr. L. H. Henderson, city solicitor.

Mrs. McLean of the Ritchie Company is visiting Montreal and New York City viewing the new dressmaking styles.

The Rev. T. J. Edmison of Wellington, formerly of Belleville, spent yesterday here.

Mr. J. L. Tickell was in Peterboro, yesterday.

Mr. H. Corby, M.P., arrived home from Toronto, today.

Mrs. Warner of Napanee, is visiting friends here.

Royal Observatory May Be Re-Located

London —(CP)— The King is being asked to sanction the removal of the famed Royal Observatory at Greenwich, already dispersed because of bomb damage and for security reasons.

Recalling that the magnetic work at Greenwich was transferred to the Surrey Hills following the electrification of the Southern Railway, Sir Harold Jones, the Astronomer Royal, said astronomical work was now in much the same position.

The spread of London, the curtain of smoke over the city, the use of illuminated signs and the development of road lights has made conditions more difficult, he said.

A great deal of work would have to be carried out before any move could be made. Authorities are convinced, however, that the move must be made if the observatory is to continue its valuable astronomical work.

"There are only two alternatives, either to put up with the conditions at Greenwich and to deteriorate into a second-rate institution, or move away into conditions where useful work can be done," Sir Harold said.

JAIL WARDENS CHARGED

Pretoria, South Africa, (CP)—Ten jail wardens were arrested for alleged breaches of discipline regarding custody of Robey Leibrandt, noted baker now serving a life sentence for treason. He was found guilty of working for the Nazis.

SUPPLIES FOR BENGAL

New Delhi, (CP)—From Nov. 5 to Dec. 31, a total of more than 170,000 tons of supplies was distributed in Bengal by military authorities. During that period the total mileage involved in this work was over a quarter of a million.

BELONGED TO V.C.

Nottingham, England. (CP)— The scroll in the silver casket presented to the late Capt. Albert Ball, V.C., when the freedom of Nottingham, his native city, was conferred on him in 1917, has been stolen—'probably by some hero worshipper', Sir Albert Ball, Capt. Ball's father, said.

Old Mother Hubbard

Old Mother Hubbard, went to the cupboard
To get an onion for stew.
When she got there, the cupboard was bare,
So into her bonnet she flew.

Away to the corner grocery store
That poor old woman hurried,
The grocer only laughed the more
To see Mother Hubbard so worried.

"You haven't an onion"! the old lady gasped.
"O dear me what shall I do?
Not an onion about the place you say,
But I must have an onion for stew!"

So back to her home again she went
To don her best bonnet and gown,
And quickly a taxi she hailed in the street,
"Please Sir, will you drive me down town?"

"I'm searching for onions, you wouldn't know where
A body could find just one?"
"An onion? you say, now let me see—
We had them in forty-one".

As she alighted from out the cab
And paid to the driver her fare,
As she went on her way, the driver did say,
"I guess you'll find onions quite rare".

She toured the city, in every store
Grocers nary an onion had seen,
If she had found one in all the the whole town
I'm sure she would feel like a queen.

Ain't it the truth?

Canadian Scene A Century Ago

By J. L. G.

Faint heart ne'er won fair lady, nor did a lack of pluck and perseverance in the fair lady's make-up endear her to the beaux of 100 years ago. If the girl could toil from dawn to dark without requiring an alibi for slackening fingers, she rated high. If she could spin 100 lbs. of wool a year—and many damsels did—then she didn't need to wait for Leap Year: proposals of marriage came thick and fast.

We don't have to be as patient as our foremothers and forefathers, since machines have taken away the necessity of dwelling overlong at our tasks. For instance, prior to 1860 the clerk's position was infinitely more trying than it is today; he had to push a pen instead of a bunch of typewriter keys, and as for his office hours . . . why, we just wouldn't tolerate such a long business day! In 1860 the long-suffering employees saw the introduction of a number of the first commercially successful typing machines. Since this date, thousands of patents have been issued in North America and elsewhere. Oddly enough, the idea of the typewriter is more than 200 years old; somebody suggested the invention in England in a patent of 1714, but little was done about the brain-wave until the middle of the 19th century.

* * *

Another invention that brought greater ease to Canadians was the furnace. In days 'way back, there was not much demand, or need, for this form of heating apparatus. The call came from larger towns, where wood was getting a little scarce and high. Big fireplaces were all very well for backwoodsmen who had whole forests to burn, but townspeople were finding them a luxury as a means of heating the entire house. Stoves as well as hot-air and hot-water furnaces began to make their debut in town dwellings . . . It is interesting to note that various methods of heating of houses were known and used by the ancient Egyptians.

Australia Wouldn't Entertain Suggestions To Hand N. Britain to U.S.

Canberra, Feb. 26. (CP) — The Australian Government would not for one moment entertain suggestions the New Britain Island be handed over to the United States, Herbert V. Evatt, Minister of External Affairs, said today in the House of Representatives.

Neither would it entertain similar suggestions concerning New Caledonia and New Hebrides.

Until it was occupied by the Japanese in 1942, New Britain Island was administered by Australia under a League of Nations mandate.

SOFT PASTELS are ideal for long-skirted Spring dance frocks and are the pet of many young women who know that they present the sort of picture that a man in the service wants to take away with him. This pretty frock is in mist green Celanese rayon jersey and it has an interesting draped shoulder effect, and a bodice which is almost hiplength. The skirt is softly gathered in back, as it is in front.

Notes From Britain:—

British M.P.'s Work Quickly in Commons

By VERNON M. KIPP
(Special to Ottawa Journal and The Ontario Intelligencer.)

London, Feb. 11.

"Hats off, strangers", called the Sergeant-at-Arms, and the Speaker, preceded by the Mace, marched through the anteroom into the House of Commons. Even the policemen took off their helmets, as the symbol of the people's authority was carried by.

We moved through corridors where paintings and statuary recalled the great men of the Mother of Parliaments, and presently were in a long, narrow gallery of the House of Lords looking down on the Commons in session. The famous old Commons chamber exists now but in memory—there is only a gaping hole where once it stood. The Commons meets in the place of the Lords, and the peers meet in the King's robing room.

The members sat on long, narrow red-leather benches on either side of the rectangular room, a majestic room with high ceiling, richly carved woodwork, the lustre of age and the glory of tradition. (No member has a desk, as each member has in Ottawa.) The Ministers sat on benches beside the Clerk's table, the bewigged Speaker above them all. Mr. Eden had his feet on a desk. Mr. Attlee was there, Sir John Anderson, Mr. Bevin, many more, but the central figure was lacking.

Half an hour later Mr. Churchill strolled in from behind the Speaker, took his seat. Nobody paid the least attention. He remained perhaps a quarter hour, answered one question with "No", strolled out again.

We sat in the gallery for the hour of question time—questions for verbal answer by the Minister concerned. There were 76 queries on the list, and perhaps 40 were reached, not always in numerical order. They varied greatly—there were questions concerning heavy industry, development of South Wales, questions about the treatment of soldiers. One member wanted to know why a celebrated pickpocket had been given a job in the Civil Service; another deplored the scarcity of glasses for wrist watches; another asked if the Government proposed to control the price of women's hats—to which the President of the Board of Trade replied solemnly that the Government could not control what it could not define.

The thing that impressed us was the extraordinary speed and efficiency of this display of the private member's rights. Many answers led to brisk miniature debates, often a supplementary question was asked and answered, and the average time was about 90 seconds per question. That speed was possible because custom clearly guided proceedings. Nobody made a speech or tried to make one, the Speaker never had to interfere, everyone was in good humor and quick to appreciate a sharp piece of repartee.

In the less elastic system of the Canadian House of Commons most of these questions would have brought ponderous written replies and the give-and-take of the British question period, the member's sense of immediate access to authority, is lost.

Lord Woolton, who made a great success as Food Minister and recently tackled a new job as Minister of Reconstruction, received us in his office to tell us about his work. He is a suave, polished peer whose voice and manner inspire confidence.

Lord Woolton says Reconstruction is not a department of Government in the ordinary sense, but rather a "place of thought". That is, his function is to plan and co-ordinate, not actually to carry out any program or project and his staff is limited to a few experts and a few clerks.

The situation is that each Government department has its own ideas of post-war reconstruction—whether in trade development, housing schemes, new road systems, civic planning and so on. Lord Woolton will work with each and all of them, will add his own ideas. If he originates a project he will have to sell it to the department which would have charge of its operation. Success of the plan obviously requires a high degree of mutual confidence among members of the Cabinet, and the diplomatic touch which Lord Woolton showed when he had a hand on every Briton's breakfast table.

Lord Kemsley, one of the great newspaper peers, has a group of daily, weekly and Sunday newspapers with a combined circulation of 7,250,000 copies. Tea with Lord and Lady Kemsley at their London publishing house, and an hour's shop-talk with his heads, ended a busy day.

Trip in Far North Full of Adventure

By ENID NEMY
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Winnipeg, Feb. 26. (CP)—Lonely soldiers and airmen, based at isolated posts in Alaska, won't forget a trio of dancing and singing stars who brought them entertainment from the outside. Ptes. Hank McCune and Buddy Pepper of Hollywood, now with the United States Army in Central Canada, and CBC singing star, Patricia Berry of Winnipeg, were the "Alaskan morale builders".

They recently returned from a 11,000-mile jaunt, entertaining American and Canadian forces up north and with them they brought the acclaim of U.S. army authorities. They travelled by air, train and army transport and in five weeks gave 45 performances for soldiers of four United Nations.

They performed anywhere from mess halls to hospital wards, and played to enlisted men, officers, war workers, Eskimos, and even four seals on a rock.

"The seals loved us", said Hank. "They waved and clapped madly".

One of Pat's most embarrassing moments came at a lonely outpost where the only available dressing room was behind a movie screen. The stage light was placed so that it illuminated the screen. As Pat slipped off her dress, shoes and stockings her silhouette could be clearly seen by the boys in the audience and they howled. Finally Hank came over and revealed the cause of the uproar. "I still blush when I think about it", said Pat.

An incident that "scared us out of two years growth" came when they were flying at 6,000 feet and both engines stopped simultaneously.

"The plane went into a 30 degree dive and had dropped 4,000 feet when the pilot pulled out of it", Hank recalled. "From then on it took a bull-dozer and three sergeants to get Buddy into a plane—he's still white".

One eventful day they lost Pat. "Alaska is a big place and Pat is a small person—we were absolutely bewildered", said Buddy. Next day Pat re-appeared. She had spent several enjoyable hours with Ingrid Bergman and her troupe. "Miss Bergman is wonderful", enthused Pat. "She's charming and a marvellous conversationalist".

NUGGETS OF KNOWLEDGE

A severe scolding or a speech full of acrimonious invective is called a philippic. This name comes from the orations of Demosthenes against Philip of Macedon, to rouse the Athenians against his encroachments on Greek liberty.

In ancient Rome two types of whips were used to administer punishment. One, the flagellum was a light lash which only cut the flesh without permanent crippling effects and which was used to whip slaves too valuable to injure. The other, the flagrum, was a heavy whip with thongs so loaded that they broke the bones. It was used to scourge criminals and worthless slaves. From these words we get "flagellation," a scourging.

A prosaic person or one lacking in liberal culture is called a Philistine. This meaning of the world is due to its use by Matthew Arnold, who adapted it from "Philister," a term applied by students in German universities to the townspeople. After there had been a row between "town and gown" at Jena in 1689 a university preacher took for his text Delilah's warning to Sampson, "The Philistines be upon thee."

In "Culture and Anarchy," published in 1869, Matthew Arnold wrote: "The people who believe most that our greatness and welfare are proved by our being very rich, and who most give their lives and thoughts to becoming rich, are just the very people whom we call the Philistines." Elbert Hubbard called his magazine "The Philistine."

Washington and the District of Columbia are two names for the same city and territory.

The White House was known as "The President's House" until more than 35 years after it was built.

It is possible for a person to sleep while floating, particularly in salt water, although the performance is accompanied by considerable risk.

Shakespeare did not say in "The Merchant of Venice" that "all that glitters is not gold," but "all that glisters is not gold."

"Blizzard" was applied in the West to denote a shot or volley of shots, a stunning blow or an overwhelming argument before it was to a violent snowstorm.

None of the first five Presidents of the United States had a middle name.

In his six years as a gunman and desperado Billy the Kid killed twenty-one men, exclusive of Indians, and expressed a desire to kill two more before winding up his bloody career.

First Pictures of R.C.A.F. Men Serving in Tropical West Africa— Between Patrols They Mingle With Friendly Native Villagers

STUDY IN BLACK AND WHITE — Fair-haired Sgt. Bert Dunham of 170 Selby St., Montreal, holds a coal-black African child in approved fashion while the mother looks on. A wireless air gunner, Dunham is one of many Canadians serving in the equatorial tropics of West Africa. He moved there from the West Indies last July. These pictures were taken by Flying Officer Jack Dalgleish, R.C.A.F. Public Relations photographer.

NAVIGATOR in a Coastal Command squadron flying from the West African coast, Pilot Officer Lionel April of 5397 Duquette St., Montreal, wears his Mae West and not much else as he studies the scenery from his perch on a motor nacelle. He was formerly with the Air Sea Rescue service in England. — (R.C.A.F. Photo).

FRIENDLY WEST AFRICAN NATIVES welcome the Canadian airmen in their hours off duty, when the boys drop in for some shopping or souvenir hunting. Here is Flying Officer Raymond Hart of Midland, Ont., being received into the family circle. The cameraman found West Africa a tough assignment—water ran hot from the tap and the emulsion melted from his film if he left it in the bath too long. — (R.C.A.F. Photo).

IT'S A GREAT LIFE, says Flight Sgt. Charles Ritchie of Bellevue, Alta., as he starts on a canoe trip with a pair of dusky huskies as motive power. He carries the native knife in case of an encounter with one of the sharks which inhabit these West African waters—not, as the picture might indicate, to use on the tattered trousers of the boatman. Ritchie is a radio mechanic. — (R.C.A.F. Photo).

LITTLE BLACK SAMSON demonstrates his strength with a pail of water, at Accra on the West African coast. His friend is Warrant Officer Jim Wright of Sarnia, Ont., who joined the R.C.A.F. in 1940 and for the past year and a half has been ferrying aircraft around Africa to the tune of some 600 flying hours. — (R.C.A.F. Photo).

BANANAS ARE PLENTIFUL at the West African village near which L.A.C. James Wilson of 1407 West 71st Ave., Vancouver, is stationed. That's why buyers can be choosers, and Wilson samples the native salesman's wares before deciding on a bunch to take back to quarters. The country is picturesque, but Flying Officer Jack Dalgleish, who took these pictures, says the equatorial climate is no bargain. — (R.C.A.F. Photo).

THROUGH THE DIAL SIGHT

A Weekly Column Devoted to the Activities of the Members of the Armed Services at Home and Abroad

Artillery pieces used for training purposes by the local 34th Battery R.C.A., together with other armament equipment used by the unit, were inspected this week by an armament officer from defence headquarters in Ottawa. Inspecting officer who visited the city was Major Carter, who with another ordnance officer, made a complete inspection and inventory of the unit equipment, taking note of the condition of the various field pieces. Close attention was given to the 25-pounders, the 75-millimetre pieces and other training pieces with pointers on the proper care and use of the equipment being given by the two officers.

Pay day will soon be coming around for officers and members of the 34th Battery R.C.A., according to Captain S. A. Sword, commanding officer, who announced yesterday that the paylist of the unit had been prepared. The big day when the unit personnel will receive their pay for the time spent in training at the Armouries will be some time in March, stated the commanding officer.

Sheer Waste.

Called before the orderly officer, the private was being "put through it."

"What's that you say?' snapped the officer sternly. "You break a bottle of beer over the corporal's head and then have the—the audacity to stand there and say it was an accident?"

"Yes, sir, that's right, sir," replied the private; "I didn't mean to break it."

Word was received from Italy recently that Sgt. Baldwin, attached to the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, is recuperating splendidly after being wounded in action. Sgt. Baldwin is a brother-in-law of Constable Harold Taylor.

Word was also received this week that Fred Temple, of the 48th Highlanders, who was seriously wounded in the Italian campaign, volunteered to return to his unit and buddies after recuperating. However, Fred was rejected as medically unfit and is being returned home after four years overseas. Fred wanted to return to the front to see his old B.C.I. football pal, Louie Maraskas.

There are multiple public social activities on tap at the Armouries for the next week days. To start things off in a musical manner the C.W.S.F. will present a gala band concert at the Armouries Sunday evening following church services. The program will be presented by the Trenton R.C.A.F. band, one of the outstanding musical organizations in Canada. Primarily the receipts were to go to the provision of comforts for members of the armed services, but now 25% will be given to the corvette "Belleville" fund.

Then next week the Argyll Light Infantry will present a gala stage show and carnival with Bill Garden of the Queen City Amusement Company providing the entertaining talent.

Dad's Advice.

It was early morning, very quiet and the soldier on sentry was enjoying a pipe.

He spotted the colonel in the distance and put the pipe in his pocket.

"Didn't I see you smoking?" asked the colonel when he came up. "Let me look at your pipe!"

The sentry pulled a pipe from his pocket and handed it over.

It was cold. The colonel was satisfied.

When he had gone the sentry pulled a still glowing pipe from the other pocket.

"My old dad knew a thing or two when he advised me to have two of everything," he said to himself.

Last Sunday some 24 officers and members of the Argyll Light Infantry took to the nearby hills and valleys for skiing instructions. These troops are known as "Phantom Troops" as they wear white outer garments so they are hard to distinguish on the white background. The novice class was taken to the vicinity of the Belleville Golf Club for instructions while the more advanced skiers went to the Oak Hills.

Dear Column:

This is the feeling of the soldier at the fighting front, of the strikers:

STRIKERS

When the ack-ack sounds like thunder, and the machine guns just like hail,
My fox-hole's full of water and the Jerries on my tail,
When the rations never get here and my guts begin to ache;
The hills reach up to heaven and there's no time to take a break,
When you see your fellow comrades fall wounded by your side,
The battle swaying back and forth, just like the ocean's tide,
Suppose we stopped and called a strike, demanded higher pay?
What would the Germans do to us, what would the strikers say?

—Cpl. Harold H. Blanton.

* * *

It seems the other evening Lieut.-Col. B. C. Donnan, Commanding Officer of the Argyll Light Infantry, ordered that one of the unit cars be placed at his disposal for an emergency.

"Sorry, sir" replied Sgt.-Major Charlie Tice of the A. & T. Staff, "the Major has the staff car, the Adjutant the 800-weight, the Medical Officer the universal while Cpl. Ben Yanover is using the motorcycle."

There was a silence as the air changed from fair to warmer as Col. Donnan held his breath before shouting—"Find my batman, and if he's not wearing my boots, I'll walk."

R.C.A.F. Photographer Produces Unusual Series of Pictures Taken in West Africa

Flying Officer Jack Dalgleish, R.C.A.F. Public Relations Photographer overseas recently returned from a tour of R.A.F. units and stations in West Africa where he recorded the off-duty activities of some of the hundreds of R.C.A.F. personnel serving in that theatre of operations. Concentrating on the background against which these lads are waging war rather than on their operational activities which vary little with changes in geography, Flying Officer Dagleish produced an unusual series of excellent photographs some of which are reproduced in the illustrations accompanying this article.

Dalgleish was formerly a press photographer on the staff of the Windsor Daily Star and his wartime beat has taken him to aerial fighting fronts from the sub-Arctic to the tropics. He had just returned from an assignment in Iceland when he got his orders to proceed to West Africa.

He landed at Casablanca, travelled south to Marrakesh on the road to Morocco and hopped across the desert to Dakar—a 1,000-mile jaunt. Shooting as he went, Dalgleish ran into some of the toughest conditions known to his craft. Water ran from the taps at around 100 degrees and emulsions ran right off the negatives if they were left in the water for over two minutes. He developed his picturs as he went, since the heat took all the "punch" out of his negatives and left them flat. Three hardening baths were essential in this country which was "photographically exquisite—but so hard to get".

Flying Officer Dalgleish's description of his West African beat is not as flattering as his negatives. "The native section of most of these places", he said, "is something you approach up-wind, if you really must approach the native section. It's a land of lizards, 10-foot ant hills, complete with billions of biting ants, and mosquitos that zoom around handing out free malaria ferms. Intertribal war news goes by drums—and all the big news seems to break at night. It reminds me of Canada—it's so different".

His best shot, he says, was a color picture of PO. Curtis Picard of Montreal, lounging back in a native canoe, eating a banana, with two big, black "wogs' (native boys) paddling him along the stream. "I had to dash (tip) the boys two shillings to take that shot", Dalgleish said.

After his trip through West Africa, Dalgleish was full of admiration for the men there. "I tell you, I take of my hat to the boys who are doing their war jobs in that part of the world", he said.

CLUBS FOR CANTEENS

Among the guests registered at the Park Plaza Hotel in Toronto is Mrs. G. Jenkins, of Belleville.

The many Belleville friends of Mrs. Richard Allen (nee Helen Hunt) of Pittsburgh, Pa., will be glad to hear that she has so far recovered from the severe accident of over a year ago, as to be able to accompany Mr. Allen on a vacation trip of some weeks to Florida, to further recuperate in the summer sunshine of the south. Mrs. Allen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. P. Hunt, of this city.

Miss Kay Murphy, 4 Alexander St., is spending the weekend in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Martin, 55 Everett St., received a cable from their son, Able Seaman Harold Martin, R.C.N.V.R., informing them that he had arrived safely overseas.

The friends of Mrs. Joseph Chapman, 138 Burnham St., will be glad to learn she is progressing favorably in the Belleville General Hospital, following an operation on Thursday morning.

Messrs. Cecil Ketcheson, of Halloway and Fred Mitchell, 2nd Con. of Thurlow, returned home on Friday from Toronto, where they attended the conventions of the Ontario Association of Rural Municipalities and Good Roads Association, also the opening of the Legislature on Tuesday.

Colonel and Mrs. B. C. Donnan entertained at a party in the Officers' Mess on Friday night for the pleasure of the officers of the Argyll Light Infantry and their wives. Mr. and Mrs. Donnan were assisted by the Officers' Hostess Club who helped to entertain the various Air Force officers from the district stations. It was just one grand informal party, with everyone reporting a most enjoyable time.

Women's World's Day of Prayer Observed Here

The Women's World Day of Prayer was observed this year in Belleville on Friday afternoon in Emmanuel Reformed Episcopal Church. There were representatives from many of the local churches of Belleville, with an attendance of about two hundred and twenty at the service. The program, which was suggested for use by the interboard committee of the Women's Missionary Societies of Canada was most inspiring. It was the outcome of a fellowship gathering at which representatives of 50 different nations joined. The theme was "And the Lord Wondered that There was No Intercessor." Miss P. Wilder of Emmanuel Church presided at the organ. Mrs. T. S. Russell, of Emmanuel Church was the leader of the service. The meeting was led in devotional talks and prayers by Mrs. Davison, of Bridge St. United Church, Mrs. Wright of Christ Church and Mrs. Morton, of St. Thomas Church. Prayers were offered by Mrs. Wicks of Grace Chapel, Miss Prindle of Wesleyan Chapel and Mrs. Weese of Holloway Street Church. A solo was rendered by Mrs. Stanley Pomeroy of Emmanuel Church, "Open the Gates of the Temple."

The choir was made up of members from various churches. This added much to the service. The offering amounted to $27.86. This money shall be sent to the Mission Board and distributed for missionary work. The ushers were Mrs. B. W. Brown and Mrs. B. Humphreys from the Salvation Army and Mrs. R. Shannon and Mrs. A. Cook from Alliance Tabernacle. Mrs. J. Cordes of Holloway St. Church assisted her.

The devotional address was given by Mrs. Eastman from Victoria Ave. Baptist Church. She used for her meditation a few verses from the 14th chapter of John. "We are living in a time of sorrow and disappointment," she said. "There were times like these in the days of Christ. He comforts the disciples; later He tells them and us 'I am the vine; ye are the branches.' As the branches are useless without the vine from whence they draw their strength, likewise we are useless without Him. How can we receive this strength? Through constant communion with Him in prayer. If we thus abide in Him, He will abide in us, and then our lives will radiate the love of Christ so that others shall see Him in us."

The service concluded with the National Anthem and benediction. This ended a truly blessed service for the women of Belleville for another year.

Weighing Scale Becomes Fetish

London, Feb. 26. (CP) —Thirty Ministry of Health experts investigated the welfare of mothers and young children in Britain and made the point that this country was "mechanising its babies".

The weighing scale, they contended, has become a fetish. The baby's day is so rigidly "routinized" in some maternity hospitals that mother and child hardly have a chance to get acquainted.

They recommended: less routine in baby wards, a baby specialist in each baby ward or hospital, every bottle feed to be recorded, with reason for giving it, teachings not to rely on outworn sayings.

No mother, they said, should be forced by economic necessity to leave her baby and return to work during its first three months.

Fashion Flashes

BIG BUSINESS with the bolero this Spring. It appears as a suit jacket and also is used to turn a print silk into an ensemble. Banana white silk crepe with a shadowy black line is used for a soft shirtwaist frock with jewelled studs and bow-tied neckline. A black bolero lined with the print and with revers faced with the print completes an interesting and useful outfit.

Never nicer is the verdict on the new coats. Ready for Spring is a superbly tailored coat of beige wool with two carved amber plastic buttons at the fitted waistline, and brown saddle stitching outlining notched revers and side slite pockets.

If you like plenty of print in your outfit, many designers have met your wishes. Nettie Rosenstein does a superb frock in pure silk shantung in a sea fern print, green on white and styles it with a matching crownette hat and gloves.

Many women are exchanging that precious shoe coupon for one of the best of all shoes—the beautifully made opera pump in fine patent or doeskin. Huge cut steel or bronzed steel buckles that can be snapped on when desired give the shoe double duty, very important these times.

Gray clouds blanket the fashion horizons as gray mounts in importance for suit, coat and frock. A grand day dress is in yarn-dyed gray woollen, its broad, high, rounded revers covered with white pique. Double breasted, V placed gray bone buttons and self belt.

Nice idea to turn a slim skirt into a frock is to add a long, belted tunic blouse of white silk jersey boldly striped in black. Collarless shoulder yoke ties in a soft self bow.

Jinx Falkenburg believes in a daily beauty routine

COSMETICS fulfill a useful purpose, but most of us expect too much from them. At sight of a display of beautifiers on a counter or shelf a woman is glowing with enthusiasm. She fancies she has not had the right creams and lotions and that is why the reports from the mirror are not encouraging. She flings money recklessly, trots home with cosmetic goods—dry and wet—and uses them faithfully for a week, maybe two weeks. She notices no miracles are happening. So she's off the whole kit and outfit. As if lines that have been forming for 20 years can be erased in a fortnight!

Perseverance Important

There is no over-night magic in jars and bottles of sweetly perfumed products. With perseverance, conditions will improve. One has to work, be faithful, keep going. The way is long, but sometimes you get there.

Complexion troubles that are most difficult to overcome are those due to too many birthdays. Because of decreased energy, nutritional deficiencies, lack of upbuilding forces, facial tissues have lost tone, the skin is too large a fit and lines have formed.

No woman can expect to restore the firmness of her younger days. But by lubricating, tapping, patting, she can keep the lines from digging in deeper.

One can standardize good looks, give the laugh to old man Time, stay as it. That is a woman's duty to herself and her family.. fulfilling that duty should be a pleasant diversion, a form of relaxation.

Back up your cosmetic efforts by strict regard to the laws of health. Get plenty of sleep. Get out of doors every day; if you don't you'll go sour spiritually, feel drudgy. Eat wisely. Bathe daily, breathe deeply, drink plenty of water and avoid emotional upsets.

A good number of young people gathered at the home of Mrs. L. Hall on Thursday evening for their regular meeting. Fellowship convener, Anita Calvert, opened the worship service. The convener's topic led to a discussion on "Seven Mistakes of Life" and splendid readings on that subject were given by June Rogers and Ross Marshall. Business was discussed under the leadership of the president. Recreation convener, Evelyn Ray, suggested quiet games and the hostess served lunch.

SHOO AWAY WASH-DAY BLUES

Hello Homemakers! Clothes were once subjected to such brutal treatment on wash-day that only the sturdiest fabrics escaped the rag-bag for very long. Today, homemakers are taking extra precautions with wartime fabrics—this is indicated by the frequent questions asked of The Mixing Bowl. The information on these problems may "shoo away wash-day blues" for others who have been in the same quandary.

What are the proper water temperatures for washing different fabrics?

White cottons and linens can stand the hottest water—right up to boiling; colored cottons and linens are the next hardiest in the fabric family; woollens and rayons are the babes of the family and should be handled in water of the same temperature as you would bathe your baby—never should they be washed in anything but likewarm water.

How long do you soak wartime fabrics?

Many people make the mistake of soaking their clothes overnight. Twenty minutes is long enough for white cottons and linens. Never leave clothes soaking in dirty water. If you are side-tracked from the job, wring the clothes and resoak in fresh water. Colored fabrics should not be soaked.

Do soaps make a difference today?

Decidedly. Rayons, woollens and silks last longer if washed with a mild, neutral soap. Stronger soaps may be used for the general family wash of cottons and linens.

How much soap is needed to do a family wash?

Use enough soap but do not be wasteful. A standing suds of two inches is ideal; use a measuring cup to find out how much soap is needed, then use the right amount each time to be economical.

Why use Water Softeners?

Gray and dingy clothes may broadcast the need for a water softener. The mineral salts of hard water unite with soap to form curds; dirt particles combine with these curds, and these get caught in the fibres. Soap can soften water if you use enough of it, but this method is expensive and unless the rinsing is thorough and the water is hot, it is not successful. Better use a water softener.

How many clothes make a load?

The manufacturers of electric washing machines say: 6-8 lbs. dry clothes make a safe load. For example: 2 sheets, 4 pillow cases and 3 bath towels. Overloading not only puts a strain on the washing machine, but keeps it from producing perfect results. A safe guide is: never put in more clothes than will circulate freely.

Do you advocate rinsing in the machine?

Use the electric washing machine if you have one. Operate it five minutes for the first rinse and two or three minutes for the second rinse. An extra rinse is necessary if the washer is not used.

When and how do you use a bleach?

Sunshine will bleach clothes dried out-of-doors. White cottons and linens may occasionally need to be bleached with chemicals in winter time. Mix the bleach with the first rinse water according to directions. Rinse the clothes at least twice after the bleach is used. Silks and rayons should not be bleached as it weakens the fibres

Will an artificial bleach affect my washing machine?

Yes, certain artificial bleaches may have a tendency to pit the surface of the enamel tub. This in time would roughen the surface. Tubs with rust spots showing should not be used for bleaching either.

What would you do about new fabrics?

Read labels carefully. Soak materials in cool salt water for a few minutes—1-2 cup salt per pail of water. Wash new colored articles separately and as quickly as possible. Dry in a breeze.

TAPE A TIP.

1.—Test the safety release on the wringer before you start.

2.— Some wringers indicate the pressure for silks and wollens and some for cottons and linens—use the wringer wisely. For wringers without this gauge it is well to make sure that the rollers are not screwed too tightly. A wringer that is too tight may tear the fabric and may lock the rollers and even strip the gears.

3.—In order to save the rubber rollers, the pressure should be released as soon as the wringing process has been finished.

4.—Remember that oil ruins rubber; take care, therefore, not to spill oil on the rubber parts of the machine.

5.—Keep the drains clear of lint which accumulates easily. Hose connections should be well drained and kept clean.

6.—Wipe the machine off thoroughly, then dry, each time.

Cancer of Breast

Various parts of the human body have been attacked by cancer, but the breast is one of the more common sites. It is a tragic fact that cancer of the breast may develop without being recognized in its early stages. When it is discovered, it may be too late for an operation which, performed earlier, might have saved the patient's life.

Doctor Edwin P. Buchanan of Pittsburgh, believes that, whenever it is possible, the radical operation on breast cancer should be performed without delay. In this operation the breast is removed, and the glands in the armpit and other sections in which cancer cells might develop are also taken out. In each case of breast cancer X-rays are taken, a careful physical examination is made, and, if cancer cells are not found in parts of the body distant from the breast, Doctor Buchanan thinks an operation should be performed. If the cancer has developed to the point where the breast is fixed to the chest wall the operation is not possible.

Sometimes it is not possible to tell just how extensively the cancer has affected the glands in the armpit until the operation is under way. During the operation it is sometimes found that the cancer has involved the glands along the entire length of the large vein in the armpit. When this occurs it is not possible to cure the condition, but, by removing these glands as carefully as possible, the patient's life may be prolonged to a great extent.

Breast cancers develop most frequently in women between forty and sixty years of age. More than half of those who develop this condition are in this age period. Even with the increasing knowledge of cancer which has developed in the last twenty years, plus the fact that the public knows more about cancer, a study made over a twenty-two-year-period shows that patients in the last ten years did not come for operation any earlier than those studied over the first ten-year-period. In other words, in spite of the increased knowledge there are still too many people who neglect going to the doctor early enough to make successful operation possible.

Cancer also occurs in the male breast. Thus, in more than 350 patients studied, five were male. Practically all of this group of patients had the operation for removal of the breast and the affected glands. The use of X-ray treatments following the operation is helpful in some cases, particularly when the lymph glands have been affected.

Don't Exact Death-Bed Promises From Your Children

Letters to this column run in cycles. Lately we've had a good many tragedies resulting from the mistaken filial duty of death-bed promises. Agonised by the atmosphere of a last illness in which all hope is gone, a devoted child is likely to make promises which cannot be fulfilled without bitter sacrifices on his or her part.

Death-bed promises, which have well nigh ruined the remaining years left to those who have pledged their word, under unfair circumstances, make bitter reading.

A girl will agree never to marry a certain man as long as her mother lives. The dying husband, through lack of responsibility or instability of character, may not only have failed to provide for his wife but positively may have played Ducks and Drakes with his earnings. On his death-bed, he shunts his unfulfilled obligations to a son or daughter, incapable through emotion, of making just promises.

And through life this handicapped young man or woman will go, living only a half life. Mother must be considered, he promises it to his father on his death-bed.

Mother is not exempt from these death-bed requests. She exacts promises concerning everything, from the future welfare of her favorite mouser to the girl she has never thought worthy of her son. Such promises are often better observed in the breach than in the fulfillment.

Today's mail brought a singular and tragic letter of a life handicapped by conforming to Mother's last wish. The daughter now 28 years of age, had been engaged for five years to a man in every sense creditable. But Mother never liked him. She had no definite reason for her aversion. She mightn't have liked the way he brushed his hair, or tried to win her over. She might not have liked the church he went to, or his political affiliation. She never was definite—only she didn't like him.

On her death-bed she made her daughter promise she'd never marry him. In what might be called justifiable rage, the young man went off and married someone else, a woman he never really loved.

In time the lovers drifted together, and the girl is now going to have a baby. The man has no grounds for divorce, and the girl writes me, what shall she do about it? I've sent her a list of Homes that might take her in where she could have her baby in peace and quiet—but, oh, the pity of these demands made by unthinking parents.

Husbands Who Rate Decorations

So many gentle protests have come from husbands who read my column on long-suffering "Wives Who Rate Decorations," that Cynical Sybil agrees there must be some husbands, too, who merit at least service stripes, in the Matrimonial Armageddon. She recommends the following:

1. The husband of the temperamentalist, who loves to dramatize herself, stages her Big Scenes in public and keeps his face red by arguing with waiters and scrapping with other women. Usually he is a peace-loving diplomatic soul who would walk miles to avoid one of her all-out attacks.

2. The husband of the human loud-speaker, who, unlike a radio, can never be turned off but babbles on merrily like a commercial, wrecks his train of thought, gives him shell-shock and fills the air with flak.

3. The husband of the celebrity, who seldom hears his own name, always stands at attention, is just part of the background like one of the ranks and is often called MR. Marjorie Jones, or "Miss Jones' husband." If he is a swell husband, who earns his own living, is proud of his wife and pals with her between her conferences and board meetings, he deserves both the D.S.C. and the Purple Heart.

4. The spouse of the boiler-plate housekeeper, who keeps the house going like a boiler factory all day, in order that it may be as neat as an operating room in the evening; never lets her husband put his feet on the chairs or bring home an unexpected guest and is always inspecting the guest towels, emptying ash trays and pushing her husband into an uncomfortable fox-hole.

5. The man who is tied to the Big Spender, who cheerfully keeps his nose to the grindstone, runs up bills and charge accounts, wherever she can, never can balance her bank account and knows that a few kisses, a little salve and some baby talk will heal his wounds and disarm him, so that she can bomb his pocket book again.

6. The husband of the Dictatoress, who is always battling with a new cook or breaking down a new maid or sniping at the neighbors or the tradesmen and expects him to rush in and back her up with re-enforcements and take all the firing she has brought down on their heads.

7. And last but not least, the husband of the Traitor. The many husbands of the vain and frivolous young things, who cannot be loyal to the men who are in lonely, isolated camps or out fighting and risking their lives in Italy or overseas, while the "Little Woman" is spending her time and her money on alcohol and flattery, and double-crossing Uncle Sam's uniform.

Acknowledge Letters of Sympathy

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Recently I had a death in my family, and I have received many letters of sympathy. I am at a loss to know whether I should answer these. Should I, and if so, how?

Sheila.

Yes, these kind letters of sympathy should be answered. It is not necessary for you to answer them at once, for any friend will of course understand a delay. And it is not necessary for you to write a long letter . . . just a sentence or two is sufficient.

Your letter might read:

Dear Miss Robbins,

You were most kind to send me such a beautiful and understanding message of sympathy, and I do want you to know how deeply I appreciate your goodness.

Sincerely,

Or:

Dear Mary,

Thank you deeply for the message of sympathy that you and Fred sent us. I wish I could tell you what deep comfort your words gave us.

Affectionately,

Bread and Butter Letters

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am going to visit a friend of mine next month, and judging from her letters to me about plans for my visit, I think there will be some parties given in my honor, in the homes of her friends. Would you suggest that I write a note of thanks to these hostesses after I arrive back home?

H. R.

I not only suggest that you write these notes of thanks for the hospitality given you by your hostess' friends, but I strongly urge you to do this. Because this kind of note of appreciation is taken for granted by mannerly people, and both your hostess and her friends would be disappointed if you do not write these notes.

The Proper Spoon

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Should fruit cocktail be eaten with a spoon or a cocktail fork? I've ordered it in restaurants that are considered quite "ritzy," but no cocktail fork was served with it.

A. S.

A fruit cocktail is eaten with a spoon . . . that's convenient, both for the pieces of fruits and for the delicious sauce. The cocktail fork is used for sea-food cocktails, such as shrimp, lobster, crabmeat.

A Letter to the Doctor

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

What is the correct salutation of a letter addressed to my doctor?

T. E. R.

Dear Doctor Bryant is correct. It is much the best form not to abbreviate any title (except of course Mr. and Mrs.) used in the salutation of a letter.

BEAUTY By Helen Jameson

Plying the Powder Pad

The most decorative item in the beauty kit is the lipstick; no doubt about it. But the powder pad is the friendly old stand-by. It is a woman's most intimate friend. While waiting for the best beaux to arrive, she powders her nose. If she has had a bawling spell, she fluffs on the scented solace. When she gets to the point that she doesn't care whether her nose shines or not, she is through. She is settled. She is just waiting.

Since powdering is such an important matter, she might as well learn how best to achieve the most flattering results. The amount of time devoted to this rite should not be wasted.

First, find the powder that suits your type of skin. There are some of light consistency, others with heavy, oily bases. We no longer desire to look calcimined, so the girls who would walk off with the good looks prize will select a powder of fluffy character with just enough substance to hang on and not blow away. If the product is light, one can use it fairly generously, remove the surplus with a camel's hair brush made for the purpose; the result will be a soft, velvety surface.

Select a color that is slightly darker than the skin. If it is lighter it will be too revealing, may look patchy. If Time has put wrinkle traces in the flesh, hold it smooth when powdering, especially that area between lip ends and nostrils.

Powder is a protective agent of considerable value, acting as a barrier against strong winds, sunlight and atmospheric dust. But don't expect too much of it. It won't conceal blemishes and, if you have any, you'd better get after them. Slight discolorations will often vanish if a mixture of equal parts of peroxide and strained lemon juice is applied every night. Blackheads call for soap and water, steaming hot compresses, laving with a soda solution. Freckles you can't do much about; if you do get rid of them, they pop right out again upon exposure to strong sunlight.

Remove powder with a thin oil before using soap. Keep the powder box covered, always. Buy your puffs by the dozen, throw them away, or wash them, when they are slightly soiled. Soiled pads are an abomination, a source of infection; that goes for rouge pads, too.

Start by powdering your throat. Work upward, put the dull finish on your nose last. The customary method is to slap it first on the nose when it has a heavy load of powder. Bad business. Glands are active there, the skin should be fluffed over lightly so as not to excite them.

Artificial Breeding Seen Key to Better Livestock, More Profits to Farmers

Over 100,000 Artificially Bred Calves in Three States in Year

USE BEST BULLS

The following appearing in the Readers Digest, condensed from an article by Louis Bromfield in the Kiwanis Magazine, is of great interest to all live stock farming sections. Some successful experiments with artifical insemination have already been carried out in this section, while the rapid advance in the work is being closely watched by many district breeders.

One of the most promising solutions for the problem of raising adequate food for the billions of the earth's population is the breeding of better livestock, particularly by the process of artifical insemination.

A well-bred cow can produce as much milk in a year as three or four scrub cows, yet she consumes little more food than any one of them. Her bull calves will be ready for market months ahead of scrub stock and her heifers will be superior milk producers. Through organized artifical breeding to carefully selected bulls, it is estimated that the butterfat yield of the cows in the United States could be increased one third in a few years, with no greater consumption of feed.

Artifical insemination greatly speeds up the breeding of superior stock. Remember that bulls with a proved capacity for passing on to their offspring a high standard of milk production are rare, and often sell for thousands of dollars. Such a bull can, in a lifetime of natural breeding, stamp his characteristics upon only a few hundred calves: but he can father thousands artificially. This is because one service of semen from a bull can be used to impregnate a dozen cows—an apt example of man's using the wastefulness of Nature to his own advantage.

As the bull does not come in contact with the cows, artifical breeding also checks the spread of infections diseases, which sometimes wipe out whole dairy herds.

More than 100,000 artifically bred calves were born this year in Wisconsin, Minnesota and New York. Within 20 years, a majority of our high-producing cows will never see the bulls to which they are mated.

It takes three years for a newly-born heifer to become a producing cow. When a breeder inseminates a productive cow with the seed of a first-rate bull, he takes no gamble. And often through artifical insemination he can secure the service of a higher grade bull than would otherwise be available.

As far back as 1936 the semen of a remarkable bull in Maryland was flown in the icebox of a clipper plane to Argentina. In 1939 bull semen was air-mailed from one world's fair to the other, from San Francisco to New York, for breeding purpose. In many dairy areas, a herd of bulls is kept in one central barn from which each morning attendants with their test tubes drive to farms throughout the county and inseminate cows.

By using the yolk of egg in conjunction with a phosphate compound, the sperm cells remain active for several days. A calf born in New York State recently was bred from semen ten days old.

There have been some complaints that pregnancy is less likely to occur when artifical breeding is used. Experts claim that this is not the fault of the process but comes about through carelessness or lack of expertness on the part of the operator. Actually, when proper care and skill are used the rate of impregnation is about as high as that achieved through natural breeding.

The practice of artifical insemination is spreading rapidly and its results are certain to be reflected throughout our rural economy. The veterinary or his assistant from the regional bull barn, with his white coat and his compact case of magical apparatus, is becoming a common-place sight in many areas.

Artifical insemination is used most extensively with dairy cattle, but it is developing in all animal and poultry breeding. In Russia as many as 45,000 ewes in widely scattered sheep areas are bred yearly to a few fine rams.

The enormous future possibilities promise not only to improve the quality of livestock but to change the economic and social aspects of large areas. In India I have seen villages in which the entire economic situation was revolutionized in five or six years simply by the importation of better breeding stock and the increased production, and sale, of good milk, butter, poultry and eggs at premium prices. A remarkable improvement in living conditions was reflected over a radius of about 20 miles wherever the new stock was introduced. That is roughly the distance which a female animal can be transported on foot while in condition to breed: Now, however, with the new technique of artifically collecting, storing and distributing semen, the area to be benefited can be increased hundreds of miles.

After the war, Europe's sadly depleted livestock can be built up most effectively by this new breeding process. According to underground reports, much of the best breeding stock in Europe has been killed. The semen of prize males will doubtless be flown from the United States to play a major part in the restoration of desolated areas.

Dairy Herd Improvement Association and Agricultural Extensive men also envisage a promising future serving remote countries with the air-mailed semen of exceptional, proved sires. Even now, scientists from foreign countries, working with our Department of Agriculture, are planning the details. Thus, the science of artifical insemination will influence the standard of living of the world's undernourished people.

Sudeten Germans Sing a New Tune

MONTREAL (CP) — Residents of bomb-rocked Berlin, Frankfurt and Hamburg aren't the only Germans who are beginning to doubt the "master race' 'theory, according to the Czechoslovak Press Bureau.

A bureau release, based on evidence obtained from young Czech war prisoners, forced into the German army and later captured by the British on the Mediterranean front, described Germans in the Sudeten areas of Czechoslovakia as "extremely disillusioned."

The prisoners report that Sudeten Germans in territory which does not form part of the Bohemian Protectorate but has been incorporated into the Reich, now are assuring Czechs around them they "have nothing in common with Nazism and realise how favourably they were situated in the republic." In this way, Czech prisoners say, they hoped to be saved from any kind of retaliation.

The bureau also releases some details of "every-day living under the German protectorate," based on further evidence by Czech war prisoners.

In the town of Brno, high school students see their campus turned into a slaughter ground daily when Nazi storm troopers carry out public executions in the school courtyard.

In Czech prison camps, starved men grovel in the mud for a crust of bread . . . 30,000 Czech prisoners huddle in the rain in a small, open courtyard, with no shelter but the rags of their own clothing.

In communities throughout the Sudeten area mothers watch their sons shanghaied into the German army, their daughters compelled to serve in German labor camps.

In major Czech towns where the Gestapo has seized most of the wireless sets, the underground press published leaflets containing plans for organized opposition as transmitted by wireless from London.

The Nazis have exploited this method of distribution by circulating false pamphlets and arresting those who do not surrender them.

Spruce Budworm Ravaging Forests

During the last few years the Spruce Budworm, which also attacks balsam, has done tremendous damage to forests in the province of Ontario and is now spreading eastward into Quebec and westward around Lake Nipigon. In the areas most heavily attacked, most of the balsam and much white spruce is dead. This area comprises 12,000-15,000 square miles of forest. In addition, severe damage is threatened on a further area estimated at around 30,000 square miles which has been attacked more recently. Over much of this territory the attack is still increasing but in some places, such as the western portion of the Parry Sound district, the outbreak has subsided without doing much damage except in a few small stands. In general, however, there seems little probability that parasites or other natural control factors will bring the outbreak under control in time to prevent further serious damage.

The alarm felt over the spread of this pest has extended not only to the Canadian pulp and paper industry and provincial forestry organizations but to the northern United States. At a recent meeting in Montreal, representatives of the Federal and State entomology and forestry services discussed the matter with officers of the Division of Entomology of the Dominion Department of Agriculture; the Dominion Forest Service and the Ontario, Quebec and New Brunswick Departments of Lands and Forests. The United States officials studied the necessity for taking precautionary steps in case the insect continues to spread toward their territory and a tentative plan for cooperation between the various Services was discussed.

Bombings May Cause Many-Hued Sunsets

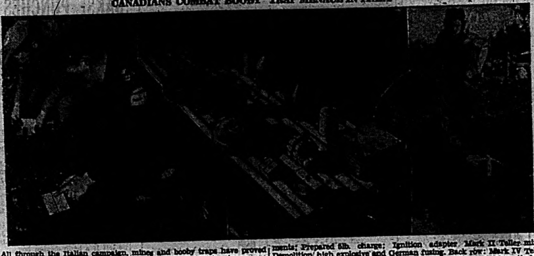
London (CP) — Day and night bombing of Germany is believed by some scientists to have produced the flaming, many-hued sunsets seen in Great Britain recently.

They think that the phenomenon is caused by the terrific amount of flak and debris hurled into the atmosphere during Allied air attacks. To support their claim they recall that during the eruption of the volcano Kracatoa, Dutch East Indies, in 1883, stone particles, dust and ashes were thrown into the air and spread over vast areas of the globe. These caused sunsets of hitherto unknown brilliance in all parts of Britain for three years after the eruption.

Prof. Sir William Bragg, professor of Experimental Physics at Cambridge University, said, "It is definitely conceivable that the sunsets have been caused by heavy bombing. I have seen similar extraordinary sunsets following sand storms and forest fires in America."

CANADIANS COMBAT BOOBY TRAP MENACE IN ITALY



All through the Italian campaign, mines and booby traps have proved one of the chief hazards and this is the way the advancing troops are combatting the menace. At the left, Sgt. A. Kerr, Owen Sound, Ont., and Lieut. B. S. Brown, Vancouver, B.C., point out a trip wire of an S. Mine. The S. Mine also has a push ignition which would cause explosion when stepped on. The centre picture shows a display of various mines and booby traps at an Italian training camp. Left to right they are: Igniters Mark III Teller mines with detonators and booby trap attachments; Prepared 5lb. charge; Ignition adapter Mark II Teller mine; Demolition, high explosive and German fusing. Back row: Mark IV Teller mine and boxes of detonators; S. Mine with 3 igniters; 2 Magnetic beehive mines; A/T.S. Mine with push ignition; and Italian Box mine. At the right Spr. G. C. Bullock, Kingston, Ont., places a "hot cross bun" to indicate the spot where Spr. R. T. Gilpin, of Toronto, has discovered a mine by means of a Polish mine detector. —(Canadian Army Overseas Photo).

The Breathless Speed of Changes In War Plane Design

By Bob Considine in the Washigton Post

World War II may well be a matter of history before the jet plane is ready to take its place along with gas - engined battle planes. Gen. H. H. Arnold promised in his annual report that "the B-29 . . . will see service in 1944." The new fighter is still developing through the long period of gestation all new planes endure.

"It takes from a year and a half to two years and a half to develop a new fighter from the time it is a blueprint until it is an airplane fit to fight" an Air Force engineer told us.

"A medium bomber takes from two and a half to three years to get into action, and a super-job like the B-29 can take as long as four years," he added. "After that, it's a matter of production, barring such emergencies as the development on the part of the enemy of planes or devices which make our design obsolete."

Production on the B-17, called the Flying Fortress, and the B-24, named the Liberator, is being stepped up constantly. These two bombers constantly undergoing modifications based on combat exigencies, will carry the brunt of our aerial warfare against the Axis.

The Fortress was first developed in 1933, and the Liberator was born four years later. But only now are they in close to full production.

The latest model P-38, which has the Eighth Air Force based in England, the Eigth Air Force based in England, was really born in 1936. It is the result of more than 2,000 modifications, many of them not discernible to the layman's eye, yet so important that without them it could not now be used against the Messerschmitt 109-G and the latest Focke-Wulf 190.

The P-47, or Thunderbolt, went to England early last year and was hailed as the last possible word in fighter planes. It has undergone a number of changes since then—changes based on its performance under actual battle conditions.

It is generally true that every new war plane is obsolete the day it is delivered and marked ready for combat. No sphere of industry develops new ideas quicker than aerial engineering but on the other hand, no industry takes long to crystalize its blueprint dreams into metal, wood and fabric. All nations, therefore, adopt the practice of choosing the best possible design, getting it into action as soon as possible, and then modifying it and others like it until the entire design becomes useless.

The new Mustangs, of P-51-B, promise to play an important role in the European war in the next few months. The Mustang is said to be the only American pursuit plane born of the lessons learned in World War II. It can fly just about as high as the Lightning and Thunderbolt, and manoeuver at low altitudes as well as a Spitfire.

The British have been enthusiastic users of the Mustang for more than a year. Yet American pursuit pilots in the Eighth Air Force received none of the Mustangs until very recently. The new type has changed from the Allison engine to the American-made Rolls-Royce Merlin. It is probably the fastest plane in the world. Its announced speed is 400 m.p.h., plus. American flyers who have seen it in action predict that it will be the outstanding fighter of war from now on. It will be able to protect our big bombers all the way to their distant targets.

But there will be later models of the P-51 before peace comes, and their pilots will look back on the current Mustang with the same calloused eye that up-to-the-minute pilots now fasten on the P-40 which was in operation on Bataan and through much of the North African war.

The restless development in the war plane takes many forms. It has been found, for instance, that painting a pursuit ship robs it of as much as 15 miles an hour in speed. This is true even of the smoothest spraying jobs. Unpainted heavy bombers are capable of carrying from 75 to 100 more pounds of bombs or equipment.

When the B-26, or Marauder, came into being, the Army board liked the design of this hot medium bomber so much that it bought 20 of them in advance of the prototype. The prototype turned out to be full of engineering and aeronautic bugs. But production continued.

It appeared at one time that the Army would condemn the design. All B-26's were grounded as too tricky to fly. But several changes by Martin engineers, one having to do with expanding the wing surface, restored the ship to the good graces of the Army. Today it is doing a big job on all American fighting fronts. It is versatile enough to have been used as a torpedo plane in the Battle of Midway. It is still changing.

The Luftwaffe, Washington hears, is slowing down production on the Focke-Wulf 190 design and is now building twice as many ME 109-G's as F. W.'s. Faced with the same difficulties which confront all air forces, the German air arm probably decided two years ago that the Focke-Wulf would have to be replaced by something better.

Perhaps a year after that decision, when the Focke-Wulf fighter was in heavy production, it was hailed by friend and foe as one of the world's foremost fighter planes. Yet its doom had already been sounded by Nazi engineers, just as the doom of many of our hottest current planes has been sounded.

But it is a long journey from the blueprint to the dog-fight. The only solution is to keep building the planes which the factories are tooled to build, and turn them into winged chameleons streaking across the ever-changing pattern of war.

WANTS V.C.'s SALUTED

London (CP) — Suggestion for an alteration in British army orders to make all soldiers up to highest-ranking generals salute winners of the V.C., as all Americans salute wearers of the Congressional Medal of Honor has been made by G. # Fox Too Smart For the Hounds

(Reader's Digest)

As a boy I lived on a farm in southern Ohio, and for recreation we would run the hounds Sunday afternoon. One memorable day the pack very soon picked up a fox trail and was hot on the chance. We scrambled to a knoll overlooking the valley, and saw the fox cut ahead.

Right below us was a hollow log. The fox headed straight for it, scampered through and ran on. The dogs sniffed at the entrance, then like good hounds ran to the other end, picked up the scent and dashed on in full pursuit.

The fox led the hounds in a tremendous circle back to the hollow log, through which he ran again. He repeated this manoeuvre time after time. Finally the dogs visibly tired. But the fox seemed as fresh as ever.

All of a sudden we caught on. We ran to the log, poked in a long stick—and out sprang a fox. There were two foxes! Each time Fox No. 1 dashed into the log. Fox No. 2 would come plunging out the exit, to lead the hounds on an exhaustive chase while No. 1 caught his breath and waited his turn to run.

Uncle Sam's Midas Hoard of Gold

(From the U. S. Commerce Weekly)

A recent number of the League of Nations Monthly Bulletin of Statistics, published by the League Mission to Princeton, N. J., contains special tables showing world production of gold in the years 1933 through 1942, and recorded central gold reserves at the end of December, 1929, and 1935 through 1942 and at the end of June, 1942 and 1943, expressed in millions of old United States gold dollars.

World production of gold, outside the Soviet Union, reached a record figure of 1,130,000 kilograms (36,300,000 ounces) in 1940, declining to about 1,120,000 kilograms (36,000,000 ounces) in 1941 and to an estimated 1,000,000 kilograms (32,000,000 ounces) in 1942.

The Union of South Africa accounted for more than 38 per cent of world output (outside of the Soviet Union) in 1940. Canada for more than 14 per cent, the United States for more than 13 per cent. Australia for 4 to 5 per cent, and the Philippine islands for 3 per cent; about two-thirds of the aggregate orginated within the confines of the British empire.

Production in 1942 decreased in practically all countries, whether large or small producers. There was a drop of 27 per cent in the United States, of 23 per cent in Australia, of 9 per cent in Canada and of 2 per cent in the Union of South Africa.

No precise figures are available for the Soviet Union's production; private estimates for 1937 ranged from 136,000 kilograms (4,400,000 ounces) to 168,000 kilograms (5,400 ounces).

The total of recorded central gold reserves outside Soviet Russia rose from 10,246,000,000 of old gold dollars at the end of 1929 to about 18,016,000,000 at the end of 1942, an increase of some 75 per cent, but was slightly lower, about 17,956,000,000 at the end of June, 1943.

But whereas in 1929, 45 per cent of these reserves were located in Europe and 38 per cent in the United States, in 1942 no less than 75 per cent was held by the United States and only 18 per cent by European countries.

The Eclipse of Father Coughlin

(An Editorial in the St. Thomas Times-Journal)

Many people must be wondering what the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin, pastor of the Shrine of the Little Flower, 12 miles from the centre of Detroit, is doing these days. If he had the liberty that was his, or rather which he took, a few years ago, he would probably be thundering over the radio against President Roosevelt and many others in the United States against lend-lease and against Russia, sharing as he did Hitler's fears of Communism. But for five years he has quietly conducted the affairs of his church and parish. When he went there 18 years ago from a teaching job in a Canadian college, the church was a dilapidated wooden structure and had a small membership. Today, thanks chiefly to the million or more dollars that he begged over the radio he has one of the most magnificent churches in the United States, has over 800 families on the rolls, a grade school, a high school for girls and a similar school for boys which is not yet completed owing to war priorities. These are achievements that must give him cause for intense satisfaction, even if he is now obliged to live the life of a quiet, evangelical priest. There is nothing provocative in his sermons.

Father Coughlin was summoned to the Little Flower by Bishop Gallagher who encouraged him in his campaigns. But when Archbishop Mooney took over the diocese his rantings were frowned upon. He fell foul of his chief, even incurred rebuke from the Pope, and after being on and off the radio from time to time he was finally ordered by the Archbishop to get off the air and to terminate his connection with his notorious paper, Social Justice, which had been banned in the mail. To interview him now, the consent of the Archbishop has to be obtained, after which, if the interview is granted, it has to pass through the chancellery office for censorship. The result is no newspaperman thinks it worth while obtaining an interview. Gone are his days of publicity, and Father Coughlin must feel like bursting sometimes to get his pet peeves off his chest.

His heydey was a hectic era when he damned the Jews as vehemently as Hitler, damned the bankers and the British Empire and stirred the United States when he called President Roosevelt a liar and an anti-God candidate.

Mountain View "Bombers" Advance to Finals of Service Loop by Beating Six-Ardees

Dan Cowley, Veteran Star, Completed 'Hat Trick' and Added Couple of Assists

SCORE IS 7-2

Dan Cowley, the veteran of many an Air Force hockey game, paved the way for the Mountain View "Bombers" to advance to the finals in the district Air Force hockey play-offs by completing the "hat trick" and scoring three goals and adding to his hockey prowess with a couple of assists.

All this was done when F/O. Moore's Mountain View "Bombers" eliminated the speedy No. 6 Repair Depot squad from the district Air Force playdowns. On Monday the "Bombers" meet the Trenton "Flyers" in the series finals. The score was 7-2.

The "Bombers" took a commanding lead in the initial frame when Duquette scored on a fast triple shuffle of the rubber with Cowley and Lou Boudreau pushing the old "boot heel" into position. With sticks carrying high, that was the ending of scoring in the opening stanza when Fuger and Pfaff were banished for tangling.

Early in the middle frame Cowley scored his first goal on a combination play and after the subsequent face-off Cowley raced through alone for the picture goal of the night in a solo effort. Goddhue bounced back for the first Depot goal before Ruger closed the middle session with the game's only and nicest back-hand shot of the game and now the Bombers lead 4 to 1.

In the last period Cowley completed his "hat trick" from Boudreau. Then Hunt scored for "Repair Boys" and Bauer rapped in Pat McReavy's perfect set-up pass, which cinched matters for Skipper Moore's charges before Lou Boudreau whistled in his first goal of the night and again Cowley was on the helping end along with Duquette.

On Monday the high-flying Bombers meet the Trenton "Flyers" in the district Air Force finals.

The line-ups: Mountain View: — goal, Reading; defence, Barker and Savard; centre, Bauer; wings, McReavy and Fuger; subs—Cowley, Duquette, Boudreau, Humphries, Dickson and Michaniuk. No. 6 Repair Depot:—goal, Jackson; defence, Derry and Feldoman; centre, Hunt; wings, Doxon and Pfaff; subs — Stewart, Campbell, Landriault, Godhue and O'Connor.

Referees—St. Louis and Holway.

SPORT SHORTS FROM BRITAIN

By ALLEN NICKLESON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, Feb. 26 — (CP) — Jock McAvoy, recently-retired British middleweight champion, left the ring because he was "disgusted with the whole boxing business."

The 35-year-old McAvoy says it all began two years ago when he signed a contract to defend his title against Ginger Sadd at Norwich. There was a dispute over the purse because of an increase in the entertainment tax and McAvoy called the fight off.

Boxing Board officials decided in favor of the promoter and ordered McAvoy to pay a $900 forfeit. He refused.

"I feel that after nearly 20 years in the ring I have been treated unfairly," Jock told newsmen in announcing his decision to hang up the gloves. "I am retiring as undefeated champion on a matter of principle."

One of the most versatile fighters of modern times, McAvoy lost to John Henry Lewis in a world championship light - heavyweight bout in New York eight years ago. Known as a middle with a heavyweight punch, his real name is Joe Bamford. Now in the Royal Air Force, his home is at Weaste, Lancashire.

Len Harvey, former British and Empire heavyweight champion, termed McAvoy "the toughest man I've ever fought."

Boxing spectators always wondered why Jock bit both his thumbs between every round of a fight. Some thought it was a show of temper.

The reason, however, was that McAvoy had both thumbs fractured while working in a cotton mill. Since then they have been stiff at the joints and he loosens them by pulling them with his mouth.

A sallow Welsh miner who rates as a leading contender for the title vacated by McAvoy came off the floor four times to snatch a victory from the country's hardest-worked boxer.

It was the third straight victory for Tommy Davies of Cwmgorse village over coffee-colored Lefty Flynn, Jamaican champion who is in Britain's merchant marine. Lefty was far ahead on points when the battle was stopped after the sixth round because of a gash above the Negro's eye.

The fight, at the Queensberry Club in Soho, was seldom spectacular. Davies showed himself susceptible to Flynn's vicious short body blows, while the injury showed again that Flynn's greatest problem is how to prevent facial cuts. Such cuts previously have lost him bouts in which he was leading on points.

Toronto, Feb. 26 — (CP) — By coincidence, two of the greatest hockey goalies of all time were interviewed during the past week. They are Percy Lesueur and Paddy Moran, rivals more than 30 years ago.

Lesueur played with Ottawa's Stanley Cup champions in 1909 and 1911. Moran was in goal for Quebec Bulldogs when they won the cup in 1912 and '13.

Moran, 66 and a customs house employee in Quebec for 35 years, told Lloyd (Montreal Star) McGowan he was a hockey professional from 1910 to 1916 and his total earnings approximated $4,000. The average for a season was only a little more than $500.

"I've seen them lining up at six o'clock in the morning for a game that night at Quebec's Grand Alley rink," Paddy recalled. "We played in gas-light. The rink held only 1,400 but sometimes there would be 2,000 there."

In Moran's book, Joe Malone was the greatest scorer and best stickhandler of his time.

Lesueur, interviewed by Bill (Niagara Falls Review) Gaynon, agreed that Malone was one of the greatest of all players. But, said Percy, Malone had so much natural ability and mechanical greatness that he made hard play look easy. Thus Malone had not been as colorful as some of the other great players.

Lesueur claimed the most colorful of all hockey players were Howie Morenz, Cyclone Taylor and Eddie Shore. As an afterthought he added King Clancy and Sprague Cleghorn to his color class.

Percy offered an interesting comparison of two of the greatest centres the game has known. "Morenz and Taylor differed in style, Cyclone not inviting the bumps Howie took but combining his speed with expert stickhandling to circle, rather than barge through defences. When Cyclone was in stride, neither Howie nor any other player ever went faster."

Of the old-time stars worthy of consideration for a place in hockey's hall of fame, Lesueur named such as Tommy Phillips, Hod Stuart, Didier Pitre, Newsy Lalonde, Jack Laviolette, the Patrick Brothers and Harry Smith. He refused to choose an all-time, all-star team, explaining no one could conscientiously call the six best men in hockey history.

SAINTS CLINCH FIRST PLACE IN SENIOR RACE

Defeat Hamilton Majors 4-2 and Cannot be Dislodged

ONLY ONE MORE GAME

By The Canadian Press

The Saints of St. Catharines clinched first place in the schedule race of the senior O.A. last night with a 4-2 triumph over Majors at Hamilton, gaining a margin of points in the standing which the Hamiltonians, in second place, cannot absorb in the one remaining fixture. Toronto Navy will visit Majors Monday night for the final set-to of the schedule and Saints are five points to the good.

It was 1-0 in the first period with Umbo Concessi bulging the net for the eventual winners but Hamilton braced in the second to make the count 2-all, then faded in the third to permit the visitors to ram in two more, with Doug Boston notching the winning counter. Other scorers for St. Catharines were Paul Mumdrick and Doug Fritz. Doug Runions and Johnny Conick came thru with Hamilton's goals.

A small crowd at Stratford saw the Kroehlers bow to Hamilton Whizzers 4-3 in overtime in the sole junior "A" argument last night. Four points were awarded to the winners on this one and the result eliminated Stratford from the title picture. Hamilton remained in 3rd spot in group 1.

Hamilton led off with a 2-1 margin in the first period only to have Stratford take a 3-2 lead in the second. Whizzers equalized the count in the third and Lymburner scored the payoff goal in the extra session. Spittal, Comfort, Jacklin and Lymburner were the score-collectors for the winners. Stoddard, with two, and Tindal, one, counted for Stratford.

What's Doing in Sport

Chicago — (AP) — One-time American League home-run champion, Jimmy Foxx will apply to Baseball Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis for transfer from the retired to the active list, it was announced yesterday by General Manager James Gallagher of the Chicago Cubs. Foxx is expected to report to the Cubs' training camp at French Lick, Ind., next month.

Miami — (AP) — Owner Al Sabath declared yesterday in all probability his horse Alsab would race no more in Florida and said it was very remote that he would start in the $25,000 Widener Handicap Mar. 4. Sabath said the horse improves with racing but veterinarians had reported him lame.

Brantford, Ont. — (CP) — Johnny McCreedy, former National Hockey League player with Toronto Maple Leafs, was honor student among a group of pilots graduating from the R.C.A.F. station here Friday. Four other well-known hockey players — Doug McCaig, Norm McAtee, Murray Henderson and Wally Wilson — received their wings in January.

Miami — (AP) — Ella K. Bryson's three-year-old Director J. E. goes to the post a favorite today in the $15,000 Flamingo Stakes at Hialeah Park after having won two of three Florida starts this winter. If he wins, the horse will be entered in the Kentucky Derby.

Pittsburgh — (AP) — The suspension of Bob Gracie, veteran centre of the Pittsburgh Hornets in the American Hockey League, was announced last night by manager Larry Aurie for allegedly indifferent playing.

BAKSI PUNCHES OUT DECISION OVER MAURIELLO

Heavyweight Fistic Ranks Have a New Title Threat

TAMI FAVORED

New York, Feb. 26—(AP)— The heavyweight fistic ranks have a new title threat today—and the new titleride.

The threat is 22-year-old Joe Baksi of Kulpmont, Pa., former anthracite coal miner who last night in a rough and rugged scrap before 16,015 fans at Madison Square Garden punched out a 10-round decision over Tami Mauriello of the Bronx, N. Y.

Mauriello entered the ring as the No. 2 ranking challenger for Joe Louis' crown, a 5-12 favorite, but he left it a badly-beaten boy.

Baksi, making his first main event start in the garden, flattened him for a nine-count with a left hook to the jaw in the first round, piled up an impressive lead in the early sessions, and then coasted to victory. The decision was unanimous, and the fans who paid $50,434 to see the scrap were satisfied.

After the fight Baksi announced he was married just a week ago to Miss Anne Tomchik of East Nassau, N. Y., a farm girl he met last summer.

Baksi' bride was not at the ringside for last night's bout, and she didn't hear it on the radio or read about it in the papers. She went to a movie, and then listened later while Joe explained what happened.

Baksi outweighed Mauriello 210½ to 196¼ pounds, and has things his own way most of the time. His jarring left hook and a long right, which he threw with abandon, found their marks time after time and Tami was never dangerous.

Mauriello said he injured his hand in the third rough, but that was after he had been floored for the nine-count, and long before he staged a whirlwind finish to take the last two rounds by a comfortable margin.

Briefs From Britain

Barnsley, England — (CP) — Dorothy Elliott, secretary of two coal companies, was charged with having robbed them of $126,000 since 1936, and to have used $3,100 to build an underground passage from her home to her air-raid shelter.

London —(CP)— A new club for Canadian officers on leave in London—The Canadian Red Cross Junior Officers' Club—was opened in London by the Duchess of Kent. Among those at the opening ceremonies were Vice-Admiral Percy Nelles of the Royal Canadian Navy and Maj.-Gen. C. B. Price.

Bradford, England — (CP) — Frederick William Jowett, 80, treasurer of the Independent Labor Party, died at his home here. He was commissioner of works in the labor government of 1924.

London —(CP)— There are about 12,500 child refugees in England, Commons was informed by the Home Office. About 8,500 came from central Europe, 3,500 from the Channel Islands and 400 from Spain during the civil war.

Lowenstoft, England — (CP)— This East Anglian town "adopted" by Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., during the blitz, returned the compliment and entertained 200 Soo men serving in Canadian regiments in England. They were given a civic welcome after which they were guests at a dance.

London—(CP)—Married 58 years, Rev. and Mrs. Joseph Adams of Muswell Hell died within 24 hours of each other. The couple, aged 89 and 85, were buried together.

Southampton, England — (CP)— The man who docked the liner Queen Mary for the first time and was Southampton's oldest pilot, 66-year-old Capt. George Bowyer, died recently from a heart attack.

London —(CP)—An ususual man is the "Archbishop of Hyde Park." Samuel Martin Christopher, 84, he admits he has been heckled for 30 years at Speakers' Corner, Hyde Park—and he enjoys it. He is a verger at an east-end church.

West Bridgford, England —(CP) —On a "collective small holding" of two acres in this Nottinghamshire town, men and women are to produce food in their spare time sharing the work and profits. The organizers plan to raise vegetables, fruit, pork and honey.

London -- (CP) — Aircraft of British Overseas Airways Corporation in 1943 flew the equivalent of 1 1-3 times around the world every day of the year. The mileage was about 12,500,000. The corporation operates 56,000 miles of routes.

London —(CP)-- Air Commodore J. A. Chamier, retiring from the R.A.F. at the age of 60, has been appointed executive controller of the Air League of the British Empire and will organize branches throughout the Empire. He was the first commandant of the Air Training Corps.

ISOLATED 44 DAYS

Foula, Shetland Islands. (CP) — The island of Foula, known as "the edge of the world", was relieved after 44 days' isolation near the end of January when a motor-boat delivered mails, including Christmas letters and parcels, and five tons of foodstuffs. Dangerous seas had prevented boats from reaching the island.

CASUAL COMMENT

by K.J.C.

A drunk ambled up to the ticket office and bought a ticket.

"You'd better sober up a little before you get on the train," warned the clerk.

The drunk drew himself up with dignity.

"Misshen, lister," he said. "I've only had tee martoonies and I'm not so much under the affluence of inkahol as some thinkle may peep, and the drunker I stand here the longer I get."

(Reminiscing.)

Here's an article dug up by Peterborough Scribe Fred Craig that may be of interest to oldtime hockey fans in this area. Says Fred —"Sporting writers are still digging up scoring performances and talking about by-gone records in Canadian hockey history. For instance one Toronto writer the other night referred to the feat of Steve Vair of Barrie in scoring 18 goals in an O.H.A. game. That probably is about as high an individual record as can be found anywhere in the history of hockey but so far as this column is concerned the performance given by Maurice Park in an intermediate O.H.A. game against Belleville at Brock St. Rink before the First Great War was one of the greatest scoring stunts in the annals of the game. The Petes defeated the hapless Belleville team on that occasion by 31 to 1 and Park playing centre for the winners fired no fewer than 15 goals. That was quite a feat but it fell three short of Steve Vair's mark. However the Park scoring splurge was remarkable for one feature. The star Petreborough centre—now Lieut.-Col. Park—scored nine of his goals in succession. In other words he pulled off the hat trick three times in a row. On several of his goals he took the puck from the faceoff and no one laid a stick on it until the bewildered Belleville goalie pulled the rubber out of the cage. We are waiting to hear from other claimants who can show a record better than nine goals in succession."

"Incidentally that 31 to 1 score against Belleville was not the biggest in local hockey history. The high mark goes to a game played in the old Charlotte St Rink at the beginning of the century when a Toronto team called the Excelsiors was brought down to Peterborough to play the junior Colts. When the Excelsiors got here they declined to go on the ice with the youngsters; they had come down to play the Peterborough junior O.H.A. team and they refused to play anybody else. So the game was held up until Fred Whitcroft, Harry Morgan and the rest of the crack Colts were rounded up. When they finally got under way the Toronto team surprised everybody by scoring the first goal. Then the Colts started to roll and from then on the visitors rarely had the puck. When it was all over and the last returns were in the Peterborough stars had piled up a total of 40 goals against the one scored by the visitors. There have been other high-scoring feats. The same Colts once defeated Barrie here 27 to 0 in a junior O.H.A. playdown and Barrie defaulted their home game after that exhibition. Markham intermediates were beaten here on another occasion in an O.H.A. game by 27 to 3. However, the 40 to 1 score is the highest all-time scorefest and the 31 to 1 Belleville count is the top performance in a local O.H.A. game."

(Bombers are in.)

They may have put Bill Cowley out of leading the scorers in the N.H.L., but his older brother Dan not only pulled the "hat trick", but was in on five of the Mountain View Bombers' seven goals last night when Skipper "Min" Moore's squad downed No. 6 Repair Depot 7-2 to advance to the finals in the district R.C.A.F. finals on Monday night versus the Trenton "Flyers". The veteran Cowley scored three goals, one from a face off, and added to his laurels with two assists.

Lou Boudreau, former Quebec Ace forward, carried the rubber far and often and was rewarded with a well earned goal and two helping hands. Early in the game, when the ice was soft and not to Skipper Corbett's squads' liking, the Bombers took a lead but later in the match as the ice tightened it was the Bombers, as the Repair lads skated themselves into oblivion.

These Air Force matches are equal to any type of hockey played in Canada. Last night there was more adhesive tape pasted around Pat McReavey's face and over Mike Fuger's forehead than was ever seen in an N.H.L. contest. These boys play for keeps and if the fans miss Monday night's sudden death game between the Bombers and the Flyers, well frankly there'll be more action than any of the old Peterboro-Belleville games and that's a guarantee.

(Juveniles lose.)

Ever since hockey was played throughout Ontario, Whitby has been able to produce some of the best puck chasing clubs, as records can show. For instance last night Bill Dennis hauled the Belleville juveniles into the Ontario County seat for the first game of the second round of the O.J.H.A. playdowns. Some high class goal-keeping saw the Whitby kids emerge winners 4-0, which naturally means Whitby will return here next week enjoying a four goal lead. However, Skipper Dennis is not at all discouraged. "On the small Whitby rink, that is poorly lit, my boys were into the corner before they realised the position they were in. On the larger Hume arena ice surface we should at least tie the round score next week, if not overcome it," prophesied Skipper Dennis today.

For the record—The Stirling-Marmora "Combine" junior O.H.A. game at Trenton last night was postponed until Monday.

(Remember when)

Harry Greb, three-year king of the middleweights, was dethroned 18 years ago tonight by Tiger Flowers of Atlanta in a 12-round bout at New York's Madison Square Garden. Flowers, the praying deacon scrapper who became the first negro to hold the division title, lost to Mickey Walker the same year and died shortly afterwards.

(Helps a no-hitter.)

Bob Coleman, the Braves' new manager, almost achieved one distinction when he was with the Cleveland club. Playing at Philadelphia against the Athletics, Coleman had adorned the bench as Bullet Joe Bush was mowing down the Indians. With two out in the ninth, not an Indian had made a hit off Bush's speed pitching when Manager Lee Fohl told Coleman to pinch-hit for the pitcher. "I didn't even foul one," Coleman said, in recalling the incident—and Bush got into the pitchers' hall of fame.

FOR AFRICAN EDUCATION

Freetown, Sierra Leone. (CP)— A free grant of £23,000 ($102,120) has been made under the Colonial Development and Welfare Act for the development of women's education in Sierra Leone. Part of the scheme is for the training of African girls as teachers.

NATIVES SUBMIT IDEAS

Kampala, Uganda, (CP) — The people of Unganda have been asked to submit ideas for the province's development program, which includes education, veterinary services, forestry, fisheries, minerals, public health and tourist traffic.

Horse Sense Bridge

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

Distribution in bridge means the way the cards are divided. It means how the cards are distributed. In a game, you do not know in advance the distribution in the hands of opponents.

So, when you play a hand, you must assume how the opponent cards may be distributed. Most often you will find an even number divided unequally; an odd number as equally as possible.

Knead that into this deal:

NORTH
♠A K 10 3 2
♥Q 7 6 2
♦K 7 6 2
♣None

WEST
♠8 7 6
♥3
♦Q 9 5
♣K Q 10 7 3 2

EAST
♠Q J 9 5 4
♥10 9 5
♦3
♣J 9 8 6

SOUTH
♠None
♥A K J 8 4
♦A J 10 8 4
♣A 5 4

You are south as declarer at a slam contract in hearts. West starts with an opening lead of the club king. When dummy hand goes down, you see no losers if the diamond finesse wins.

In your own pair of hands are nine trumps and nine diamonds. Opponents have four in each suit. Four is an even number. By rule, you should find them three in one hand and one in the other.

Opponent hands are hidden. So, you say to yourself: "I wonder which opponent has the queen of diamonds. And it is not likely that the same opponent has a singleton in each suit."

If that is the case, one opponent has a singleton heart and three diamonds; the other has a singleton diamond and three hearts. So, you start out to learn which opponent has what singleton.

Take the first club lead with your south ace of clubs. Start leading trumps until opponents have no more. By this time you learn that west had a singleton heart.

Therefore, you may assume that east has the singleton diamond. In that case, west must hold three diamonds. If west has three of the diamonds and east only one, three to one west has the queen.

Clever people, these bridge experts.

AT THE BELLE

"Girl Crazy"

Brimful of Gershwin melodies, music and laughter, M-G-M brings to the screen the beloved stage success, "Girl Crazy," starring Mickey Rooney and Judy Garland, teamed together for the eighth time. The picture is now showing on the screen of the Belle Theatre.

Tommy Dorsey and his band are featured in the laugh-happy comedy of the Golden West and do full justice to the beloved score of the Gershwins. The musical numbers include "Embraceable You," "I Got Rhythm," "But Not for Me," "Bidin' My Time," and many others sung and danced by the inimitable Judy Garland and Mickey Rooney.

The story concerns the playboy antics of Mickey Rooney, a powerful publisher's son. Tired of his son's night club attendance, Henry O'Neill enrolls his son at Cody College in Arizona, hoping to make a man of him. Mickey goes reluctantly but becomes enthusiastic when he mets Judy Garland, the dean's granddaughter. But Judy doesn't like Mickey's attitude and it is not until he proves himself by saving the school from being closed by staging a gigantic rodeo that she decides Mickey is the man for her.

Several spectacular dance numbers are staged for the film. In the "Embraceable You" number Judy dances an intricate fox trot, and the finale number, "I Got Rhythm," features a chorus of 100 dancers plus Tommy Dorsey, Mickey and Judy.

June Allyson, dancing and singing sensation of "Best Foot Forward," shares the spotlight with Mickey Rooney in a very entertaining novelty number, "Threat Me Rough," and Nancy Walker, who has been called "a female Mickey Rooney," supplies a splendid foil for the Rooney antics. Also featured in the cast are Guy Kibbee, Gil Straton and Robert E. Strickland, the latter two making their film debuts, "Rags" Ragland and Frances Rafferty.

Norman Taurog directed and Arthur Freed produced. Many of the scenes were filmed in the Arizona desert and lend authentic atmosphere to the rodeo sequences.

The Canadian Belle Paramount News, and a funny Metro color cartoon "What's Buzzin' Cousin" precede the feature. The opening chapter of your favorite radio action-show "Gang Busters" will be exhibited at the Belle Theatre this afternoon. Continuous shows will be presented today.

gagement ends on Wednesday.

AT THE CAPITOL

"Claudia"

"Claudia," that gay, enchanting, half-woman, half-girl, half-angel, half-devil, is coming to the screen of the Capitol Theatre next.

And long awaited news it is, to the millions who have followed the adventures of that charming, unpredictable, typically American young lady in the pages of Redbook magazine, as a novel, as a sensational Broadway success, and as a tremendously popular radio program.

The most magnetic, refreshing young personality to reach the American public in years, "Claudia"

AT THE CAPITAL pkwocb A(kob. is the creation of the famed novelist and playwright, Rose Franken.

Of Dorothy McGuire, who enacted the title role on the stage, so many critics said, "She is Claudia" and "Claudia is Dorothy McGuire," that there could be no other choice for the role on the screen. Robert Young plays her husband, the half-baffled, but wholly understanding and loving husband, David. And as a tremendously pleasant surprise, Ina Claire is seen as "Claudia's" mother.

Into "Claudia's" pleasantly rural and rather frivolous existence come many disturbing things. She meets a cosmopolitan British playwright played brilliantly by Reginald Gardiner, who is intrigued by her whimsical charm.

Tragedy strikes Claudia when she learns her beloved mother is doomed to die. Yet at the same time she learns that she is to become a mother. Thus with the realization that life and death work hand in hand, she suddenly matures.

Edmund Goulding directed this 20th Century-Fox film. William Perlberg was the producer. Olga Baclanova, Jean Howard, Frank Tweddell, Elsa Janssen are featured in the film for which William Goetz was in charge of the production. Morrie Ryskind adapted "Claudia" for the screen from Miss Franken's play as produced for the stage by John Golden.

"Little Tokyo, U.S.A."

A breathless, thrill-packed story of the Axis-spawned traitors in the city-within-a-city has been daringly brought to the screen in the 20th Century-Fox production "Little Tokyo, U.S.A.," which is due next at the Capitol Theatre as the added attraction.

The film reveals for the first time what actually was happening in Little Tokyo, the Japanese sector of Los Angeles, before the sneak blow at Pearl Harbor. And all the incidents of espionage in the picture are based upon facts taken from the records of the Dies Committee.

Featuring Preston Foster as a detective and Brenda Joyce as a radio commentator, the film unmasks the column behind the fifth column in a shocking expose of Japanese espionage activities in California.

In Manhattan

By H. M. PETERS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

New York, Feb. 26 — The ambitious New York Civic Centre, continuing its experiment of giving outstanding productions at prices within easy reach of the general public, this week embarked on grand opera.

It started off with "Tosca" by Puccini and scored a terrific hit, Olin Downes writing in the Times that "The performance...was coherent, climactic, engrossing. The opera is a wonder of melodrama, raw-head-and-bloody-bones affair, unsurpassed for craftsmanship and sheer theatre . . . there was authority in this interpretation, plus enthusiasm, plus a generous desire on the part of everyone on the stage to co-operate to the interpretive end."

Singled out for special mention by the critics were the singing and acting of Dusolina Giannini and George Czaplicki in the roles of Tosca and Scarpia, some commentators remarking that they had more fire and personality than celebrated singers who have recently taken the same parts at the Metropolitan Opera.

Not a hit: the new play of the week was 'Right Next to Broadway,' written and produced by Paul K. Paley, a New York accountant. It is based on the Seventh-Avenue garment industry and has to do with dressmaking, dates with models, and whatnot. It found no friends among the newspapers.

---

Gilbert and Sullivan; continuing their revivals of the ever-popular Savoyard works, the R. H. Burnside's Gilbert and Sullivan Opera Company put on "The Gondoliers" at the Ambassador.

Florenz Ames took the part of the Spanish grandee and Robert Pitkin was Don Alhambra Bolera. Kathleen Roche and Marjorie Hayward as Gianetta and Tessa, respectively, were in the list of principals.

It was warmly received by a large audience.

---

With the movies: Ginger Rogers in "Lady in the Dark," taking the part created on the stage by the celebrated British actress, Gertrude Lawrence, has scored a decided success. The movie opened at the Paramount and is likely to linger there a long while.

AT THE BELLE — Mickey Rooney, Judy Garland and Tommy Dorsey, heading a large cast of funmakers in M.G.M.'s "Girl Crazy". Most of the action takes place in the wide open spaces with plenty of costumes and color to keep the entertainment pulse in high.

McSpaden Posts 4 Under Par To Take Lead in Golf Tourney

By The Canadian Press

With almost perfect putting and despite a strong wind that interfered with driving, Harold (Jug) McSpaden of Erion, Pa., posted a four-below-par 68 to go into the lead of the $5,000 New Orleans golf tournament yesterday, his card being two better than the 70's turned in by Sam Byrd of Birmingham and Craig Wood of Mamaroneck, N. Y. Byrd arrived on the scene just before the tee-off after having been accepted for U. S. navy service.

Only other contender to cut below par on the opening day of the 72-hole competition was Byron Nelson, Toledo veteran, who finished with a 71 while Jimmy Hines of Amsterdam, N. Y., came through with an even-par 72.

Art Ross, Boston Bruins manager, said in an address at Ottawa Friday to a service club (Kiwanis) that "Canada's national game is winning the war, and pray God soon."

Ross criticized sports organizations which thought of box office receipts in wartime. Of the National Hockey League he said: "A lot of things went on this year which won't happen again."

His own team had given "thousands" for war purposes.

The Boston manager added he is "hurt" when hockey players are put in categories that shows them as quitters. "I say I don't believe there is a man playing hockey today who wouldn't lay down his life for his country," he said.

---

The National Hockey League game between Montreal - Canadiens and Detroit Red Wings at Detroit tomorrow night has been sold out for a week, but today a desperate fan still held out hope of getting into Olympia Stadium.

In the want ad columns of the Detroit Free Press appeared this entry:—

"Wanted — four tickets to Sunday's hockey game."

---

Frank Gilpin, five years trainer for the Parkwood stable, has decided to open a public stable, it was learned in Toronto. Gilpin, who also formerly trained for the late E. P. Seagram and Mrs. T. Stevenson of Hamilton, Ont., has taken over the three-year-old No Shoes and the two-year-old Dr. Bob, both owned by Edward Dewart.

Mrs. Stevenson's Tempestuous, winner of the New Year's Handicap at Santa Anita, the Autumn Cup at Woodbine and the Pontchartrain Handicap at Detroit, was trained by Gilpin through most of his racing career.

PERIODICALS INCREASE

In Warsaw, Poland, there are 85 secret periodicals, more than the number published there legally before the war.

INDIA'S NEW VENTURE

New Delhi. (CP)—Before the war India manufactured no chemicals, but is now manufacturing annually 80,000 tons of sulphuric acid, 4,500 tons of coal tear, and many other chemicals.

CADETS TAUGHT GLIDING

London, (CP)— In the last 12 months, 15,500 cadets of Britain's Air Training Corps have been taught various stages of gliding. The corps, now three years old, numbers 170,000 cadets.

Sports Roundup

BY HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
(Associated Press Sport Writer.)

New York, Feb. 26 (AP)—Latest anti-farm suggestion advanced by Detroit's Jack Zeller is to take part of the $300,000 "lying idle" in the National Association treasury and set up baseball schools that would obtain and develop players for the lower class minors...Clubs from class A1 up to the majors would have to fend for themselves, and Zeller figures this would produce players for the independent minor clubs, who would then sell them to the major teams that don't own farms.

---

One of Jack's complaints he reveals (via the Sporting News) is that the Didgers came into Detroit territory last year and set up a baseball school at Pontiac, Mich.... and why not? The Tigers apparently weren't doing anything to dig up the material in their own back yard.

---

Quote, Unquote.

After absirbing a couple of blasts from Zeller in the course of explaining the pan, minor league boss W. G. Bramham wired this reply: When anyone is a party deliberately to giving to the public misinformation when they have in their possession truthful facts to the contrary, it can only be charitably attributed to loquacious imbecility."... The Jedge and Branch Rickey disagree on a lot of things, but it seems they talk the same language.

---

A man who would be one of the first to know if the Yankees were to be sold says that no negotiations are under way at present and that none of the offers made in the last three years still stands.

BITER'S FINE RECORD

A British Port, (CP)— In eight months of Atlantic convoy work not a single merchant ship under protection of H.M.S. Biter has been sunk. The Biter one of the first "Woolworth" escort carriers in action, has steamed more than 45,000 miles since last April.

AT THE McCARTHY — Franciska Gaal, Bing Crosby, and Shirley Ross in a scene from "Paris Honeymoon," now at the McCarthy Theatre. Second feature attraction presents Warner Baxter in "Crime Doctor's Strangest Case."

HAD STRING ATTACHED

Kingswood, Surrey, England, (CP) — Pte. Fred Dawson has arrived home after escaping from an Italian prisoner-of-war camp. What worried him most, he said, was the fact the Italian who sheltered him expected him to marry one of his daughters in return. He escaped by stealing out of the house one night and swimming a river.

'U'-BOAT ENGLISH

The name U-boat is a shortened form of the German "untersee-boot."

PRODUCE MORE POONAC

Colombo, (CP)—Ceylon is to increase production of coconut poonac to help feed the island's livestock. Greater quantities of poonac, presscake left after the oil has been extracted from copra, are needed, owing to shortage of supplies from India.

USED BY SURGEONS

Tantalum, relatively rare metal which resists corrosion, is used by surgeons in repairing bones and in joining severed nerves.

CHAPTER 21

"I never take him out of storeroom," said Joe the houseboy.

"All right. How about these gloves?" pressed Lieut. Duffy.

Joe took them and looked them over. "No sure," he said at last. "Might be."

"And now this ladder?"

"Not know. Never see him."

"Oh, come off!" exclaimed Duffy impatiently. "How could it have been here without your seeing it?"

"Never see him," repeated Joe stubbornly.

"It's a Jap ladder, isn't it?"

"Him made in Japan. Looks like it."

"Did you get it for Metcalf?"

"Never see him," said the boy again and no amount of questioning could shake him in this denial.

The detective rolled up the ladder and put it back in the suitcase.

"You go on back to the kitchen," he said to the boy. "And don't try to run away."

"No run away," said Joe with dignity and left the room.

"I really believe he was fond of Metcalf," said Duffy. "Now what about this towel?"

"It's even better evidence than the ladder," said Tony. "It must be the one missing from McKibben's bathroom."

"Looks like powder stains," and Duffy held it up while the columnist declared, "And that's a bullet hole. Don't you see? Whoever killed McKibben wrapped it around McKibben's pistol to muffle the sound before he fired it into the mattress."

"What do you mean by 'whoever killed McKibben'?" Duffy demanded. "Don't you know by this time who killed McKibben?"

"I always like to play safe," Tony explained.

"Play safe! These gloves, now—Metcalf must have had them on all the time."

"Metcalf or whoever killed McKibben," Tony agreed. "I'm still playing safe."

"And that stain must be McKibben's blood."

"Yes. Metcalf or whoever killed McKibben, got it when he placed the bullet under the body."

"We'll test the blood and everything for prints," said Duffy, and he put towel and gloves back in the suitcase and closed it. "Not that I think we need any more evidence—I know who killed McKibben, whether you do or not. But I still can't see why Metcalf kept all this stuff lying around—unless he didn't care what we found."

At that moment the policeman they had left on guard came up the steps and stuck his head in through the doorway.

"It's here, Chief," he said.

"What's here?"

"That wagon from headquarters. And they's a crowd of newspaper guys say they can't wait any longer. Something about a deadline."

"All right," said Duffy. "Tell them I'll be right down. Take this suitcase—wait a minute," and he pulled a clean handkerchief from his hip-pocket and wrapped it about the handle. "Now take it, and don't touch it anywhere."

The dictograph, the typewriter, and the suitcase were loaded into the wagon and started for headquarters. Then Duffy sat down at Metcalf's desk, and got out a cigar—just one—as the newsmen came trooping in.

"Well, boys," said Duffy. "I'm sorry to have kept you waiting, but now I've got some real news for you. The McKibben case is broken wide open."

He lighted his cigar, leaned back and blew a puff at the ceiling.

"We've found the ladder," he ment. We've got the gloves he wore to get down to McKibben's apartment. We'ev got the gloves he wore while he did the job. We've got the towel he used to muffle the second pistol shot. We know that he just waited there and popped McKibben off when he came in. McKibben had double-crossed him in a blackmail racket.

"But who was it?" one of the reporters asked.

"It was the man whose chair I'm sitting in—Dr. Jerome Metcalf, the psychiatrist, who killed himself this evening when he found the police were on his trail. And he left a confession in his typewriter. Read it for yourselves. The whole thing is double-riveted."

• •

So the McKibben case was closed, the police department marked it off its calendar and the newspapers turned to fresher sensations. Nothing is a nine days' wonder in New York. An hour or two, a day or two, and then the town's attention skips to some newer scandal, or some more atrocious crime and the old one is forgotten.

The debris which the case had left behind was quickly cleared away. Since no relatives had appeared to claim McKibben's body, and all his assets had been impounded for the benefit of his creditors, somebody passed the hat among his fellow-brokers and raised enough money to pay for its cremation. That of Lawrence Terry was released by the police and taken away to Virginia by the two children. An elder brother of Dr. Metcalf came down from the little Connecticut town where he had been born and arranged to take the psychiatrist's body home for burial in the family lot in the village graveyard.

Tony Bigelow told himself that he ought to be glad the case was finished, for he had been spending altogether too much time on it, as he always did when his personal interest was engaged, and he knew well enough that the successful columnist must be an on-looker, not a participant. And so, on the afternoon following the discovery of Metcalf's body, he did only one thing which had any connection with the McKibben case. That was to stop in at the office of the dictograph company and explain to its manager that he would like to bring out a record more clearly by means of an amplifier.

"I will tell you confidentially," he went on, "that the record in question was made on the machine owned by the late Dr. Jerome Metcalf."

"But there should be no trouble with any record made on that machine," said the manager. "It's our very best model and we service it carefully."

"The trouble isn't due to the machine," Tony explained, "but to the fact that the sounds recorded were probably very low and some distance from the microphone. Dr. Metcalf seems to have had his foot on the button governing the machine at the time he shot himself."

The manager's face flushed with interest. "Extraordinary!" he said. "I'm sure we can arrange some sort of amplification which will help. I'll put our technicians to work."

"How soon can you make the test?"

"Let me see—this is Friday. Shall we say Monday afternoon at two o'clock?"

"I shall have to call detective headquarters. May I use your phone?" In a moment he had Duffy on the wire. "Jim, this is Tony. You've got Metcalf's dictograph safe, haven't you?"

"Sure. Locked up."

"The manager of the dictograph company says he thinks he can put an amplifier on it that will bring out that record. I'd like to know just what those sounds were."

"So would I," said Duffy. "When do you want to do it?"

"Would two o'clock Monday afternoon be all right?"

"I'll be here," declared the detective.

Then Tony went on up the Avenue to his usual round of the Waldorf, the Pierre, the Plaza, etc. There was another round to make that evening, which ended as usual at the little table at the corner of the dance floor at Max's place.

"You're not looking particularly happy this evening, Tony," said a voice and glancing up, the cloumnist saw that it was Herschel Schneider.

"Sit down, Herschel," he said, "and have a drink. I'd be glad to have somebody intelligent to talk to. I'm not happy," he went on, as the lawyer sat down. "Look around at this crowd. Are any of these people really worth while? I include myself and except you."

"Oh, you can include me," said Schneider. "No, not one of us is worth a hoot."

"You don't seem to be happy yourself," smiled Tony, and he looked at Schneider more closely. The lawyer was not looking well. His face was lined and his eyes were bloodshot. "Better order a drink."

"Glen Burgie, plain," said Schneider to the waiter. "No, I'm not happy," he went on, turning back to Tony. "No intelligent person could be happy after spending a day in that madhouse called Washington."

"So that's what youv'e been losing sleep over!"

"Yes, I have. I tell you, Tony when I think about it, I get so heated up that, well . . ." He made a helpless gesture and took a long drink.

"Of course no gang of cranks and wasters is going to ruin this country," he went on. "Here in this gang-ridden city, we almost forget the millions of real Americans west of the Hudson who are going about their business, living in a house with a yard around it, and trying to raise a family. Some day they'll—but that's bad for my blood pressure."

"I called your place about nine last night," said Tony, "but nobody answered, so I supposed you'd left."

"Yes, I took the 8.35. I wanted to get a good night's rest before starting to work this morning. And I told my boy he could have the evening off. What was it you wanted?" asked Attorney Schneider.

"I wanted to ask you about Metcalf," Tony explained. "I had just dug up some real evidence that he was working with McKibben, and I wanted to know more about him."

Schneider shook his head. "I couldn't have told you anything more. How did you get your evidence?"

"Through one of his victims," and Tony told of the finding of the dictograph record in McKibben's safe. "After that, all I had to do was to put two and two together."

"I see," Schneider nodded. "So it was you who took Duffy around there? I wondered how the police happened to be on the spot."

"It was just a fluke. I went around to see Duffy yesterday evening, and told him about that exploratory visit to Metcalf in the afternoon, which I phoned you about, and he decided it would be worth while to question Metcalf. So we went around to see him."

Tony described the finding of the body and their other discoveries. The only thing he did not mention was the scratchy record in the dictograph recorder. That was something he wanted to work out for himself.

Schneider sat silent for a moment when he had finished. "It looks open and shut," he remarked at last.

"It looks all right," the columnist agreed, and took a sip of his Carnera, "but somehow I'm not altogether satisfied."

"Why not? Everything checked, didn't it?"

"Oh, yes, everything checked. That's just it. Everything checks so well, it looks like a plant."

"I thought he left a confession."

"He did."

"Well, then, what more do you want? You don't expect McKibben to rise from his ashes and confirm it?"

"Not quite that," Tony smiled, "but there are some details which still puzzle me."

"What are they?"

"For one thing, nobody knows how Metcalf managed to get that key to Graham's apartment."

"I think I can explain that," said Schneider. "At least I can make a guess at it — confidentially, of course. You remember I told you that Graham's wife had been taking treatments of Metcalf? She had a hallucination that she couldn't have a baby. So her husband took her to Metcalf. I talked with Metcalf about her two or three times, and he was confident that he could cure her."

"You told me he did," said Tony.

"Oh, yes," agreed the lawyer with a wry smile, "he cured her. The only way to convince her that she could have a baby was for her to have a baby—and she's going to have one, all right. I'll be interested to see whether it is light like Graham or .. My idea is that she gave Metcalf the key. She was crazy about him. That's the reason Graham took her away."

"Are they still in Hollywood?"

"Yes, but they'll be coming back, now that Metcalf is out of the way. A lot of women will miss him, I imagine. Think what fun it must have been for him, listening to their confessions, hypnotising them on that big couch of his, and .. turning his dictograph records over to Jack McKibben to blackmail a few more thousands out of them! What a racket!"

"Yes, if he really did all that," Tony agreed. "He did one rather decent thing, though, before he died."

"What was that?"

"He took all the records he had in his safe and ran them through the reconditioning machine."

"You mean he destroyed them?" Schneider asked.

"Shaved them off as smooth as billiard balls."

Schneider finished his highball and called for another. "You wouldn't have expected that of him, would you?" he commented. "Still, after he was dead, the records wouldn't have been of any value to him. And now, what are the other details you don't understand?"

"Metcalf was shot with a baby .25 automatic," said Tony, "not much more than a toy, while the gun which sent a bullet clear thru' McKibben's body was a powerful .38. We found no trace of it in Metcalf's rooms, and his boy swears that he never owned any gun at all."

"He certainly seems to have owned a baby automatic," Schneider smiled. "He'd naturally get rid of the other one. Better search the sewers on Central Park West."

"He didn't get rid of the ladder and the gloves and the towel."

"He must have got rid of the gun, since you didn't find it. Anything else?"

"That note I got and the one that was sent to Duffy were both written on Metcalf's typewriter, but if he really killed McKibben, I don't see why he should have wanted to put us wise that McKibben was in danger. It doesn't make sense. And he must have known that the tip about Terry's suicide would lead us right back to him."

"Perhaps he wanted you to be led right back to him so he could throw you off the trail, or start you chasing somebody else. Didn't you say he told you that he knew who killed McKibben?"

"Yes and he said, too, that I had the clue right under my nose."

"Both of which were true," Schneider chuckled, and sampled his fresh highball.

"He wasn't referring to himself," said Tony. "He gave me the impression that the clue was somewhere in my article, but I can't find it."

"Take my advice and forget it. You've got another case on, haven't you?"

"Yes—that bathtub murder over on East Forty-ninth. It seems to have the police stumped."

"Well, go ahead and solve it for them," said Schneider, and pushed back his chair. "I must be going. Stop in and see me some time."

"I'll be glad to," said Tony. "You're always helpful," and he watched the lawyer as he threaded his way among the tables, stopping for a few words here and there. Schneider had arranged divorces, separations, alimonies and whatnot for so many of these people, and protected so many from the results of their own follies, that he was almost as well known as the columnist. What a detective he would have made, Tony reflected, with his insight, his power of deduction, his understanding of the ways of criminal . . .

He had certainly shed a lot of light on the McKibben case.

Tony got to his feet with an impatient shake of the head. He had his work to do. And that day he made no mention of either Metcalf or McKibben.

Next day, as Tony was opening his mail, Duffy stopped in to see him. Tony's apartment happened to be near Duffy's modest bachelor flat where he had lived for many years with his sister. The silver-tipped police veteran liked to stop in for ten minutes or so whenever he could, just to smoke one of his cigars and exchange the time of day. Duffy had banished the McKibben case into the background of his memory, where he could find it if he wanted it, but where there was no danger of his tripping over it. He never had any time to waste in thinking about what had happened yesterday. It was today's job he was thinking about now—"The Dimples Doherty Case," as the newspapers called it—and it would make just as good a story as the McKibben case—perhaps even a better one . . .

"Your hunch turned out to be right, Tony," Duffy said, as he drew up a chair. "It was Curly the Kid."

"You got him, did you?"

"Yes—he came clean. He doesn't seem to care what happens to him. Love is a funny thing!" and he got out the inevitable cigar and lighted it. "The gun he used had the number filed off, of course, but our expert brought it out again with his etching fluid. It was one of the guns stolen last year from the Century Firearms Company. Up to now we have never been able to break that robbery, but when we checked the number of his gun we had him. He stole half a dozen guns that time—all Colt automatics—together with a lot of ammunition. We knew, of course, it was some gangster arming up, but we never caught up with him. One of the guns he stole was a baby automatic with a carved ivory handle, and it turned out to be the one that Metcalf, that psychiatrist, killed himself with."

"What!" exclaimed Tony. "How did Metcalf get hold of it?"

"Curly says he lost it."

"And Metcalf found it, eh?"

"So Metcalf found Curly's lost baby gat? That surely sounds fishy to me!" stressed Tony.

"I think so, too," Duffy agreed. "My guess is that Curly gave it to his girl friend and Metcalf got it from her some way. Maybe she was one of his patients."

"If she was, her confidences must have startled him," laughed Tony. "But I can't see Dimples Doherty going to a psychiatrist—not unless she was scouting for Curly. That's an idea, Jim. Do you suppose it was Curly who was working that blackmail racket with McKibben?"

CANADIAN VIEWS EASILY SOUGHT IN OLD ALGIERS

Dominion Soldiers Frequently Settle Torrid Political Arguments Among Allied Fighting Men

By FOSTER BARCLAY
(C.P. War Correspondent)

ALGIERS (CP)—There has been much talk, here and there, of Canada's place in the post-war world, of her being the interpreter of the Americans to the British and vice versa. Here, in this city which can be described as a political hotbed, there is ample evidence that Canadians have a part to play in bringing together the French, English and Americans.

Already, Canadian soldiers, in their own small way, have taken on the job. It is a job that was thrust on them by postings which brought them here.

The arrival in Algiers of Maj.-Gen. Georges P. Vanier, Canadian Representative to the French Committee of Liberation, caused quite a stir in many political circles and was viewed as the first tangible step on Canada's part to interpret the French, British and Americans to each other.

Here British, American and French troops often find themselves in a heated political argument but more often than not the presence of a Canadian tends to smooth things over. The Canadian is looked upon as a "neutral" whose judgment is respected and taken as final.

Frenchmen, especially, have taken to Canadians. For instance, a gray-haired Frenchman sat in a restaurant corner, dallying over a bottle of red wine. Occasionally he would curl his long moustache and lean towards the next table, straining to catch snatches of a mixture of French and English conversation.

Interested in Canucks

It was obvious he was greatly interested in his neighbors but refrained from speaking. At last he rose to go. Then he stopped, came back to our table and interrupted. "Canadians?" he asked.

"Oui," chorused the diners, including Capt. Dave MacLellan of Halifax, Lieut. Yvon Beaulne of Ottawa, Lieut. Joe Dolan of Montreal, of the Canadian Public Relations staff in Algiers, and J. A. M. Cook, Winnipeg Free Press Correspondent.

The Frenchman's face broke into a wrinkled smile, his face beamed and tears streamed from behind his silver-rimmed glasses. He thrust out a gnarled, dirty paw and shook hands all around, stopping only short of kissing each of the diners on the cheek.

Hopping about excitedly, he kept repeating in French, "friends, friends, friends." Then, after his display of emotion, he turned quickly on his heel and left, head high, shoulders squared.

This isn't an isolated instance of Frenchmen, as well as American and British, showing great regard for Canadians. "Canada", on the shoulders of soldiers carries weight in Algiers.

"To victory," is the toast when Frenchmen are in company of Canadians. Then they will ramble on, praising Canada, telling about France.

An exiled Parisian put it this way —"Americans—they're okay. British—all right, too. But Canadians, they are neither American nor English. They understand us."

Albemarle Product Of Shadow Plants

Cinderella of British Aircraft Industry Ideal for Towing Gliders

By LOUIS V. HUNTER
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

LONDON (CP) — The glider-towing Albemarle, details of which have just been released after three years on the secret list, is the Cinderella of Britain's aircraft industry.

This twin-engine, mid-wing monoplane with tricycle undercarriage —the first of that type to be made in Britain, is the product of the first experiment in "shadow manufacture" in 1940, when organ builders, dental manufacturers and even tombstone makers were among the sub-contractors producing its components.

The Albermarle is the only machine made of wood and steel to be used on operations. It was designed during the "blitz" for bombing and reconnaissance. The machines have since been used to carry mail to Gibraltar, as transports in Russia and as bombers.

The first aircraft to land troops in Sicily last July was an Albermarle. Now, after three years of varied service, its ideal job has been found in towing gliders. The tricycle undercarriage is a distinct advantage in glider work.

Its maximum speed is more than 250 miles an hour at 10,500 feet and its range is greater than 1,300 miles. It carries a crew of five in a specially armored cabin and is identified by its twin fins and rudders. It has a four-gun Boulton Paul turret, a span of 77 feet, length of 60 feet and a height (to propeller tip) of 15 feet, seven inches. As a glider tug it weighs 22,600 pounds.

Built at a time when light alloys were in such short supply that even aluminum kettles were conscripted for fighters, the machine was in mass production long before even one prototype was in the air.

Problems of labor and supply were so acute when a company in the Hawker Siddeley group began producing the Albermarle that the firm took the bold step of ordering parts from sub-contractors with no previous experience whatever of aircraft construction.

They had almost literally to go into the highways and byways for their sub-contractors who now number more than 1,000. Firms making ecclesiastical furniture and hair-waving equipment were among the shadow factories where the first parts of this austerity aircraft were produced.

Jack Horner's Plum Was an English Manor

(By D. A. Mck. in Windsor Star)

Remember that nursery line you knew, the one about little Jack Horner who sat in a corner, eating his Christmas pie? And how he put in his thumb and pulled out a plum, and then bragged about it? Well, the nursery rhyme about the plum pie was probably the origin of the expression "political plum," for like so many of the old Henry-Elizabeth rhymes it had a double entendre.

Lilting Jack Horner, possessed of a very fine voice, was steward to the Abbot of Glastonbury, an old world priory that lies on the London-Exeter highway in the county of Somerset. The Abbot that day in May, 1539, was Richard Whiting and the King, Henry VIII. Henry was having trouble with his marriages as usual, and his money. One was causing trouble with the Pope and the other making the people of England a little grieved because they had to pay the shot.

So Henry, as he so often did when troubles started troubling him, called in his soothsayer and friend, one Thomas Cromwell. Between them they hit upon what they thought would be a brilliant three-way scheme. One, to refill the sadly depleted coffers of the Royal exchequer; two, to satisfy the dissentent voice of the steadily growing Protestant role of England, and three, to exchange the seat of the Christian world from the continent to England. "What ho!" quoth Henry to Thomas Cromwell, the arch plotter and big real estate man of his day. "We'll close the monastries and grab the proceeds!"

Word By Grapevine

Somehow, word traveled along the political grapevine of that day, until it reached the ear of Richard Whiting the Abbot.

The word said . . . Henry is going to foreclose, maybe if you beat him to the punch you'll be able to keep some of the lands adjoining the Abbey . . . and so a noble scheme was born in the Abbot's mind and that is where little Jack Horner leaves the nursery rhyme and comes into this story.

Jack Horner, who lived on the estate of Mell, which adjoins Glastonbury, was a likely looking lad. History (what little out of the nursery rhyme remembers him) says that he was a tall slim youth with yellow golden hair and a particularly fine voice. That day in 1539 when the Abbot called him into the sanctum he little thought he was to attain fame.

You can almost imagine the hushed conspiritial voices as the Abbot and Jack talked over the plan to save the lands, or at least some of them, belonging to the Abbacy. The plan was very simple, but at that, well advanced even for that day.

The Abbot would have the kitchen force prepare a huge plum pie and Jack would take it up to London to a high ranking church official there. The pie would be the same as any other prepared in the vast kitchens, except for one thing. Instead of the usual stewed fruit inside the huge brown crusted pie, title deeds to 12 lands of the neighboring Glastonbury would form the filling!

And so the deed was done!

Jack, astride a beautiful bay gelding next morning, and with the Abbot's good wishes still ringing in his ears, the pie wrapped around with a linen cloth tied to his saddle, rode off for London town!

Takes Off Crust

History does not record where, but somewhere along that London road the demon subterfuge took our friend Jack by the ear and said, "Why not have a look at the inside of that pie? After all, you are a part of the plan"—and so poor Jack sat on a mile post and with a careful and dexterous knife drew it around the edge of the pie crust and, in one unbreaking movement, lifted it from the eathernware dish!

The deed was done and history was in the making! Jack's eyes glistended and he thumbed through the title deeds to many fair acres of parkland. "Ah! there's the one for me," thought Jack, pulling out the title deed to the Manor of Mell, and suiting the action to the words, he placed the deed to the Manor in his leather jerkin, replaced the crust and linen, and rode on his way to London rejoicing.

History does not record the delivery of the deeds to the Abbot of Reading who was seeking audience with the King, but as the Horner descendants are still living at Mell to this very day it is safe to assume that Jack's part of the pie incident worked safely.

History does, however, record that the Abbot of Reading and the Abbot of Glastonbury did not live very long after the title deeds had been delivered.

Thomas Cromwell

Thomas Cromwell, great-uncle of Oliver, with some of the King's henchmen as a raiding party, swooped down on Glastonbury in the wee hours of September 15, 1539, and ransacked the apartments of Richard Whiting, finding nothing but valuable plate belonging to the Abbacy. The deeds were gone!

Chagrined, the posse took the Abbot to London, with several of the Abbacy's retainers (no servant problem in those days), and placed him in prison in the Tower of London with other clerical prisoners to await the day of trial and the dissolution of the monasteries. Then one day when the sun was high in the heavens they took the Abbot of Glastonbury and the Abbot of Reading back to their respective domains and at the gate to their Abbeys beheaded them.

Witnesses Removed

The two chief witnesses to the political plum-pie episode were removed . . . and Jack in this case was as good as his master.

After the dissolution of the Abbacy of Glastonbury, Henry collected what would be about one million sterling in present day money, from the sale of plate, both silver and gold, jewels torn from holy reliques and chalices, and rich drapes and furnishings stolen from the closed Abbacy. All these things were sold at small auction sales held all over the country by private auctioneers appointed by the King. In the years following, history records that over 15 million sterling was collected by the King in a like manner from proceeds from other closed monastries.

And that's the story of Little Jack Horner and his prize plum pulling. How long he lived to enjoy it is not disclosed, but Thomas Cromwell never found out that he had lost a prize parcel of land through subterfuge, because Henry tired of him within the year, and on the 24th day of July, 1540, his period of usefulness to bluff King Hal at an end, Thomas was beheaded.

Parliamentary Committee On Radio Broadcasting Set Up After Vigorous Debate

LaFleche and Coldwell Exchange Verbal Blasts in Discussing CBC

SYSTEM COMENDMED

By JAMES McCOOK
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

Ottawa, Feb. 26 (CP)—The storm signals which have marked the month-old 1944 session remained flying high when the House of Commons closed another week of business Friday night.

The members approved a motion by War Services Minister LaFleche to again set up a special committee on radio broadcasting, bu: in so doing exchanged some vigorous coments on broadcasting in general and the CBC in particular.

M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, who commended much of the work done by the CBC, heard Liberal and New Democracy speakers say CBC news broadcasts placed too much emphasis upon what he said and upon his party policies.

Gen. LaFleche said Mr. Coldwell had expressed some fear that Canada might some day be governed under National Socialism.

"I do not think that will be the case," he continued.

"Nor do I," said Mr. Coldwell.

"We now have the member for Rosetown-Biggar (Mr. Coldwell) expressing publicly in this House the view, the opinion that he will never come to ower," replied the general.

Asks Withdrawal.

Rising on a point of order, Mr. Coldwell said Canada was at war with the National Socialists and that when members tried to apply the term to the C.C.F. they transgressed the House rules.

"I say either that it (the statement) be withdrawn or you arrest me as an enemy of this country, one or the other," he added. "You cannot have it both ways."

Speaker J. A. Glen said Mr. Coldwell had denied he was identified with the National Socialists and, having stated his position, there was no point of order. His decision on whether a withdrawal should be made probably will be given Monday.

Dr. J. J. McCann (L-Renfrew South), chairman of the radio committee last year, said the CBC had a fine record of accomplishment during the last six of eight years, with expansion and improvement of services.

Foresees Deputy Minister of CBC

He expressed belief the time had come when it would be advisable to have a full-time well-paid general manager of the corporation, who would have the rank of Deputy Minister. If there were a smaller board of goverors, it might be well to have regional advisers for the four different sections of Canada—The Maritimes, Quebec, Ontario and Western Canada—"to give the benefit of their knowledge of their various areas.

Statements that there was conflict between the CBC and privately-owned stations were incorrect since they worked in co-operation, said Mr. McCann.

No Recommendation for General Manager.

Gen. LaFleche said the CBC Board of Governors has not yet made a recommendation for a new general manager.

The Minister said that when the Progressive Conservative Party showed the CBC a speech to be made by John Bracken, National Leader, last December it had never expected it to be passed for broadcating as the script stood. The Progressive Conservative move was a "too-clever piece of publicity", he said.

He said C.C.F. speakers had charged political interference with the CBC by the government and he denied such interference had occurred.

"I have no admiration for men who do nothing of which I know to help win the war but remain at home, perhaps not unwillingly yet effectively to cause trouble in a family which should remain united so that we can do a better job in helping the other united nations in downing our enemies", said Gen. LaFleche.

Rev. E. G. Hensell (ND.-MacLeod), said the CBC "could not dangle the name of Coldwell in front of the people almost every day without it having some effect on the people".

There should be a supervisory body with control over both the CBC and private broadcasters, without the CBC being given a monopoly control of broadcasting, he continued.

Not Giving True Picture Says Tucker.

Capt. Walter Tucker, (L-Rosthern), said the C.C.F. leader was being held up as the leader of the future and the CBC was not giving a true picture in its news broadcasts of what happened in the House.

Recited Charges.

A National news broadcast on the evening of Feb. 21 had recited Mr. Coldwell's charges against aluminum interests "at great length," and repeated them the next night "so the people would know what they were," Capt. Tucker said. The broadcast had wrongly made it appear that Munitions Minister Howe had changed his mind on the tabling of evidence taken before the war expenditures committee.

Capt. Tucker said there were persons in the forces who were too busy to follow the news in the newspapers. Thousand of farmers took only a weekly newspaper and followed the CBC carefully, for daily news, believing it would be unbaised and fair. The house had a duty to see that trust was not destroyed "and not let some unknown people in Toronto, who are not watching the proceedings in the House, shade the news."

Claims Board Incompetent.

G. R. Boucher (PC—Toronto) said the CBC Board of Governors was incompetent and inefficient.

B. H. Soper (L—Lanark) said he wondered why progressive conservatives should continue to ask that John Bracken, the party's National Leader, be allowed time on the air.

"Any member of this House has more right to ask for time over the CBC than Mr. Bracken," said Mr. Soper.

Mr. Coldwell referred to a statement in the House Feb. 8 by Mr. Hansell that the CBC had given undue prominence to the C. C. F. in its news broadcasts. Mr. Coldwell said he had obtained the script of one report on the Commons debate in which Mr. Hansell had claimed Mr. Coldwell was mentioned twice while Gordon Graydon, Progressive Conservative House Leader, was mentioned only once. He said the script did not support Mr. Hansell's argument and was a fair report.

Discriminated Against Claim

Far from feeling it had an advantage, the C.C.F. believed it was discriminated against, Mr. Coldwell said.

Replying later, Mr. Hansell said Mr. Coldwell was "wrong again." On the night in question he had listened to two different broadcasts and Mr. Coldwell had obtained the script for only one.

He said his constituents had told him the C. C. F., and Mr. Coldwell in particular, regularly received prominent mention and he had heard the same report from other sources.

Tom Reid (L—New Westminster) said there was danger in allowing too many newspapers or chains of newspapers to own radio stations. Mr. Reid said former Premier T. D. Pattullo of British Columbia had proposed a provincial bill which would compel newspapers to publish letters sent to them by men who thought they had been framed. Nothing has been done about the bill but it showed the trend of the times.

The committee should see how many newspapers controlled radio stations. Some might be put out of public life by criticism they were unable to answer. Freedom of speech should not be the monopoly of either government or private interests.

SAYS CRUELTY IS INHERENT IN JAP RACE

Manitoba-Born Author of 'My Life With the Enemy' Spent 25 Years in Japan and the Far East

By ANITA FREEDMAN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Sixteen hundred ragged, underfed Allied repatriates drawn from internment camps in Japan and Hong King crowded the decks of the Japanese liner, Asama, as it headed for its rendesvous with the Swedish liner, Gripsholm. They stood like sheep in prison-born submissiveness, moving when they were told to move, waiting for orders and obeying them and fear was still in their eyes.

Manitoba-born Phyllis Argall was among them. Convicted of espionage and sentenced by the Japanese to 18 months at hard labor, she served six months in solitary confinement before she was released. During that time she paced her small dank cell, dreamed of food and tried to ward of gangrene by rubbing hands and feet turned black with frostbite in the cold of a bitter Tokyo winter For relief there were endless hours of maddening interrogation and an occasional blow from a brutal jailer.

"My Life With the Enemy" (Macmillan) covers 25 years Miss Argall spent living among the Japanese—as a child in a missionary family, as teacher and missionary herself in Formosa, and then as a journalist in Japan proper. Her experiences forced her to the conclusion that there is inherent in the Japanese race a strain of bestiality, cruelty, and a passion for inflicting torture on the defenceless. She formulated her opinion not by riding in on a blind wave of race hatred.

In 1920 she heard the story of an attack on an English missionary in Korea by a Jap soldier who beat him mercilessly and dragged him off to prison—simply because he considered the inoffensive missionary's appearance "suspicious". In 1938 she saw pictures taken after the occupation of Hankow and Canton showing that bodies of men bombed and machine-gunned had been used to fill in ruts in a road so that army truck could run the more smoothly. In 1942 she bore marks on her own body as testimony.

In Newspaper Work.

As managing editor of Japan News-Week, an American publication which managed to retain its integrity and independence in spite of pressure from the Japanese Foreign Office, she came to grips, many times with the illogical fanaticism which made patriotism a religion and anything not pro-Japanese treason.

By the summer of 1941 the government's policy of 'Japanification' had brought about complete control of press and people, opinion and action. In religion emphasis swung from Christianity to Shintoism with its creed of divinity of emperor and race.

Knowing that the enemy has surrendered his comforts, progress and thoughts to produce a war machine, Miss Argall warns against underestimating his strength or his staying powers. She urgently exhorts that we carry the war to his doors at once before he can consolidate his gains. Above all we must come to no other terms than unconditional surrender.

Broken Section Bomber Wing Found in Lake

Owego, N.Y., Feb. 26. (AP)—United States coast guardsmen have attached a tow cable to a broken section of a bomber wing found drifting in Lake Ontario, but neither they nor army men could say whether the part came from the "Getaway Gertie" which vanished a week ago with eight aboard.

Meanwhile, a crew from the Oswego Coast Station and civil air patrol fliers from Utica and Fulton, N.Y., with two planes from the Rome Army Air Field, were seeking traces of the missing bomber in the lake.

The wing section was spotted from the air, 700 feet offshore near Oaks Beach, some ten miles northeast of Oswego. An army spokesman said the broken part bore a United tSates Army Air Force insignia.

Will Pay Overtime To Customs Men At Rainbow Bridge

Niagara Falls, N.Y., Feb. 26.—(AP)— The Niagara Falls Bridge Commission voted last night not to meet a demand of the United States Treasury Department that it pay overtime to Customs Inspectors engaged in official capacities on Sundays at the Rainbow Bridge.

The Treasury Department also asked that a $5,000 bond be posted to insure the overtime payment, the Commission added.

A letter from M. O. Bement, collector of Customs at Buffalo, the Commission said, announced that failure to comply with overtime payment would result in halting of international travel over the Rainbow Bridge, starting at midnight Saturday, until midnight Sunday.

Closing of the bridge, said C. Ellison Kaymayer, general manager of the bridge, would prevent about 3,000 Americans residing on the Canadian side of the river from reaching weekend shifts at Niagara Falls chemical plants and other war industries.

The Bridge Commission declared that any payment to customs inspectors by other than the government would be a violation of the Civil Service Act prohibiting government employees from receiving compensation from other than government sources.

The Thousand Islands Bridge at Alexandria Bay, N.Y., also voted not to meet the Treasury demand the Commission said. It added that while the Peace Bridge at Buffalo conceded to the payment, its attorneys would join legal representatives of the dessenting bridge commissions at Washington Monday to seek a conference with Treasury Secretary Morgenthau.

The Commission said it would ask special police protection at the American bridgehead Saturday night to meet anticipated travel difficulties.

Capital Closeups

By JAMES McCOOK
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Ottawa, Feb. 26—(CP)—Canada's 120,000 Indians are busy learning to paddle their own canoe.

The Indians Affairs Branch of the Resources Department has started a campaign to increase agricultural production on reserves, distributing instructional charts emphasizing the food value of vegetables and supplying seed to Indians who cannot buy it themselves. Some $13,000 worth of seed already has been bought for distribution in British Columbia.

Indians in lake areas are being encouraged to enlarge their fishing operations and $20,000 worth of fishing equipment has been bought for distribution in northern Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

As the largest collective landholders in the Dominion—the area of reserve lands is 5,423,734 acres—the Indians are being encouraged to make a larger contribution to the nation's meat supply. Pure-bred bulls worth $20,000 have been purchased for Prairie Indians, two goat herds have been established at Spanish and Golden Lakes, Ont. Small herds will also be sent to agencies in Northern Ontario if present plans mature.

Officials who expect to see more and more Indians able to stand on their own feat in respect to food supplies noted that last year about $1,000,000 worth of foodstuffs, including bacon, beef, lard, flour, rolled oats and rice, was purchased from parliamentary appropriations and Indian trust funds for distribution to needy Indians.

Secrets: To the rest of the world a meeting in camera and a meeting in secret appear very much the same—the public can't get in. But it seems there is a subtle difference, and the Couse of Commons was quite exercised over it this week.

M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader who had been referring to in-camera hearing of the War Expenditures Committee, said there is a well defined rule that evidence given in camera is not given in secret and that a member has to be guided by his own conscience as to what he will subsequently divulge. A secret meeting was secret and nothing could be said about it.

Manley Edwards (L-Calgary West) said Speaker J. A. Glen should give some guidance as to what "in cemera" means. He cited a similar request for guidance made in the British House, when the speaker said evidence given secretly cannot be divulged.

Parliamentarians forecast the House would talk about it again.

Mannerism: Prime Minister Mackenzie King surely could have any kind of fountain pen or pencil he wants. And yet, this session as in all those that have fied, he writes his notes in the House with a minute pencil stub fished from a vest pocket. Strange contrast to the glittering of pens and pencils adorning some other parliamentary chests.

"LET'S JUST LOOK AT OUR NEW WALLS"

"God Bless the RED CROSS and those who GIVE"

Words that come right from the heart . . . and with a catch in the voice! Words that rise from all parts of this war-torn world where the Red Cross brings hope and help . . .
. . . from a prisoner-of-war as he steps forward eagerly to receive a life-saving parcel of food.
. . . from a wounded soldier after a transfusion of blood plasma—from a Canadian blood bank.
. . . from a little boy—a victim of a direct hit on his home—as he gets food at a mobile canteen.
. . . from the front, from behind the lines, from bombed areas, from prison camps . . . from all these the cry swells into an anthem . . . "God bless the Red Cross and those who give!"

The Red Cross needs 10 million dollars this year. Over half of that amount will go to food parcels for our boys in prisoner-of-war camps . . . to keep them alive, healthy and hopeful. The rest of the money? To the many other noble, spirit-lifting causes that you yourself would wish to help . . . too many to tell here.
The Red Cross asks your support.
You'll give it, we know . . . warmly, unstintingly. For the need is great . . . the cause is great . . . the appeal is to a great-hearted people.

RUSSIAN FORCES WITHIN 10 MILES OF PSKOV

Hitler Orders His Forces to Hold Out to Last Man

Powerful German Line in Pskov Area Neutralized and Outflanked

COUNTER-ATTACK FAILS

By HENRY C. CASSIDY
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Moscow, Feb. 28. (AP) — Red Army troops driving westward upon Pskov have outflanked and neutralized a powerful German line based on lakes and streams in that area, dispatches from the second Baltic front declared today.

(The BBC said Soviet forces striking down from the north were within ten miles of the rail hub of Pskov, and that Hitler had ordered his troops to hold out there "to the last man". CBS heard the broadcast.)

Gen. Popov's forces after passing Pushtoshka—30 miles west of Novosokolniki and forty miles east of the Latvian frontier— were reported to have broken the Velikaya River line just northwest of Pushtoshka.

A Pravda dispatch said they left behind them to the northeast a water line of numerous rivers and ponds where the Nazis had hoped to check the Soviet advance. This waterline, southwest of Loknya, was by-passed from the north and south and "annulled", it added, and beyond that sector the Red Army was spreading out along a network of good roads.

Harass Germans.

The Germans are attempting to break off contact and reorganize their deences, Pravda said, but the Russians, harassing them constantly, are defeating Nazi efforts to disengage.

The advance was facilitated by complete clearing of the Dnonovosokolniki railroad, main lateral line of communication just behind the front.

Farther south, German successes at the tip of the Russian spearhead in the Luck sector in preward Poland appeared definitely checked after gaining initial successes that subsequently were alost.

(The German communique indicated a new gain southward by the Russians on this deep salient, saying Nazi forces had thrown back Red army counter-attacks near Yampol. There is a Yampol 27 miles southwest of Ostrog, one of the largest Soviet-held towns on the southern edge of the penetration into Poland.)

Describing the fighting on the Baltic front, a Pravda dispatch quoted a captured German officer as saying his unit had been forced to defend a wide sector ordinarily manned by much larger forces. He said the Soviets attacked in small groups, filtering through enemy lines to cut communications and open the way for advance of their main forces.

COULD ONLY GASP

Pittsburg, Feb. 28. (AP) —James Healy, already the father of two sets of twins, could only gasp yesterday when the nurse who found him pacing the waiting room at St. Joseph's hospital told him his wife, Rose Marie, had just given birth to triplets, two girls and a boy.

The girls weighed four pounds, one ounces and five pounds, nine ounces, and the boy, six pounds, one ounce. All apparently are in good health, attendants said.

Col. Juan D. Peron To Be Minister In Argentine Govt.

Montevideo, Feb. 28 —(AP)—Col. Juan D. Peron, leader of the powerful Argentine "Colonels' Group" credited with ousting Gen. Pedro Ramirez from the presidency last week, was to be installed today as war minister, a Buenos Aires announcement said last night.

A communique from the secretariat of labor, which Peron heads, said the appointment had been made by Gen. Edelmiro J. Farrell, who succeeded Ramirez.

Although reliable travellers from Buenos Aires asserted a majority of the officers and armed forces of Argentina favored returning Ramirez to the presidency, last night's communique announced high army and navy officers as well as other government officials will attend Peron's induction.

One informant in close contact with the Argentine situation said Ramirez had been coerced into turning his powers over to Farrell and now is being held a virtual prisoner in his own home. He said army officers are only awaiting word from Ramirez to return him to the presidency through another coup.

Kingston, Ont., Feb. 28. (CP)—Grant Mitchell, secretary of the Thousand Islands Bridge authority, today was en route to Washington for a conference with United States government officials about the closing of the bridge between Canada and the U.S. Sunday. The closing resulted from a dispute over overtime Sunday pay for U.S. Customs inspectors.

THREE CONVICTS CAPTURED AFTER SHORT JAIL BREAK

Held 16-Year-Old Girl Prisoner for 12 Hours After Jail Break

STAGE GUN BATTLE

Greenwood, Miss., Feb. 28—(AP) —The last of three young San Quentin convicts who abducted a 16-year-old girl in a jail break and police chase through Mississippi has been recaptured.

Hinds County Criminal Investigator J. T. Naugher said Ralph Ward, 23, was the last of the trio who broke jail in Jackson Saturday and held the girl for 12 hours. Ward was returned to Greenwood jail.

Naugher said Ward was captured at Tchula by four officers including himself when the fugitive's car, a stolen one, turned over at a road blockade.

Capt. L. Thames said Lawrence Motari, 21, was captured behind a filling station in the vicinity of warehouse, while Roy Drake, 20, was taken from the warehouse roof.

Ralph Ward, 23, the other member of the trio who escaped from Hinds County Jail yesterday, made his way through the cordon of officers and forced Phillip Lee, 28, of Greenwood, to drive him in the direction of Tchula, 30 miles away. Ward took the car from Lee and released him.

Arlene McKnight, 16, was taken by the bandits from her home near Cleveland, Miss., after the escaped youths shot her father, Joe McKnight, in the leg.

The girl was released unharmed at a plantation near Belzoni, Miss.

Wooster Henry, owner of the plantation, said the men spent about 10 hours yesterday at his place, holding the girl, him, his wife, a negro yardboy and a negro cook at bay.

He said the men forced the cook to fix them a dinner and said it was "the best we've had in years." They tied up Henry, his wife, the servants and the girl, and gave the girl some money "to get home on."

The men were being held in the Hinds County Jail awaiting trial on charges of robbing a hotel in Jackson. They escaped from the San Quentin, Calif., State Prison last Dec. 26 by scaling a wall. They were serving a sentence for the holdup of a Beverly Hills Hotel.

They broke from the Hinds County Jail by overpowering a jailor and threatening to kill him if trustees interfered.

GREAT DAMAGE IN HELSINKI BY RUSSIAN RAID

Estimated 70 Per Cent Of City Destroyed By Attack Lasting Almost 12 Hours

TRAFFIC PARALYZED

By DWIN SHANKE
Associated Press Staff Writer

Stockholm, Feb. 28 —(AP)— The Finnish press continued today to prepare the people for momentous developments—perhaps a government decision this week on whether Finland will get out of the war with Russia.

Helsinki meanwhile dug out from under the debris left by the worst bombing of the war when 600 Russian bombers, by Finnish communique count, hit the capital Saturday night.

Today's communique said enemy planes had attacked Oulu on the gulf of Bothnia yesterday afternoon and night, causing damage and fires.

Big Stumbling Block.

The touchy question of Russian troops moving into Finland still appeared to be the biggest stumbling block to a Finnish-Russian armistice, and the conservative newspaper Uusi Suomi indicated the issue apparently had boiled down to the point of Soviet guarantees of safety for the Finnish people, and the assurances they would continue to be free.

Failure to get such guarantees would be the only reason no armistice was signed, said this newspaper which generally reflects the government view, thus inferring that territorial and other questions no longer were a problem in the negotiations.

Refugees reaching Sweden told of great damage by the weekend bombing of Helsinki.

The refugees said Soviet planes, estimated in a Finnish communique at 600, laid waste vast sections of the capital and one estimated that 70 per cent. of the buildings were destroyed or wrecked. The University of Helsinki was reported almost entirely destroyed.

Fires broke out in many sections, the refugees said, and panic spread among the civilian population as the Russian raiders, striking in small groups, kept the attack going almost 12 hours.

Some fires still were burning yesterday and transportation facilities were virtually paralyzed. No Sunday papers were published.

Finns said the raid served only to stir up hatred for the Russians and made the prospect of peace with Russia more remote than ever.

A Russian communique described the attack on Helsinki as a massed raid by large groups of Soviet planes, which were said to have bombed the railway station, arms dumps, military barracks and war plants.

Allied Supporters in France Wage War on Nazi Partisans

Taylor Henry was chief of The Associated Press bureau in Vichy at the time of the German occupation. He now is in Portugal awaiting repatriation after more than a year in German internment camps at Lourdes, France and Baden-Baden, Germany.

By TAYLOR HENRY
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Lisbon, Feb. 28—(AP) — Virtual civil war in France between partisans of the United Nations and German supporters has resulted in the death of thousands of collaborationist Frenchmen and members of the German army of occupation with only nominal casualties to the friends of the United Nations.

During the last six months, according to the best available figures, this French terror has spelled death to at least 1,500 French police and militia, and half as many civilian collaborationists and to between 1,500 and 2,000 German troops.

Widespread as these figures indicate the terrorist activity to be, it is nothing compared with sabotage, one of the French patriots' main contributions to the United Nations war effort.

The latest round-number figures on sabotage indicate partisans have made 15,000 bomb attacks, 1,000 direct attacks against railroads carrying supplies and men for Germany and some 750 attacks on city halls in various towns and villages to obtain food tickets and supplies to care for the growing terrorist organization.

One of the sore spots for French patriots with whom I talked on my way through France was the fact that while the Germans were executing French men and women who were fighting their country's battles against the occupation troops, Marshall Henri Petain in an official Vichy ceremony laid wreaths on the graves of German dead at the same time that he honored French soldiers killed in the fighting around Vichy in the last days of the war.

SHARP INCREASE IN FIGHTING SEEN NEAR BEACHHEAD

British Storm and Take Two Buildings Germans Converted Into Strongpoints

ARTILLERY ACTIVE

Naples, Feb. 28—(AP)— A sharp increase in fighting in the past two days along headquarters of the Moletta river southwest of Carroceto was announced today as artillery duelling rose in intensity along the Anzio battlefront.

Allied headquarters said British troops of the Allied 5th Army in that sector stormed and captured two buildings the Germans had converted into strongpoints. Comparative quiet has existed heretofore along the Moletta, which empties into the sea 11 miles north of Anzio and extends almost due East to within a mile of via Anziate, the highway running from Anzio to Carroceto and Rome.

Simultaneously with the increase in artillery fire, an American cruiser, standing close to shore, poured shells into German gun positions yesterday.

Persistent German efforts to infiltrate through ravines south of Carroceto were frustrated by Allied artillery, a headquarters announcement said.

Although adverse weather hampered both ground and air operations yesterday, Allied patrols probed German lines on both the main 5th Army and British 8th Army fronts.

West of Castelforte beyond the Garigliano on the main 5th Army front a British patrol engaged a small enemy force, inflicting a number of casualties.

Hangar Exploded.

Dive-bombers and strafing attacks by Allied craft on the Littorio and Guidonia airdromes near Rome, in which a hangar was exploded, highlighted Sunday air operations. Total flights during the day were reduced to about 400 by bad flying weather. Dive-bombers scored 16 hits on docks at Ladispoli, a little port north of the river tiber.

Simultaneously with new air attacks on enemy shipping off the Yugoslav coast, the British destroyers Tyrian and Teaser shelled German batteries of Vela Luka, on the island of Korcula. The enemy replied, but caused no damage or casualties.

Spitfires destroyed 11 motor vehicles and damaged others in an attack on enemy transportation in Central Italy.

Shoot Up Railway Cars.

Other Spitfires shot up 20 railroad cars in Yugoslavia, in the region of Sibenik, Kittyhawks scored near misses on two vessels near Sibenik harbor on the Yugoslav coast, and coastal Air Force R. A.

Once-Powerful Fortress Returns Only Sporadic Fire

Base at Kafieng Is Bombarded Third Time by American Destroyers' Guns

OTHER U. S. ATTACKS

Allied Headquarters, Southwest Pacific, Feb. 28 —(CP)— United Nations navy destroyers, after giving the enemy base at Kavieng, New Ireland, its worst pounding of the war, turned their guns on tottering Rabaul, New Britain, Friday, in co-ordination with a 112-ton aerial bombing.

An Allied communique reported the once-powerful fortress offered only sporadic return fire, for the sixth consecutive day and no Japanese planes rose to intercept raiders.

It was the second naval bombardment of the week on Rabaul and the third on Kavieng. The communique said the New Ireland base returned accurate and consistent artillery fire, although suffering considerable damage to town, harbor, ammunition dumps and storage areas and shipping.

Other aerial attacks were carried out on the Admiralty Islands and on Wewak and the Mandang area in New Guinea.

At Pearl Harbor it was announced the naval raid on Truk in the Marshall Islands Feb. 16-17 sank 23 enemy ships—not 19 as first reported.

BARKLEY MAY BE RUNNING MATE FOR ROOSEVELT

Open Quarrel Probably Will More Strongly Unite Democratic Groups

SENATOR STANDS HIGH

By C.R. BLACKBURN

Washington, Feb. 28 —(CP)— An end to the sniping, hit-and-run warfare between the White House and the Capitol was seen today as one possible good that might come from last week's congressional revolt against President Roosevelt.

There was a hope among some Democrats that the open quarrel would bring a new understanding between Mr. Roosevelt and the Democratic groups in Congress and unite them in a fourth-term attempt in this year's presidential elections.

One veteran Democratic representative, whose opinions are often sought but never quoted directly, foresaw the possibility that Senator Alben Barkley (Dem.-Ky.), who led last week's revolt, would be a candidate for vice-president and Mr. Roosevelt's running mate in the campaign.

Today Barkley is undisputed leader of the Democratic majority in the Senate and, in an exchange of letters with the President, has pledged his continued fidelity to Mr. Roosevelt, warning only that there must be no lack of confidence or respect between the legislative and administrative wings of government.

It is not uncommon for presidents to be at variance with Congress in the United States but it is unlikely that the split was ever so wide as the gulf that yawned between them last week.

Seldom has Congress acted so quickly and so unitedly on any issue as on the tax bill veto.

Unless the breach is healed quickly the United States will be ruled for almost another year by a president, who is scarcely on speaking terms with the elected representatives of the people.

However, there was a feeling apparent that all concerned, now that pent-up feelings have been relieved in a public outburst, will decide that the big issue is to win the war and make America safe for peace.

That cannot be accomplished if there is a continuing fight between the legislative and administrative wings of government.

Mr. Roosevelt remains the Democrats best or only hope for success in the forthcoming elections. If he decides to run he will pick his running mate—the candidate for vice-president.

Eight Families Homeless After Napanee Blaze

Napanee, Feb. 28 (Special) — Eight families are homeless as a result of one of the worst fires in the history of this town. The fire, which started Saturday night in the bakery operated by the Francis Bakery, Bridge St., spread through a block and destroyed five business places on Market St., facing the market square. Damage is estimated at $100,000.

The occupants of eight apartments located over the stores were able to make their escape in night attire and suffered no serious injury. Mrs. Francis was slightly overcome by smoke.

The Napanee volunteer fire department, with the assistance of citizens, fought the fire for a considerable time before calling upon the Belleville Fire Department, who arrived with motorized equipment. The blaze was not under control until 8.30 Sunday morning.

The Francis Bakery was one of the largest in this part of the Province and supplied bread to a large area, including Kingston and the military training centre. The bakery and equipment are reported to be a complete loss. Cause of the fire has not been determined.

Seven Fatalities In East Canada

By The Canadian Press

Seven fatalities were reported in Eastern Canada during the weekend, all of them occurring in Ontario.

Elias Vegh, 37, was electrocuted Saturday while working at the Windsor plant of the Standard Machine and Tool Company. Mrs. Garnet Whittaker of St. Marys died Sunday at a Stratford Hospital Sunday from head and neck burns received Friday in a coal-gas explosion in her home. William Eccles of Montreal, engineer on an Eastbound Canadian National Railways passenger train from Toronto Saturday, was killed when the train plowed into a derailed freight 21 miles east of Brockville. Seven-year-old Loretta Boyd was killed Saturday at Pickering when struck by a transport.

Mrs. Lessie Sharp died Saturday in Toronto after being overcome by illuminating gas from a kitchen stove in her home. Fred S. Hartman, 49, was killed Saturday when his automobile skidded on the icy roadway and crashed into a hydro pole in East-Central Toronto. Harry Diak, 55, was fatally injured Saturday night when struck by the shunting engine of a Canadian Pacific Railways train in West Toronto.

Hit Three Times On Dieppe Beach

Toronto, Feb. 28. (CP)—Maj. R. R. Laird of the Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps told yesterday how he was operated upon by German doctors and eight times after that by British doctors because of injuries suffered at Dieppe.

The 30-year-old medical officer from Oliver, B.C., arrived here yesterday with a group of Canadians invalided home from overseas.

Describing how he was wounded at Dieppe, Maj. Laird said "we had just landed on the Beach when a machine gun got my right leg".

"At regular half-hour intervals, three times, I was hit with more machine-gun bullets, an unfriendly rifle and something else I can't remember".

His right leg later was amputated below the knee.

British Wounded Bayoneted by Japanese in India

Massacre Four Doctors, Hospital Orderlies and at Least 25 Wounded Men—Water Refused Dying Men

By Special Correspondent of The London Daily Mail
Distributed by Reuters News Agency

On the Arakan Front, Feb. 28 —(CP Reuters)— The Japanese will have to answer after the war for the massacre of Ngakyedauk. For 36 hours they used the hospital of the newly-relieved 7th Indian Division as battle headquarters, killed British and Indian doctors, nurses and orderlies and murdered patients in their beds.

Wounded men whose moans might have given away their positions were bayoneted. They refused water to dying troops and bandages to doctors who would have tended them.

Tells of Murders.

Doctors who survived this raid on their hospital which began on the night of Feb. 7 told me of murders when I went through the "hedgehog".

When the Japanese hemmed them in, three field ambulance units combined to form a hospital near the end of Ngakyedauk Pass. At 8 p.m. on the night of Feb. 7, 60 Japanese crept up a nullah (ditch) and attacked it.

They dug themselves in quickly and stayed there until English soldiers threw them out 35 hours later.

Four doctors and at least 25 wounded had been massacred by then. How many more nurses, orderlies and patients were killed is not yet known.

Some of their malaria cases are believed to have fled into the jungle on their own, and their fate is uncertain.

Just before an ambulance carried him back over the pass Lieut. A. Basu, Indian doctor whom the Japanese left for dead with two bullet wounds in his head, told me the Japanese addressed their commander as "general."

"We did not give much away in answer to their grilling," Basu said. "At last they pinioned our hands behind our backs and tied us together in couples, regardless of rank. When we were all lashed together the 'general' unsheathed his sword, waved it over us and went away. As soon as he had gone we

Heavy Bombers In Force Over Northern France

London, Feb. 28.—(CP) —United States heavy bombers pounded at Nazi military objectives in Northern France today in assaults combined with blows by British and American medium bombers.

It was the first American heavy bomber operation since the raid on Regensburg in Germany Friday by planes from Britain and Italy, and marked the 18th operation of the U.S. 8th Air Force four-engined bombers this month.

Britain has been free of enemy aircraft for three consecutive nights after five raids on London, probably because of unfavorable weather over the Nazi airfields.

Bombing of Gilze-Rijen and other airfields in Holland by a record force of daylight medium bombers Friday may have been a contributing factor. Other German bomber bases also weer hit during the week.

A third cause of the lull possibly was the immense week-long bombing of the German aircraft factory, forcing the Nazis to reserve all aircraft possible for defence of the Reich.

Auxiliary Cruiser Refitted for Use As 'Nerve Centre'

Ottawa, Feb. 28 —(CP)— The former Canadian National cruiser ship Prince David, earlier in the war as an auxiliary cruiser, has been refitted again, this time as "the nerve centre of an amphibious expedition, the headquarters for an army of invasion," Naval Service Headquarters announced today.

Gone are the spacious decks, ample crew quarters and comfortable wardroom of Prince David's auxiliary cruiser days, the navy said.

The men who man Prince David's landing craft are veterans of more than a year's experience in combined operations work, said the navy. Many were at Dieppe, Sicily and North Africa.

JUST A DOOR BURNED

Philadelphia, Feb. 28. (AP) — Thousands of theatregoers and commuters, 100 firemen and 16 pieces of fire apparatus turned out for a fire in the centre of the downtown district last night, paralyzing traffic for nearly an hour. The fire burned a hole through a wooden door in a basement areaway—and that's all.

CITY AND DISTRICT NEWS

SGT.-MAJ. R. CLARKE WOUNDED IN ITALY

Sgt. Major Russel Clarke, son of Mrs. Ed. Clarke, formerly of this city, has been wounded in Italy on Feb. 16th., according to word received by his sister, Mrs. F. Keagan, Cedar Street. The notification that her brother had been wounded during the fighting in Italy was received by Mrs. Keagan from Ottawa. Sgt. Major Clarke enlisted in the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment early in the war and proceeded overseas with his unit in November, 1939. (Lindsay paper please copy).

CAR TOWED TO GARAGE BUT SOON RELEASED

When a badly damaged Studebaker touring car was left parked on Pinnacle St., near the Bridge St. intersection, over the weekend, the alert observation of Crown Attny. B. C. Donnan, K.C., brought police action on Sunday and the vehicle was towed to a nearby garage for safe keeping. Bearing Ontario licence plate number 9-B-838 the vehicle was later found to be the property of Walter Bond of Picton and its damaged condition was the result of an accident which occurred nearly a year ago. Police released the vehicle to Mr. Bond and as the city snow plow was not in operation over the weekend a charge of all-night parking was not preferred, police officials revealed.

TWO DISTRICT BOYS COMMISSIONED AS PILOTS IN R.C.A.F.

Receiving his commission as a pilot officer immediately following the wings presentation ceremony, Sgt. Donald V. Walker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Walker of Deseronto, had the wings of a pilot in the R.C.A.F. pinned on his tunic at a graduation ceremony held at No. 8 Service Flying Training School at Weyburn, Sask, last week. Formerly of Lonsdale and Tichborne, PO. Walker moved with his parents to Deseronto approximately two years ago and is a graduate of Kingston high school. He is quite well known in the Belleville district having visited often with his grandfather, Mr. A. Blackburn, formerly Trent Road.

A second district boy to receive his commission recently is Warrant Officer F. M. Gainforth who has been given his pilot officer's rank. He is the son of Mrs. C. M. Gainforth of Wooler, and is one of a recent list of R.C.A.F. personnel overseas to recently receive commissions.

CAPT. WALTER EXLEY WOUNDED IN ITALY

Son of a former Ontario Temperance Act inspector at Belleville, Captain Walter W. Exley, William Street, Kingston, has been wounded in Italy, according to word received by his wife in that city. Captain Exley lived in Belleville for a short time when his father, Walter Exley, was the O.T.A. inspector here. Mr. and Mrs. Exley now live in Napanee.

$250.29 SECURED IN LEGION TAG DAY

The sum of $250.29 was realized from Saturday's tag day sponsored by the Belleville Branch of the Canadian Legion, Lieut. Col. H. E. Smith, Legion president announced today.

Officers of the Legion expressed thanks for the generous response and to the Ladies Auxiliary, who conducted the tagging. Owing to the inclement weather tagging was abandoned about four o'clock in the afternoon otherwise the amount realized would have doubtless been larger.

LARGE AMOUNT FUEL WOOD REPORTED CUT

Farmers of Hastings, Frontenac and Addington counties have taken full advantage of the light snowfall and good prices to cut a large amount of fuel wood, according to reports from the Tweed district. Much of this wood has already found its way to Belleville and Napanee and other centres along Highway No. 2, although large quantities are still piled along roadsides in the north.

The extra quantity of fuel wood cut this season will help avoid any possibility of a fuel shortage next winter, it is thought, while conditions this winter have been eased by the comparatively warm weather. Light snowfall permitting cutter easy access to the woods and the fact that the labor shortage has been eased is held as the reason for the extra wood being cut.

UP GOES "COOKIE" FOR RIDE!

Seen in silhouette against the sky at "bombing up time," a "Cookie," one of the famous 4,000-pounders which have been dropped by the hundreds on Berlin in the recent R.A.F. raids, rises slowly into position in the capacious bomb-bay of a giant Lancaster. On either side of "Cookie's" rack are incendiary containers, each holding more than a hundred fire bombs. The armourer's "thumbs up" signal shows that everything is proceeding to his satisfaction.

Child Delinquency About Average Judge Mott Tells Congregation

Juvenile Court Judge of Toronto Speaks of Problems and of Home Life and Church and School

Judge Hawley Mott of Toronto's Juvenile Court, speaking at Bridge Street United Church on Sunday evening, pointed out that the lowest number of cases of child delinquency in Ontario in recent years was in the year 1939, the same situation ruling in the United States, and that hence it was not fair to take as yardstick the lowest and contrast other years with it. Instead the average should be taken instead of using the lowest as the measure. The highest figure for child delinquencies was in 1927.

"You business men who have 'lean' years know that. Take the average number of cases over a number of years and you will find the number of child delinquencies in 1943 and 1944 just about the average," the judge remarked.

"There is a stress and strain during war days whether we wish it or not. We seek to find something to talk about or to blame. Unfortunately throughout the ages the child has been the centre of this blame."

Long ago the Egyptians blamed children for waywardness and their attitude towards their elders.

Strain of War Days.

"Conditions today are more strained, less natural. Consequently we find children as well as adults stepping off at a tangent," the speaker stated.

Judge Mott said that a mother might come in and say that it was easy to handle the children when the father was home but when he way away, what was to be done? she will ask. Then there is the instance of both father and mother being away at work and nobody at home with the children at times. Then too there are cases of the father and mother who are overcareful. "Just the other day a high school boy, a fine fellow, got into a jam because the father and mother were too fearful, too strict and didn't understand and the boy went at a tangent," said the Judge.

The greatest problem is the children of tender years, eight, nine, ten and eleven, he noted. There is a clash of values in their young lives.

Parents Want to do Right Thing.

"After all these years I have yet to meet a parent who does not want to do the right thing," was the remark of the Judge.

World Not on Rocks.

"This old world is not on the rocks people will find that out."

Interesting information as to the success of the adult court in dealing with family cases was given. The Judge said that a large amount of money was paid in annually for wives and families by men who did not want to live at home. When cases of separation are decided upon, it might seem that all would be over. "But no," said he. "Old relations reassert themselves and these people are going to live together again. They had to learn the hard way. Most all the people go back to their homes. About nine hundred are paying in money every week. Sometimes a hundred come on every month. But the total of nine hundred does not grow, for many come in and say, 'Well, you won't see me any more for I am going back home.'"

Sometimes a man will come in as one man did, and hand ten dollars at Christmas time for the family along with the monthly payment, adding "but don't tell the missus."

School and Church.

The Judge turned his attention towards the church and school as the auxiliary help of the home.

"The tempo of our procedure does not meet the demands of war time," said Judge Mott of church work. "We have to speed up every phase of our effort. If there was ever a time when the church should be organized for its service to society it is now.

"Sacrifice is the law of life and it's the only thing that lifts a community up to a position where it can be proud of itself. Sacrifice must be shared by all and that, thank God, is our chance."

"Where shall we start? Don't blame the child, the government, the church. Turn your gaze upon your own self right in your own home.

"If there was ever a time when a mother needed Christian grace it is today.

"Let us make our home a place fit for ourselves to be in—a retreat from the trying vicissitudes of life.

"We must be ourselves, men and women, not as mere recipients, but as participants.

Start in Home Life.

"The day demands sacrifice and it takes you right into your thinking. Start in your home life. It is a fine thing for men to reverence home things."

Everyone needs a sense of awareness that he is right and that he has faith as Pitt had when he said, "I know that I can save England."

When man has this sense, he will see that the world has a place for him and that the way will be open for him. "That is the way we are going to win the peace," Judge Mott noted.

"There is a part of every hour, every day that you must turn to pay your debt to the past. You must pay the past to square your indebtedness. That is the duty of the hour.

"There is a deeper hunger in life than making a living," remarked the Judge. "The man that gathers much and gives little loses all. You must write off a bit in service and in duty done."

Sharing Life's Problems.

He noted that there is no way to understand a burden like sharing it and talking to somebody of it. Judge Mott told of a woman who came into his office and thinking she had a very great problem related her story and then asked him what he thought. Without directly answering, he asked her, "Well, what do you think?" Her reply was "Well, I think it is not so serious as I thought it was." By sharing this trouble with someone people's problems are lightened and solved.

Judge Mott stated that "the burdens of life are shared if a man talks to his Creator as his friend. If your home doesn't give you a chance to share your burden, you haven't a home yet. Give the world your best and the best will come back to you."

Rev. Dr. J. Semple, minister, introduced Judge Mott as an outstanding leader in national and church life.

Judge Mott spoke in the afternoon at the Sunday School on its 122nd anniversary. The morning service was of an anniversary character with the members of the school present in a body and the superintendents and Rev. Dr. Semple taking part.

Debonair Whale Nonchalantly Invades the United States

(By The Associated Press.)

Rehoboth Beach, Del., Feb. 28.—It is a whale of a thing to have happen right in the state of Delaware, but there was a whale abroad in these parts, and not in the ocean either.

He—everyone presumed it was a "he" because he was such a show-off—came gliding up the Lewes-Rehoboth Canal, swimming with a sort of debonair nonchalance.

Crowds gathered on the banks, children squealed, boatmen hooted their horns, small boats scooted out of the way.

At a point about two miles from the ocean, he slowed to something slower than a whale's pace, and spouted water.

The crowd cheered.

Then he steamed on, hundreds trotting along the shores, shouting.

The way he was headed, it was a 15-mile swim back to deep water, for he had to pass through Rehoboth and Indian River Bays and out Indian River Inlet, but nobody doubted he would make it, and there were no reports later to indicate he hadn't.

Bridge Tender John Warrington said he came in on yesterday's exceptionally high tide.

Cpl. T. Pedder Writes From Italy

"I'm sorry to disappoint you sis, but I'll never tell you anything about a battle. Since I landed with the first invasion forces in Sicily on July 10th, I haven't missed a single scrap that my regiment has been in and believe me, Daisy, the old 'Hasty Pee's' have just about been through 'em all."

Thus reads an excerpt from a rather non-committal letter received recently by Miss Daisy Pedder, from her brother, Corporal Thomas Pedder, who recently received his second wound since Christmas. Never through letters have relatives in Belleville been informed of wounds received by Cpl. Pedder, the information always coming through official channels.

"We have won battle honors and everything," the letter continues, "but I'll never describe a battle to you. You see 'Dais' I am an N.C.O. and have men under me, good men too, and I've seen some of them torn completely to bits by German shells—friends of mine, too.

"I try to keep my mind off the war when I write letters, so if I don't mention in my letters what I'm doing please try to understand, won't you? Just at the present my boys have taken over an old house. It's pretty late at night and we have a nice little fire going. Nice and cosy. Of course, some of the men are outside in a slit-trench watching. After all, we mustn't let Jerry walk in on us."

Cpl. Pedder wrote in his letter that Gord Yearwood had been wounded in the leg. He stated the wounds were not too bad. "At least he'll be out of it for a while," he stated.

Still not mentioning his own wound, the Belleville boy concludes with the statement that he's fine and "in pretty good health."

Enlisting early in the war, Cpl. Pedder traine dat Camp Borden and has been overseas for the past three years.

Military Honors Paid Airmen

Full military honors were paid on Saturday afternoon to two airmen, who lost their lives in a crash near Consecon on Thursday afternoon. LAC. Norman A. T. Wright of Bishopmill, Scotland and LAC. Richard Watt of Bristol, England were entombed in St. George's cemetery and will be interred in the R.C.A.F. plot in the spring.

Flt. Lt. Wilson of Mountain View was in charge of the flight and firing party proceeded by the Trenton R.C.A.F. band that paraded from the Corrigan and O'Brien Funeral Home through Front Street before proceeding to Trenton. Flt. Lt. Geo. Hamilton, Protestant Chaplain at Mountain View Station, conducted the simple service in the Funeral Home and also the last rites at the graveside.

On arrival at the cemetery the "flight" lined both sides of the road, the bearers carrying the bodies to their last resting place. The "Last Post" was sounded with the firing party at the "present" and this was followed by "Reveille."

POLICE BLOTTER

Walter Woodacre, 17 Franklin St., reported the theft of his bicycle to city police on Saturday afternoon. The bike had been parked in a driveway at the Canadian Hotel on East Dundas St.

Norman Hickson, 275 William St., reported the theft of a licence plate number from his motor car. The plate number is 986-B-4.

Youths Blamed.

Residents at 68 Sinclair St. complained to police that all of the windows in a bread wagon parked at the rear of those premises were broken over the weekend. Mischievous youths using the property for a short cut to Yeoman St. are believed responsible.

Slight Property Damage.

Property damage, estimated at about $35, resulted to motor cars belonging to W. A. Jeffries, R. R. No. 5, Trenton, and W. C. Jones, 270 Church St., after the vehicles were in collision near the Universal Moulded Products plant on Saturday afternoon. The icy condition of the road was said to have been the main factor causing the impact. No person was injured, police were told.

17 Veterans Disabled in Battles In Sicily and Italy Return

Sgt. Craddock of Trenton, L/Cpl. Melon of Madoc, Private McPhee of Smiths Falls Among Them

Kingston, Feb. 28—(CP)—Seventeen veterans of overseas service who returned to Canada last week on the hospital ship Lady Nelson arrived here yesteraday. Several of the group have seen active fighting in both Sicily and Italy. Eleven who suffered disabilities were taken to Kingston Military Hospital, while the other six were transported to District Depot 3A at Fort Frontenac.

Pte. James McPhee, Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment of Smiths Falls has been in bed since last October suffering leg, head and arm wounds. He has seen the fighting in Italy and Sicily although he was overseas only 1 1-2 years.

All the men from the Eighth Army who are now in Kingston military hospital were cheery when interviewed and expressed regret at leaving the scrap but happiness at being home.

Sgt. K. H. Craddock, Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, of Trenton came home with his left arm in a cast and sling. He was wounded when a German 88 millimetre shell exploded too close to him. War in Italy he described as "nerve-wracking" with constant artillery barrages. "Sicily was fun by comparison" he said. "We were kept busy and on the move the whole time." The Italian campaign had been organized in a different way and there was less guerilla-like individual fighting. "Usually you thought of movements in terms of brigades" this wounded veteran commented.

SOLDIER ACCUSED

Pfc. Dale Maple, the first U. S. soldier to be accused of treason in the present war, is shown standing on the county courthouse steps at Albuquerque, N.M., in the custody of an F.B.I. agent (not shown).

Sgt. Craddock enlisted as a Private on leaving his job as shipping clerk in Trenton.

Thirty-year-old L.-Cpl. Wilbur McCoy of Madoc, also of the H. and P. E.'s has been through four years of army service, in England, France, Sicily and Italy. He was hit by machine-gun fire below the knee in an attack on the Italian village of Assoro.

"I was with the transport that day and we stopped and when we did they opened up with machine gun fire," he related. Cpl. McCoy was a company storeman. Forty were wounded in this one action, he said.

Food in the Mediterranean area was poor, he said, although troops did get a fair amount of fruit.

Formerly a farmer, this veteran would like to go back to his peacetime occupation but doesn't know whether his disability will permit his return to farming or not.

Gala Stage Show Will Be Feature Of Argyll Carnival

That inimitable carnival personage, Bill Garden of the Queen City Shows in Toronto, is heading the Carnival and Variety Show opening at the Armouries for four nights commencing Wednesday and sponsored by the Argyll Light Infantry Battalion. Mr. Garden, recognized as an outstanding personality in carnival business in Canada, has kindly consented to act as master of ceremonies for the gala stage show, which he is bringing to Belleville for this show. A bevy of beautiful dancing girls will start the carnival spirit off each night, while a practically endless performance of vaudeville acts, that only Bill Garden could bring to the Belleville Armouries makes the season's initial indoor carnival and variety show the greatest in years.

Lieut. O. A. Lloyd is general chairman of the show and through Lieut.-Col. B. C. Donnan, commanding officer, it was announced that 25 percent of the net proceeds will be given to the Belleville Corvette fund. The bulk of the money made, however, will be given to the Regimental account to purchase sports equipment and other necessities which are not provided for to the Reserve Army. Some of Canada's greatest radio and screen stars will be featured in this show aside from the conventional games, which will be manned by the personnel of the Argyll Battalion.

Besides the gala carnival and variety show there will be dancing each night with music by one of Toronto's named orchestras, that is also being brought to Belleville by Bill Garden. This is an added feature and will be in the form of that popular style of jitney dancing. Bingo, horse racing and other novelty games will follow the gala variety stage show and each night five crisp new five dollar bills will be given away as door prizes. Carnival lovers just can't afford to miss this colossal show and there's a Wednesday afternoon matinee for the kiddies.

Maj.-Gen. Burns Leads Canadian Division in Italy

Naples, Feb. 28 (CP)—One of Canada's most competent staff officers, Maj.-Gen. Eedson L. M. (Tommy) Burns of Ottawa is leading a Canadian division in Italy. The 46-year-old Burns has been here for some time but only Sunday did Allied headquarters disclose the fact.

This disclosure followed Defence Minister Ralston's Feb. 11 statement in the House of Commons at Ottawa that there are two divisions in Italy. Since Allied headquarters on Jan. 16 identified Maj.-Gen. Chris Vokes, 39, of Winnipeg and Ottawa, as a divisional commander it appeared Burns and Vokes lead the divisions in the corps commanded by Lt.-Gen. H. D. G. Crerar.

Vokes was presumed to have taken over the 1st division from Maj.-Gen. Guy Simonds, 40, of Kingston, Ont., now commanding a corps in Britain with the rank of lieutenant-general. There are three divisions in Britain, Col. Ralston told the House in his Feb. 11 statement, and from published announcements the divisional commanders appear to be Maj.-Gen. Charles Foulkes, 41, of London, Ont., Maj.-Gen. George Kitching, 38, of Montreal, and Maj.-Gen. R. F. L. Keller, 42, of Kelowna, B.C.

(Appointing Burns to a divisional command in Italy has placed him in a position from which he might eventually step to the corps command should Crerar be called to a more important post, Ross Munro, Canadian Press war correspondent, reported from London last night. Great things had been expected of Burns, considered one of the best-qualified senior officers in the Canadian army, Munro added, and in Italy he probably will get his chance.)

Has Broad Background.

Few of Canada's generals in the field have such a broad background as Burns, who is skilled in science and languages, bears the nickname of a boxing namesake and has intimate experience with engineering, infantry and armored forces.

He is a recognized authority on aerial photography and his work in that field for the National Research Council won him the O.B.E. in 1935.

Born in Westmount, Que., June 17, 1897, he learned French in his youth. He was educated at St. Thomas, Ont., and Lower Canada College, Montreal, and began his army career as a trooper in 1913. He was commissioned as an engineer two years later after a year at Royal Military College, Kingston, Ont. He won the Military Cross in the First Great War and was a captain when the war ended.

When this war started he had just completed a course at the Imperial Defence College in England. He held a staff post at Canadian Military Headquarters in London, was assistant Deputy Chief of the General Staff in Ottawa, had a corps post in England and then returned to Canada to bring an armored brigade to Britain. He was first appointed to command a division in the spring of 1943.

DOUBLE FUNERAL

Haileybury, Ont., Feb. 28. (CP)—A double funeral will be held here today for Phyllis McBeth and Pauline Caron, teen-aged girls killed Friday when their toboggan crashed into an automobile on the highway to New Liskeard. The girls were attending a sleigh-ride party when the accident occurred.

Carrying Place Property Sold To Buffalo Man

Trenton, Feb. 28, (Special.)—The valuable farm property of William Fitzgerald at Carrying Place on the shore of the Bay of Quinte was sold during the past week to Mr. Ervie Hill of Buffalo, N.Y.

Mr. Hill it is understood, plans constructing an up-to-date summer resort at this point preparatory to the time, when Canadians and Americans will again be free to enjoy much leisure time during the summer months. The buildings will be of the most modern type with running water, baths and electricity.

The location is ideal for fishing, boating and swimming.

It is understood a Canadian land surveyor from Oshawa, Ont., has been engaged to survey and landscape the property, and the work is to be commenced immediately.

Miss Betty Black of the C.W.A.C.'s at Kingston, where she has recently been posted from Kitchener, spent the weekend with her mother, Mrs. R. Black, Lorne Ave.

Miss Becky Gitelman is spending a holiday with her sister in Montreal.

Renews Acquaintances.

FO. Doug. Reid was in town during the week renewing acquaintances having just returned from duty in England, Scotland and several months at Gibraltar. He is spending a month's leave with his parents, Lieut.-Col. and Mrs. F. L. Reid at Kingston, before returning to England for further duty. His leave was granted after his successful tour of operations.

A brother Flt.-Sgt. Don. Reid is stationed at St. John's, Que.

Sgt. Craddock Home.

After more than four years overseas, Sergeant Kenneth Craddock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Craddock, Wragge Street, has arrived home. He left Canada with the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment in December 1939, and was wounded in the elbow during the battle of Sicily. He sufficiently recovered to go with his regiment into Italy, where he was wounded a second time affecting his hearing and injuring his arm. Since then he has spent much time in hospital and just before Christmas arrived in England.

His wife, whom he married in England a year and a half ago, is expected to join her husband in Canada shortly.

Previous to going overseas Sergeant Craddock worked in the shipping department of the Downs-Coulter Co., at Trenton.

Co-Pilot Not Injured.

Mrs. J. D. L. Campbell, 55 Marmora Street, has received a telegram from her husband FO. Doug Campbell, co-pilot on the Liberator forced down off the Atlantic Coast more than a week ago. Last Tuesday she received a message that all the crew were safe, though a passenger F.O. David Griffin, R.C.A.F., Public Relations officer, had been killed. She had heard no further word as to whether or not her husband was injured until his message of being well and safe arrived Saturday.

F.O. Campbell is a graduate of Cobourg High School, and is the only son of Mrs. Douglas Campbell and the late Mr. Campbell, who was killed in the Great War. He enlisted in the R.C.A.F. in 1940 and graduated from Brantford in 1941. He took an instructor's course at Rivers, Man., and spent considerable time at Aylmer, Ont., and Weyburn, Sask. His wife, the former Doris Johnson, resides with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Johnson, 55 Marmora Street here, where her father is manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce.

FINNISH MINISTER

Finance Minister V. A. Tanner, of Finland, who is quoted by the official Finnish [illegible] as stating that Finland "is disposed to withdraw from her war with Russia if she obtains acceptable conditions."

MINT WAS PREPARED

London (CP) — Large sums of money were printed on notes of two shillings, sixpence (60 cents) and five shillings early in the war and dispersed through the country in case the mint was destroyed or communication between London and the provinces disrupted, it has been disclosed. It is unlikely they will ever be used now.

THE GREAT BRITAIN YOU TRULY ARE

They have said she is isolated by the enveloping sea. But she has used it to join the hands of millions.

They have said she is fortified only by ships. They err. She is fortified by the strong hearts of her sons.

Proud in arms, with a mighty heart, Great Britain has withstood a thousand storms and will again. For hers is the strength of millions whose valour springs from a birthright of freedom.

Mother of parliaments, they call her...champion of justice and right.

We of her soil and of her blood and of her tutelage say this today: the world is in her debt for the part she has played in yesterday's eras of peace and progress. It will be so in the peace and progress to come.

We of Canada salute the Great Britain you truly are!

Army Newspapers

Copies of four newspapers, all of them issued for the Mediterranean front between January 21 and 23 for the service of the men in that theatre of war have been sent to relatives of servicemen in Belleville and prove interesting in the light they throw on the news which is given the troops.

The papers are "The Red Patch," called "Canada's Front Line Newspaper" for the "First Canadian Division in the Central Mediterranean Force," "The Maple Leaf" with Canadian Press News, "Eighth Army News," also bearing the motto "The Free Paper for a Free People" and "The Crusader Eighth Army Weekly."

Here is the most wholesome fare, plenty of wholesome reading, war stories, jokes and humor, sport news, letters of war correspondents, news of the various war theatres, news of parliament, editorials, news of after-war planning and so on. Everything is compact and readible. There is a great deal of news in the four page sheets of each of these four papers in which the men can take a great deal of interest.

Such newspapers can and do serve the men well. The military authorities realize the place of the newspaper and the news in the lives of the men who are serving in the forces far from home. They realize that the newspaper fills a place in the modern age which nothing can supplant. It is very easy to understand how the men appreciate the work and labor put into these papers and the inspiration they give the troops. Relatives of the men in the services can understand what it means to the soldiers to have their own newspapers as well as the mail and the newspapers that come from home.

The army newspapers are small but weighty in material and comprehensive in their range. They are made for army readers and they fill their purpose well.

War's Shape

War's shape at this time is momentous in the assault that is being made upon Germany. Never was Germany so battered as she is today. Never could Adolf Hitler have realized that the day would come when he would be closed within the bounds of Germany and only a part of the Europe which he overran and that daily he is holding less and less territory which is undergoing a shrinking process.

17,000 tons of bombs in six days have rained upon German war cities and plants, the industries are being powdered into dust and the result is a great reduction in the productive capacity of the war plants, particularly in those having to do with the manufacture of planes and supplies for the aircraft.

The times indicate that shortly Finland will be out of the war with what result as far as the Germans are concerned not seen. Finland is trying to escape, it is said, the fate of Italy in case she drops out of the war. In this regard the presence of German troops in Finland is a matter of concern for Finland as it likewise is for Germany.

On the east side the past few days have seen the continued Russian progress, looming ever greater as it approaches nearer to Germany. It is the Russians who are the invincibles and not the Hitlerites whose story has been one long retreat with defeats punctuating every few miles of the thousand miles' withdrawal from Stalingrad.

Significance of German Losses

German losses in killed, badly wounded and captured are estimated to have reached 4,500,000 to 5,000,000 since the beginning of the war and of these two millions are dead, according to conservative estimates from various sources. This is the statement of Taylor Henry, who was chief of the Associated Press staff at Vichy at the time of the German occupation. He was in the German internment camp at Baden-Baden awaiting repatriation for a time and prepared this report and is now in Portugal.

Mr. Henry gives other interesting figures which show the condition of manpower in Germany. He says that the average age of the Germans killed has recently risen two and a half years from twenty-five and a half to twenty-eight years. The inference is that the Germans are using older men. He says that in the last few days the Germans have ordered men up to and including 60 for examination to decide the fitness for military service. How he reached his conclusions is explained. He closely scanned German newspapers for death notices of soldiers giving the date of death as well as the age of the casualty and excluded from the computation the deaths of officers, sailors and members of the air force. He finds the most startling drop in the ages from last August to January of this year was in the 19 year and under group which fell from 15 to 9 per cent of the total in the list he compiled which he lists shows that the most of that group had already suffered casualties. The 19-year-olds who were mobilized last June had suffered a heavy toll in the offensive of the Russians during last summer and autumn and in the winter months he says. Then too he found that the number of casualties in his list which he had compiled for men above 35 years rose from 8 to [illegible] per cent.

Among other figures he quotes in the dispatch sent from Portugal, are these, that the Germans tried to hold the Russian offensives with 260 German divisions and 15 Rumanian divisions against 325 estimated Russian divisions.

This dispatch gives an interesting insight on the course of the war as it is seen through the study of casualties in death notices published in the German press.

Helicopter Still Embryonic

(Milwaukee Journal)

Lou Leavitt, veteran rotary wing test pilot and consultant, warns against over-optimism regarding speedy helicopter development. Five major problems remain to be solved before this type aircraft can be widely used, he says in Aviation magazine—power plant, lift, control, stability and rotor vibration or roughness.

"All of these have been solved to the extent of producing a flying machine," he writes, "but none of them has been solved to the extent of making the machine a finished product.

"Helicopter development has followed always in the wake of other developments. Lifting the helicopter into the air, let alone going anywhere with it, remained unsolved until after the autogiro had whipped the problem. The most successful helicopters today still use basically the same rotor theory, including similar blade structure and airfoil sections, full articulated blades and the safety factor of autorotation.

"Rotor vibration still remains the toughest problem, for there is probably less known about this even now than about any of the other problems confronting the helicopter. It is so intrinsically tied up with other rotor characteristics that it is almost impossible to isolate it as a problem by itself.

"No doubt an ultimate answer will be found, because the helicopter has come too far to be discarded now for want of added refinement and modification, but it will take the earnest effort of many skilled men working together, not the isolated discoveries of a few working in secrecy—just as the airplane has ultimately become the product of no one man or group of men, but of a whole generation working competitively but in co-operation toward a common goal."

Sun Loafs

The sun's heat varies as much as two percent from time to time, John Humphreys writes in National Geographic Magazine. Such a large variation surely must affect earthly weather in some way, scientists say, for the sun furnishes the power that "manufactures" weather and keeps it moving.

What can happen when the sun's heat is reduced was graphically shown in 1816, famous as "the year without a summer," or "Eighteen Hundred and Froze to Death." In New England that year, snow fell six inches deep in June, people wore overcoats and mittens on the Fourth of July, and the temperature on August 29 was 37 degrees.

That chilly summer probably resulted from three great volcanic eruptions that occurred in 1812, 1814 and 1815, which threw up so much dust into the atmosphere that it shut off some of the warmth of the sun.

Canadian Scene A Century Ago

By J. L. G.

Pity those forefathers of ours who never had the opportunity to say "What's on the radio tonight?" We tune in a world of music and entertainment. Canadian pioneers tuned up instead of "tuning in". . . . .for their source of melody and fun was usually the home-made fiddle, sometimes the bagpipes and, very infrequently, the piano and organ.

When a settler moved to Easy Street—and a larger, more luxurious house than his old log cabin—he began to look around for something new in pianos. The upright was the most popular type. . . .Great improvements were made in the piano, queen of musical instruments, during the decade following 1866. Changes and inventions affected the resonators, the iron framing and the laying of strings in relation to the centre of the sounding board.

Prior to the 19th century secular music was little tolerated, except in French sections of Canada. Psalms were the music fare. After the introduction of the oratorio, orchestra and chamber music came into the picture. Canadians with the means and the inclination travelled to Boston to hear the Philharmonic Society, established there about 1810; they attended also the concerts given later in New York and other centres which soon followed the musical lead given by Boston.

Hitler Didn't Want To Play Second Fiddle

(Correspondent A. C. Cummings, Writing From London To the Vancouver Province, Reveals Reasons For Nazi Invasion of Russia)

Hitler's main reason for invading Russia has just been revealed in a remarkable secret publication of which only three copies exist in Britain. It was written by a diplomat Gregorie Gafenco, former Rumanian foreign minister and Bucharest's ambassador to Berlin and Moscow in the early years of the war.

According to Gafenco, Hitler was mad with fury because Britain would not hear of peace after France's downfall.

He soon realized that with the Soviet Union untouched and unbeaten in the East, Germany, after a long drawn out war with the British Commonwealth, would be so exhausted that Russia's military and economic power would dominate Europe and Germany would have to play second fiddle.

Believing that the Bolshevik regime was rotten and would collapse after a few military defeats, the Nazi dictator disregarded the advice of his ambassador in Moscow, Count von Schulenberf, and launched his armored hordes against the Red Army.

He anticipated a quick victory. Then he would turn and destroy Britain and achieve world domination because he would have the resources of the entire continent behind him. Such were his calculations.

Ambassador Gafenco, says Hitler was also influenced by his dream of seizing the Ukraine, Crimea and the Caucasus, whose oil, wheat and mineral wealth would enable Germany to defy any blockade.

Moreover an anti-Bolshevik war would undoubtedly be popular among Fascist and reactionary industrialists and business men in Germany's satellite states.

While Hitler was trying to make up his mind to invade he was greatly influenced by the arguments of General Hoffman, the German general who negotiated the infamous Brest-Litovsk treaty after Russia's defeat in the last war. Hoffman opposed Gen. Ludendorff's offensive in the West in 1918 and favored the complete conquest of Russia instead.

Apparently Count von Schulenberg tried to warn Hitler that the Soviet Union was a tough nut to crack but the ambassador's Nazi associates in the Moscow embassy countered this with evidence of the crushing superiority of the German army and air force.

"The truth is," says Ambassador Gafenco, "the war against the U.S.S.R. was not a political caprice, but a result of the war with Britain and what the involved."

Given a dramatic account of the events precipitating the invasion, Ambassador Gafenco says Stalin was alarmed at Hitler's ominous silence during the preceding weeks and tried to find out what was happening in Berlin. But the Soviet ambassador there could tell him nothing.

Then Stalin decided to become the head of the Soviet Government, instead of exercising the power behind the scenes. Later he astonished the world by dismissing the ministers in Moscow representing the conquered countries—Norway, Belgium and Yugoslavia.

In this action his purpose was to placate Hitler and preserve Russia from the attack he suspected was pending. Sir Stafford Cripps was alarmed and warned Prime Minister Churchill accordingly.

Then came two events, says Ambassador Gafenco, which made Hitler decide to take the plunge.

One was Britain's intervention in Syria and Iraq, which checked the German "drive to the East." The other was disclosure of the tremendous Allied production of ships, food and munitions.

The flight of Hess to Britain in hope of securing peace with Britain and aid against Russia, says the Rumanian diplomat, made it clear both in Berlin and Moscow that Hitler had decided to strike.

Up to the last moment, Stalin struggled to avert the conflict. He even issued a denial of British statements that Germany's war on the Soviet Union was imminent and announced his intention of sticking to the Russo-German friendship pact. If war did come, he wanted to show up Germany as the aggressor.

For 10 days there was silence in Berlin. Stalin sent for Count von Schulenberg, who professed to know nothing.

But at midnight the German embassy received notification that Hitler's armored forces, which had been piling up on the Russian frontiers for weeks previously, had struck the first blow.

Schulenberg, on instruction, sought an immediate meeting with Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov and at dawn in the Kremlin he told him German troops had been ordered to invade Russia.

Pale but calm, Molotov listened as if turned to stone. Then he asked: "Is this a declaration of war?" Ambassador von Schulenberg could only make a despairing gesture.

"This is war," said Molotov. "Your airplanes have just bombarded a dozen open towns. Do you think we deserve this?" Again Count von Schulenberg was unable to reply.

That same night, June 21-22, 1941, Hitler's armies attacked along the whole Russian front.

Notes From Britain:—

My Day in London

BY VERNON M. KIPP

(Special to Ottawa Journal and The Ontario Intelligencer.)

London, February.

Here is a day in the life of this party of Canadian editors seeing Britain as guests of the Ministry of Information—not at typical day, parhaps, because a Royal Duchess and a Foreign Secretary are something exceptional, but typical enough to give an idea of the doors which are being opened to us.

Left the hotel at 11 a.m. to call on Lord Cranborne, Sectreary of State for the Dominions—"one of the Cecils", he agreed with a questioner, and the Cecils have been helping govern England for some centuries. His big, old office is in Downing Street, and the entrance directly opposite No. 10, the most famous address in the world. Lord Cranborne friendly, frank, engaging—the frankness of all the political leaders, speaking "off the record", has rather surprised us. He is looking forward to seeing Mr. Mackenzie King if his suggested visit takes place. Lord Cranborne may not be quoted but I think it is fair to say that his general views are something like this: He wants the Commonwealth to speak with one strong, firm voice, in post-war affairs, but he would reach that unanimity not through any formal centralization of direction through frank and free discussion. He wants Canada and the other Dominions to put forth their ideas—it is not his idea that Britain should dominate either consultations or policy-making.

Lord Cranborne told us that five afternoons each week he holds in his office a consultation with Mr. Vincent Massey and the High Commissioners of the other Dominions. They read and discuss confidential reports on the war and the world situation and through these meetings there is a continuous flow of information to and from all the governments concerned. It seemed an extremely useful and simple device which apparently has had no publicity.

• •

From the Dominions office we went on to the Ministry of Information where the Minister, Mr. Brendan Bracken gave us a luncheon. There were present some important London editors, officials of the Ministry and a few others. I sat beside Admiral Sir William James, who commanded at Portsmouth for the first three years of the war and now is in charge of Admiralty press relations. I was able to tell him that recently I had read and reviewed his book on the late Admiral Sir William Fisher, and we got along splendidly. Mr. Bracken spoke only briefly.

• •

Next stop was at the National Gallery, to see a collection of about 60 watercolors and oils by Canadian artists. Mr. Massey, bare-headed, was on the steps awaiting the arrival of the Dutchess of Kent, who was to open the exhibition, and we went on inside for a look at the pictures. The room was full of Canadian notables—Admiral Nelles, Air Marshall Breadner, Canadian generals and brigadiers and colonels were as thick as currants in a pre-war bum. Presently the High Commissioner came in with Her Royal Highnes, and the Duchess read a short speech. She wore—and I checked on this—a black fur coat over a black dress, a black feather hat, a diamond-and-sapphire ornament on her left shoulder. The Duchess is rather tall, extremely good-looking, vivacious and charming. After her speech she and Mr. Massey strolled about the room and many of the guests, including the Canadian editors, were presented to her. Mrs. Massey wanted to talk about Canada, not about England, and seemed delighted to be in the midst of so many Canadians. She runs a canteen called "Mrs. Massey's beanery," and seems highly popular with everyone.

• •

There was a brief rest at Canada House and then on to the Foreign Office, which also is entered from Downing street opposite Number 10. We were led through long corridors to Mr. Anthony Eden's room, and Mr. Eden received us with great cordiality, as though there was nothing in the world he wanted so much to do as to entertain a party of Canadian editors. Tea was ready and he helped pass round the cups—"there is sugar today," observed an attendant. There was plain bread and butter also, and cakes.

We pulled big red leather chairs in front of the great fireplace, where a coal fire burned, with Mr. Eden in the centre, drank our tea, and talked for 45 minutes about many things. Above the fireplace loomed a vast portrait of George the Third, and on the walls were pictures of great statesmen of the past. Mr. Eden said the room had been the office of the Foreign Secretary since 1840, when Lord Palmerston built those offices, and it has seen stirring and exciting days and nights. It is a big, comfortable room, full of small tables and easy chairs. Mr. Eden is urbane, polished, has had to live down the reputation of being the best-dressed man in England. But he is no visionary—there is a cold vein of the practical in his make-up, and I think he could be tough. He talked freely and with great force and charm, answered questions he might readily have dismissed as embarrassing, and sent us away convinced Edenites.

• •

Then back briefly to our hotel, and out again to Claridges for a dinner given us by the Daily Express. Lord Beaverbrook came in late after a Cabinet meeting, and had to leave early. I sat beside Mr. E. J. Robertson, managing director of the Express, who like Lord Beaverbrook was born in Canada and was in Ottawa recently. The guests included heads of the Express, heads of some of the other London newspapers, and the two eminent cartoonists, Strube, of the Express, and David Low, of the Evening Standard. Mr. Beverly Baxter, M.P., dropped in late and made a speech about Ireland. It was midnight when we broke up, and that was the end of the day.

WIVES, NOTE!

Army cooks are resourceful! Pte. Fred Howarth of Picton, Ont., with the Canadian army overseas, uses an ordinary jacknife to carve a few handy kitchen gadgets from discarded tin cans. Cooks learn to make their own ladles, scoops, large spoons, muddlers, etc., from tin cans. They even make their own bake pans and large bake trays from the sides of empty petrol tins.

John Randolph of Roanoke was sent by President Jackson on a special mission to Russia in 1830; because of ill health he remained in St. Petersburg only ten days; after spending nearly a year in England he returned to the United States in October, 1831, and collected $21,407 from the treasury for his services.

According to one theory, Russia's name was suggested by the Volga boatmen. It is supposed that "Russia" is from Finnish "Ruotsi," a corruption of Swedish "rothsmenn," meaning rowers.

Abusing England to curry favor with Irish voters is known in American political slang as "twisting the lion's tail."

The popular song entitled "The Man on the Flying Trapeze" was written in 1860 by a man named George Leybourne.

The original title of "Home on the Range" was "The Western Home." It was composed in 1873 by Brewster Higley.

American corn, or maize, was unknown to Europeans until after the discovery of the New World; both the grain and the name are of American origin.

"Judo" and "jujitsu" are merely variant names for the same Japanese system of defence and offense without weapons.

At the time of the Russo-Japanese war President Theodore Roosevelt became interested in jujitsu or judo and took lessons in the Japanese art. One day William Howard Taft, then secretary of war, visited the White House while the President was taking a judo lesson from a Japanese expert. After watching the business for a while with interest, Taft ventured the opinion that the little Jap could not throw a man so heavy as himself. Teddy suggested that Taft put his opinion to a test. In a twinkling the secretary of war and his more than three hundred pounds were flat on the floor.

"Czar," now popularly applied to various federal administrators with large powers, was first used in American politics as a nickname for Thomas Brackett Reed in allusion to his arbitrary interpretations of the rules of the House of Representatives while Speaker.

Many American Soldiers Would Like Leave Home

By JACK O'BRIAN
Associated Press Staff Writer

New York, Feb. 28 — (AP) — Many American soldiers in the stalemated Italian campaign feel there's a real inequality of sacrifice in this war, Hal Boyle, Associated Press war columnist, said today on his return from 16 months with troops in the Mediterranean.

"The battle of these troops is high," he said. "But they are fighting for a land which some feel has forgotten them.

"Many have been overseas for two years and have given up hope of ever coming home. To them the war has become a blind alley with death at the end."

Boyle said infantrymen who fought through three campaigns — North Africa, Sicily and Italy—feel common sense dictates they should have a rest at home.

"These overseas veterans in the ground forces want to be told there is a limit to the sacrifices demanded of them," he added, "and this can best be done by giving them a real rotation system of home leaves such as that enjoyed by the air forces."

The 33-year-old reporter said: "The boys overseas have an idea that the people at home still think of the war as a ball game—and that they're enjoying the seventh inning stretch.

"It does look like if all the energy being used in fighting the battle of the income tax could be expended on the battle of the Anzio beachhead, Rome would fall in short order."

Boyle has been through three major amphibious campaigns—at Fedala, French Morocco, where he nearly lost his life in the landing, Nov. 8, 1942; at Gela in Sicily and at Salerno.

SCHOOL FOR OFFICERS

Saint John, N.B., Feb. 28—(CP)—A school for about 700 or 800 officers of the Canadian Army will be established soon at Camp Sussex, The Saint John-Telegraph-Journal said in a newspage story today. The school's commanding officers will be Brigadier Milton F. Gregg, V.C., who arrived in New Brunswick during the weekend, according to the story.

MUCH-TRAVELLED CAKE

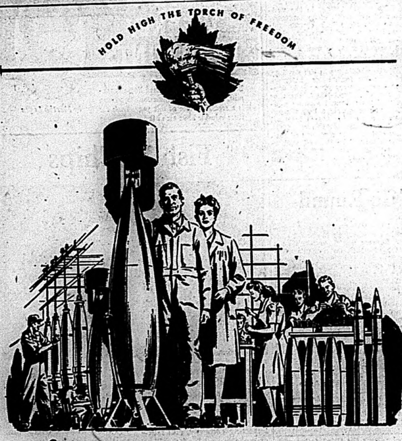
Clayton-on-Sea, England (CP) — Petty Officer William Chapman carried his wedding cake 10,000 miles from Vancouver to his home here for his wedding to Rosie Casey. The cake was in perfect condition when it was cut at the reception after the ceremony.



HOLD HIGH THE TORCH OF FREEDOM

Ammunition FOR THE ARMIES OF THE UNITED NATIONS

Thousands of men and women behind the lines are risking life in many factories, turning out ammunition for every fighting front.

Included in this army of ammunition workers are those who make the gun-powder, TNT and other explosives; the makers of shells for all sizes of guns, of bombs; those who work on aerial and marine torpedoes; the producers of hand and rifle grenades.

Without the dangerous, unceasing toil of these men and women, the fire power of our armed forces would dwindle; we could not be sure of victory.

The Bank of Montreal, working constantly to supply needed banking service to the Government of Canada, to the workers and management of war industries—through hundreds of busy branches—adds its tribute in praise of these courageous war-workers.

Huge Canadian, American Convoy Safe in Britain

London, Feb. 28 — (CP) — Allied forces massing in Great Britain for an invasion of Western Europe have been strengthened by the arrival of one of the largest contingents of Canadian and American troops ever to cross the Atlantic in one convoy.

Majority was made up of Americans, but "hundreds" of Canadian troops were included in the contingent, Canadian military headquarters here announced.

The Canadian group included general reinforcements and specialists, as well as a number of Canadian airmen.

The crossing was made without attack by enemy submarines but heavy storms were encountered.

Number of troops landed from the convoy is a military secret, but all are highly trained and ready for combat. They included mechanised units and specialized groups of many types. All were fully equipped with the latest weapons.

In addition the convoy carried many planes of various types.

Immediately upon disembarking the troops were dispersed to American bases scattered from one end of the United Kingdom to the other.

Trip Uneventful

John A. Moroso, Associated Press war correspondent who travelled with the convoy, said the trip was so uneventful that it was a pleasure jaunt compared to a convoy crossing he made two years ago. He recalled that on that trip escorting craft delivered 11 depth charge attacks.

"Then," he said, "we slept in our clothes and wore lifebelts and helmets the last three days. On this trip we had no underwater contacts. We slept in pajamas and wore no life belts. Helmets were not even issued except to gun crews in exposed positions.

"The early war tenseness of long watches has disappeared. There is a cockiness and eagerness among the sailors on the destroyers to come to grips with the enemy. The captain of our ship credits the Royal Navy and British air patrols and detection devices with keeping the U-boats under control in the Eastern Atlantic."

In a dispatch Saturday Frank Lowe, Canadian Press staff writer recently transferred to The CP's London Bureau, also noted the greater ease with which convoys now travel, as compared with 1942, when he first crossed the Atlantic.

Traffic Resumed Over Two Bridges

Niagara Falls, N.Y., Feb. 28—(AP)—Traffic was resumed today over two international bridges which were closed yesterday by bridge authorities as a result of a dispute concerning overtime Sunday pay for customs inspectors.

The Rainbow Bridge from this city to Niagara Falls, Ont., was closed at midnight Saturday until midnight yesterday, the bridge authority having failed to post a bond as guarantee it would pay overtime for the inspectors' services.

The United States Supreme Court ruled Jan. 3 that Sunday work for the inspectors was overtime. The Treasury Department placed them on a six-day week, and notified bridge owners they would be responsible for the double play on Sunday.

The same notice went to other bridges on the Canadian border, and the Thousand Island Bridge, which crosses the St. Lawrence River from Alexandria Bay to Ivy Lea, Ont., was closed during the same period. It also reopened after a 24-hour traffic ban. Customs officials there said scores were turned away yesterday as a vehicular blockade was placed across the 90-foot span.

Harry D. Suitor, attorney for the Niagara Falls Bridge Commission, said the issue was whether the bridge authorities or the Treasury Department should pay the extra wage. The commission provides quarters for the inspectors but has no voice in the hours they shall work or in their selection, he said.

Large Offering Potatoes Noted On City Market

After an apparent scarcity on the market for the past several weeks the offering of potatoes featured the local produce mart here Saturday with at least a dozen farmers offering anywhere up to ten or twelve bags each. No reason for the sudden influx of potatoes was offered by farmers, but all were locally grown with none being shipped in from outside centres. Price asked was $2.19 per bag with peck lots going for 50 cents.

Fresh eggs held at previous levels on the inside market with first grade bringing 38 cents and mediums 35 cents the dozen. Overweights sold at 42 cents. The fowl offering was quickly picked up with 45 cents the pound being asked for top grade, ranging down to 40 cents pound. Dairy butter was offered in small quantities at 40 cents.

Best grade McIntosh, Spies and Delicious retailed for $3 per bushel, with lesser grades and cooking apples selling at from $2 to $2.50 per bushel.

Carrots sold at 25 cents the half peck, turnips five cents each, and beets at 30 cents the half peck. Sauerkraut brought the usual 15 cents quart.

Two loads of cordwood was offered, green birch bringing $11 per cord and a load of dry mixed wood bringing a slightly higher figure.

Mrs. Ross Richardson, of Muncey, Ont., spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. D. S. LaRue, Dundas St.

WEDDINGS

BUCK—MULLINGS

The marriage of Mildred, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Mullings, of Bethune, Sask., to Russell James, elder son of the late John F. Buck and Mrs. Buck, of Norwood, took place quietly in the chapel of Christ Anglican Church, Belleville, on Thursday, Feb. 17. The ceremony was performed by Rev. G. G. Wright.

The bride wore a very attractive afternoon dress of blue and hat of the same shade. The couple were unattended. Immediately after the ceremony the happy couple left for Cornwall and Ottawa and while at Ottawa attended the wedding of the groom's sister, Blanche, to Flying Officer A. R. Dier.

On their return, Mr. and Mrs. Buck will reside at the groom's home, Norward-Hastings road.

ESTABROOK—MILLAR

Daffodils and fern formed the impressive floral background for the marriage ceremony at the home of the bride's parents on Saturday afternoon, February 26, at two o'clock, when Margaret Lilias Millar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Millar, became the bride of George Wellington Estabrook, Peterborough, son of Mrs. Estabrook and the late Mr. Herbert Estabrook, of South Devon, New Brunswick. The Rev. J. G. Hornsby officiated on the occasion. Miss Muriel Wells played softly throughout the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in her wedding gown of white chiffon velvet classically simple in style, fashioned on princess lines with sweetheart neckline, long tight fitting sleeves ending in points over her wrists and a full skirt which fell in soft and sweeping folds to form a slight train. Her floor-length veil of embroidered silk net was caught to her hair with an elegant cap of ostrich tips, and she carried a muff of velvet in contrasting hues to her dress and accented by a small spray of calla lilies.

Miss Muriel Taylor, of Peterborough, was bridesmaid, and was wearing a dress of blue corded taffeta, made on similar lines to that of the bride. From her small matching Juliet cap which sat daintily atop her head fell a chapel length veil and she carried a muff of blue corded taffeta complimented with red roses.

Groomsman for the occasion was Mr. Hunter Tate of Toronto.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held with the bride's mother receiving the guests wearing a redingote of blue sheer with accessories of the same shade and corsage of red roses.

On the wedding trip to South Devon, N.B., the bride donned an ensemble of gold crepe, accessories in chocolate brown, muskrat coat, hat and muff and corsage of green orchids. On their return, the bridal couple will take up residence in Peterborough.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were from Hamilton, Toronto, Bowmanville, Peterborough and Brockville.

Women's Activities

BRIDGE ST. UNITED CHURCH W. A.

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Association of Bridge St. United Church was held in the ladies' parlors Feb. 24th, with a good attendance. The president, Mrs. J. M. Wood, was in the chair and the usual business was dispersed. Mrs. W. H. Ackerman took the devotional and spoke on "Service," after which the guest speaker, Miss Gordon, V.O.N., spoke and gave an outline of visiting nurses down through the ages, closing with a story giving a very interesting and vivid picture of a V.O.N.'s day in Belleville. Miss Margaret Houston, guest soloist, delighted all present when she sang Gounod's "O Divine Redeemer," after which the meeting closed and the ladies enjoyed a social half hour.

Minerva Chapter Marks Birthday In Gala Style

Following the regular meeting Friday evening, February 25, the Minerva Chapter, 138, O.E.S., enjoyed a very delightful party, at which there were two distinguished guests in the persons of Miss Helen Ross, associate Grand Conductress of the Grand Chapter of Ontario and the District Deputy Grand Matron, Mrs. Kathleen Cowling, of Napanee. Many chapters of the district were represented, Bancroft, Quinte, Wellington, Napanee, Toronto, Madoc and Belleville 55.

The birthday table was very prettily decorated with red tapers in silver candelabra and a three-tiered cake as a centrepiece. Presiding at the table was the W. M., Mrs. Nellie Clarke and the W. P., Mr. John Fisher.

Following the refreshments and birthday celebration, with Mrs. Bella Wonnacott representing the past, Mr. John Fisher, the present and Mrs. Grace Wood, the future, everyone spent the remainder of the evening in dancing.

London, Feb. 28. (CP) —Berlin radio said yesterday at least 114 Allied airmen, mostly Americans, who bailed out of planes raiding Germany are stranded in the Alps in sub-zero cold, with heavy snowfalls balking efforts of German Mountain troops and civilians to reach them.

BEAUTY

By Helen Jameson

ANY GIRL CAN BE ATTRACTIVE.

Super-duper glamor girls have become a common commodity. You see their pictures in newspapers and magazines all the time. Usually, glamor is a build-up, calling for clever make-up, professionally created coiffures, smart clothes and a photographer who knows how to flatter. We think it would be simply grand if, once in a while, we could see these lovelies as their heads come out of the shampoo bowl or when they have their tresses full of strange hardware that is a part of the permanent waving machine.

Well, no doubt these darlings received more than the usual allotment of kisses from the fairy godmother, and lucky they are, too. We fancy they have plenty of time and money to spend at the beauty factories. It must be quite a task to live up to a glamorous reputation. What we're getting at is this; let no girl envy them, because attractiveness means more in the long run than perfection of face and figure. If the glamorous looking young lady has no appealing qualities — many of them have, of course—good looks alone will not bring her happiness.

Any girl whose brain ticks and whose heart is in the right place can gain friends, affection, popularity.

Physical well-being, vitality, a delicate, colorful complexion, eyes that bespeak animation, lovely, polished teeth, a pleasing facial expression are wonderful assets. A woman with a calm, steady nervous system, who has poise, who carries herself beautifully, is a treat to the eye. So watch your physical and mental health habits, my friends. Eat wisely, sleep restfully, do your exercises, air-wash your lungs, so that you will be a really live woman.

Smiles are a compelling influence. Good nature should be cultivated by every member of this beauty class. There are girls who seldom smile, who carry mental clouds — it is no fun living with them. Also, they get no telephone calls from date-minded young men. To be too serious is to be silly.

The woman who is always hoping for the best and talking too much about it may be a bit tiresome, but she gets along well with herself, and that's something. And she isn't cursed with premature wrinkles.

The fascinating woman must possess tact, intelligence and tolerance. She never belittles other individuals. She does not bare her soul, reveal family secrets, because that habit embarrasses her listeners. She does not brag about her children or her possessions. She does not get into disagreements about trifles. She has found out—life has taught her — that nothing is worth arguing about.

Many a plain woman, realizing she cannot compete with women who have lovely features, has concentrated on charm. She is loved, has friends galore.

MRS. A. J. SCHWARTZ discovered what the real trouble was. Continual backaches, getting up nights and constipation came from an inactive liver. Fruit-a-tives quickly made her feel fine—no pain, sleeps well, always regular. Back up YOUR liver with Fruit-a-tives, Canada's Largest Selling Liver Tablets.

Couple Feted On Silver Wedding Anniversary

The home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Cathcart, Colborne St., was the scene of a great deal of excitement on Saturday night when friends and neighbors feted Mr. and Mrs. Cathcart at a surprise party in honor of their silver wedding anniversary. An interesting fact noted was the presence of several guests who had also been in attendance at the celebrants' marriage ceremony in Paisley, Scotland twenty-five years ago on Saturday.

It was just one grand informal party with five tables of euchre being in play during the course of the evening. The ladies' prizes were won by Mrs. H. Belsey, Mrs. R. Plumpton and Mrs. W. Bird, while the men's prizes went to Mr. C. Duesberry, Mr. H. Belsey and Mr. G. Duesberry. After cards, Mr. and Mrs. Cathcart were presented with gifts from their family and a Duncan Phyfe coffee table and silver from their assembled friends.

The address was read and the presentation made by Mrs. Ross Plumpton, Corbyville, who had been flower girl at the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Cathcart in Scotland.

A delicious lunch was then served from a tea table attractively arranged, spread with a white lace cloth, centred with a wedding cake, flanked with tall white tapers in silver candelabra and silver baskets of carnations in hues of pink and white.

The one disappointing note of the event was the fact that Mr. and Mrs. Cathcart's daughter, Jennie, of the C.W.A.C. in Kingston, was unable to be present. Nevertheless, their son, Jimmie, with the R.C.A.F. at Trenton and their daughter, Marna, at home helped to celebrate the happy occasion with their parents.

At twelve, midnight, the guests departed for their homes, wishing Mr. and Mrs. Cathcart many more years of happy wedded life together.

Don't Let the "Jitters" Disturb Your Life

DON'T BE OVER-WROUGHT

Be on the lookout for early signs of nerve bankruptcy. Life isn't worth living if you are constantly worried, irritated, and depressed. Your doctor can start you on the road to recovery for you may have some unsuspected physical illness.

Don't take your problems and worries of the day to bed with you —if you must think, think of something pleasant that will induce sleep rather than deter it.

If your nerves are too highly strung you should have an outlet for the high spirits — take long walks, devote your valuable energies to an outside interest—social work, amateur theatricals, and when you are ready for bed you will be so tired and relaxed sleep will come immediately.

Perhaps also you need a check-up on your physical health—eyestrain, anaemia may cause nerves. Or you may find certain stimulants such as tea or coffee are bad in your case.

Change your jitters into vitality charm. Our 32-page booklet by a well-known physician explains physical and mental causes for "nerves," gives advice on insomnia, fatigue, nervous indigestion. Includes directions for correct diet, [illegible] care.

Advice to the Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

PARENTAL JEALOUSY — HARD ON THE CHILDREN

Pundits who spend their lives doping out why we behave like human beings or at least like high class monkeys, have completely overlooked one form of jealousy, that of parents toward each other in rivalry for the affections of children.

Why do John and Susy love mother better than father? Or, vice versa, why do they love father better than mother? Innumerable letters have come to this column on this heartbreaking question.

Why man should be inhumanly jealous of another man who apparently is cutting his wife out of his affection, or why a woman should hate the "Other Woman" who's robbing her home, is understandable. But the malignant form of jealousy, where one parent resorts to unbelievable acts of cruelty and underhanded methods to undermine the other parent's influence over children harks back to cave days and earlier.

There are certain things for which a child instinctively looks toward his mother. When he's sick he wants to be coddled. When he wants to be taught how to cope with the great out-of-doors, father is his man. Father presumably teaches him how to swim, how to row a boat, how to paddle a canoe, how to take care of himself when he's soused by an unlooked-for downpour.

Father has probably taught him how to light a fire with split chips laid in a crib, in a dripping landscape, and the ability to lay a fire will be responsible for their out-of-door supper.

But when it comes to mother, she has her role in the bringing up of these youngsters, too. She'll teach them when to take off their hats, how to speak decently to the guests, to put their overshoes where they'll find them, to hang up their coats. She'll teach them how to eat like human beings instead of savages, to wash behind their ears. And instinctively they'll come to her when the world—the world of school and contemporary gangsters —has been cruel to them.

She'll encourage them to learn how to dance so they won't go to children's parties and hang 'round the wall and become anti-social as the result of not knowing how to act like other boys in the same group.

A young man has just sent me a manuscript called "The Ways of Lady Blodgett Cockeye," in which a father—a decent enough sort of man—nullified every attempt of his wife to civilize their sons, by making game of their mother.

These sons, now grown to manhood, have learned to respect their mother, still carrying on —a woman whom they remember doing her best in cruel, almost impossible, circumstances. But how much simpler it would have been in the family life if father had not encouraged this bitter jealousy of an average decent woman.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Close Relatives Should Not be Pallbearers

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

The following questions are very important to me. Will you please be so kind as to answer them for me?

1. Should grandsons be asked to act as pallbearers at the funeral of their maternal grandfather? As a matter of fact, should any close relative act as a pallbearer?

2. Should the grandsons send flowers if they are to be at the funeral?

3. If they do send flowers, should printed thank-you cards be sent to them by their grandmother or aunts? Are printed thank-you cards ever permissible?

4. What is the difference between letter-paper and notepaper? Is this paper what you would call "note-paper"?

B. E.

1. Close relatives should not be chosen as pallbearers. Their place is with the women of the family. If there are to be honorary pallbearers, usually six or eight close friends as well as business associates of the deceased are chosen. Honorary pallbearers act as an escort of honor, and do not carry the casket. The reason for this is obvious; since they are unaccustomed to carrying such a burden, their inexperience makes them uncertain or awkward and this may mar the dignity and solemnity of the occasion. The funeral director's assistants have been trained for this service.

2. Yes, the grandsons should send flowers. Each may send them with his own family; or each may send them individually; or the grandsons may combine and send one floral tribute.

3. No, printed thank-you cards are never permissible. Either the grandmother or an aunt would, quite naturally and properly, thank each grandson verbally. Or, if this is not possible, a note of loving appreciation should be written to each grandson.

4. Nowadays there is no distinction between the terms "letter-paper" and "note-paper." Formerly large writing-paper was referred to as "letter-paper," and small paper as "note-paper," use whichever you wish. Or you may use "writing-papers" or "ocrrespondence-paper." But incidentally, it is not correct to use "stationery," which is a commercial or trade term. "Stationery" really includes pencils, erasers and so forth.

What to Wear at a Reception

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I have been invited to the wedding of my niece. The ceremony is to take place in a church, followed by a reception for about sixty guests at a hotel. Would it be correct for me to wear a street-length dress on this occasion?

R. T.

If the wedding is in the daytime, whether it's formal or informal, you correctly wear your "best" daytime attire, street-length dress or suit. If it's a formal evening wedding, you may wear a long dinner-type dress, or in these informal days, a dressy afternoon dress, street-length. As a matter of fact, your niece will be the best authority on what she is expecting her guests to wear and I suggest you ask her.

The Marry-Go-Round

THESE CHARMING MEN

The Great Canadian Husband, says cynical Sybil, is the only known member of the species who will take a kick on the shins under the table and keep on smiling.

You can't buy real love; but some men will never give up hope that they can buy "something just as good" and a lot less bothersome, with a four-carat diamond and a wedding ring.

"Every Jack has his Jill" — and nowadays some Jills appear to have two or three "Jacks" and a few "Johnny Doughboys" besides. But it is just as hard as ever to prove to one of them that his intentions are serious.

Times have changed; but men still secretly believe that a girl should regard marriage as a great piece of luck, a husband as a heaven-sent blessing, and spinsterhood as her own fault.

All the smart clothes and snappy haberdashery in the world cannot impress a girl so much as a touch of polish on a man's manners; and the most attractive thing about a uniform, is the gesture of gallantry that usually goes with it.

No bridegroom thinks he's marrying a nit-wit, if the girl has sufficient intelligence to know what a wonderful prize she's getting. (P.S. And perhaps he isn't, if she knows how to put it over.)

The three Big Thrills of a woman's life;—A brand new hat, a brand new romance and a brand new baby.

A "Dream" is any girl a man happens to meet, when the girl of the moment is beginning to seem like a nightmare.

The kiss was probably invented by the first man as a labor-saving device for ending an argument, or as a substitute for an alibi.

CLEVER NOTION that, of lining a differently colored blouse and skirt through the medium of a blouse. Thus a short, very boxy squared jacket of purple fuchsia woolen is worn with a slim blue woolen skirt and a bow-neck blouse of white crepe with blue and fuchsia coin-dots.

IN PLACE of a debut, it's likely to be a benefit or service dance for a wartime deb. For such an occasion, an appropriate frock is a long skirted model in pale peach marquisette with narrow black lace banding at the deep rounded neckline and at the high waistline.

JUNK JEWELRY, which is what the trade calls even the finest of costume jewelry is just right to dress up a simple beret. One light beret, one dark one plus various clips, pins and brooches could easily see a gal through a busy season and find her always well hatted.

SOFT TOUCHES lend new interest to many of the new suits. A charming suit in various shades of wool softens the fitted jacket with hand appliques of self roses, stems and foliage either side of the flower-petal. Three-button closing.

THE LIMELIGHT SHINES on gloves this year as the cap sleeve emerges as a major fashion, because it is not only young and smart but a good conservation measure. Very short, chubby gloves or very long ones are good, the former for day, the latter for afternoon.

HARD TO RESIST the new prints. Deep black crepe is the background for a huge, widely spaced print of lily-of-the-valley sprays in white and green. Cap sleeves and a double belt of black leather through which is thrust a spray of the lilies.

WARTIME HAZARDS IN FOODS

The war has made necessary an increased amount of home preserving and canning. As a result, the number of cases of food poisoning and infection from food has increased somewhat.

According to Doctor Thurman B. Rice, of Indianapolis, four types of food contamination are responsible for nearly all infections produced by food. The taste, smell and appearance of the contaminated food do not always indicate whether or not it has spoiled, so it is well for persons to know about the four kinds of infection and how to avoid them.

Botulism is the rarest and probably the most serious type of food poisoning. It is produced by a toxin or poisonous substance which remains in the food after the botulism germ has been killed. It is found most often in improperly processed beans, peas, corn, spinach, carrots and meats, but is not found in acid-reacting foods, such as cherries, peaches and tomatoes.

All food should be prepared for canning in a pressure cooker, because ordinary boiling will not destroy the botulism germ. The toxin can be destroyed by fifteen minutes of vigorous boiling, and Doctor Rice suggests that all home canned vegetables be boiled for fifteen minutes before they are eaten.

Once the symptoms of botulism poisoning has occurred, there is no treatment which seems to be of any avail. Whether or not the outcome is fatal depends upon the severity of the poisoning.

Staphylococci infection of food produces poisoning due to a toxin which is produced by the staphylococcus germs. Staphylococci usually gets into the food as a result of careless handling. In the fatty foods, the germs multiply rapidly, particularly if these foods are not kept properly refrigerated. Therefore, one must be cautious in eating such foods as cream pie, custards and cream puffs. This type of food poisoning may develop in from two to four hours after spoiled food has been eaten. There is violent vomiting and collapse. This may be fatal within a few hours after eating the infected food, or recovery, if the poisoning is mild, may be complete within a short time.

The third type of poisoning from germs is caused by what is known as the colon group of organisms. This group includes the organism causing typhoid and the dysenteries. Dirty hands, or ordinary house flies, may be responsible for introducing germs into the food. The resultant illness depends upon the type of infection.

The fourth danger comes from animals that were diseased when they were slaughtered. As a result of eating the diseased meat, persons may contract such diseases as trihinosis and tapeworm. Of course, no one should use meat which does not come from properly inspected sources.

Attention to these few simple matters should aid in keeping cases of food poisoning from occuring.

Wife Preservers

Save every bit of paper around the house and give to the government. It goes into the waterproof linings for crates conveying sterilizers, X-ray transformers, operating tables, etc., for battlefront hospitals. Even waste paper that is soiled from having been wrapped around meat, and ink from old letters and postcards makes no difference. No bit of paper is too small to be of use in the job of packaging supplies.

Fish 'n Chips

Next time serve golden brown fillets with French fried potatoes for an out-of-the-ordinary party dish

Expecting company; and ration coupons scarce? Well they'll all go for this Old Country "poor man's feast." Almost any lake or deep-sea fish (fresh or frozen) is good this way: The secrets of success are:

1 Use a deep enough pan:
2 Use a frying basket if you can:
3 Use a high-smoke-point fat : : : Blended Jewel is excellent:
4 Have the fat really hot: A cube of day-old bread should brown in the fat in 60 seconds:

Fry the fish first: To do this divide into fillets of convenient size (6" x 3" x ¼" is ideal): Wipe with a clean dry cloth: Dredge with seasoned flour: Dip into diluted well-beaten egg (1 tsp: water per egg): Then roll in fine breadcrumbs: Place as many fillets in your frying basket as it will hold without overlapping and lower into hot fat: (If you have no frying basket use a spatula): Fry for three to four minutes, turning once. Drain over the fat; then complete draining of fillets on absorbent paper in a warm place:

While fish is cooking; first parboil potatoes (8 minutes) then peel and cut into fingers. Wipe dry: Fry in basket for 5 minutes or until brown: Drain; sprinkle with salt and serve: Strain fat into a clean dry tin to use again:

LONERGAN TRIAL OPENS IN N.Y., COUNSEL CRITICAL

Broderick Asks That Judge Disqualify Himself From Court

MOTION DENIED

New York, Feb. 28. (AP) — Counsel for Wayne Lonergan moved that Judge John J. Freschi disqualify himself, as the first degree murder case against the Canadian aircraftman, accused of slaying his heiress wife, was called for trial today in General Sessions Court.

Edward V. Broderick, addressing the court, said he believed he had been "unjustly attacked in this case", adding:

"I regard as an implied judicial threat the statement that your honor would deal with me after the trial for contempt of court. The court has no power to take such action".

Broderick, whose spectacular trip to Toronto and elsewhere in Canada last week caused two adjournments of the trial, also moved that Judge Freschi dismiss the special jury panel and order a new panel to be drawn.

Judge Freschi denied both motions. The court also denied a motion for determination of contempt of court proceedings before the opening of the trial. Broderick took exceptions on all three rulings.

Lonergan entered the courtroom looking fresh and rested for the ordeal which faced him, and took his seat beside Broderick.

Broderick recalled his 28 years of practice as a lawyer "of good standing", and the "certain sessions" in the present case during which he said "Mr. (Jacob) Grumet (Assistant District Attorney prosecuting the case) asked the Court to send me to jail".

No Admenition is Claim.

"There was no admonition from the court to check Mr. Grumet's savagery", he said. "I regard that as a judicial endorsement of that savagery. From Canada I sent telegrams to your honor which your honor fragmentized and did not put on the record in full as I requested.

"Regarding the contempt threat, I say I am not guilty of contempt. The judiciary law enumerates the phase under which your honor would have jurisdiction on a contempt charge. I said I had unfinished business in Canada and it was wrong for Mr. Grumet to be supercilious. He showed bad faith from the start". He added that "if it was not wrong for Mr. Grumet to be supercilious, then it was not wrong for me to go to Canada on business having to do with the life of my client".

"As a result of the psychological conditions there is a great danger that prejudice has taken root in your subconscious", he told the court. "Your honor made certain statements in the presence of the jury and with the lifeblood of Wayne Lonergan on my shoulders, I move that your honor discharge the jury and that you disqualify yourself as a judge in this case".

ALLAN MILLS

Women's Institute Monthly Meeting

Allan Mills — Mrs. J. F. Baker opened her home to the members of the Women's Institute on Wednesday afternoon with twenty-five members and several visitors present.

The meeting was opened by the president, Mrs. Geo. Eastwood.

Mrs. W. J. Barlow gave the minutes and dealt with the correspondence. Letters of appreciation for boxes received by boys overseas were read from Ed Goloway, S. Ray, Bill Thomson, R. Redcliffe and G. Forsythe.

A card of acknowledgment was read from Mrs. W. McComb. $35 was handed in to the secretary, proceeds from a dance sponsored by the W.I. The next meeting will be held in the form of a pot luck supper and the program will be entertaining the grandmothers. A committee was formed to take charge of the program. It was decided to send the boys overseas cigarettes for Easter. Mrs. J. S. McKeown, convener for Social welfare, took charge of the program. All enjoyed community singing. The motto was given by Mrs. A. Burkitt "How may we spread responsibility among our members to help discover the talents of others". Mrs. W. J. Barlow gave a reading on "The Day Nursery in Co-operation With the War Workers."

An exceptionally fine address was given by Mrs. A. V. Brown on the topic "Sociability of Yesterday and Today."

Mrs. J. S. McKeown gave a reading "Our Neighbors Gate" and a musical contest was enjoyed.

Lantern Explodes Young Farmer Is Burned to Death

Waterford, Ont., Feb. 28. (CP)— Allen McDonald, 26, was burned to death early today in a fire which destroyed his home one-half mile south of Boston on the Cockshutt Road.

Allen apparently had lighted a lantern to go to the barn when the lantern exploded, saturating his clothing with oil. His father, who had not yet arisen, heard the screams and rushed downstairs. He attempted to drag his son from the house, but was unable to do so.

The house was occupied by the McDonald family consisting of William McDonald, 53, who was burned trying to rescue his son, his wife, Victoria McDonald, 46, the son who was fatally burned, and a daughter, Mary, aged 20. The home, the old Lewis Barber estate, was a landmark in the district. Loss was estimated at $3,500.

Statistics Indicate Up to 5,000,000 Nazis Have Been Put Out of Action

Taylor Henry, chief of The Associated Press bureau in Vichy at the time of the German occupation, who now is in Portugal awaiting repatriation, wrote this dispatch before leaving the German internment camp at Baden-Baden, Germany, and carried it with him.

By TAYLOR HENRY
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Baden-Baden, Germany—(Delayed)—(AP)—The number of Germans put out of action — killed, badly wounded or captured—since the beginning of the war reaches a minimum of 4,500,000 to 5,000,000 of whom about 2,000,000 are dead, according to conservative estimates based on information co-ordinated from several sources in Germany.

Statistics which I kept during interment at Baden-Baden show the average age of the German soldiers killed in action in August, 1943, was 25½, while by the end of January it reached 28. In the last few days the Germans ordered men up to and including 60 to report for examination to determine their fitness for military service.

The figures indicating the sudden rise in the average age of Germans killed were reached through a careful check of many thousands of death notices appearing in three selected German daily newspapers, The Volkischer Beobachter and The Deutch National Zeitung of Berlin and the regional Nazi organ, Der Fuehrer, of Karlsruhe, the headquarters for the area in which we are interned.

In August youths 19 and under supplied 15 per cent. of the total deaths. By January they provided only nine per cent. indicating that most of that group had already been killed. The 19-year-olds who formed the class of 1925 mobilized last June suffered a heavy toll in the Russian summer, fall and winter offensives.

Says Nazis Have Long-Range Gun Mounted on R.R. Car

On the Cassino Front, Italy, Feb. 28—(AP) — The Germans have a new 170-centimetre (6.69 inch) gun mounted on a railway car that outranges any Allied artillery pieces in action here, an Allied officer said today.

This gun has a high muzzle velocity but its shell is not so heavy as those thrown by larger Allied guns, he said, adding that the Allies have superiority over the Germans in artillery on the Cassino front.

The Germans also apparently have developed a new powder that is said to give off practically no flash—an advantage at night when gun flashes reveal location of artillery. The German powder does give off a maximum of smoke, however, and has no more power than ordinary powder.

Says Rate on Milk Subsidy Will Cause Much Disappointment

In commenting on a recent announcement by Hon. James Gardiner, Minister of Agriculture, that beginning May 1st the subsidy on cheese milk will be 20 cents per 100 pounds, Mr. S. L. Joss, Secretary of the Ontario Cheese Producers' Association said today in an interview there will be a surprise and disappointment to the cheese producers of Ontario, at last December they were officially advised from the head office at Belleville that the subsidy would be 30 cents per 100 pounds, or its equivalent.

This advice was given them after the Executive of the Ontario Cheese Producers' Association had formally interviewed Mr. Gardiner regarding the 1944 price for cheese, and had received his definite assurance that 30 cents per 100 pounds, or its equivalent, would be paid for the coming season.

REDS NEW ROAD TO RUMANIA

Russian victory at Krivoi Rog, vital iron centre, and surrounding territory now imperils German positions (indicated on map by diagonal lines) east of the Bug river where they form a defence line to protect routes to Rumania. Important rail escape routes are also virtually tied up. How far and fast Red troops expect to progress is shown by the broken line which indicates the goal set by the official Russian blueprint for spring. Note that it includes Bucharest, the capital Rumania. The other line indicates the present battle line.

BADOGLIO SAYS HE 'DUMPED OUT FASCISM'

Intends to Stay in Power Until King Victor Emmanuel Has "Better" Government

By RICHARD G. MASSOCK
(AP War Correspondent)

Naples, Feb. 28—(AP)—Premier Marshal Pietro Badoglio, asserting "It was I who dumped out Fascism," declared firmly in an interview yesterday he intends to stay in power with his present government until King Victor Emmanuel "finds a better one."

While Prime Minister Churchill had said the Allies would reconsider the political situation after their armies reached Rome, Badoglio asked "Who will there be in Rome?" and immediately answered "Nobody else."

"If His Majesty founds a political government after we get there I will get out," the marshall said. "If he does not, then I will stay." He indicated his government hoped to remain in power until all Germans are driven from Italy.

"I have asked for an alliance and I am ready to do everything necessary to gain it," said the premier who surrendered to the Allies, signed the armistice and then declared war on Germany as a co-belligerent.

"Your chief said that they were not fighting the Italian people, but only Mussolini and Fascism," the 74-year-old marshal observed. "Who threw out Mussolini? It was I who dumped out Fascism. It was I."

He intimated his purpose in asking for an alliance was the protection of Italy's interests at the peace table after helping to defeat the Germans. While Badoglio did not say so himself, associates told me afterward that the American and British governments have given him no encouragement to expect an alliance.

Chinese Armies Being Modernized And Re-Trained

By J. REILLY O'SULLIVAN
Associated Press War Correspondent

With a Chinese Expeditionary Force, Feb. 28 — (AP) — The revitalization of Chiang Kai-Shek's armies has begun with the arrival of concrete American aid.

This is the first public disclosure of one of the most ambitious and far-reaching programs in military history to modernise, re-train and re-equip a vast army in wartime.

American army officers and men under the command of Lt.-Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell have started the job in southwest China in co-operation with commanders of Chinese expeditionary forces. The program envisages the re-training of a score of divisions in critical areas where they will do the Japanese the most harm.

Frontline troops in some cases have received American weapons and ammunition and learned their tactical use from Chinese officers and non-commissioned officers, recent graduates of American training schools.

Day of Offensive Envisaged

After seven debilitating years of defensive struggle against the relentless and modernly-armed invader, some large units of the Chinese army at last are able to begin thinking in terms of the day when all will be able to turn to the offensive and drive the Japanese from the continent of Asia.

Viewing the Chinese picture as a whole, however, there still is a staggering job ahead. To a large extent, it hinges on opening a land supply route from India for which a Chinese-American expeditionary force under Stilwell is fighting ahead in Burma. It also depends upon the eventual seizure of a seaport on the China coast. American personnel and material now are limited to what can be flown in, in addition to the needs of the U. S. and Chinese air forces.

Trenton Juniors Even Series With Stirling-Marmora Squad By Winning Second Game 6-5

Teams Will Play Sudden Death Contest in Belleville on Tuesday

GAME KEENLY FOUGHT

Trenton, Feb. 28 (Special)—After leading for the greater part of the way, the Trenton Juniors had to rally in the last few minutes to eke out a 6-5 win over the Stirling-Marmora "Combines" here Saturday night to force the group junior O.H.A. final series to a third and deciding contest. All even at one game each the Combines and Flt. Lt. Stan Jackson's Trenton squad tangle for the group honors at the Belleville Arena on Tuesday night in what promises to be the biggest fan drawing game of recent years. Trenton led 3-0 and 5-3 before the Combines evened matters in the third, forcing Trenton to rally in the dying minutes.

With over 1,000 fans jamming every available corner of the rink here, free-for-all fights were seen in the initial two frames as the game nearly got out of hand and bedlam threatened at times. However, as the game progressed tempters cooled off and the teams went about the business of playing hockey. It was one of the real spirited junior tussles of all-out hockey.

Things loooked rosey for Skipper Jackson's homesters after Ross LaMorre scored two, one a solo effort and Maxwell bagged a third to give the hometown patrons encouragement with a 3-0 lead to end the initial period. Goodchild and D. Bastedo scored in quick succession for the Combines early in the middle stanza before Hamilton scored from a subsequent face-off and LaMorre rifled in his third counter. Fife made it 5-3 for Trenton before the third got under way.

Come From Behind

In less than a minute Bert Bastedo brought the Combines to within one of tying the score and then Goodchild worked through for the equalizer as the Combine supporters met the occasion with glee. However, the hometown fans went home happy, when Floyd Hamilton scored the winning goal on a pass from Ross LaMorre and Trenton held on for the remaining two minutes of play.

Ross LaMorre with three goals and an assist lead the winners on the attack with Floyd Hamilton not only scoring the winning counter, but adding another and two first-period assists. Goodchild with a pair and the Bastedo boys and Fife with one each accounted for all the Combines' goals.

The line-ups:

Trenton—Goal, Harvey; defence, Stojan and Howe; centre, R. LaMorre; wings, Hamilton and Maxwell; subs, Scott, Taylor, Johnson, B. LaMorre, Bangay, Campbell and Thompson.

Stirling-Marmora "Combines"—Goal, McInroy; defence, Utman and McIntosh; centre, B. Bastedo; wings, Patterson and D. Bastedo; subs, Cousins, Trumble, Goodchild, Whitehead, Fife and Lavender.

Referees, Bowen, Trenton and Shannon, Marmora.

Montreal Canadiens Win First NHL Championship Since '31; Chicago Takes 2 Over Weekend

Flying Frenchmen Score 31 Wins Out of Scheduled Games

NEVER BEATEN AT HOME

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The gentleman who writes script for Montreal Canadiens must be knee-deep in dime novels today, working feverishly on a gaudy new angle for the success story of the first championship team to represent Les Canadiens since 1931.

It'll have to be good. Anything less than a clean sweep in the impending Stanley Cup play-offs would be a kindergarten sort of climax for Forum fans who have watched the Flying Frenchmen surge from one conquest to another in winning 31 of 42 scheduled games this season.

The same old story — Montreal first and the rest nowhere — was enacted during the weekend as the teams approached the final two weeks of National League competition. After routing Boston Bruins 10-2 Saturday to clinch the championship and remain undefeated in 21 home engagements, Canadiens showed there was no letdown by coasting to a 5-1 verdict in Detroit Sunday over their closest contenders, the Red Wings.

On a less lavish scale, Chicago Black Hawks emulated Montreal's two-ply triumph by defeating New York Rangers 4-2 on home ice Sunday after a 312 victory over Maple Leafs at Toronto Saturday. The four-point harvest left Chicago six points ahead of Bruins and strengthen the impression that Montreal, Detroit, Toronto and Chicago will be the four teams to qualify for post-season play.

Deadlocked with Leafs

Chicago, deadlocked for third place with Leafs, appears to have a slight edge with two games in hand. They gained an equally slim margin on the season's play Saturday, the 3-2 victory over Leafs being their fifth against four defeats and a tie in 10 meetings with the Toronto club. All three goals were contributed by the formidable attacking unit of Clint Smith, Bill Mosienko and Doug Bentley, each scoring once while Tommy (Windy) O'Neill, wingman on the Toronto line assigned to shadow Chicago's ace trio, found time to score both Leaf goals.

Cully Dahlstrom took full charge Sunday, scoring two third-period goals within 18 seconds to clinch the verdict after sinking one shot in the opening frame. Smith pumped drives past Mike Karakas as Rangers accepted their 33rd defeat against six victories and three ties. Six penalties, including two majors, were doled out in a wild first period which saw Bob Dill and Bryan Hextall of Rangers tangle in the penalty box with Joe Cooper of the Hawks.

Maurice Richard, setting a hot scoring pace for Canadiens, collected two tallies in each of Montreal's wee-end successes. Phil Watson with two Saturday and Butch Bouchard and Fern Majeau with singles in each game also were prominent.

BRANTFORD LIONS GAIN PLAYOFF POST IN GROUP

Defeat Falcons of St. Catharines by 5 to 4 Count

GALT KISTS WIN

(By The Canadian Press)

Brantford Lions gained a third-place playoff position in group 2 of the Junior "A" series as a result of the two final games of the schedule Saturday. Galt Kists trimmed Port Colborne 7-4 at Galt and the Lions worked out a tight 5-4 win over St. Catharines at the Telephone City. The final group standing finds St. Catharines leading Galt by four points; Brantford third with 21 points and the Port Colborne Recreationists just missing out by a lone point.

In the first of the playoff clashes tonight Hamilton Whizzers will be entertained at Brantford; St. Michael's College will go to Galt while Oshawa Generals travel to St. Catharines.

St. Catharines started out strongly at Brantford, leading 2-1 in the first period only to have Lions tie it up 3-3 in the second and notch two goals to one in the third to win out. Jack Jeffreys and Blue McGuire accounted for two each against Falcons, Evanshen getting the single. Scorers for Falcons were Phillips, two, and P. Long and Delmonte one each.

Running in five straight goals in the initial stanza, Galt made no mistake in dealing with Recreationists although the latter monopolized the second frame by registering the only two counters of the period, each team finding the mark twice in the third session. Ubriaco and Sullivan were double scorers for Galt, the remainder being distributed among Podolsky, McCarthy and Curik. Port Colborne marksmen were Gravelle, Kaiser, Savicky and Simpell.

ARMY TO HOLD BOXING TOURNEY

Montreal, Feb. 28. (CP) — The Montreal Herald says today that "an army sports plan that has been under close scrutiny by various Canadian army chieftains for the past five months will receive its big test in a proposed Dominion-wide boxing tournament, with the championship finals to be held at Ottawa during the first or second week in April".

"Boxing has been chosen as the first test of the possibilities of the plan because of the great military value in developing the fighting soldier and because such activity can be carried out on a mass scale," the newspaper said.

"One of the main reasons for the recent ban on national-wide competition", said the Herald, "was the necessary travelling of the teams. The proposed plans for the boxing tournament will whittle down travelling through inter-district competitions and this will at the same time avoid long periods of absence from the regular military training of the title-seekers.

"All district championships will be declared by April 15, and will be followed by an elimination tournament in western and eastern Canada".

"I don't know," said Uncle Ezra, puzzled. "I ain't learned to read yet."

(Bourque joins Bombers.)

Claude Bourque, who tended goal for the Montreal Les Canadiens in the N.H.L. last year, was posted to the Mountain View Bombing School over the weekend, "Cap" Dan Cowley informed us today. Bourque will be in the nets for the Bombers, when they meet the Trenton "Flyers" in the final sudden death game for the district R.C.A.F. hockey championship. This game is scheduled to be played at the Hume arena tonight if the ice is suitable. "We'll play them on any kind of ice," stated Cowley today as he added that John Roblard, former Guelph junior "A" star, had also been posted at Mountain View and would be used against the Flyers also. These additions to Coach "Min" Moore's Bombers should elevate their stocks considerably against Padre Maika's Flyers. On Friday night the Bombers proved they are beginning to click as a team and there'll be quite a galaxy of named hockey players out there tonight.

After all it will be interesting to see Paul Raymond, another ex-Canadien star, playing against Bourque. Raymond teams with McAtee and Wilson to give the Flyers one of the strongest front lines outside the N.H.L., yes and more than one big league club would settle for that trio without hesitation. Incidentally Padre Maika isn't taking any chances against the Bombers and is starting Mike Dziura up front, giving him two professionals and a gala collection of ex-senior stars. But then "Min" Moore hasn't a squad of pushovers on his Bomber roster, with players like Aube, Bourdeau, Duquette, Cowley and Fuger with senior experience, to say nothing of Bourque and Pat McReavy from the big time. When these two squads tangle Belleville fans will see the greatest array of hockey talent ever gathered together under the Hume arena roof at any one time.

(To play here.)

FO. Stan Jackson's Trenton kids eked out a 6-5 win over the Combines Saturday night forcing a third and final game to be played at the Hume arena Tuesday night. It was one of those dog-eat-dog affairs with fistic outbreaks and everything that was needed to keep a thousand fans on their toes from gong to gong. Again it was Ross LaMorre and Floyd Hamilton who stole the Trenton thunder, but the Combines tossed a real scare into the ranks of the Trenton management, when they tied things all up early in the third period.

The demand for tickets is so great that Trenton took 300 before the box office sale opened. Stirling and Marmora asked to have at least 300 reserved for their supporters and it looks like a gala night when these two smart junior squads meet here Tuesday.

(Neutral officials.)

In order to avoid a repetition of previous junior games, when hometown officials were employed every official used tomorrow night will be a neutral one. For instance "Speedy" St. Louis and "Toots" Holway will look after the whistle tooting. Ken Watt and Jim Alexander have been named neutral goal umpires, Billie Cook will look after the regular timekeeping job, while Fred Reid will handle the penalty watch and Lornie Burke the scoreboard indicator. Now all the contesting clubs have to do is play hockey and the old Market Street ice igloo should be jammed to over-flowing for this important junior game. The winner meets Kingston in the next round junior O.H.A. play-offs.

(Juveniles eager.)

It looks like quite a week for hockey at the Hume arena because on Wednesday night the Whitby Juveniles invade the local ice palace enjoying a four-goal lead over Belleville in the second of a home and home series in the O.J.H.A. playdowns. Coach Bill Dennis admits the Ontario County seat squad is good, but he looks for a local win here on the larger ice. "The Whitby team is about as large a juvenile squad as we've met up with. They are well coached and play the same style of hockey their neighbouring town of Oshawa does in the junior ranks. They are really keen on this new forward pass to the centre red line and the fans will see a great game, as my boys are out to win," added Skiper Dennis today.

Toronto, Feb. 28 — (CP) — That proposal in United States for two-way running on the bases in baseball was bound to have repercussions. Out in Vancouver the basketball boys propose to let teams score in either basket . . . as if the referees aren't dizzy enough now!... N. J. (Piffles) Taylor of Regina, president of the Western Interprovincial Football Union, dropped in for a chat while here for the C.R.U. meeting. Piffles sees no chance of senior football in the west this year unless the services sports ban is lifted . . . or the war ends . . . but after the war there is certain to be immediate revival of western football on a big scale.

Vale of Tears:

When Sacramento's eleventh-hour financial drive saved the Pacific Coast League baseball franchise from the Tacoma franchise-snatchers, the crying towels were not confined to Tacoma . . . Eager sports promoters from Vancouver, B.C., had been scampering all over California with hope in their hearts and promissory notes in their fists in a vain effort to move the class AA club into Western Canada.

Futures:

There's a move afoot to use Montreal's old Bonaventure station as a sports centre for service men. The idea is to instal a boxing ring and other gymnasium equipment . . . Plans are under way behind the scenes for a Quebec senior hockey league reorganization. Jack Park of the Cornwall Standard-Freeholder reports a six-team circuit is under consideration with two French clubs from Montreal, Ottawa, Quebec, Cornwall and Montreal Royals. Jack doubts Cornwall will return to the league until after the war and he says many believe Ottawa will quit temporarily to enter the Ottawa city league. Park figures Cornwall could make a go of an entry in the Ottawa city circuit rather than in the Quebec league.

Incidentally:

Johnny McCreedy, former Toronto Maple Leafs hockey player, was honor student in a class of R.C.A.F. pilots graduated last week at Brantford . . . Maj. Denny Whitaker, former Hamilton Tigers football star has been promoted Lieutenant-Colonel, his mother reports. Denny captained the Canadian team which beat the American 16-6 in London this month. Elmer (Montreal Herald) Ferguson suggests Bill Durnan of Canadiens for the Vezina, Calder and Hart trophies. Why not the Byng, too? Bill hasn't been penalized this season.

LESSON NO. 314

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

A finesse is an attempt to win a trick with a card that is lower than an opponent's card in that suit. The idea is to trap opponent's card between your pair of hands.

For the finesse to be successful, that opponent card must be in the hand you are trying to trap. How do you know which opponent has it? Anything you know to help decide that is an asset.

One of the rules that will help is: Most often, an even number of unseen cards will be divided equally; an odd number, as equally as possible.

Take a final whirl at this deal:

NORTH
♠A K 10 3 2
♥Q 7 6 2
♦K 7 6 2
♣None

WEST
♠8 7 6
♥3
♦Q 9 5
♣K Q 10 7 3 2

EAST
♠Q J 9 5 4
♥10 9 5
♦3
♣J 9 8 6

SOUTH
♠None
♥A K J 8 4
♦A J 10 8 4
♣A 5 4

Hearts are trumps. West leads the club king. With a successful diamond finesse, declarer in the south can take all 13 tricks. But who has the diamond queen?

With nine cards in each red suit south knows the opponents have four cards in each. One opponent should have a singleton in one suit and three cards in the other.

To find out who has what, south runs three rounds of trumps. A singleton heart shows up in west, who probably has three diamonds. If so, he has the most chances of having the queen.

As a precaution, south leads the diamond ace in case east has the singleton queen. Then he leads the diamond jack. If west does not cover, dummy plays small and west is trapped.

That's a scientific way of trying to locate an unseen card. I once tried to show off with it before an audience. Do you know what happened? East held two diamonds, one of which was the queen.

Was my face rosy!

AT THE BELLE

"Girl Crazy"

George Gershwin's gay and sparkling musical comedy, "Girl Crazy" comes to the screen at last and co-stars Mickey Rooney and Judy Garland, the irrepressible exponents of fun and laughter. The full Gershwin score plus the music of Tommy Dorsey and his orchestra make the film a delight to the ears as well as the eyes. The movie is now showing at the Belle theatre.

Mickey and Judy, working together for the eighty time on the M-G-M lot, dance, sing and clown their way through the tuneful film, surpassing all previous performance they have ever given. Mickey is a young playboy whose thoughts lie only in the direction of having fun in night clubs. His father sends him to Cody College in Arizona, hoping the boy will mend his ways away from the influence of girls. Mickey obeys and meets Judy, the deans' grandaughter and the only girl in town. Judy doesn't think so much of Mickey, but he manages to win her over and also save the school, which is threatened with closing because of lack of students.

Sings Gershwin Favorites.

Judy sings the Gershwin favorites, "Embraceable You," "Bidin' My Time," "I Got Rhythm," "But Not For Me," and many others, and displays a dancing flair to make everyone sit up and take notice. Mickey does two of his famous impersonations as well as several novelty song and dance numbers.

A chorus of one hundred boys and girls is featured in the finale production number, "I Got Rhythm," which was actually filmed in the Arizona desert to preserve the authentic rodeo atmosphere. Nancy Walker, Gil Stratton, Robert E. Strickland, June Allyson and Frances Rafferty are among the newcomers spotlighted in numbers, and oldtimers Guy Kibbee and "Rags" Ragland lend added zest to the sparkling film. Norman Taurog has directed skilfully, giving ample emphasis to the Gershwin melodies. Arthur Freed produced and has managed to retain all the gaiety and song of the original Broadway production.

The Canadian Belle Paramount News and a funny Metro color cartoon "What's Buzzin' Cousin" precede the feature attraction.

AT THE CAPITOL

"Claudia"

Laughable, lovable "Claudia" who charmed millions in Redbook Magazine, on the stage and on the air, will be seen on the screen of the Capitol Theatre starting tonight Dorothy McGuire, Robert Young and Ina Claire are featured in this 20th Century-Fox film directed by Edmund Goulding and produced by William Perlberg.

That "Claudia" was a natural for the screen was apparent early in her memorable career. Her first appearance on the stage in New York was the signal for her critical praise that predicted a long run on Broadway—and the extended run vindicated these prophesies. "Claudia" had those qualities which appealed to Americans of all kinds, and they are saying that she is even better as a motion picture—if that could be.

"Little Tokyo, U.S.A."
(First Belleville Showing)

The records of the Dies Committee had a great deal to do with the filming of 20th Century-Fox's "Little Tokyo, U.S.A.," the added hit at the Capitol Theatre, according to Producer Bryan Foy.

Although the original screen play is fictional, Foy revealed that incidents of espionage in the Los Angeles Japanese sector, before the attack on Pearl Harbor, were incorporated into the script from actual cases recorded by the committee investigating espionage.

Furthermore, "Little Tokyo U. S. A." will carry a foreword stating that all incidents having to do with espionage are based on facts.

"Some of these incidents," explained the producer, "are so fantastic that some folks will find them hard to believe. But they all are true and we have the records to prove them."

Preston Foster and Brenda Joyce are featured in "Little Tokyo, U. S. A.," which was directed by Otto Browner from an original screen play by George Bricker.

The Canadian Universal News compete the big double attraction.

Boston's Flying Parson Easily Wins Mile Feature

By The Canadian Press

With 75 yards to spare and no competition after the 440-yard mark, Gil Dodds, Boston's flying parson, easily won the mile feature in 4:08.2, short of the indoor mark by .9 seconds at the National A.A.U. championship meet in Madison Sq. Garden Saturday night. Bill Hulse of New York, U. S. mile record-holder, finished a poor fourth, behind Don Burnham of Dartmouth and Bob Hume of University of Michigan.

Canadian-born John Fulton of San Francisco was third behind Les Eisenhart of Columbus and John Roxborough of Michigan in the 1,000-yard run, the time for which was 2:15. With Ensign Cornelius Warmerdam's plane grounded at Cleveland because of bad weather, the pole vault title went to Jack Defield of Minnesota at only 14 feet. Ed Conwell of New York University tied the world record of 0:06.1 for the 60-yard dash; Ed Dugger, formerly of Tufts, copped both hurdles to be the only double-winner of the games and Dartmouth defeated Michigan and New York A. C. in the two-mile relay.

The first 32 finishers in the 56-team football league, North, War Cup qualifying competition will enter the cup rounds proper next Saturday but last year's winners, Wolverhampton Wanderers, will not be among them.

The Wolves did not win a game during the qualifying rounds which ended Saturday and finished with a tie 1-2 with Walsall. Wrexham ended on top of the list, edging out Crewe 1-0.

Cup participants play home-and-home, total-goal series, the 16 winners meeting in the second round starting March 18.

Among the top-flight teams, Bath defeated Swansea 5-2, Stoke downed West Bromwich 5-4. Leicester tied 1-1 with Notts Forest, Sheffield United swamped Doncaster 7-0, Bradford lost 4-2 to Huddersfield, Manchester United drew with Oldham 1-1 and Everton trimmed the last-place Tranmere Rovers, 5-1.

The biggest crowd of the day, 20,000, watched Birmingham beat Aston Villa 2-1.

In a rugby international at Murrayfield Englind repeated last year's triumph over Scotland, winning 23-13.

In the league South Saturday Charlton beat Brentford 5-3, Chelsea whitewashed Watford 3-0, Tottenham defeated Portsmouth 1-0 and Reading won from Clapton 3-0. The Scottish Southern League, where Glasgow Rangers have clinched the title, is ended except for a few games. Rangers and Queen's Park drew 1-1, Clyde trounced Dumbarton 4-1 and Celtic, the runners-up, drew 2-2 with St. Mirren.

Sam Byrd, Birmingham pro and former Yankee outfielder, displaced Harld (Jug) McSpaden in the third round yesterday of the New Orleans $5,000 Open golf tourney by doing a three-under-par 69 for a total of 212. McSpaden brought in a 73 for a total of 214.

The $15,000 Flamingo Stakes for three-year-olds at Hialeah Park resulted in a surprise victory when a Saturday crowd of 17,262 saw Stir Up finish a length and a half in front of another longshot, Skytracer, with the favorite Director J. E. a poor fifth. Stir Up paid $18 to win and Skytracer returned $37.20 for second.

W. HUNTINGDON AND ZION HILL TIED FOR LEAD

A double tie for both first and last position in the league standing was seen in the Central Hastings Rural Hockey League as the final games of the league schedule were played in Stirling Friday evening. Zion Hill and West Huntingdon wound up in a tie for the first slot with Centenary and Corbyville all even for the cellar position. Final game scores saw Zion defeating Centenary 2-0, while Huntingdon beat Corbyville 4-1.

With the battle for playoff position thus ending in rather a stalemate, the various teams will saw off again on Tuesday evening. Huntingdon and Zion to determine first position and the last two teams to decide which team will continue on in the playdowns. It will be a sudden death game between Centenary and Corbyville, the loser to face elimination.

Friday night's first game saw the Zion sextette at their best defensively when they shut out the Centenary team by a 2-0 score, while in the nightcap the Huntingdon boys downed Corbyville 4-1.

First period in the Zion-Centenary game went scoreless with Walt breaking the deadlock in the second canto on a solo effort while Thompson added a second goal for the Zionites at the start of the third period. Four penalties were handed out by Referee Wallace two to each team.

Lineups—Zion,—goal Gifford; defence, Walt and Guay; forwards, Thompson, Brough and A. Tummon; subs: Simms, G. Tummon, Ketcheson and Ray.

48 ARE ELIGIBLE FOR 54TH RUNNING OF PREAKNESS

Handicap to be Run in Maryland Week After Kentucky Derby

NOT MUCH CLASS

Baltimore, Feb. 28 (AP)—Forty-eight three-year-olds were listed by the Maryland Jockey Club today as eligible for the 54th running of the rich Preakness Stakes at Pimlico May 13.

The list was more notable for the lack of good racers among the current mixed assortment of three-year-olds than for the competent racers on it, and it appeared probable that there would be a bumper crop of supplementary nominations for the $50,000-added event.

The Preakness, again following the Kentucky Derby by one week, will be run on the final day of a 28-day meeting to be conducted at Pimlico by Maryland's four major racing associations—Pimlico, Laurel, Bowie and Havre De Grace.

The list of 48 eligibles included one filly—Belair stud's Pallene; and two geldings—Walter M. Jefford's Westminster and John Marsch's Jezrahel. The other 45 are colts.

The outstanding colts, on the basis of past performance, were Mrs. A. J. Abel's Gramps Image, Brookemeade Stable's Pressure, Mrs. Ella K. Bryson's Director J. E., Calumet Farm's Pensive, R. Sterling Clark's Smolensko, Longchamps Farm's Professor Lee, Marsch's Jezrahel, Cripsin Oglebay's Boy Knight, Alfred P. Parker's By Jimmy and Lieut. Col. C. V. Whitney's Pukka Gin.

George D. Widner's juvenile star of last fall's consolidated Maryland meeting, Platter, was missing from the list, a were Mrs. H. J. Mohr's Royal Prince, William Helis's Olympic Zenith, A. C. Ernst's Alorter, Harry Lamontagne's Rodney Stone and Marsch's Occupy.

The Preakness, run at a mile and three-sixteenths, has a current gross value of $60,210, and this is likely to approach $70,000 before the horses go to the post.

NEW BURGLAR TRAP

Hugo, Okla., (CP) — Red Taylor has his own way of dealing with burglars. At 4 a.m. Taylor saw a strange woman attempting to squeeze through a window of his store. He pressed the window down on the woman's neck and secured it by hammering a nail through the frame. Forty-five minutes later he released his prisoner with a lecture on the futility of crime.

CLEVELAND WINS DOUBLEHEADER OVER WEEKEND

Strengthen Top Position by Beating Hershey Bears and Providence Reds

SMART CONTESTS

(By The Canadian Press)

The leading Cleveland Barons strengthened their position atop the American Hockey League over the weekend by defeating Hershey Bears 3-0 Saturday night and Providnce Reds 4-3 last night.

Buffalo trounced the second-place Bears 6-1 last night, after they battled Pittsburgh Hornets to a 3-3 draw Saturday. Indianapolis Capitals and Hornets also staged a 3-3 tie last night.

For Barons it was their first victory on Hershey ice since the 1941-42 season. The first and third periods were scoreless, but Cleveland's Norm Locking and Les Cunningham got two counters within 53 seconds in the second. Pete Horeck collected the third counter in the last minute of the period.

Free-for-All Staged

The cellar-dwelling Reds put up a strong fight with Barons last night which resulted in major and minor and match misconduct penalties. Clayton Lavell, of Cleveland and Amo Bessone, and Bill Whittet of Providence received majors, before Pete Bessone and Whittet were given match misconducts in the third period.

Horeck bagged two of Cleveland's counters and Earl Bartholome and Locking scored the other two. Harold Cooper, Jack Toupin and Roland Forget made the three Providence tallies.

Dede Klein slammed a hard 30-foot drive into the Pittsburgh net to give Bisons their 3-3 deadlock with Hornets.

Pittsburgh went into the third period with a 3-1 lead but Fred Thurier, who had tallied in the opening frame, bagged another counter at 4:22.

Last Game of Season

Indianapolis Caps played their last game of the season against Hornets last night and a dramatic last half-second score gave them their 3-3 draw.

Player-manager Johnny Sorrell fired the puck into the cage just one-half a second before the final whistle. Sorrell also scored the only first-period goal. After a scoreless second frame, Cliff Barton, Tom Forgie and Bill Gauff made the Pittsburgh counters. Red Kane scored the second Cap goal.

In the Hershey-Buffalo game, Walter Atanas, young Bison winger scored three goals for the second successive Sunday to pace his team's attack. Fred Thurier, Larry Thibeault and Max Bennett contributed the other counters. Hershey's Johnny Harms scored Bears' lone tally at 14:28 in the final period.

Picton Hoopsters Beat 'Y' Juveniles

With never a difference of two points between them the Picton R. A. F. hoopsters finally emerged winners by a 24 to 23 score over the Belleville "Y" juveniles in an exhibition basketball game played at the Y. M. C. A. Saturday night. In the other half of a dual hoop bill the "Y" girls triumphed over the "Pick-ups" 28 to 16.

Tom Burnett's Belleville's juveniles put up a courageous fight against their older rivals from the Picton R. A. F. camp, the halftime score being 13 to 11 for the Flyers. Weegas led the Airmen with ten points while Thoms scored four. George Garrow headed the "Y" scoring with six points followed by Wonnacott and Rollins with four each. Every member of the Belleville team scored at least one point.

Betty Gilbert headed the "Y" girls on the scoring sheet against the "Pick-ups" to score 16 points, Marion Salisbury being next with eight. Dot Ronsky with eight and Miss Gariepy with four carried the loser's scoring punch. Tonight a doubleheader of Girls City Basketball League games will be played at the "Y".

Want-of-Confidence Motion Would Be Accepted by Govt.

Toronto, Feb. 28—(CP)—Watched closely by the politically-minded across Canada, Ontario's legislature, with a new administration and a new opposition, moved through opening week of its inaugural session without a division and with no sharp cleavage over legislation still in the formative stage.

But a delineation of party interpretation of division to come was not long left in doubt.

E. H. Jolliffe, young, law-schooled leader of the C. C. F. opposition, opened the Throne speech debate with the flat declaration that if Premier Drew's progressive conservative administration suffers defeat on any division, the result will not constitute a no-confidence vote in the government "unless it is stated on our behalf prior to such division."

When Mr. Jolliffee completed his address of two hours there was an air of expectation in the chamber. The grapevine route already had carried unofficial intimations that the Premier would simply adjourn the debate until Tuesday and carry on from there.

Drew Counters Statement.

But while Mr. Jolliffee spoke there was a stir on the government benches. Before the applause, generous from both sides of the House, had subsided, Premier Drew arose and countered the opposition leader's statement with an equally blunt declaration.

He said if at any time the opposition feels the government no longer enjoys confidence, the opposition has the right to move a want-of-confidence motion, which the government would "gladly accept as an issue."

There rests the potentially eruptive question of snap-election-or-not, until Tuesday at least when Colonel Drew resumes his address. The Queen's Park guessers line up solidly behind the "not", but they still see a question-mark hanging over the 15-member Liberal group led by former Premier Harry C. Nixon, veteran legislator whose government went down to defeat in the provincial election last August.

So far Mr. Nxon has not had a chance to express his party's views on the floor of the legislature. But he will follow Colonel Drew on Tuesday and is expected to reiterate previous Liberal statements that they would support any legislation felt to be in the interests of the province.

Liberals Hold Balance.

Most observers agree that the role of the Liberals in the legislature may prove more important than their numbers make it appear, for actually they hold the balance of power. The progressive conservatives have 35 votes against 34 for the C. C. F. in addition there are two labor-progressive members and former Primer Mitchell Hepburn is sitting as an independent Liberal in the 90-member House. One seat is vacant, one government member is overseas and another, W. J. Stewart, has been elected speaker but can cast a vote in case of a tie.

Relative Travel Dangers

(From the Detroit News)

Since the recent lamentable series of railroad accidents, we hear people talking of whether flying is not, after all, safer. The answer, dear friends, is still no.

The commercial air lines are doing a remarkable job of safety promotion. Their safety record has been improving in wartime, while that of the railroads has been going from bad to worse. Even so, they and the railroads still have a long way to go, each in its chosen direction, before flying will be safer.

The air lines this year have lowered their record of fatalities per 100,000,0000 passenger miles of travel to the unheard of figures of 2.2. Unfortunately we have readily at hand no more recent statistics on rail fatalities than those of 1941. However, in that year, when 41 persons were killed in passenger train accidents the rail fatality rate per 100,000,000 passenger miles was but .14 of one passenger. Evidently a good many times 41 persons would have to be killed in train wrecks this year to equal the air line's record of 2.2 per 100,000,000 etc.

At this point some air-minded gent will be leaping from his chair to accuse us of giving aviation a black eye. So we volunteer some more statistics, authority for which is the National Safety Council.

The deaths per 100,000,000 passenger miles traveled in passenger automobiles is 4. That is, you are almost twice as safe in a commercial airliner as in your own car.

As a matter of fact, which is often noted, you are a lot safer in either a plane or a train than in your own home. One of every 4,000 Americans, more or less, dies each year in home accidents. As for the 500,000,000 who annually board the trains, only one of every 12,000,000 fails to arrive at destination alive and, nowadays, usually kicking.

When Premier Drew spoke Thursday he made a reference which some observers feel was directed at the closely-drawn party lines in the House. He made it clear his government would not govern in "any spirit of fear", but he added that it might be a healthy thing to see members free to express their opinions and that there was no reason why a spirit of co-operation could not be achieved in the legislature.

VETERAN RENEWS PEP

A Northeast Depot in Britain (CP) — Britain's oldest serving soldier is 67 year old Cpl. James Brennan, veteran of three wars who has arrived here for a "pep course" before going overseas. Entitled to draw an old age pension two years ago, he refused to apply because he might be discharged. A medical board examination which he asked for gave him "A-1" rating after he was turned down once.

CONFERENCE ON THURSDAY

Kingston, Feb. 28—(CP)—A conference will be held here next Thursday to discuss proposed establishment of a sanitorium for treatment of tuberculosis in the eastern Ontario area, it was made known yesterday.

Representatives of the counties of Hastings, Prince Edward, Frontenac, Lennox and Addington and Leeds, as well as representatives of cities and town in the area, have been invited to attend the conference. It is understood the Provincial Health Department proposes to build a 100-bed hospital.

BOMB WAS NOT FUSED

A Northeast Town, England (CP) —A man here was knocked off his bicycle into a ditch by a 4,000-pound R.A.F. blockbuster and lived. The bomb rolled off a lorry and he heaved a sigh of relief when he learned the bombs are quite safe until they are fused.

CHAPTER 22

"No," said Duffy. "Curly's no blackmailer. He's just a racketeer and gangster. What difference does it make anyway where Metcalf got the gun? He's dead and that ends it."

"All right," said Tony. "Tell me some more about Curly."

"There was reason at all why he should have killed the dame. When he found her with that other guy, he ought to have thrown her over, and let it go at that?"

"What happened to the guy?"

"Oh, he got away. The girl held Curly. That was when he shot her."

"Has Curly ever been in trouble before?" Tony asked.

"Lots of times. This is his second murder. He'd have burned for the other one, if it hadn't been for Herschel Schneider."

"Was Schneider his lawyer?"

"Yes, and got a disagreement by the cleverest work I ever saw. By the time he was through with the witnesses, the jury wasn't certain whether Curly had killed the other man or the other man had killed Curly."

"Where did Curly get his money? Schneider doesn't work for nothing."

"I don't know about Schneider," Duffy mused. "Sometimes I think he goes into these cases just to show up the police. Curly never had any real dough."

"Maybe he gave him that swanky little pistol as a testimonial of esteem."

Duffy looked at him.

"That's an idea," he said. "I'll put it up to Curly."

"I've been wondering about Schneider, Jim," Tony went on. "Do you think he's crooked?"

"If he is, he has never been caught at it. Besides, if there was ever any dirty work he wanted done, he would never have to do it himself. He knows too many gunmen."

"You mean that if he wanted to have a man killed . . ."

"Sure—as easy as that," and Duffy snapped his fingers.

"But suppose the crook double-crossed him?"

"No crook in this town would dare double-cross him. Schneider would have too much on him. Besides, he would take good care to give himself an air-tight alibi by going out of town—and making sure that a lot of people saw him."

Tony's heart missed a beat.

"What's the matter?" the detective asked. "What are you looking that way for? You don't mean to say that you think Schneider had something to do with the McKibben case?"

"Now that you've reopened the case, Jim," said Tony, with a smile, "I don't mind admitting that some such thought has occurred to me. At any rate, he did go down to Washington Thurday night — the night Metcalf is supposed to have killed himself, if you happen to have forgotten it."

"I haven't forgotten it," snorted Duffy. "What time did he leave?"

"He told me he left at 8:35. That would get him to Washington about 12:30. It would be interesting to know what time he checked in at his hotel—he'd probably go to the Mayflower."

"And I'd be willing to give you ten to one that he checked in there about 12:45," said Duffy. If he was setting up an alibi, he'd be certain to check in at the right time. But I'll look into it."

"It would sort of quiet my mind to know for sure that Schneider really was out of town Thursday night," Tony explained, "especially between the hours of nine and eleven. I'm going to risk your displeasure, Jim, by observing that I never was convinced that Metcalf killed himself."

"Oh, forget it!" broke in Duffy disgustedly. "Where would we be if we started in digging up all the old corpses and analyzing them all over again? You ought to have been a psychiatrist!"

"Thanks, Jim," said Tony. "That is what I knew you would say. I think you're a miracle—thirty years in the police department and you still have a half-open mind!"

"Cut out the orchids," grinned Duffy, "and get down to business. I've got other things to do beside sitting here listening to you. What did we do wrong?"

"Well, you didn't make any real effort to trace the pistol or to find out where the rope-ladder came from."

"We did trace the pistol," Duffy pointed out.

"By accident."

"And we made one or two inquiries about the ladder, but they didn't get us anywhere."

"There can't be such a lot of places in New York which sell ladders like that. Metcalf's boy said at once that it was made in Japan. Where is it now?"

"Up at Headquarters. Shall I send it down?"

"Yes. I'd like to have it. Maybe I can show that Herschel Schneider bought it."

"Herschel Schneider!" snorted the detective. "I don't see that guy climbing up and down rope-ladders. I've already told you he'd send a torpedo—a goon—a hired man."

"Maybe so. Still, I should like to have it."

"Okay," said Duffy. "But watch your step if you are going to buck Herschel!"

Half an hour later the phone rang. It was Duffy, speaking from his office.

"I can't send you that ladder, Tony," he said. "Metcalf's brother has just put in a claim for it and for the little automatic. Also for the dictograph and typewriter. He wants them right away."

"The deuce he does! Tell him you're not through with them."

"I did, but he says there's no reason for me to keep them since the case is closed, and that he's going to have them. He's acting on the advice of his lawyer."

"Who's his lawyer?"

"Herschel Schneider," Duffy answered, his voice a little grim.

Tony caught his breath.

"I sort of feel, Jim, that I'm going to crack this case, and that Schneider is the nut."

"He's a tough one," Duffy warned. "You'll need an axe."

"Seriously, Jim," said Tony, "when will you have to turn the dictograph and ladder over to Metcalf's brother?"

"This is Saturday afternoon," said the detective, "so I don't see how he could get out replevin papers today, and of course he can't do anything tomorrow. I oughtn't to have any trouble holding on to them till Monday afternoon."

"That's fine!" Tony chortled. "Now, listen, Jim. Don't let Schneider have any of that stuff before three o'clock Monday afternoon."

"Okay."

"And keep everything locked up, and put the key in your pocket during the day and under your pillow at night. All except the ladder. Put that in charge of somebody with instructions to turn it over to me when I call for it. I'll come right up for it, and I won't want it over an hour."

"Okay," said Duffy again, and hung up.

Tony called a taxi and was hustled over to Central Park West, where McGinty, the tall Irish doorman, hastened down the steps.

"Is it more trouble, sir?" he asked, as Tony got out.

"I always seem to bring it, don't I?" Tony agreed. "But not this time. How does it happen you're on duty? I thought you were the night man."

"I came on at noon today, sir."

"You were on duty Thursday night, weren't you?"

"I was sir, from six o'clock on."

"I remembered seeing you. You told Lieutenant Duffy that you hadn't noticed anybody unusual going in or out."

"That's right, sir. Nothing suspicious at all."

"Do you happen to remember what time Miss Scott, Dr. Metcalf's secretary, left? You know her, don't you?"

"I know her, sir, but it's little I see of her for she's usually gone before I come on duty. I didn't see her Thursday."

"How about that Jap houseboy who worked for Metcalf?"

"I wouldn't be seeing him either, sir. He's use the service entrance."

"Where is it?"

"Around on the side street, sir."

"I wonder if you noticed what time Mr. Herschel Schneider went out Thursday night?" Tony asked, in a voice as casual as he could make it.

"I did, sir. I remember very well," Mc Ginty answered promptly, "because he had a bag with him and stopped to talk for a minute while he was waiting for a taxi. He said he was going down to Washington.

"What time was it?" asked Tony.

"Just eight o'clock, sir. I remember Mr. Schneider taking out his watch and looking at it and saying he would have to hurry, as he was catching the 8.35 train."

The columnist thanked the doorman and went on toward the elevators. He was whisked up to the seventh floor. The door of Metcalf's office was closed, but when he rang the bell, it was opened by the brunette secretary. She looked pale and her eyes had heavy circles under them.

"I understand that Dr. Metcalf's brother is here taking charge of things," Tony said.

"Yes."

"I should like to see him."

"He is not here at the moment."

"But you expect him?"

"Yes, any time."

"Then I'll come in and wait if I may."

"Of course," and she held the door wide open and then closed it after him. "Sit down," she added, and went back to her place behind the desk. There was an open ledger on it, and he judged she was getting out the doctor's bill. Tony did not sit down, but went over and stood beside the desk. He was elated that he should have this opportunity to talk with her alone.

"You remember me, don't you, Miss Scott?" he said.

"Oh, yes."

"I was here Thursday afternoon," he went on rapidly. "And I was here Thursday night. In fact, it was what Dr. Metcalf told me in the afternoon that brought me around here that night. There is something unexplained about this affair, Miss Scott. Perhaps you feel the same way."

"I do," she said and looked up at him with eyes full of misery. "But for the present I think it should be allowed to rest."

"Why?"

"So that—everyone will think — no, I can't tell you now. I can't talk to you here. Please don't say any more."

"I'll say only one thing more, my dear," said Tony gently, "and that is that when you do feel like telling me, I hope you will."

The columnist crossed the room and sat down in a chair against the wall. The girl had turned around to her machine and he could not see her face, but her hands were trembling so that she could scarcely adjust the paper in the carriage. And then the door opened and a man came in—a short, bald-headed man of middle age. He looked at Tony with sharp, deep-set eyes, and then glanced suspiciously at the girl bent over the machine. Evidently visitors were not welcome.

"I'm waiting to see Dr. Metcalf's brother," Tony explained, getting to his feet.

"I am Dr. Metcalf's brother."

Tony looked at him in surprise. He could see no resemblance between this livid, parchment-like visage and the vivid, almost oriental face of Dr. Metcalf.

"What is it you want?"

"I'm Antony Bigelow," Tony explained.

"Yes?"

If Dr. Metcalf's brother had ever heard of the famous columnist, no slightest trace of it appeared on his countenance.

"It's evident," said Tony, with a little laugh, "that I'm unknown to you. It just shows what an ingrown place New York is. As it happens, I'm a columnist."

"A columnist?"

"Yes—one who writes a column in a newspaper, you know."

The expression of the sharp little eyes grew distinctly more hostile.

"Oh, a reporter," said the man, gruffly. "I don't want any more publicity—there has been too much already," and he turned toward the inner office.

"You can't avoid it, I'm afraid, if it should turn out that your brother was murdered," said Tony suavely.

The other stopped abruptly and looked at him. Then he glanced again at the secretary bending over her machine.

"Murdered?" he repeated. "Ridiculous!"

"Nevertheless," said Tony, "it might be worth your while to see me."

Metcalf regarded him for a moment in silence, then motioned with his hand toward the inner room.

All right, come in," he said.

As Tony followed him, he ventured to cast a glance at the secretary. She was staring at him, her eyes blazing, her lips quivering. A moment later the inner door closed after him. Metcalf sat down behind the desk and motioned Tony to the patients' chair.

"Now," he said, "what is this nonsense you were talking!"

"Do you mean to say that you are really satisfied with this suicide theory?" Tony demanded.

"Of course I'm satisfied. What other theory could there be?"

"Why should a man who had everything to live for commit suicide?" Tony countered.

"He had killed a man. He was under suspicion."

"Oh," said Tony. "You believe that, too, do you?"

"Of course I believe it. Reluctantly, you understand," Metcalf added, a little hastily. "Naturally, it isn't pleasant to believe that one's brother was a murderer, but one can't get around the proof. I have gone into it thoroughly. And let me say to you, sir, that I shall deeply resent any further newspaper scandal and will take any legal action necessary to prevent it. Jerome is dead. He should be left in peace."

"Nothing that anybody can do will disturb him," Tony pointed out, a little dryly. "The people who will be disturbed are still alive—and unpunished. I wonder if you would mind telling me just why he killed McKibben?"

"McKibben had robbed him. He was trying to blackmail him. Jerome would have been ruined professionally—if McKibben had taken his story to the newspapers."

"You mean about the dictograph records?"

"Yes."

Tony looked at him curiously. "You are certainly well informed," he said. "I wonder who explained all this to you?"

Metcalf flushed angrily. "I refuse to discuss the matter," he snapped. "I repeat, Jerome is dead . . "

"And so it doesn't make much difference how he died? I see. Did he leave a will?"

Metcalf sprang from his seat. "What business is that of yours?" he demanded.

"It is my business to give the public the news," Tony answered. "This is news. Why on earth should you object to telling me?"

Metcalf controlled himself with an effort.

"I don't object to telling you," he said, "but your manner is offensive. You seem to be intimating that I am trying to conceal something or protect somebody."

"I think you are, if you let this matter rest where it is."

"Besides," Metcalf went on, without heeding him, "my attorney has warned me not to talk to reporters. You'd better see him. His name is Herschel Schneider."

"Is he the one who explained the case to you?"

"He told me the details, certainly. That was his business, wasn't it?"

"I suppose so," Tony assented a little wearily, and rose to his feet. "Will you be here for some time yet?"

"I'm going home tonight," Metcalf answered. "Jerome is to be buried in the morning. Then I expect to come back for a few days."

Metcalf opened the door into the other room and waited for Tony to pass through, then stood watching him as he crossed to the outer door. The secretary was busy at her machine and did not look up.

"Goodbye, Mr. Metcalf," he said over his shoulder. "Perhaps I'll have a surprise for you by Monday," and he stepped out into the hall and closed the door after him The instant the words were out of his mouth he knew he should not have uttered them.

644 Nazi Planes Or More Destroyed In Week of Raids

London, Feb. 28 — (CP) — Destruction of at least 644 German fighter planes in one unprecedented week of Allied aerial attacks on Nazi industry cut Hitler's available aircraft almost to the point where he must soon depend chiefly on new output from his badly-battered production centres, it was estimated unofficially today.

But whether Hitler could expect much help there was a big question. The weight of at least 18,000 tons of bombs dropped in 13 massive raids in the offensive indicated a large percentage of Nazi plane productive capacity is wiped out.

At least 15 major German aircraft production centres were attacked in the week-long bombing drive.

Over and above the 644 total are the German fighters downed by the R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. in four major night operations last week. Air Ministry communiques gave no figures.

The Allied air forces lost 387 heavy bombers and 37 fighters in the forays into Germany, incomplete statistics in the communiques show.

'Major Victory' Won by British On Arakan Front

London, Feb. 28 —(CP)— British and Indian troops "have scored a major victory over the Japanese for the first time" on the Arakan front in Burma, the Allied Command for Southeast Asia announced today in an account distributed by the Ministry of Information.

A Japanese force on the front now has been largely destroyed, the statement said, with "a conservative estimate putting their dead at over 1,000 and their wounded at 2,000 out of an original task force of approximately 8,000."

Push Japanese Back.

New Delhi, Feb. 28 —(CP)— Allied pressure through the jungles of Burma has pushed the Japanese back on nearly all the fronts scattered along 500 miles from Akyab to the Hukawng Valley in the north, a Southeast Asia communique reported today.

African troops thrust deeper to the south from Kyauktaw, 50 miles north of Akyab, after seizing that point outflanking Buthedaung to the west, but were meeting with increasing enemy resistance.

Five hundred Japanese have been killed in clearing the Ngakyedauk Pass, the communique said.

To the north in the Chin Hills British troops captured positions in the main Japanese defensive system, the communique said, but were forced to withdraw from some of them when the Japanese counter-attacked in force.

Enemy Evacuates Without Fight.

Still farther north, the Japanese evacuated positions without a fight in the Atwin Yomas areas.

A Chinese communique declared Chinese forces fighting south of the Tanai river in northern Burma had captured Lakygnaga Feb. 23, and "during the last three weeks our troops have recovered 75 miles of territory on the Tanai river front. Our advance units are within 10 miles of Mainkwan and still are pushing forward."

Capture of Lakygnaga, the Chungking Bulletin said, "successfully concluded operations in the important sector covering the Taro Valley and areas traversing Yawngpang Ga. and northeast of the Tanai river."

John Bracken Not Interested In Prov. Politics

Quebec, Feb. 28. (CP) — At a Press Conference here today, John Bracken, Progressive Conservative leader, said he is "interested only in Federal affairs and will never interfere in Provincial politics".

Mr. Bracken, who will address here tonight his first political meeting in this province since his election to Progressive Conservative leadership, was commenting on a report from Winnipeg (not carried by The Canadian Press) that there would shortly be an alliance in Quebec between the Union Nationale Party of Maurice Duplessis and the Progressive Conservatives".

Mr. Bracken said that his party "is ready for elections at any time", adding that "one of the most futile
Rev. Dr. Basil Markle D?
tions will be held".

Regard Council As Fictitious

London, Feb. 28 —(CP)— The Polish government in London has learned of the distribution of leaflets in Warsaw telling of the appointment of a new commander-in-chief of Polish forces by the National Council in Poland, as a rival to Gen. Kazinierz Sosnkowski, the commander appointed by the London group.

It was said the Polish government here regarded the new National Council as fictitious because reports from the underground said its leaders were unaware of its existence or of the existence of "Gen. Rola," described as the new commander. Creation of the National Council was announced by the Union of Polish Patriots in Moscow.

Making Effort To Shorten Debate

Toronto, Feb. 28 (CP)—Efforts will be made to shorten the debate on the Throne speech at the current session of the Ontario legislature and a check of parties showed today that the Progressive Conservative government probably will have fewer speakers than the C.C.F. opposition.

It is believed the C.C.F. will have 12 speakers while the Progressive Conservatives may have no more than six or eight. However Liberal and other members also will take part in the debate.

Premier Drew, who began an address Thursday following opposition leader E. B. Joffiffe, will continue tomorrow. Then will come Liberal Leader Harry Nixon, A. A. MacLeod (LP-Toronto Bellwoods) and Agnes Macphail (CCF-York East) in that order.

Prime Minister King Stresses Work of Red Cross

Toronto, Feb. 28 (CP)—On the opening day of a campaign to raise $10,800,000 for relief purposes, the Canadian Red Cross Society through its Toronto office issued a statement from Prime Minister King in which he said the present year will witness the heaviest fighting in which Canada's armed forces have yet been engaged.

Asking Canadians to respond generously to the appeal, Mr. King said:

"The activities of the society are so varied and so beneficient that it is difficult to single out one phase of its work more than another for commendation.

"I would, however, direct special attention to the need of providing food, parcels for Canadian prisoners of war, of maintaining volunteer blood donor service and of furnishing hospital supplies and comforts both for the armed forces and for civilian victims of the war.

"Having in mind the nature of the society's work and the needs of those to whom it ministers, I warmly commend the appeal of the Red Cross to the people of Canada."

Boy Scout Week Fittingly Marked By Concert

Madoc.—Boy Scout Week was very fittingly observed by the Madoc Troop and an outstanding event in Boy Scout achievements when the boys put on a splendid concert in the assembly room of Trinity United Church. The hall was packed to capacity showing the interest parents and friends are taking in the movement. Patrol Leaders Trent Doig, Stanley Hawthorne and Rev. A. Poulter have taken a keen interest in the work. During the summer, ten days are spent in Camp Life and particularly through the winter months the boys are taking an active part in salvage work to assist in Red Cross activities. A fine program was given by the boys consisting of songs, instrumental duets, three one-act plays and demonstration of First Aid work.

Social Evening.

St. John's Anglican Church spent a pleasant time in the Orange Hall on Monday evening, when over sixty members of the congregation enjoyed a pot luck supper and social time. Following the supper, a program was conducted consisting of community singing lantern slides shown by Rev. Mr. Robinson, a quiz contest conducted by Miss Davies and Mrs. K. Fenn and a skit by the W.A. with Mrs. Guy Gillman acting as pianist for the evening.

Women's World Day of Prayer.

The Women's World Day of Prayer was observed in Trinity United Church, Madoc, on Friday afternoon with a splendid attendance from the various churches in the village. Mrs. A. Poulter, president of Trinity W.M.S., was in charge assisted by Mrs. W. Miller of St. Peter's Presbyterian Church and Mrs. Phillips of St. John's Anglican Church. Mrs. John McCaffrey gave a short address, reviewing the talk given by Mrs. McWilliam of Winnipeg. The speaker for the day was Rev. A. Poulter, who chose as his subject "Prayer". Stanley Hawthorne presided at the piano. A most inspiring meeting was enjoyed by those who attended.

Personals.

Mrs. John Armstrong left on Thursday to visit her daughter, Mrs. A. D. Ward and Mr. Ward at Trappe, Maryland, U.S.A.

Bill McBain, R.C.A.F., spent a few days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. McBain.

Miss Kathleen Lahey of Belleville, spent the weekend at her home in Madoc.

Mrs. Ken Nicol is spending a few days in Toronto, where she will attend the annual meeting of the Canadian Red Cross Society.

Mrs. Stewart of Uxbridge, is visiting her friend, Mrs. C. Moon.

Mr. Gordon Moon of Uxbridge, spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Moon.

Mrs. R. Gillman spent a week in Montreal, visiting her son, Jeffrey, and Mrs. Gillman.

14-Year George Webster 'Unfit to Stand Trial' On Murder Charge

Montreal, Feb. 28. — (CP) — A court of King's Bench jury today, after hearing evidence from official alienists, declared 14-year-old George Webster, 'unfit to stand trial' on a charge of murdering his mother last November in a neighboring Westmount home.

The 14-year old high school student had been charged with murder after a coroner's jury had held him criminally responsible for the death of his mother, Mrs. Andrew R. Webster, 39-year-old wife of a prominent Westmount resident.

Police said Mrs. Webster was bludgeoned to death.

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, Feb. 28 (CP)—Industrial stocks chalked up a small index gain at noon and the other groups were slightly lower. Due to heavy trading in Halliwell and one or two other penny golds, volume for the first three hours up to 442,000 shares.

Utility, steel and good stocks were mainly firm to strong. Gains in the steels involved Burlington Steel, Canadian Locomotive and Canadian Car Pfd.

Halliwell was the gold leader in volume and it gained a cent or more. Gillies Lake added 2 cents. In the higher price list prices were a bit stronger for Sigma, O'Brien and Wright-Hargreaves. Nickel, Hudson Bay and Steep Rock were slightly lower base metals.

Home and British-Dominion weakened slightly and small gains came out for Calgary-Edmonton and Mid-Continent. Other western oils were steady.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

Toronto, Feb. 28 —(CP)— Cattle trade was dull up to mid-session on the livestock market here today with a few sales at steady prices. Veal calves were firm. Lambs and sheep were steady. No price was established for hogs.

Receipts reported by the Dominion Marketing Service were: Cattle 2,200, calves 300, hogs 900, sheep and lambs 800. Unsold from Saturday were 200 head of cattle.

Prices in the trade included:

Germans Deathly Afraid of Canadian Artillery Fire

Ottawa, Feb. 28 (CP)—Canadian artillery fire during the Sicilian campaign was so heavy and deadly that German and Italian soldiers "were paralyzed with fear," Sgt. Orville G. Kenny of Ottawa said upon arrival here during the weekend with a group of repatriated Ottawa and district men, including 25 soldiers and one airman.

The men arrived in Halifax Friday aboard the hospital ship Lady Nelson. Nine were stretcher cases while the others were able to walk from their hospital train.

"During the capture of one village, which had been shelled for two days previously," Kenny added, "we found a Nazi soldier tightly clutching his machine gun that he couldn't fire because of his overpowering fear."

Kenny, who left the southern Italian battlefield in October, said the Canadian troops were told not to be "too free" with Germans only a short time before."

Sgt. M. C. Blanchard of Cornwall, Ont., who spent four years with the R.C.A.F. service police in England, was included in the returning group. He suffered an injured foot in a motor accident.

FIRE FIGHTING AFTER LONDON BLITZ

Shown above is the scene in London after Nazi planes raided the London area anew. In the most recent attack thousands of incendiaries with high explosives levelled scores of homes, apartment houses and business properties. Many children are said to have been buried in the homes. Pictured here firemen and volunteers are putting out the fires.

Manpower Shortage In U. S. is Passed, Says Wm. Green

Detroit, Feb. 28. (AP)—William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, said in an interview here today that the period of manpower shortage in United States industry has been passed.

"Now we have moved to the point where we are cutting back, and where men are thrown out of work", he said. "There is some unemployment. Our big problem now is the proper utilization of manpower".

Here to address Detroit's Economic Club and a subsequent meeting of the Central Trades Council, Green said the best political policy for labor is non-partisan.

6 Holsteins to Improve Milk-Giving Strain Of Sacred Cattle

Chicago, Feb. 28. (AP)—Six Holstein bulls are en route to India to help improve milk-giving qualities of the sacred Brahma cattle. The bulls were obtained by the India Supply Mission and were selected specifically from high-milk yield strains. The bulls at stud are expected to service 600 cows a year. Five tons of food is travelling with each bull and their voyage is considered a military secret.

$5,000 FIRE AT HAMILTON

Hamilton, Feb. 28 (CP)—About $5,000 damage was done by fire at the lant of the National Steel Car Company early today when flames swept an iron building housing a big dro hammer. The blaze started as furnaces were being lit and an oil line burst. As the oil sprayed the fire spread rapidly. Company officials said the fire would disrupt work at the plant.

The War Today—
What Will 12,000,000 Enslaved By Hitler Do When Reich Cracks?

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

Disclosure that Hitler is sitting on a keg of human dynamite consisting of 12,000,000 slaves, brought to the Reich from occupied countries, raises a grim picture of the situation which would exist if these unfortunates should try to exact retribution from the German people when the Fuehrer's military machine cracks—as crack it will in due course.

Unconditional surrender will bring the Hitlerites respite from further war. But what will it bring them from the millions who have suffered under the lash and have seen other millions of their colleagues die from privation? It's obvious that should these folk rise up for revenge, the best efforts of the Allies wouldn't be able to restrain them before terrible events had taken place.

40 P.C. German Labor Foreign.

We have known, of course, that Hitler was loading many of his war burdens onto the scarred backs of slave labor, both male and female. However, we've had no such details as are now being given us by Taylor Henry, Associated Press Staff Writer who is in Portugal awaiting repatriation after 13 months internment by the Germans.

Forty per cent of Hitler's labor is foreign, and Russians and Poles head the list with 2,500,000 and 1,000,000 respectively. He must get uneasy moments when he recalls the masacres and other atrocities he has perpetrated in Russia and Poland. He must get a chill when he remembers that of the first 4,000,000 Russians captured by the Germans, only 1,500,000 survived the privations of his prison camps.

German Nationals Given Guns.

We know something of what the Nazi leader is thinking from a statement carried by the BBC, which reports that all German Nationals in Czechoslovakia have been issued guns and ammunition for self defence. The reason is that open resistance among the Czechoslovakians is growing and, says the BBC, the German authorities fully realize what will happen to them when the war reaches the frontiers of the little republic.

The civilians of many countries are living for the day when they can avenge themselves against the Nazi troops of occupation. But Hitler's greatest problem along this line must have to do with the Reich, where revenge may be taken not only against the soldiery but upon civilians. No wonder his murderous Gestapo chief, Himmler, has been given sweeping powers and has under his command a picked military force of 600,000.

BRAVERY REWARDED

Llangennith, Wales (CP) — Home Guard George Rees, innkeeper of this town who can't swim, has been awarded the British Empire Medal for helping to rescue five R.A.F. men stranded on a rock in a raging sea off the South Wales coast. He waded through strong tidal currents to reach the men.

OLD LAW REVIVED

London (CP) — A campaign by the Lord's Day Observance Society in Britain has resulted in the banning of ten shows intended for Sunday presentation to raise funds for troops. The Society had the shows banned because of an act passed in the 18th. Century stipulating no public performance for the entertainment of people can take place on a Sunday.

Belleville Fire Dept. Assisted At Napanee Fire

Mismatched hose couplings which prevented the Belleville city pumper from ihtching directly onto fire hydrants considerably reduced the effectiveness of the Belleville Fire Department at the disastrous fire, which swept through two Napanee blocks early Sunday morning, according to Fire Chief William Lynch. Five members of the local fire department, with Fire Chief Lynch, went to Napanee at the call for assistance and helped the town fire department fight the blaze for nearly twelve hours.

According to Fire Chief Lynch the blaze which started in the Francis bakeshop had gotten a tremendous start with the building being pretty well gutted and the fire spread to adjoining buildings, when local firemen arrived with the pumper at around 3:15. Then it was found the pumper couplings would not fit hydrants and valuable time was lost changing fittings to permit leads being run by local firemen. Lack of adequate ladders also hampered efforts of firemen considerably, it was stated.

Slippery highway and a drizzling rain inconvenienced local firemen in their run to Napanee, with extreme care having to be used in Napanee owing to icy road conditions. They arrived back in Belleville about 2:30 Sunday afternoon after danger of the fire spreading further had passed, although Napanee firemen were still pouring water into the gutted buildings.

Besides Fire Chief Lynch, members of the local department to make the trip to Napanee were Leo Culhane, J. Waddell, J. McDonald, Jack Grills and Frank Poste.

Overseas Paper Features Column

(By J. B.)

The popular daily sports commentary column edited by Ken Colling of The Ontario Intelligencer is read by others than Belleville sports fans as evidenced by a guest appearance in The Canadian Press News, London, England, January 22nd., edition just received in the office of The Ontario Intelligencer.

Ken commented upon the falling off of sports in the Bay of Quinte area brought about by the toll of war and the district's dependency on the service leagues for the sports diversions. He pointed out that the only sport in Picton is that provided by the Picton R.A.F. Station which specializes in soccer. Napanee also came under his eagle eye criticism as he pointed out to the boys in uniform through the pages of this overseas publication that sport is in the minus quantity, and that the old Gibbard ball park is a closed corporation.

One paragraph of the column was for Belleville boys' consumption only. He pointed to Harry and Jack, Al Wardaugh's two boys, who were, at the time of writing, aspirants for junior hockey berths, as were Allan Meagher's two lads, Bernard and Allan.

Weekly Paper.

The Canadian Press News is a weekly newspaper of home news edited and produced by The Canadian Press with the approval of the Government of Canada for free distribution to members of the Canadian Forces in the United Kingdom. News content of this periodical is selected by Canadian Press editors from the daily reports of the national co-operative news-gathering association and transmitted to the London Bureau of the CP. There Canadian editors put the material into form for publication. Cost of editorial work, cable tolls and printing is paid by the government. The CP prepares the paper on a non-profit basis, makes no charge for news or pictures and exercises full authority in selection and presentation of materials used. No material appearing in The Canadian Press News may be reprinted either wholly or in part without special permission.

The appearance of our local sports writer's material in the pages of this periodical is complimentary to the city as well as to Ken himself. He has for many years conducted the local sports events writing with a capable and practical knowledge with which he has imparted his views and the news to sports fans in a manner and style quite his own, and most commendable. There is something lacking in a game of any kind in Belleville when Ken is not in the Press Box covering the play-by-play action of the game.

TOUGH ON BLONDS

London (CP) — Fewer blond women are to be seen about London these days and the reason is given is that dyes and bleaches are not so plentiful as they were. The result is that hairdressers, as a rule, will not accept new blonds, preferring to keep their quota of dyes and bleaches for their regular customers.

BECOMES A SCOURGE

Glasgow (CP) — Gastric illnesses and duodenal ulcers have become a scourge ranking with T.B and rheumatic fever, Robert Mailler, surgeon at Victoria Infirmary here, believes. These complaints were the result of weary, economic problems, restless living, snack meals and the use of tobacco, he said.

"CONSCIENCE MONEY"

Sydney, Australia (CP) — In the mail was an envelope containing two £50 notes labelled "Conscience Money." But the recipient was a Sydney brewery.

Trenton R.C.A.F. Band Concert Much Enjoyed

Music lovers of Belleville were treated to an evening of splendid entertainment at the Armouries Sunday night when the Trenton R.C.A.F. band and galaxy of entertainers, under the direction of WO1 E. Hancock, presented a concert sponsored by the local unit of the C.W.S.F. The program was enjoyed by upwards of 400 patrons and was given by kind permission of Group Captain A. D. Bell-Irving, M.C., commanding officer at the Trenton R.C.A.F. station. Station WO. John Silver was master-of-ceremonies and capably filled that position.

Many outstanding features were included on the varied program as all numbers were received with spontaneous applause, resulting in encores. Of particular significance was the presentation of the march, "Pilots of the R.A.F.", written by WO1 Hancock and played for the first time in public last night. The sharp military style stamped the rendition as one of popular appeal.

Soloists of the evening included LAW. Dorothy Kinton, Trenton R.C.A.F., singing "My Shining Hour," whose personality and singing were both most pleasing. A saxophone solo by LAC. Hill was also roundly applauded, but the crowning solo was the trumpet solo part of "Stormy Weather," given by LAC. Gaetz. A piano solo by LAC. Ivan Stumpf, the "Finale of the Fourth Symphony" was perfectly executed, while Miss Kinton's second appearance as a soloist saw her singing "When They Talk About You." The band numbers were equally as well appreciated as the solos.

During the evening His Worship Mayor Rollins spoke and commended the work of the C.W.S.F., while Lieut.-Col. B. C. Donnan, commanding officer of the Argyll Light Infantry, welcomed the public to the Armouries and assured them the edifice was always at their disposal. Major Marion Harden, of the C.W.S.F., announced that the sum of $43.00 had been realized and would be used to purchase recreational equipment for members of the armed services in this area. 25 per cent. will be donated to the corvette fund.

Following the concert the members of the band and visiting artists were entertained by the officers of the C.W.S.F. in the Armouries band room, where sandwiches and coffee were served.

were dragged into a nullah and forced to sit there with our hands tied.

"The bonds were so tight that some of us cried with pain. Others begged for water. The Japanese ignored us. After what seemed hours we heard a tank approaching. It was one of ours and the enemy pulled out British non-commissioned officers and pushed them towards the entrance. The tank opened fire with its machine-guns.

Japs Enjoy Cruelty.

"The Japanese lay back under cover laughing and smoking. The tank attacked three or four times. We were also mortared and dive-bombed. By this time the wounded and dying were screaming for water.

"In the early evening they bayonetted one and shot another because they were crying with pain. A little later they prepared to retreat. They took ordinary British soldiers and some of the Indians aside and shot them.

"I was lucky. Two bullets hit me and I fell, but a little later I realized I could still think and see. Two Japanese were five yards in front of me. Cautiously I smeared blood from a colleague lying near over my face, ears and clothes.

"Then with a groan I rolled into slit trench and lay there all night among the dead and dying. Next morning I shouted with joy. The Japanese had gone and there at the mouth of the Nullah were two English soldiers with Tommy-guns."

GERMAN HOLD ON N. WEST RUSSIA THREATENED

Red Successes In Pskov Sector Disorganize Nazis

Wrecked German Transport, Guns and Tanks Clog Many Northern Roads

NEAR LATVIAN BORDER

By EDDY GILMORE
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Moscow, Feb. 29. (AP)—All territory held by the Germans in northwest Russia is now gravely threatened by the Red Army drive on Pskov and there is evidence that the Nazi transportation system in some places is becoming disorganized, dispatches from the Baltic Front said today

With the vanguard of the Russian forces less than 12 miles away, Pskov was reported to be already under fire from Red Army siege guns.

(Earlier, a London interpretation of the Russian communique placed the Russians six miles northeast of Pskov at the town Toroshino, on the Luga-Pskov Railway.)

A dispatch to the army newspaper Red Star from the Pskov front said in many sectors the roads are so clogged with wrecked German transport, gun and tanks that special Soviet cleanup squads have been formed to clear them away to enable the Red Army to march through on the heels of the retreating enemy.

With colder weather prevailing on the northern battlefields, night fighting is increasing and Red Star said Soviet soldiers specially trained for night operations are pursuing the Germans through the dark hours.

Farther south, Gen. M. M. Popov's army was reputed smashing through an intricate network of German communication lines and fortifications just east of the border of the Latavian Republic. At one point Russian troops were only 12 miles from the Republic's frontier.

This break-through, which has disorganized German defence plans and fighting lines, is seriously endangering Hitler's plans in the north and may shortly have far-reaching results, Red Star said.

With the Russians making great headway in this region approximately 70 miles south of Pskov, it appeared evident that German positions around Pskov cannot long be held, dispatches said.

Quadruplets Born To Soldier's Wife

Heanor, Derbyshire, England, Feb. 29 —(CP Cable)— Mrs. Nora Carpenter, a soldier's wife, today gave birth to quadruplets, two boys and two girls. Their weights ranged from three to 3¾ pounds.

The babies were born at her home and later with their mother were taken to a nursing home where the matron said, "they are lovely little things and we are having no difficulty feeding them."

The official report was, "all fine, doing well."

AGREEMENT SIGNED

Stockholm, Feb. 29 — (AP) — A trade agreement has been signed between Finland and Germany for the coming year under which Germany will continue to provide foodstuffs to her Northern Ally, a Helinski dispatch said yesterday.

Red Ensign Flag To Be Flown Says Mr. King

Ottawa, Feb. 29 — (CP) — Prime Minister Mackenzie King told the Commons yesterday that the Red Ensign is the flag designated to be flown on every occasion when a distinctive Canadian flag is required.

He was answering a written question from Wilfrid Lacroix (L—Quebec-Montmorency) which asked in part: "Has the government at last decided to endow Canada with a distinctive national flag so as to replace definitely the Union Jack flag which now flies over all our public buildings?"

Mr. King said the question was "neither correct nor straightforward." Like other questions asked by Mr. Lacroix in other sessions, he said, it brought up the "advisability of raising a flag controversy in time of war."

The Red Ensign had been accepted for more than 70 years as the flag to be flown when it was necessary to designate Canada—for instance, on Canadian ships and buildings outside Canada.

The Union Jack could properly be flown in any part of His Majesty's Dominions. A recent notable occasion when the Red Ensign was flown as the flag of Canada to distinguish this country from other nations was the Quebec Conference, said the Prime Minister.

Reduces Sentence On Young Soldier

Toronto, Feb. 29 (CP)—Sentence of five years in penitentiary imposed by Magistrate J. H. Campbell of St. Catharines, on Joan Chester James, 18, returned soldier, on breaking and entering and theft charges, was reduced by the Appeal Court to one year definite and one year indefinite.

"This boy enlisted in Peterborough at 14," declared Norman Dunn, appealing. "Only small sums of money and wearing apparel were stolen. The boy was 1 1-2 years on active service in England. He was sent back here at the age of 17, when he married.

"His trouble is largely due to the lack of supervision upon demobilization. The only trade he ever learned was the art of war."

Protest Letter Sent Churchill

Naples, Feb. 29. (AP)—The Italian Committee of National Liberation, again urging abdication of King Victor Emmanuel and formation of a democratic government, dispatched a protest last night to Prime Minister Churchill against his endorsement of Premier Badoglio's regime.

In a letter addressed to the Prime Minister, the Committee, including representatives of six Italian political parties, declared a government such as it proposes "would augment the fighting capacity of the Italian forces" rather than impair it as Mr. Churchill suggested in his address in the House of Commons last week.

Britain's Defences Are Prepared For Heavier German Air Raids

London, Feb. 29—(AP)—Sir Archibald Sinclair, secretary of State for Air, told the House of Commons today that Britain's defences are prepared for heavier German air raids before invasion time and added, "it may well be that historians will look back on the period between the February and March moons as one of the decisive stages of the war."

"We must not believe the forces the enemy has sent over are the greatest strentgh we can muster; his power of striking back is far from negligible," he said.

"We have foreseen the attack and whatever shape it may assume or in whatever weight it may come, we shall be ready to pit our forces against it."

Of the forthcoming Western invasion Sir Archibald said: "The R. A. F. is preparing to play its part in combination with the army and navy for liberating Europe. We have made our dispositions."

R. A. F. and U. S. bomber squadrons, Sir Archibald continued, have compelled the Germans to concentrate four-fifths of their entire fighter strength in the West.

Germany now is using the greatest concentration of guns and searchlights any power ever mustered, he said, and a fighter force greater than that with which Britain fought and broke the enemy in the battle of Britain.

Sir Archibald acknowledged the "vigorous, imaginative adminstration" of the Canadian government in the Commonwealth Air Training plan, saying that without this help Britain could not have solved the early shortage of air crews.

Air losses are becoming progressively less heavy compared with the effect the air force is achieving, he said. The ratio of casualties to the weight of bombs dropped has steadily declined as attacks have been increasing.

FINNISH PEOPLE SHOW TENDENCY 'TO WAIT AND SEE'

Attitude Stiffening Claiming Air Raids On Capital Jeopardize Peace Negotiations

CABINET MEETS

By EDWIN SHANKE
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Stockholm, Feb. 29. (AP) — The Finnish Parliament met in closed session for an hour this morning and heard Premier Edwin Linkomies explain the government's position regarding an armistice or continued war with Russia, it was reported from Helsinki.

Members then recessed until afternoon when another secret session was scheduled.

A routine open session was held during the morning before the doors were closed. Then the Premier spoke for a half hour and members questioned him. Details were not divulged.

A reliable informant said Sweden would do its best to provide food for Finland if she quit the war.

While a Swedish government spokesman refused to say whether an offer of food actually had been made to the Finnish government, it was a good guess that the government had given the Finns some assurance on that point.

Attitude Alters.

It was believed here that nothing yet had happened that definitely would prevent a Finnish-Russian armistice even though the Finnish attitude had altered preceptibly.

The Swedish newspaper Aftonbladet's Helsinki correspondent said Finland's answer to the American admonition to get out of the war could not be delayed longer and hinted at some imminent development.

He added the Finns no longer have any illusions about their predicament and are aware that a decision must be made on the basis of cold realities.

A stiffening of the Finnish attitude likewise was reflected in an Helsinki disatch quoting the newspaper Social Demokratti as asserting that Russian air raids on the Finnish capital may have jeopardized peace negotiations.

An apparent reluctance on the part of the Finnish government to abandon its present policy was further indicated in a freshly-signed Finnish-German trade treaty announced Monday night. Finland has depended largely on Germany for food supplies throughout the war.

Evidence of the "wait and see" tendency in Helsinki was reported by an informant with contacts in the Finnish foreign office who has just returned from the Finnish capital. He said he also found hope "that American and British opinion still is on Finland's side and that sooner or later the Anglo-Americans would help."

He added the Finns seemed willing to discuss all points of Russia's reported term except that calling for internment of all German military personnel now in Finland and permission for Russian troops to enter the country.

The Finns were said to be willing to give up Petsamo and the nearby nickel mines, a hard economic blow though it would be.

(Before the war the Finnish nickel mines around Petsamo were operated by International Nickel Company. In the last few years they have been reported in the hands of the Germans and there have been reports that Hitler is prepared to fight for their possession, regardless of what decision the Finnish government takes on peace with Russia.)

The BBC, quoting Stockholm sources said a "government statement about the Russian Armistice is expected" at a meeting of the Finnish diet today. A Moscow broadcast, heard by CBS, quoted a Helsinki dispatch relayed via Stockholm as saying the Finnish government has drawn up a report of its activities over the past year.

A NEW RECORD

Montreal, Feb. 29—(CP)— A new record, clipping 14 minutes off the previous one, was made for a transatlantic non-stop flight from Britain here by a transport plane operated by Trans-Canada Air Lines in the Canadian Transatlantic Service, it was announced yesterday.

Churchill Displays Complete Confidence When Visited By Group of Canadian Editors

By VERNON M. KIPP

London, Feb. 29 —(Special Cable to Ottawa Journal and Ontario Intelligencer)— Winston Churchill, Monday afternoon, received a group of Canadian editors at No. 10 Downing Street. In his siren suit and smoking a long cigar he shook hands cordially with each member of the party as they were presented to him by Brendan Bracken and then sat facing us, Bracken on his left, across a twenty-foot green-topped coufncil table in a room lined with books and maps. The Prime Minister looked well, spirits buoyant and key note of fifteen-minute confidential talk was the complete confidence displayed by Mr. Churchill.

Earlier in the day we were received by Ernest Bevin, head of the Ministry of Labor, and Herbert Morrison, Home Secretary. Previously in the tour we had talked with Anthony Eden and Brendan Bracken. The driver of our car was suitably awed by our reception at 10 Downing Street and put in graphic words what seemed to be the universal opinion here. "No man but Churchill could have saved us in the black days," he said, "people had perfect confidence in him that he would see them through, and he did. He promised us blood, sweat and tears, and kept his word. But he saved England."

PREMIER G. DREW WANTS PARLEY ON LIQUOR RATION

Tables an Exchange of Letters With Prime Minister King

TO RESUME DEBATE

Toronto, Feb. 29. (CP) — The Ontario Legislature, already well into its heavy agenda, swings back to the Throne Speech debate today, with Premier Drew continuing the reply he began Thursday to C.C.F. Leader Jolliffe's opening address.

The Premier, who yesterday put himself on record as favoring consideration of Canada's wartime liquor question by a Dominion-Provincial conference, will be followed in the debate by former Premier Harry C. Nixon, leader of the 15 Liberals in the House.

It will be Mr. Nixon's first speech of the six-day-old session and he may state the policy his party will follow in the closely-divided legislature where the C.C.F. have 34 votes against 35 for Premier Drew's Progressive Conservative Government. The Liberals already have intimated their intention of supporting any measures they consider in the best interests of the province.

The question of liquor rationing in Ontario was laid before the House yesterday when the Premier tabled an exchange of letters with Prime Minister Mackenzie King. Premier Drew wrote Mr. King that the Ontario Liquor Control Board holds large reserves of spirits and could obtain more wine and beer "without limiting any phase of the Canadian war effort".

80 Ounces in Quebec.

"We are therefore unable to assure the people of Ontario that the limitations imposed by the Dominion government are called for by any circumstance connected with the prosecution of the war."

He also drew attention to the fact that the liquor ration in Quebec is 80 ounces monthly against 26 ounces in Ontario. A basis of understanding should be reached at once so the government would know "what agreements are binding and what are not." The liquor question was one of the pressing matters which should be taken up at the proposed Dominion-provincial conference.

The Premier concluded the letter with a request for "the constitutional grounds upon which the Dominion government imposed these restrictions which are contary to the definite statement contained in Mr. Ilsley's letter of Jan. 31, 1942."

Mr. Drew told the legislature that Finance Minister Ilsley had written that it was not the intention of the Dominion to enter the field of regulation of the sale of alcoholic beverages.

Replying to Mr. Drew's letter, Prime Minister King said that Mr. Ilsley had referred to financial arrangements between the Dominion and the province as regards to liquor.

Only Curtailed Supply.

In the matter of rationing, the Dominion had only curtailed the supply of alcoholic beverage released to the provinces and had made no attempt to interfere with their retail sale and distribution beyond making an appeal for a limitation in the hours of sale. Each province had made its own arrangements for distribution the Prime Minister said in his letter.

BRITISH MOP UP JAP REMNANTS IN ARAKAN JUNGLE

Follow Up First Major Victory of Campaign in Burma

ALLIED PLANS BUSY

New Delhi, Feb. 29. (AP)—British troops have continued successfu mopping up operations during the past 24 hours against shattered remnants of 8,000 Japanese troops in the Arakan jungles north of Akyab, Burma, where the Allies have announced their first major victory of the campaign.

A southeast Asia communique said areas east of the Mayu range were being cleared of Japanese and that one enemy column still offering resistance north of the 7th Indian Division had been forced from its positions northwest of Awlanbyin and was withdrawing.

Enemy dead were reported officially at 1,500 up to yesterday.

Today's communique said it was apparent that the Japanese were preparing to make a stand on the line of their original positions from which they launched their disastrous drive to infiltrate British lines, destroy the 5th and 7th Indian Divisions and open the way for an advance into India.

Jap Withdrawals Everywhere

Japanese withdrawals were reported everywhere in the fighting area north Akyab with straggling parties, many of them carrying casualties with them, being pursued and harassed by British troops. West African troops continued satisfactory progress in the Kaladan Valley and fighting increased in intensity east of the Kaladan River

Allied aircraft ranged over Japanese-held territory night and day, shooting up and bombin installations and communications.

Stalin Emphasizes Understandings Reached At Moscow, Teheran

Washington, Feb. 29 —(AP)— Marshal Stalin of Russia today underscored the Allied understandings reached at Moscow and Teheran late last year, and advised President Roosevelt he was convinced the time is near when cooperating forces of the Soviet Union, the United States and Great Britain will bring about "the final defeat of our common enemy, Hitlerite Germany."

His statement was in a message made public by the White House, acknowledging the President's cable of Feb. 22 congratulating the Red army on its 26th anniversary.

14 CATS, 4 DOGS IN ROOM

Chicago, Feb. 29 (AP)—The coroner's office today said it will investigate the death of Joseph Diller, 95-year-old former hotel operator, who police said had withdrawn $11,400 from a bank in the last eight months and had been living in a shabby flat in the loop district. Police said 14 cats and four dogs were sleeping in the room where Diller was found dead.

AMERICAN SUBS SINK 14 JAPANESE SHIPS SAYS KNOX

Since War's Outbreak 611 Jap Ships Sunk, Probably Sunk or Damaged

189 IN FEBRUARY

Washington, Feb. 29—(AP)—Destruction of 14 Japanese vessels by American submarines was announced today by Navy Secretary Frank Knox.

The sinkings, Knox said, included 11 medium cargo vessels, a small cargo vessel, a cargo transport and a large tanker. They brought to 611 the number of Japanese ships sunk, probably sunk or damaged by American submarines.

Knox also reported that for the month of February, not including today, Japanese shipping losses caused by all types of American action totalled 189 vessels sunk, probably sunk and damaged. In that total, he said, were 22 combatant and 167 non-combatant vessels.

"American submarines are doing an increasingly skilful job," he said in releasing a communique telling of the new sinkings.

"Well over 3,000,000 tons of Japanese merchant shipping," he said, "have been sunk by all causes."

It has been estimated that the Japanese started the war with 7,500,000 tons of merchant shipping.

He said that American submarine losses for the whole period of the war have been surprisingly small.

Satisfied With Conquest.

Asked at a news conference about Axis radio reports that an American attack is continuing on Guam, American outpost in the Pacific which was captured by the Japanese early in the war, Knox described them as "just a misstatement for propaganda purposes."

To an inquiry concerning a statement by an Army intelligence officer that loose talk at Seattle enabled the Japanese to evacuate Kiska in the Aleutian islands before the American-Canadian invasion, Knox intimated that he was satisfied with the conquest without a fight.

Loose Talk Condemned.

Seattle, Feb. 29 —(AP)— Loose talk, radiating from the Alaska embarkation post of Seattle, enabled the Japanese to pull thousands of troops and great quantities of material out of Kiska last August. An army intelligence spokesman says thereby leaving invading Canadian and American forces "with a hollow victory tantamount to defeat."

Maj. Albert J. Stowe, personal representative of Gen. Clayton Bissell, Assistant Chief of Staff, army intelligence, told interviewers yesterday:-

"Common was the knowledge in Seattle that we planned to attack Kiska, and, prior to the invasion, unauthorized persons, both military and civilian, openly disclosed the D-date, Aug. 15.

"As a result the Japs got out, voluntarily. Not one remained on the island when our troops arrived at 3 o'clock in the morning."

Subconscious Feeling War As Good As Won Is Called Dangerous

Toronto, Feb. 29 —(CP)— Too much attention to post-war planning has developed "a subconscious feeling that the war is as good as won," Air Vice Marshal W. A. Curtis of the R.C.A.F. at Ottawa said last night in a dinner address to the Toronto Board of Trade Club.

"We are, both here and overseas, devoting a portion of our efforts to post-war planning," he said. "That is most important. The danger that accompanies it is that those connected with it infect others with their peacetime thinking and there is developing a subconscious feeling that the war is as good as won and everything is lovely.

". . . That is dangerous. The war is far from over. Unfortunately there will be heavier casualties than we have yet suffered."

Number of Fighter Planes in Escort May Set Record

4th Great Daylight Attack of Month On Airplane and Engine Centre

LIGHT OPPOSITION

London, Feb. 29 —(CP)— U. S. heavy bombers in their 19th operation for February today attacked targets at Brunswick, classified as one of Germany's major manufacturers of aircraft components and engines, and important communications centre.

A communique noted that "Brunswick targets twice were attacked in last week's record-breaking daylight offensive against Nazi aircraft component assembly and allied industries."

British and U. S. fighter planes protected the bombers in today's assault.

The February total of 19 operations in even more than that attained by the Americans in any previous month. The 18th operation was an attack yesterdav against the French "rocket" coast in which six bombers were lost. Allied medium bombers and fighters struck at the same targets from dawn to noon today.

125 Miles From Berlin.

It was the fourth great daylight blow of the month against Brunswick, the big airplane manufacturing centre 125 miles west of Berlin which turns out chiefly engines and other parts for the twin - engine Messerschmitt-110 fighter. That plane has been adapted into a rocket-shooter and in the fighter-bomber version which has been participating in German raids on England.

Fliers reported on their return from Brunswick that they bombed through heavy clouds.

The first crews back said their escort of fighters was so big that their number well may set a record. The German fighter opposition was light but the Germans sent up a heavy anti-aircraft barrage.

"The Luftwaffe must be getting bashful because I didn't see a single Jerry all day," said one pilot.

U.S Fleet to Equal All Other Countries' Combined This Year

Cambridge, Mass., Feb. 29—(AP)—The strength of the United States' fighting fleets will be equal to that of all other countries combined by the end of this year, rear-admiral Edward L. Cochrane declared in an address here today. He added that "maintenance of that relative strength in the post-war period is our surest guarantee of something approaching world peace."

Testifies He Saw Towelling Stuffed In Baby's Throat

Kingston, Ont., Feb. 29—(CP)—Trial of Mrs. Annie McCumber, 46, on a charge of murdering the infant son of her 24-year-old daughter, Mrs. Reta Wagar, at nearby Wagarville last March, continued today before Mr. Justice E. R. E. Chevrier and an assize court jury.

Walter Haley, 22, said by the crown to be the father of the child, testified yesterday as the trial opened that he had seen Mrs. McCumber stuff a piece of towelling made of a flour sack down the baby's throat, killing it.

Haley, who also faces a charge of murder in the baby's death and will be tried following Mrs. McCumber's trial, testified under the protection of the court and his evidence will not be used against him then. Mr. Justice E. R. E. Chevrier appealed to the press not to report all Haley's evidence, saying that it might lead prospective jurors in his trial to form a preconceived opinion as to his guilt or innocence.

Mrs. McCumber's trial is the second on the charge, the jury having disagreed at the first trial last September.

Haley, Mrs. McCumber and Mrs. Wagar were arrested last April after the finding of the baby's body at Wagarville. Ms. Wagar was sentenced last Nov. 2 to four months in jail following conviction on a charge of concealment of birth.

NAZIS RAZE 19 TOWNS

On the Swiss-Italian Frontier, Feb. 29—(AP)—The Germans have razed 19 towns in the rich Abruzziee Molise district of Central Italy as a part of a vast program of destruction of Italian property for military reason, the underground Socialist newspaper Avanti said yesterday. The British 8th Army, including the Canadian Corps, is fighting in this district.

Christmas Food Aplenty Made Prisoners Happy in German Camp

New York, Feb. 29—(CP)— From a German Prison Camp, Oflag 7B, word came today about a prisoners' Christmas celebration which Lieut. Art Hueston of Sarnia, Ont., described as "the most enjoyable Christmas in the history of their captivity."

"Thanks to the efforts of charitable institutions such as the International, British and Canadian Red Cross Societies and the British community in the Argentine, food was more than plentiful," Hueston, an Essex Scottish officer captured at Dieppe, Aug. 19, 1942, wrote a friend here.

The 1,500 officers were able to devote their week's issue of fresh meat to provide a roast beef dinner for the 250 other ranks in camp.

The dinner was served at night, after a light lunch of bully beef and potatoes. A fair sample of the dinner menu would be noodle soup, salmon, steak and kidney pie, plum pudding, crackers, cheese, nuts, chocolate, coffee, cigars and cigarets, Hueston wrote.

Hueston said the Germans co-operated with the prisoners by cancelling parades from the evening of Dec. 23 until the morning of Dec. 27.

"Prisoners did not get the Fuehrer's parcel to German troops but something just as good—two rolls of toilet paper and a box of matches," he said.

Religious services were popular and the space at them so cramped that communicants had to have entrance tickets and go at specified times, starting at 7 a.m.

During Christmas week the men presented an original pantomime in which the plot, music and dances were prepared by the prisoners. The Germans also allowed visits to the cinema to see the film spectacle "Munchausen" (a fabulous character noted for his tall tales).

"It is understood his exploits have been exceeded only by those recorded in the German papers," Hueston quipped.

Today is the deadline for the purchase of 1944 city dog tag licences, Thos. Thorne, dog pound custodian, announced. On and after March 1st, dog owners not in possession of 1944 city dog licences are liable to court prosecution. Such licences can be procured at the City Hall.

LOST PERSONAL BAG IN THE SHUFFLE

When he parked his automobile to register at the Queens Hotel late Monday night, M. D. Bergey, No. 5 Montclaire Ave., Toronto, lost a suitcase, he told police. It seems when Mr. Bergey drove up in front of the hotel several airmen requested him to drive them to a nearby R.C.A.F. station, but Mr. Bergey explained it was quite impossible. As he was unpacking his bags from his car, two of the airmen volunteered to help him carry them into the hotel. In the shuffle Mr. Bergey lost his personal bag containing a shaving outfit and other personal belongings.

CARELESS DRIVING CHARGE PREFERRED

When the automobile he was driving skidded on the icy pavement and struck the Canadian National Railways signal light post at the Cannifton Road crossing late Monday night, Ray Crawford, Belleville, escaped without injury. The front bumper, grill and fender were all damaged, but fortunately no damage resulted to the railway property. A charge of careless driving was preferred against Crawford, investigating police revealed today.

POLICE COURT

A 19-year-old Toronto girl was convicted of stealing wearing apparel, a lady's skating outfit and a suitcase from her aunt when arraigned before Magistrate J. L. Lloyd in city police court here today. She was given a six months' suspended sentence.

The girl was visiting her aunt, when she suddenly disappeared on the night of Feb. 25th last. Also missing were a quantity of women's clothes, a pair of skates and a suitcase in which to carry the goods. She was apprehended at the C.N.R. station awaiting the Montreal-bound midnight express train revealed Chief Probert. "She was going to Montreal to see her fiance, who is in the armed service, so we were told," added Crown Attorney.

On condition that the girl returns to Toronto His Worship meted out the suspended sentence as it was her first offence.

Violated By-law

Floyd Drinkwater and Arthur Long pleaded guilty to charges of violating the city parking by-laws and were assessed $2, including costs, on each count.

Must Report to Police

A juvenile case, heard in camera, saw a local teen-aged lad given a suspended sentence and ordered to report his actions to police periodically.

Belleville Active Army Men Hold Reunion Overseas

The photograph reproduced above will be of great interest to Belleville people as it contains the pictures of nineteen boys from the city who are serving with the Canadian Army Overseas. The photograph was sent to Mrs. George Laughlin, 234 Church Street, by her husband, Captain George Laughlin, who organized the reunion and appears in the picture himself. Not much information is available about the conditions under which the photograph was made except that Captain Laughlin stated in the letter accompanying the picture to his wife that some of the boys had been overseas for a long time. Captain Laughlin was formerly a teacher at the Belleville Collegiate and Vocational School, and many of the men shown in the photograph were pupils of his in pre-war days. ## Stage All Set For Carnival At Armories

The stage is all set for the gala Carnival and Variety show to open under the sponsorship of the Argyll Light Infantry Battalion, on Wednesday under the general chairmanship of Lieut. O. A. Lloyd. Of course the feature attraction will be the gala stage show under the direction of William Garden, Canada's foremost stage show producer. Here a bevy of singing and dancing girls will supplement a program, that includes several of Canada's outstanding stage and radio stars, as well as featured circus performers.

Lieut. Col. B. C. Donnan reiterated his statement of last week to say that 25 percent of the net receipts would be given to the Belleville Corvette Fund, while the bulk of the carnival receipts will go towards the purchase of recreational equipment for the battalion.

Besides the stage show the conventional carnival games will be featured and operated by members of the Argyll Light Infantry, with Major A. Ketcheson, Captain Dixon and Lieut. Shapiro in charge opening night. An added feature will prove pleasing to the younger folk in the form of jitney dancing to the music of one of Canada's outstanding dance bands that is being brought to the Argyll Carnival by Mr. Garden. The carnival opens Wednesday with a kiddies impromptu matinee and then comes the gala night performance, that continues through Saturday.

Miss Marie Embury Observes Her Fifth Leap Year Birthday

A leap year baby of twenty years ago is celebrating today her fifth Leap Year birthday and congratulations are due to Miss Beatrice Marie Embury, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace D. Embury, 286A William Street.

Miss Embury is a student at the Ontario Business College where she went after obtaining her senior matriculation at Belleville Collegiate.

Marie Embury is popular with many friends and they all will be glad to extend to her their congratulations and good wishes.

Several District Men Reported Wounded

Names of several Belleville district men are contained in the 436th Canadian Army casualty list released for publication this morning. All district men are listed as wounded and include Pte. Andrew H. Heffernan, Acting L.-Cpl. George W. Kellogg and Pte. Harold C. Norton, all of Picton; Cpl. Clarence Whitney, 173 McGill Street, Trenton, and Pte. Marvin F. Broadworth of Frankford.

CHARLES MARTIN NOMINATED

Simcoe, Ont., Feb. 29 (CP)—Charles Martin, 61, last night was nominated Progressive Conservative candidate for the March 20 provincial by-election in Haldimand-Norfolk riding at a party meeting here. Mr. Martin is a brother of the late Hon. John S. Martin, Minister of Agriculture in the Ferguson government. The vacancy was created by the death Feb. 9 of Wallace Walsh, Progressive Conservative.

Success of the Red Cross Drive Depends on Canadians' Will To Give

With $25,000 as the Belleville and District objective, the Canadian Red Cross Campaign opened Monday with approximately 100 canvassers soliciting volunteer contributions to further the cause for which the Society stands. The need is greater this year than at any time in the history of the organization. Not only have the battlefields been extended but the fighting on these battlefields has become more severe and, with the promise of the Allied leaders that the Western Front is imminent, the urgency becomes even greater.

* * *

The stage is all set for the drive here in Belleville. There is little left to do to make the campaign a successful one except the will to give by the people. Nothing the campaign committee can say, nothing the individual campaign canvassers may say, no amount of appeal can bring out the much needed dollars unless the people themselves have the will to give. With the war in Italy already sending the casualty lists higher and higher in the numbers of young men being wounded and in the lives of some of the community's finest young manhood, the Red Cross Society's call for help penetrates right into the very homes of Belleville's citizens. It brings the assurance that when all else fails, the Society's representatives are with those men in hospitals or in the enemy's internment camps. It is a call that cannot be ignored.

* * *

The campaign will help insure the continuance of food parcels to boys who are spending each day . . . today . . . behind the barbed-wire of enemy prisoner-of-war camps. It will make it possible for Red Cross messengers in visiting the camps and in learning who are prisoners and communicating the news to the next-of-kin. Some of the district's own Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment already know the help extended to them through the Society. Relief to them must go on to maintain their faith in their fellow men domiciled in lands free from the destruction of bombings.

* * *

The men and women in the armed forces need the Red Cross.

The Red Cross needs those of us at home.

To carry on their great humanitarian work the Red Cross needs the moral and financial support of the people who are not in uniform. It takes money to do the things required. That money has to come in generous donations from the folks at home . . . right here in Belleville.

Every dollar contributed in the campaign is given a momentum of mercy that carries the good it does to every far place where there may be needs for the fighting forces of Canada and other Allied countries.

Based on the quota of $25,000, two hundred Ontario communities such as Belleville will campaign and contribute the $5,000,000 to the National Fund of ten millions, and Belleville cannot break such a chain. THE NEED GROWS AS VICTORY NEARS.

PREMIER G. DREW

Mr. King also stressed that the curtailment was enacted under authority of the War Measures Act. It was deemed expedient so that manpower and material resources might be released for the armed forces, war industry and essential civilian activity, and in the opinion of the Federal government, there was no fundamental change in the circumstances which caused the government to enact the alcoholic beverages curtailment order.

At another stage of yesterday's sitting, Premier Drew introduced an Act respecting the setting up of a department of planning and development which he previously explained to the House. The department will act to co-ordinate the efforts of various planning groups now working on post-war programs. No minister for the post has yet been named.

In committee, the House reported six bills—including amendments to the Weed Control Act; the Justices of the Peace Act; the Nurses Registration Act; the Legitimation Act; the Trustees Act; and the Abitibi Power and Paper Company, Limited, Moratorium Act, 1944 on which there was considerable discussion.

One Bill Sent Back.

Another bill, an amendment to the Law Society Act, was sent back from committee for some re-phrasing on the request of Opposition Leader Jolliffe.

The House also gave second reading to an act respecting wartime housing which provides that a municipality may collect a fixed amount from wartime housing in lieu of taxes that otherwise would be payable. Other bills getting second reading were the Highway Improvement Act, amendments to the Crown Timber Act, the Provincial Land Tax Act, the Survey Act, the Provincial Land Act and the Holland-Marsh Roads Act, 1944.

During discussion of the amendments to the Legitimation Act, Attorney-General Blackwell said the procedure of placing the world "illegitimate" on birth certificates of children born out of wedlock may soon be abolished.

He made the statement in reply to a question raised by Joseph Salsberg (P-St. Andrews). Mr. Salsberg said though this had no bearing on the amendment under discussion, he felt a thorough job should be done in overhauling the Act.

Mr. Blackwell said the question was not only being looked into, but the government believed it could be cured without the necessity of enabling legislation

No Foreclosure For Year.

The Premier gave assurance that the government will not consider any agreement to bring the Abitibi Power and Paper Company out of receivership that does not protect the workers and the industry.

The Premier gave the assurance while the House was in committee studying the Abitibi Power and Paper Company, Limited, Moratorium Act, 1944. The bill, which would prevent foreclosure on the company's property for another year, was reported from committee.

Opposition Leader Jolliffe referred to provisions for suspension of the Moratorium bill by order-in-council and C. I. Harvey (CCF-Sault Ste. Marie) said the interests of the public, the employees and the industry as well as the bondholders should be considered by the government before sanctioning any agreement to bring about a settlement.

A. A. Casselman (CCF-Nipissing) referred to the Sturgeon Falls plant which he said he closed down shortly after it was bought by the Abitibi Company. The closing had thrown the town of Sturgeon Falls on relief. The Nipissing member wanted assurance that the government was keeping Sturgeon Falls in mind.

Premier Drew replied that his government was greatly interested in the situation at Sturgeon Falls.

Ethel Smith Wins Amateur Radio Program

Singing her way into the collective hearts of her unseen radio audience in the same manner in which she had repeatedly thrilled enthusiastic audiences in Belleville and district during the past few years, Belleville's popular young songstress, Miss Ethel Smith, has been adjudged as winner of an amateur radio program heard recently over WGR Buffalo.

For her number Miss Smith chose "Silver Wings in the Moonlight" and so well was it received by her radio audience, that her listeners immediately voted her as winner of the contest. Winning the preliminary contest now makes the local girl eligible to enter the grand prize program which will be heard over the same station on the afternoon of March 12th.

Still attending Belleville collegiate Miss Smith only recently celebrated her 16th birthday but already is in popular demand as a vocal entertainer at district functions. Since gaining prominence approximately three years ago she has given freely of her time and talent at social and charity functions and has been heard often by district airmen and other service personnel when singing at Y.M.C.A. "open house" programs.

ALLOWED TO TRAVEL

New York, Feb. 29 —(AP)— The Turkish radio, quoting well-informed circles said yesterday that Madame Alexandra Kollantay, Soviet Embassador to Sweden, who obtained permission from Finland to travel through that country in order to report to Moscow on her recent talks with Juho Kosti Passikivi, Finnish statesman, in Stockholm. It was Passikivi who negotiated the 1940 peace with Russia.

Council Defeats Motion To Increase Salaries in Fire Department by 7 to 6 Vote

Recommendation is Introduced by Chairman of Fire, Ald. H. G. Woodley

OTHER BUSINESS

A motion introduced by Alderman H. G. Woodley, chairman of Fire, recommending an increase of salary to Fire Chief Lynch of Deputy Fire Chief Vance of $50 a year each and to the 16 firemen an increase of $52 each per year was defeated at the regular session of the City Council held on Monday night. After the vote was taken the mover of the motion called for the yeas and nays and they were recorded as follows: Yeas, Aldermen Woodley, Wilbur, Pringle, Butler, Follwell and Harvey and Nays, Mayor Rollins, Aldermen Armstrong, Clarke, Clapp, Allin, Chamberlain, Hyde. The motion provoked considerable discussion among the members, those being opposed to the increase arguing generally that if one department was raised, the whole civic employee schedule should be explored.

Proposer Opens Discussion.

Ald. Woodley opened the discussion and stated, that he believed it was admitted that Belleville had an excellent fire department and that the key rate was low due to the success of the department in keeping losses at a low figure. "The firemen do a lot of odd jobs", said the Alderman, "for which they receive no pay at all and this included salvage work and drowning accidents. After working out the schedule I find they are not receiving a full cost of living bonus".

Ald. Hyde: "I cannot support the motion unless all departments are included".

Ald. Chamberlain: "The estimates have been struck and we have no authority to change them. I voted against the 37 mill rate for this year and I can't support the motion".

Ald. Clarke: "This matter was all thrashed out in the estimates and it is impossible, if you grant the increase, to get any money from the administration department. In the estimates are an item for $31,000 of a surplus but this is only the supposed revenue from the unpaid taxes and if it does not amount to that much how is the increase going to be met?"

Question Asked.

Ald. Follwell: "I would like to ask Ald. Chamberlain if he was in favor of a higher rate of taxation?"

Ald. Chamberlain: "Yes, because I wanted to pay off the outstanding debts and provide for any increases in salary, that might come up during the year".

Ald. Butler: "How much increase would it make in your budget Ald. Woodley?"

Ald. Woodley: "$778".

Ald. Allin: "I would like to move an amendment, that this matter be referred back until the auditor's report is received and we are sure of the estimated surplus if any".

Ald. Clapp: "The increase would be just $16 short of a full cost of living bonus and I do not favor the increase unless every department is investigated and all put on an equal footing".

Mayor Rollins: "I would like to inform Ald. Woodley, that the municipality has never paid a cost of living bonus because municipalities are not suppose to and at that we made an agreement with the firemen last year and I believe that agreement was to continue until the end of the war. I don't think we can make flesh of one and fish of another".

Asked For Action at Once.

Ald. Woodley: "I am not in favor of delaying this matter any longer. I don't think firemen are getting a wage sufficient for a married man to support his family properly". The question was called and the amendment was defeated and the motion to increase salaries was defeated by one vote."

The Notice of Motion given by Ald. Pringle at the last meeting was allowed to be changed to a motion "That His Worship the Mayor appoint a committee to act in co-operation with the Public Utilities Commission to study the question of closing the gas plant at a time and in a manner that will cause as little hardship to the present gas users as possible, and report back to the council with a plan so that the loss that has been incurred in the operation of the utility in the past will be minimized as much as possible". The committee named by Mayor Rollins was Aldermen Pringle, Butler, Hyde, Clapp, Follwell and Clarke. Ald. Pringle in speaking to his motion, seconded by Ald. Butler, stated he did not believe this could be accomplished over night but that a plan could be worked out. I think this committee should be a fact-finding committee that will bring back to the council all the material it needs to pass judgment on the motion.

In Accord With Motion.

Ald. Chamberlain: "I am in accord with the motion but I believe that before we can close this plant we will have to secure a vote of the people".

Ald. Clapp: "I don't think we need any committee to go to the utility. They were elected by the people and they should be the judge of this matter".

Ald. Follwell: "We want to know about the utility and I don't think we are asking too much in having a committee formed".

Ald. Clapp: "I still think that the people elected the Utilities Commission and that their power should not be jeopardized by our action".

Ald. Armstrong: "The city council in the final analysis must bear the loss as we represent the city's financial structure and I don't think we are sticking our nose in by appointing this committee to meet the Utilities".

Ald. Chamberlain: "I agree with Ald. Armstrong".

Ald. Butler: "I think the Utilities Commission recognizes the fact that something must be done".

Ald. Allin: "I think it is impossible to close this plant at the present time because some industries are using gas and it would be impossible to change over at this juncture with contracts to be filled".

Ald. Follwell: "I feel that a committee can get the information if they go to the Commission".

To Investigate Delay.

Another recommendation, "That a committee of Aldermen Clarke, Trudeau and McDougall be appointed to investigate the cause of the delay in the auditor's report and report back to the council". Ald. Hyde suggested that the recommendation be cancelled because the report will be delivered to the council in a few days.

Ald. Clapp: "This recommendation was made to find out why the auditor's report has not been tabled. The members were not trying to get any official at the City Hall but simply it was a matter of business."

Ald. Butler: "I made the recommendation and I don't see anything in the motion that would suggest any sinister motive".

Mayor Rollins: "Certain accusations have been made on the street and I have to take the blame. We are not gunning for any official and for me I am going to stand behind any city official until something very definite is proven to my satisfaction."

Ald. Clarke: "I think I have explained why the report is late. There is a new system of bookkeeping and the books have not been closed. The auditor and the treasurer are working on the matter and the report will be in". The motion was allowed to stand and the committee will bring in a report after collecting all the data available.

Inquiries Answered.

Under the heading of inquiries Ald. Pringle asked when the letter of Ex-Mayor Bone, re the adoption of a Russian City, was to be tabled for the council and the Mayor replied, "As soon as the committee is completed". Ald. Allin asked when the unpaid business taxes of 1940-41-42 was to be paid and Ald. Clarke stated that the treasurer had notified every delinquent. Mayor Rollins stated under general business that he wished to reply to a letter in the press written by Ex-Mayor Bone on the question of post-war planning. "If Mr. Bone had read the procedure of council on this subject there would have been no necessity for him writing the letter," said His Worship. The members heard Mr. Morley Smith address the council with respect to a piece of property near the C.N.R. freight sheds and Mr. Smith was informed, that a committee of Ald. Clarke, Allin, Pringle and Armstrong had been appointed to look over the property and report back to the council and if the report was favorable negotiations would be opened for the sale of the land.

Grant is Given.

A grant of $25 was given the Hospital for Sick Children in Toronto. The invitation of the manager of the Capitol Theatre to view a film on juvenile delinquency was accepted by the members and they expressed the opinion that it was a step in the right direction to bring the question before the people. Five by-laws were passed, three dealing with the transfer of property and another to amend the traffic by-law while the last one appointed a committee of the Mayor, the Chairman of Finance, the Comptroller and the Treasurer to negotiate the purchase and sale of debentures in the Sinking Fund.

Vacation With Pay.

All hourly rate employees with two years' continuous service with the Public Works Department will be given a vacation of six working days a year with pay and in this regards a letter from the City Engineer was read outlining the system and what other municipalities in the Province are doing. The letter was as follows:

Belleville, Ontario
February 24, 1944

Alderman H. J. Armstrong,
Chairman of Public Works,
City Council,
Belleville, Ont.

Re: Annual Vacation for Public Works Employees

Dear Sir,—

I beg to report that the employees of the Public Works Department have, on several occasions during the past five years, disussed with me the possibility of their obtaining a few days holidays with pay, each year. They have pointed to the fact that Public Works employees in other municipalities get holidays with pay. At the present time we have a staff of twenty-nine men in the following categories: eleven men with over ten years of service; three men with five years of service; two men with four years of service; three men with three years of service; five men with two years of service and five men with one year of service.

In answer to a questionnaire which I sent out to other municipalities in January of this year I received the following information regarding annual holidays for Public Works employees.

14 municipalities grant 1 week's vacation with pay after 1 year's service.

7 municipalities grant 1 week's vacation with pay after 2 years' service.

3 of these also grant 2 weeks' vacation with pay after 10 years' service.

1 of these also grant 3 weeks' vacation with pay after 10 years' service.

1 of these also grant 3 weeks' vacation with pay after 20 years' service.

3 of these do not grant any holidays.

I would suggest that our Public Works employees be granted annual vacations after completing two years continuous service with the Department, according to the regulations as set forth in the attached recommendation. The men have asked me to bring this matter to your attention so it may be given consideration by the City Council.

Yours respectfully,
CHARLES A. MOTT,
City Engineer.

This letter was followed by the recommendation:

Recommendation Passed.

All hourly rate employees of the Public Works Department was granted one week's holiday with pay effective April 1st, 1944, providing the employee had on January 1st, 1944, completed two years' continuous service with the department. This regulation shall be governed by the following requirements:

1.—Employees to be eligible for holidays in any year following shall be required to have had two years' continuous service at the beginning of that year, seasonable layoffs, if not longer than two months, are not to be deducted if employee is available and reports for duty when notified by the foreman or other department official.

2.—List of employees entitled to holidays shall be posted early in the year showing employees eligible for holidays in that year in the order of seniority of length of service with the department, and each employee shall file application with the city engineer or other officer so named as to dates requested and the relieving of such employees shall be approved by the city engineer, if possible to relieve such employee during time requested.

3.—The number of employees to be relieved at any one time is at the discretion of the department officers, and the employees will understand that this privilege is granted on the understanding that full co-operation of all employees must be given, so that as little extra expense as possible will be added to the operation of the department.

Other Recommendations.

A number of recommendations passed on Thursday night were adopted on Monday evening. The report of the Flood Control situation from the Dominion government was referred to the Post-War Planning Commission for study and recommendation. The application of R. A. Coulter, grocerman, to construct a temporary building to carry on his business while alterations to his permanent store are being made was granted.

The request from the Quinte News Service branch manager, R. W. Woodbeck, to establish newsstands on the business corners was refused as the granting of this privilege would create a precedent. The application of Lorne Green for the removing of signs was approved by council.

The council ordered tenders to be secured for firemen's suits.

Proposes Post-War Committee.

Ald. Frank Follwell proposed a vocational guidance committee for ex-servicemen returning to the city after having been overseas or somewhere in Canada to help them rehabilitate themselves into civilian life. The Alderman thought that the council should interest itself in post-war work because the war was on its way to being over and nothing much had been done in this respect. The members agreed that this work was necessary but believed that the Federal government had this matter in hand. Ald. Allin explained that officials of the government were now going to war plants and getting a census of what will be required and how these returned men can be placed.

In discussing his proposed scheme Ald. Follwell said:

"The committee would be composed of His Worship the Mayor, as chairman, two aldermen and two member of the Board of Education. They would arrange an interview with the ex-servicemen at which time his case would be studied from the angles of pre-war occupation, training received whilst in the service, qualifications for specific trades or professions, preferences and ambitions. The major factor to be decided would be that of whether or not the man was qualified sufficiently to insure his preference becoming a stabilised job, or whether he should be directed into another occupation for which he is better qualified. Vocational training examination forms would be obtained for the purpose from either the local Collegiate, the Department of Education, Ottawa, the Toronto University, or the Army Educational Service.

Instances Will Develop.

There will develop a number of instances, when a man will be discharged from the service a trained motor mechanic, whereas he had been in pre-war occupation a clerk in a store, a barber, or some other such unrelated occupation. His preference may lean toward this newly developed trade with more satisfactory future probabilities than to have him return to his former work; he should be assisted in finding such a job with a firm which will guarantee his continued employment for as long as he produces satisfactory results. And, again, a man may be returned to Canada after having served as a driver of a tank, or a military vehicle, and have been in pre-war times a driver or chauffeur but, having spent years in this occupation, shows a tendency to enter some other unrelated business. It would be up to the Committee to discover whether his knowledge would permit him to be successful in another occupation, or whether they should exert a little effort in persuading him that he is best qualified to handle the job he knows best, pointing out to him the advantages of an assured income as against an insecure one from a trade or profession he must learn.

Be Accustomed to Work.

By instituting this committee at once they, and their associates, will become accustomed to the work against the time when the great influx of men and women arrives and hundreds instead of individual cases appear in the city seeking employment. In addition to performing a service to these men and women, the committee would be compiling a list of occupations and qualifications of men which would stand them in good stead at a future time when questions arise concerning individuals.

The suggestion is comparatively undeveloped at this time and would call for enlargement and study by competent educators and business men. As a further suggestion it might be a sound idea to request the technical men of the various war industries to associate themselves with the work of rehabilitation and thus become accessible to the committee when the occasion arises to approach one or another company in the interests of an ex-serviceman."

Service Clubs Must Assume More Responsibility in Youth Education Says Judge Mott

Youth organization leaders in the city and members of the local Rotary Club Monday noon were privileged to hear a challenging address from Judge Hawley Mott, Toronto juvenile court judge, as he addressed club members on the necessity for service organizations throughout Canada to assume greater responsibility in youth education.

Introduced by Rev. Dr. James Semple of Bridge Street Church as one of the most outstanding juvenile court judges in Canada, Judge Mott indicated that a great responsibility rested on service clubs if the principles and fundamentals of truth are to be found which will be instrumental in the peace-making.

"Rotary and other service clubs have already served splendidly through their various community enterprises," he said, "but the time has come that the principles of truth must be discovered. This is the hour. If we fail now the world will pay the price."

Speaking on juvenile delinquency and its relation to the crimes committed by the adult, Judge Mott assured there was but little difference between the so-called delinquency and the misdoings of mature man. The answer to the problem was in starting the child in a way of life which would develop the useful elements and sublimate animal instincts.

Problem One For Home.

"The problem is one for the home, the school and the state," he indicated speaking directly to the club members. "But it is also your problem and a problem for the community. There is no use in saying that it does not affect you or your child. For the community to be safe for your children, it must be safe for all children."

Reaching out into the post-war period Judge Mott assured there was no longer any doubt as to the result of the war, but that there was still grave doubts about the future. The peace must be formulated by the common people if it is to be a lasting peace, he said.

The speaker cited man primarily as a rational being. But in the furtherance of science he is led up to the strange reality that he is first a spiritual being. He then learns there is a plan for his life and when that plan is followed he rises to highest achievement.

Have Job to Do.

This, he concluded, indicated that members of service clubs today had a job to do. There is a challenge which seemed to say service organizations were born for this hour. They have the responsibility of determining the fundamentals of truth which would be instrumental in the peace-making.

A blessed event in the family of one of the Rotary members, Stan Hagerman, was the means of raising a few dollars for the club's Crippled Children's Fund. Stan turned up with the traditional box of cigars and Art Francis as sergeant-at-arms was detailed by President Jack Deacon to "sell" the cigars to members at a dime a throw. Rotarian Dr. Bert Howard expressed the thanks of the club to Judge Mott, while "Sandy" Burrows and Leo Riggs acted in their customary capacities.

ARRESTED ON COUPON CHARGE

Toronto, Feb. 29 —(CP)— Leo Romanelli, Toronto musician, was arrested today by Royal Canadian Mounted Police officers on a charge of illegal possession of gasoline ration coupons.

R.C.M.P. headquarters said the arrest culminated a lengthy investigation by officers of the Toronto district. Romanelli was released on bail of $3,000.

Prelude to Further Hun Defeat

Quite often it has been reported that Hitler has called upon his armies to fight "to the last man." The latest report concerns the Nazi defenders in the Pskov area. Memory is not so faint but most readers will recall the occasion a year ago last autumn when the same Fuehrer ordered the Germans at Stalingrad to hold out "to the last man." There the disaster that followed engulfed hundreds of thousands of German troops. In North Africa, too, it is believed the Germans received the order to hold on to the end but surrendered in Tunisia. A short while gone, the No. 1 Nazi had the Germans hold out in the Dnieper Bend, again with disaster. In Italy, too, it is believed that Hitler has called upon the Germans to fight it out "to the last man" against the Allied thrusts.

This order is inevitably the prelude to defeat as it is a sign of developments already gone against the success of the German forces.

March Comes

March, the spring month, is at hand, after one of the mildest winters on record and certainly the mildest in the memory of very many persons. Will the new month follow the trend of the preceding winter months and rather placidly move on to spring day and thence on mildly to the end of its thirty-one days?

March is very often heralded by winter storms and the heaviest blockades of the season. Being the winter-spring month, the thirty-one days and nights are often torn by the rival influences in nature of dying winter and reviving spring. It comes in as the adage goes like a lion and retires like a lamb or it reverses this behavior. Will it now come in as a lamb and retreat also like a lamb or will it follow the usual contrast?

Weather observers have said that the last two days of the last week of the month govern the next two weeks. Should that prove substantiated by natural facts, the outlook is bright for a mild entry of March, for the close of last week was moderately mild.

Winter has not been able to develop much ruggedness this year. The early weeks were a little more in keeping with the record of the past winters, but the past two and a half months or three months have been unusually mild, although the temperature fell on occasions suddenly below zero. February which is the leap year month has been quite gentle even if some snow storms made their appearance in that month for the first time with any stress. In spite of the references to leap year it is quite likely that February will be remembered here for being a portion of a fairly open winter rather than as the month with the extra day for leap year.

The mildness of the season has not lessened the enthusiasm for spring. People have not been worn out by the usual rigors of the season and outside of a few spells of colds there have been no marked ill-results of the season.

The winter has been passing swiftly, more swiftly than usual, because there have not been the trying experiences of the usual frigid months.

Everyone greets the coming month whatever weather it brings. Naturally few believe it can be very severe unless all signs hitherto fail.

Laurence Binyon

It is six months since Laurence Binyon died, comments The London Times. His noble gifts as a poet are widely recognized; one of his poems, "For the Fallen," has become part of our national inheritance. His love for the masters of English water-color painting, for Turner, Girtin, and Cotman, for Blake and his followers, for the arts of India, China and Japan, indeed for all work touched with the glow of imagination, has stirred thousands in both hemispheres. Moreover, his own high character, his response to anything he found gallant in life, among young people especially, made his influence one of the most fruitful of our generation.

He himself found the greatest pleasure and enlightenment in visits to other countries, in appreciation of their ways of life and thought as well as of their art, cities and countryside. Some of the acquaintances thus made ripened into intimate friendships. It is proposed to establish a Binyon bursary at his old university, Oxford, to give, so far as the fund collected will permit, annually, a student (or students) the opportunity, which would not otherwise be available, of a visit abroad, to some land, east or west, to which he may be drawn by interest and sympathy.

Suture by Cotton

A new excuse for growing cotton was put forward in the South recently. Dr. Edward William Alton Ochsner, highly respected surgeon of Tulane University, wrote Governor Thomas Bailey of Mississippi that cotton is the best material for stitching up wounds. Doctors at the New Orleans Charity Hospital had found that wounds stitched together with "ordinary cotton thread" were less likely to become infected than those sutured with catgut or silk.

Another advantage, cotton is not absorbed and will hold when a wound taesk a long time to heal—catgut may disappear in a little over a week, especially if a wound is infected. Finally, Dr. Ochsner noted that at Charity Hospital the average cost of catgut per patient is $1.19, as against 93 cents for silk and only 1¾ cents for cotton.

Changing World

(Montreal Herald)

If you don't think that the world is changing, reflect that it wasn't long ago when, in Soviet Russia, blouse, breeches and boots were dressy enough for any occasion, while Englishmen prided themselves on dressing each night for dinner, even in the remotest colonial jungle outpost.

Today, the Russian diplomatic corps has dress uniform with more gold braid than the village bandmaster's uniform.

While wartime London took its dinner jackets out of mothballs for the first time the other night—to attend an aid-to-Russia banquet.

Picked the Lock

(New York Post)

A drunk on West End Avenue couldn't get into his home because he had forgotten his key. He called a policeman and asked him to break down the door. The cop was about to oblige, when a neighbor passing by suggested: "Maybe I can help you." He identified himself as Samuel Segal, the inventor and founder of the Segal Lock Co. "Is it a Segal lock?" he asked. "No," the cop told him. "Then I can pick it," Segal insisted. He did.

Finland, which allowed herself to be allied with Germany, even when she saw every sign of German aggression as it unfolded from the time of the German invasion of Poland and before that in the Nazis' treachery towards Austria and Czechoslovakia, now has to face the bitter task of seeking a way out of her war with Russia. Finland sorely disappointed the Allied Nations in her stand in allying herself on the side of Germany, the aggressor state.

Another large contingent of Canadian and American troops has landed in Britain after an uneventful trip during which there were no enemy submarines seen. This contingent is said to have been one of the largest that has ever crossed the ocean in a single convoy. The troops join the forces of the Allies now stationed in Britain.

FEBRUARY 29

The more I read of you the more
  Confused I seem to be.
Admit I must that you are just Another day to me.
Astronomers who calculate
  How fast the planets run
Are said to lay this extra day
  Upon the moon and sun.

"Intercalary" day you're called.
  I read it with a grin,
Since it appears for each four years
  That means a day stuck in.
"Bissextile" day's another name,
  And that one leaves me flat.
Some mind sublime in Caesar's time
  Was first to think of that.

Wise men can tell why you must be
  And count the seconds o'er,
Why down the years your chance appears
  Just once in every four;
But I know only that you are
  From dawn till sun must set
An added day, let come what may,
  Which I am glad to get.

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BY-GONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

February 29th., 1924

Forty-three years ago the City Mission on Dundas Street was instituted by the Rev. A. Schuster and his wife and after his death his wife carried on the great work until she passed away. Last evening the 43rd anniversary was commemorated. The chair was occupied by Mr. Charles S. Clapp. The following ministers took part in the proceedings: Rev. Dr. A. Brown, Rev. George Marshall and Rev. N. S. McKechnie. The following workers in the Mission submitted reports: Mr. C. Elvins, Miss R. Templeton, Miss Maud Reeves, Mrs. (Capt.) Smith, Mr. Harry Firth and Mrs. M. Farley. A bouquet of flowers was presented by little Miss Keegan of the primary class to Mrs. Galloway, age 80 years, who is the oldest member of the Sunday School. The choir of Victoria Avenue Baptist Church led in the singing.

40 YEARS AGO

February 29th., 1904.

Ald. Magrath has returned home from California.

Mr. E. P. Frederick has returned to town after spending some time in Norwich, Ontario.

Mr. William Grills, resident of Bayside for the past sixteen years has purchased a farm in Thurlow Township and will remove his family there. Sixty of the family's friends gave them a surprise party on Friday evening and during the evening a handsome chair was presented to Mr. and Mrs. Grills. Much regret is felt at the departure of the family from the Bayside community.

Mr. J. V. Doyle has returned home from the College of Pharmacy, Toronto.

Mr. John Gordon has returned from Toronto, where he took a course at the military school.

Commons Requests Annual Report of Bank of Canada Be Referred to Banking Committee

McGeer Urges National Management of Currency and Credit in Terms of Public Need

LIVELY DISCUSSION

By FRANK FLAHERTY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Ottawa, Feb. 29—(CP)—A strong hint of battles to come before the banking committee over banking procedure and money reform was before the House of Commons today—a demand from G. G. McGeer (L—Vancouver Burrard) that the annual report of the governor of the Bank of Canada be referred to the committee.

Mr. McGeer, who before the war was a constant advocate of monetary reform but recently has said little on the subject, urged National management of currency and credit in terms of public need.

A lively debate developed out of a suggestion from P. E. Wright (CCF—Melfort) that the government guarantee the value of all bonds, so purchasers would be sure of 100 cents on the dollar even if they had to sell before maturity.

The suggestion was made on a government motion to resolve the House into committee of supply, which gives members a chance to bring up any question. On it M. J. Coldwell, C. C. F. Leader, said there was an "insidious campaign" to the effect that in the event of a change of government victory bond obligations would not be met.

Blamed on C.C.F.

Several Liberals in reply blamed the impression on the policies of the C.C.F. and said the best guarantee of bonds being repaid was to return a Liberal government.

Mr. McGeer said he was not opposed to a floor under bond prices, but was concerned at growth of the public debt and the interest burden created under what he considered the defects of the present banking system.

He said he had felt for some time that advocates of monetary reform should not press their views too strongly until the job of winning the war was over. But the 1943 report of the Bank of Canada had raised important issues. It had disclosed that the interest charge on the debt had risen to $304,000,000 a year. No one could say where it would end.

The government had nationalized the ownership of the Bank of Canada. It should go farther and nationalize its policy to make the bank an institution to serve the public and not just a "filling station for the chartered banks."

During the war, said Mr. McGeer the Bank of Canada had fed into the chartered banks $82,000,000 in new notes. In this the chartered banks had built up an additional increase in deposits of $748,000,000 with which they bought interest-bearing government bonds.

Basis of System.

"This is the fundamental basis of our whole banking system which must be changed before government . . . . can move along the fields of solvency and away from the bankruptcy that this false debt claim system will impose on us."

Gordon Graydon, Progressive Conservative House Leader, said he regarded the C. C. F. move on the matter of bond values as "propaganda." The first guarantee of the value of Canadian bonds was the maintenance of a high volume of employment after the war, he contended.

"My friends to the left (The C. C. F.) are making their usual defeatist attitude with respect to the whole problem which faces us after the war is over," Mr. Graydon said. "They talk about rationing scarcity and guaranteeing minimums; but our job is to see that maximums are provided for the people of Canada."

Agriculture Minister Gardiner, Arthur Slaght (L—Parry Sound) and Thomas Reid (L—New Westminster) said the C. C. F. itself was responsible for any belief bonds would not be good under a C. C. F. government. Mr. Gardiner cited a 1933 pamphlet issued under C. C. F. auspices which said bonds would be called in and discounted. Mr. Slaght blamed Mr. Coldwell's recent speech in the United States and Mr. Reid blamed the C. C. F. program of nationalization.

Douglas Abbott, parliamentary assistant to Finance Minister Ilsley, said bonds were sold for a term of years at a given interest rate. If the price were guaranteed there would be no difference in the interest rate on long-and short-term money.

Would Have to Sell Bonds.

Angus MacInnis (CCF-Vancouver East) said that if conditions similar to those of the 20's were allowed to return, people would have to dispose of their bonds after the war. Thus prices might be reduced unless the government gave a guarantee.

"This question can't be answered by sneers and hilarity in this House," said Mr. MacInnis.

John Blackmore, new democracy leader, said the progressive conservatives should explain how they would achieve total production and total use, since the last conservative administration had not achieved it. Post-war plans should be carefully scrutinized by the House at this session.

Victor Quelch (Nd-Acadia) said maintenance of the National Income would ensure the value of the bonds. Prime Minister Mackenzie King should say now that no financial considerations would be allowed to interfere with post-war developments.

Might Depreciate.

The moment a rush to cash small bonds started, then their value would depreciate, Mr. Quelch said.

At the night sitting the House approved most of the remaining items in Defence Minister Ralston's army estimates.

Defence Minister Ralston told the Commons that every effort is made to ease any shock when injured men returning from overseas meet their relatives, and hat he was endeavoring to check down a rumor that a man who had lost his arms and legs had been returned without his friends being informed of his condition.

"We can find no such case," said the Minister.

He was answering R. W. Gladstone (L—Wellington South) who said he had heard of cases where relatives had suffered severe shock when they had met an injured man at the station. He wondered if an arrangement could be made whereby meetings could be avoided until the man had been placed in hospital.

Canadian Scene A Century Ago

By J. L. G.

According to the old proverb there are many ways to skin a cat. But concerning the skinning of other animals antiquity has been more reticent. Take the muskrat—there may be more than one way to skin this creature. However the Canadian pioneers seemed to concentrate on the following method. They slit the animal inside the legs and around the tail, then pulled the entire skin over the head, inside out. The skin was then stretched on a piece of wood trimmed to a point and about six or seven inches wide. The pelts were hung up to dry after being turned skin side out and carefully scraped. Taken to market they brought in nine cents a skin or thereabouts. Some pioneers had several hundred muskrat skins to their credit each year. Those who home-tanned the pelts were fairly well satisfied with the results, obtained by rubbing alum into the skin and then softening it over a rounded board.

But trapping muskrat and other animals was just a "side line" with the pioneers. Much more grim and earnest was the job of ridding the land of trees. They even had to worry about the roads soon to go through! One of the conditions on which a grant was given from 1823 to 1833 was that a specified number of feet of road must be cleared in front of the homesteader's lot within a space of 90 days. He was supposed to cut the stumps so low that wagon wheels could pass without difficulty over them!

Official information circulated by emigration agents in Canada early in the 19th century stressed the importance of not entering into any final engagement for land or farm without personal examination. It also emphasized the desirability of a healthy situation, good land, nearness to a pure spring or running stream, a neighborhood with a fine moral and religious state of society and schools for the education of children. Moreover, it urged proximity to passable roads and water transportation, to saw and grist mills. Finally it suggested the importance of a good title to the land.

Long Last Flight Of An Airman

Found in the belongings of a dead Canadian airman was this poem, whose author is not identified:

When the last long flight is over
And the happy landing's past,
And my altimeter tells me
That the crack-up's come at last,
I'll swing her nose for the ceiling
And I'll give my crate the gun;
I'll open her up and let her zoom
For the Airport of the Sun.

And the Great God of flying men
Will smile at me sort of slow
As I stow my crate in the hangar
On the Field where fliers go.
Then I'll look upon His face,
The Almighty Flying Boss,
Whose wingspread fills the Heavens
From Orion to the Cross.

James Monroe was a poor prophet. In 1786, long before he was President of the United States and author of the doctrine that bears his name, Monroe wrote to Thomas Jefferson as follows:

"A great part of the territory is miserably poor, especially that near Lakes Michigan and Erie, and that upon the Mississippi and the Illinois consists of extensive plains which have not had, from appearances, and will not have, a single bush on them for ages. The districts, therefore, within which these fall will never contain a sufficient number of inhabitants to entitle them to membership in the confederacy."

Monroe was referring to the territory northwest of the River Ohio, now comprising the states of Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, Illinois and Wisconsin!

Is the penalty greater for hitting a man with glasses? The popular notion seems to be that there is. But this writer has been unable to learn of any laws in the United States that specifically provide a greater penalty for committing assault and battery by striking a person wearing glasses than for striking one not wearing glasses.

A person wearing glasses would be much more likely to be injured by a blow in the face than one not so equipped, and consequently striking a person with spectacles on might be taking an unfair advantage of him. In all probability a court would take this fact into consideration in passing sentence upon a person convicted of assault and battery by striking another in the face.

Thorough Crushing of Japanese Military System Is Necessary

Mrs. E. W. Wilson Tells Belleville Women's Canadian Club of Modernization of Japan Out of Feudal State and of Rise of Military Domination—Propaganda Used With Terrific Force on Japanese People—Their History

"The total defeat of Japan" "and take away their empire," were strongly expressed phrases used by Mrs. E. H. Wilson in her address to the Women's Canadian Club in St. Andrew's Church Hall on Monday afternoon. Before Mrs. Wilson's introduction to her topic of "Totalitarian Japan," Mrs. W. H. Finkle spoke briefly but most highly of the afternoon's speaker. "Mrs. Wilson," she said, "was at one time a Canadian teacher in Japan. She was connected with the British Embassy in Tokyo, and was interned in Japan for eight months after the outbreak of war."

Tells of Internment.

Mrs. Wilson, in beginning her account, said "In giving this talk, I try to be fair and paint two pictures. It is not my aim or intention to stir up hatred against the Japanese—most of the wars come from lack of understanding.

"I had a pleasant time while interned. I was a member of the British Embassy—thus, I lived in the Embassy compound with its fine homes and lovely grounds directly across the street from Hirohito's palace. We were well guarded. We had our own supplies. Those we pooled and set up food control. Milk and vegetables were brought to us. We were a thoroughly organized little community and even enjoyed such things as dancing classes. Even our own Padre was there. The only thing missing was news from home."

Voyage Home.

Continuing, Mrs. Wilson told of her journey from Japan to England following her internment. "We left in Japanese ships," she said, "proceeded by way of Hong Kong, then on to Singapore, through the Indian Ocean, around by way of the Island of Madagascar to Portugal where we were picked up by British ships."

Speaking again of her internment, Mrs. Wilson stated that some people had been interned in less pleasant places than she had experienced. She stressed the fact that there is a difference between being interned and imprisoned. "If some Britisher or American had been convicted of espionage, he would be immediately imprisoned and these places of prison were indeed terrible."

"Nevertheless, I like Japanese people, and I make this statement after having lived among them for a period of twelve years." In the British Embassy, while we were interned, our friends were allowed to come and see us and talk to us through gates in hearing of the police."

Story of Old Japanese Servant

To prove that there is good in some of the Japanese people, Mrs. Wilson gave accounts of two instances which she felt deserved to be heard. "One day," she began, "a man was sent for from the Embassy internment camp and told that someone wanted to see him at the gates. On reaching them, he found it was an old Japanese servant. He told him that when the people in the district of Tokyo had heard of his plight they had taken up a collection and that he was sent to give it to him on their behalf."

Mrs. Wilson related still another: "An English girl, who had worked in the Embassy as a stenographer, obtained permission during her internment to have her mother, who was living about four hundred miles away, come to see her. Three times her mother came and it was during the last stay that the mother bundled together some of her daughter's belongings to take home with her as her daughter was leaving for England with the others. At the station, a Japanese appeared to her and spoke in most friendly terms . He took the ropes off his baggage and tied hers. In leaving her he said, 'Some of the Japanese people still admire the British and I am only trying to prove to you in some small way that fact.'"

Life Grim, Hard Business in Japan

Continuing her discussion, Mrs. Wilson spoke of the "cruel streak" which is so familiarly connected with the Japanese race. "If the Orientals have a cruel streak," she said, "think of the conditions over there." There is so much hunger and life in general is a grim hard business. They have their great tidal waves, floods, earthquakes and lastly but not least, the Japanese people have been stepped on and literally "crushed" by the military caste. In speaking of how the present condition came about, a English journalist was heard to say that Japan is a national defense state with the war industry being the chief one.

Modernization of Japan

"Japan is a very small country with a large population," said Mrs. Wilson. During the past fifty years, Japan's national income has increased ten-fold and its standard of living has become better too. It was in 1868 that the Emperor of Japan decided to have everything westernized. The people began to copy western ways in every detail, they patterned their army from that of Germany and their navy on that of Britain. Railways came into being and a compulsory educational system. These were only two of the many things that were newly created in this small country. Some of the most advanced men conceived the idea then that it would be a good thing to have parliamentary government.

Out of Feudal State Only 70 Years

"Therefore, it can be seen," stated the speaker, "that Japan has been broken away from a feudalistic state only for 70 years."

How Trouble Developed.

Once industrialized, the country began looking for markets abroad —thus, the trouble started. Japan wants a Fascist Imperialist Empire. Turning again to the subject of feudalism, Mrs. Wilson said that the feudalism of Japan was much worse than our old system of the mediaeval times. They did not have a church and they were ruled then as now—body and soul by the military class. This is because they are so susceptible to propaganda and authority—they can, therefore, be easily used and controlled. When the World War I came along Japan protected our interests in the East. The island was experiencing quite an era of prosperity and students began to read extensively.

Invasion of Manchuria.

Then there began a slow trend towards the military cast taking over the control of the country. In 1932 the army went into Manchuria and in 1937 it walked into China. The Japanese people, who are so very much oppressed and who dare not speak for themselves, are inclined to "blow off steam" when they are let loose. The military class desires the will to power—it intends to consolidate its gains and go on again.

Mrs. Wilson mentioned an incident related by an Englishman on the BBC who said that during his travels through Japan as a journalist, he had to pass a military training school. He saw a non-commissioned officer beat another soldier cruelly with an officer looking on. "The Japanese," the speaker continued, "have always had a rigid censorship of their press."

Propaganda "Terrific."

On the island, the propaganda is terrific. No Japanese have access to world news over the radio—the penalties for listening in are terrible. Over the radio come such phrases: "Japan is a nation made by the gods. . . we are the greatest people in the world." The books and magazines are always censored and since the war began, education has greatly deteriorated.

The Japanese people harbor such thoughts as to believe that their airmen are all cloud gods, their dead all gods, their paratroopers a chosen people, and the war in China a holy one. "In short," said Mrs. Wilson, "the military class has so completely embittered the Japanese race that it will have to be thoroughly crushed in order for the Allies to cope with the question of Japan following the war."

Even Thoughts Questioned.

From the year 1925, a policeman could walk up to any Japanese and ask what he or she were thinking about. The Japs, too, have a terrific spy system.

"At first," said Mrs. Wilson, "everyone used to revel in imported goods because articles could be purchased so cheaply." Since 1937, goods began to disappear gradually. At the present time, the Japanese do not wear leather shoes. In 1940, anti-British riots began. Music is still left, but no imported music played after 1938. Now, there are no private cars running, and taxis are a thing of the [illegible] country is so thoroughly organized economically that most of the money finds its way back to the banks and thence to the war effort." In closing her account, Mrs. Wilson stated that (State) Capitalism holds sway and Japan has no inflation because she knows how to control currency and commerce and industry are thoroughly organized.

Mrs. J. Thornton Celebrates 91st Birthday

Bancroft, Feb. 29 — (Special) — Mrs. John Thornton, a well-known and highly esteemed resident, who resides at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John McCormick, celebrated her 91st birthday Monday, February 28th. Mrs. Thornton was born in England coming to North Hastings County with her husband the late John Thornton many years ago. A greater part of their life was spent operating a farm in Monteagle township, retiring a few years prior to Mr. Thornton's death making their residence at Birds Creek. Since her husband's death Mrs. Thornton has resided with her daughter. Possessing a most remarkable memory for one of her age she recalls many changes which has taken place in the County since her girlhood, recalling incidents relating to the pioneers who travelled by ox teams and horses over mere trails. Mrs. Thornton is a staunch member of St. John's Anglican Church and attends quite a number of the services during the year. The many friends join in wishing Mrs. Thornton a happy birthday and that she may celebrate many more.

Receives Souvenir

Mrs. Stanley R. Walker received on Saturday last a much treasured souvenir of the Italian battlefront from her husband Lieutenant Stanley R. Walker who has been overseas since Christmas 1942. Lieutenant Walker is a member of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment and the souvenir he sent home represents a German flag taken from a Mark IV German tank put out of action by the boys of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment. The flag is autographed by many Bancroft boys and others from the district who are in the thick of battle. Since the flag was autographed one person whose name thereon appears, Pte. G. A. Crosbie, has paid the sacrifice with his life the first of this year. The names autographed are as follows: Lieutenant S. R. Walker, Sgt. R. C. Gray, Sgt. R. J. McCaw, Sgt. A. W. Carr, Sgt. A. Hecker, Sgt. J. G. Milne, Lieut. F. M. Mowat, Capt. J. A. Bird, Sgt. W. E. Morris, Sgt. N. Mooney, Cpl. R. Conlin, Ptes. R. A. Price, Archie LaBarge, J. C. Neil, C. O. Woodcox, E. A. Young, W. A. Fuller, N. Shannick, R. E. Martin, B. Crawford, Sgt. G. B. Smith, Pte. F. Hennessy, G. Fuller, E. A. B. Johnson, Sgt. F. E. Delyea, T. P. O'Brien, J. M. Milne, G. A. Crosbie, and Pte. Walker C5328.

Personals

Among those out-of-town residents attending the funeral of the late C. McAllister which took place from his residence Saturday morning to Our Lady of Mercy Church with interment in Roman Catholic cemetery were: AC2 Ross Viscoff, of St. Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Viscoff of Peterborough, Mr. William Woodcock, Miss Viola Woodcock, and Mrs. Milford Tryon of Cobourg, and Lieut. Murray Kelusky of Brockville.

Pte. Lawrence Leedy of Kingston spent four days leave with his wife and family returning Sunday.

Mr. Frank Wiggins and son, Walter of Kingston spent over the weekend at the home of his parents Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Wiggins of Bancroft.

Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Fuller returned home the latter end of the week from a business trip to Montreal.

KNEW ABOUT GUNPOWDER

It is said that the Chinese and Hindus knew about gunpowder centuries before the record of its invention in 1320.

Although every bit as active and energetic as perfect health records might indicate, the photographer had little difficulty in persuading the Thompson triplets, Jean, James and John, to pose for their picture just prior to their birthday last Friday. They are children of Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Thompson, Bleecker Ave., and were born two years ago on Feb. 26th. Never ill since their birth, the children have visited a doctor only as a matter of routine check-up. Pictured above from left to right are John, now weighing 27 pounds, sister Jean at 25 pounds, and James who weighs 26 pounds.

Fashion Flashes

FROM HERE it looks like quite a big summer for the white coat, judging from advance orders. White Shetland is used for a 33-inch coat made with collarless neckline and turn-back cuffs. It is trimmed with vivid color embroidery used as band down the raglan sleeves, edging the slit pockets and covering the buttons.

Don't pass up the bareback fashion for summer as a fad. It looks like a sure-fire success and will appear in frocks for general wear, for dress wear and for afternoon wear, a brief jacket bolero or self scarf making them right for the street.

Never enough navy is the cry each Spring. A charming dress for day-through wear is of navy crepe with white braid applied as stripes down the dress and in chevron formation to simulate a deep bodice yoke.

A bow in the direction of the fedora which appears each Spring in the hat line-up. A dainty little fedora is of deep purple straw braid with a triple rippled trim of pink and purple velvet.

Intricate detail marks some of the very newest and smartest blouses. Black crepe is used for a blouse with maize, light blue, pink and again maize used for diagonal over-lapping panels that are inserted into the front with black fagotting.

One gal excited quite a bit of interest when she appeared with a half-hat and matching gloves of black yarn crocheted in a lacy pattern and studded here and there with giant sequins.

Mountain View 'Bombers' Score Big Upset of Season By Winning Service Loop

Defeat Trenton Fliers in Sudden Death Contest 10 to 2

BOURQUE STARS

For the second time in two years the Mountain View "Bombers" captured the championship of the Quinte R. C. A. F. service hockey league and advanced to the playoffs in the Air Force Training Command series.

Monday night before 1,000 fans at the Hume Arena the Bombers paced by the veteran Dan Cowley, poured rubber into the Trenton "Flyers" net until the final score stood at 10 to 2 for the biggest surprise upset of the season, as the Bombers were much the better team going both ways. Coach F/O. "Min" Moore's Bombers were trailing 2-1 at the end of the first, but the Mountain View lads rapped four home in the middle session and then raced through to score five more in the last stanza as Padre Malka's Trenton "Flyers" failed to bulge the twine after the six and one-half minute mark of the first period.

Difference is Goalie

Much of the difference was seen when the Bombers trotted out Claude Bourque, former Les Canadiens' star of the N. H. L., who proved to all and sundry just why he was once with the colorful "Sont La" squad. To many local fans Bourque looked to be the best goaltender ever seen in the Hume Arena despite the fact the Flyers scored two goals against him in less than 20 seconds early in the initial period. However, that was enough for Bourque, who held the fort in a masterful manner to halt all and sundry drives by the speedy Trenton forwards.

Cooled Off in Box

The game was not without incident and Michanik and Wright drew down major penalties for fighting in the initial period as high sticks and heavy charging featured in exact N. H. L. style hockey. Then Dan Cowley and Paul Raymond, another Les Canadiens star now playing for Trenton, tangled in the last session and cooled off in the sin bin after Currie had caused quite a commotion by refusing to accept a penalty for hooking. All in all it was quite a hectic hockey night as the season's largest gallery agreed. Gene Aube, speedy Bomber forward, sustained a concussion in a collision with Dickson and went to hospital.

Trenton held a distinctive edge in the first period by virtue of fast breaking on the part of McAtee, Wilson and Grivel as they were rewarded when Paul Raymond took Ken Grivel's pass and beat Bourque with a hard drive into the upper corner. Seconds later Grivel rfiled one through a sea of legs during a scramble in front of the Bombers' net that gave Bourque no chance to save and the Flyers looked like sure winners. But Michanik brought hope into the Bombers' hearts by driving home Dickson's pass and then the Michanik-Wright fight took over the limelight before the first period ended 2-1 for the Flyers.

Bourque Looked Good

Bourque looked very good on two Flyers drives by Wilson and Raymond respectively before Gene Bauer broke loose passed to Dan Cowley and "Dannie" rang the bell for the equalizer and from then in it was pretty much all Mountain View. Before the second period had rung down Pat McReavey had set up goals for Cowley and Barker in succession, Cowley's being of the picture type and then Cowley helped Robbillard on the Bombers' fifth consecutive goal without retaliation. Again in the third period it was all Bombers as Robbillard, Boudreau, Bauer, Cowley and Fuger scored and McReavey got another pair of timely assists as the ex-Boston player was setting up plays all night, a profitable habit at that. Cowley headed the scorers' list with three goals while Robbillard notched a brace and all others were singletons.

Efforts to have the first game of the R. C. A. F. Command playdowns between the Camp Borden "Flyers" and the Bombers played at the Hume Arena this week are being attempted today, Bomber hockey officials revealed.

The line-ups:

Mountain View, goal, Bourque, defence, Barker and Savard, centre, Bauer, wings, McReavey and Fuger, subs, Boudreau, Cowley, Aube, Dickson, Michanik and Robbillard.

Trenton, goal, Prudhomme, defence, Currie and Labovitch, centre, Wilson, wings, Wright and McAtee, subs, Dart, Tessier, Kelly, Grivel, Griffiths and Raymond.

Referees, Holway and St. Louis.

CASUAL COMMENT by K.J.C.

A contributor to this column recently read about a baby being born in a church basement, and she guesses that the mother perhaps had been waiting in line at a covered-dish church dinner.

This brings to mind the old story about one of our slow railroads. Baby was born on the train much to the annoyance of the conductor. He said to the mother:

Conductor—Why did you get on the train in that condition?

Mother—I wasn't when I got on.

(Champions again.)

Once again the Mountain View "Bombers" came from behind to win the championship of the Quinte R.C.A.F. hockey loop and advance to the No. 1 Training Command playdowns and if all goes well they may meet the Camp Borden "Flyers" here on Wednesday night. However, Group Captain Ripley, commanding officer at Mountain View and just about the proudest man in uniform at the Hume Arena last night, stated nothing definite could be announced until the Borden officials were contacted this afternoon. In any event there'll be hockey at the local ice palace tomorrow night in the O.J.H.A. series.

As for last night's game the Bombers poured ten goals into the Trenton Flyers' net for the biggest upset of the season. Fans expected a close game, especially when it was announced Claude Bourque, former Les Canadiens net-minder would be between the gas pipes for the Bombers. Then when the Flyers scored two goals on Bourque within a matter of 20 seconds early in the initial period the season's largest puck crowd settled back thinking it would be just another one of those things for the Flyers.

However, FO. "Min" Moore's Bombers suddenly exploded in the middle session and before Padre Majka and company could realize what it was all about, zingo the Bombers had scored four goals, as a matter of fact after the Flyers scored two, the Bombers bagged ten in succession without retaliation and that's scoring goals in any man's loop.

Again it was Dan Cowley who started the Bomber fireworks, when the veteran Bomber scored the tying and what could have been the winning goal in succession to start the Moore-led sextette to their greatest triumph of the year. However, it was the great work of Bourque in the Bombers' nets, that intrigued the fans. They went to see a good goalie and after the Flyers scored two Claude Bourque showed all and sundry why he played the nets for Les Canadiens, as he was by far the best goalkeeper ever to grace the Hume Arena and just why the local ice igloo isn't jammed to the rafters for these Air Force games is a mystery. Everything goes in wide open hockey they don't see in the N.H.L. this semester.

(Remember him?)

Veteran puck fans will recall Eddie Wright, Peterborough's well known barber, who made senior hockey history in the Liftlock City in the roarin' 20's when he was business manager of the Petes, senior O.H.A. champs of 1926, the year Ace Bailey, the late Frank Collins, Snap Parker, Joe Dwyer and the boys brought a senior crown to Peterborough.

Well, the reason for this reminiscing is the fact that "Young Eddie" Wright was playing with the Trenton "Flyers" last night, he wore No. 8 jersey and was the player who tangled with Michanik for the game's only major penalty, although there could have been many more. Young Wright is a battler like his dad and was teamed with McAtee and Wilson, but this trio just couldn't get around Claude Bourque last night.

(The Gang's all here.)

Judging from the talk around the southern section of Hastings County the Hume Arena will be bulging at the seams, when Trenton and the Combines tangle. Already additional reserve seats have been ordered by the supporters of both teams leaving Belleville fans the option of getting around early or taking what's left. Of course the Stirling-Marmora and Trenton fans are paramountly more interested and naturally will be looked after, as it's their game and their fun. However, there are two splendid sections available for Belleville fans.

Incidentally both teams will be at full strength for this important meeting and with one hundred percent neutral officials it should be something of a hockey game. The Combines won at home a week ago 8 to 2, but Trenton evened the series with a 6-5 win at home. In the regular group schedule these two teams split at one game each and with the exception of the 8-2 score of last week these two squads are pretty evenly matched. However, we note that the Marmora players are getting into the scoring column for Ralph Neal's crowd while for Trenton it's how Ross LaMorre and Floyd Hamilton goes that governs Stan Jackson's crowd. The winner meets Kingston.

(Says they're good.)

"We tipped a Whitby friend of ours the other day that his Whitby lads would go a long way towards winning the Provincial juvenile hockey championship," George H. Campbell wrote in his Oshawa sports column last Saturday and then went on to tell his readers how good the Ontario County seat lads were in beating Belleville kids 4-0. In the same sheet Neil MacCarl, who covered the Belleville at Whitby game, says Johnnie Semark was tops for Belleville, but Dick Fitzpatrick was sensational.

Tomorrow night Bill Dennis' Belleville juveniles can make Campbell eat humble pie if they'll but get out and skate with the speedy Whitby kids. True enough the visitors enjoy a four-goal lead, but in this modern game of helter-skelter, pass-the-biscuit-anywhere hockey once a team hits a scoring stride four goals are simple.

Coach Dennis realizes the towering Whitby squad will be a tough nut to crack, but on the other hand Skipper Dennis feels the fans will see the best game of juvenile hockey seen in these parts in years.

(Near play-offs.)

Only one more doubleheader will be played in the city Ladies' Basketball League following last night's dual bill when Alemite and Reliance won again to cinch first and second place in the final standing regardless as to future scheduled results. However, two weeks from last night, March 13th to be exact, the league playoffs will commence and then's when the patrons will flock to the "Y". The first place club meets the third place team, while No. 2 meets No. 4 and today that looks pretty much like Alemite vs. Sargents in one series and Reliance and Deacons in the other. On the season's play the final series should see Reliance meet Alemite and what a cage go that'll be.

ALEMITE LASSIES, RELIANCE GIRLS WIN CONTESTS

Alemites Score 36-13 Win Over Sargents and Reliance Beats Deacons 35-26

STANDING UNCHANGED

Alemite and Reliance continued to dominate the Ladies' War Industry Baseball League, played at the Y.M.C.A. each Monday evening, when Coach Frank Martin's Alemites remained at the top of the loop standing by taking a 36 to 13 win over Belleville Sargents, while Coach Roland Pryke's Reliance lassies stayed in the thick of the battle and in second place with a 35 to 26 win over the Deacon girls.

In the curtain-raiser, Kay Coathup kept Reliance ahead in the first half as the winners only headed Coach Harold Kokesh's Sargents 18 to 13 at the half-time whistle. However, Skipper Pryke's Reliance girls played consistant basketball to score 17 points in the last half, while Sargents were even more consistant, scoring the same number they notched in the initial 20 minutes.

Kay Coathup, the league's leading scorer, added to her prowess with 18 Reliance points, D. Lazenby getting 11 for the winners. R. Gariepy headed the Sargent girls with 11 points, followed by Ev Allison, the second high scoring ace of the league, who bagged eight points last night.

Winners Always in Front

In the nightcap affair, the league leading Alemites were heading Deacons 16 to 8 at the halfway gong and then went on to win 36 to 13, although Coach Martin only used six players.

Peg Ronsky, with 12 points, Betty Gilbert with 10 and D. Mansfield with eight were the chief marksmen for the winners, while Minette Miller and Joyce Woodhouse accounted for all of the Deacon scoring. It was the Alemite girls' sixth win in seven starts and practically cinched first place for Martin's charges.

CANADIENS WIN BERTH

Ottawa, Feb. 29 (CP)—Ottawa Canadiens won a berth in the Senior City Hockey League final last night by defeating Ottawa Montagnards 6-3 in the second game of a best-of-three semi-final series. Canadiens, who will meet Hull Volants in the final, won the first semi-final game 5-2.

Nine 'Military Replacements' For Three Junior OHA Clubs

(By The Canadian Press)

Nine "military replacements" involving three junior "A" clubs of the O.H.A. engaged in the current playoffs were announced last night by Secretary W. A. Hewitt in an association bulletin. Under the special wartime arrangement, Oshawa Generals have been reinforced by the arrival of James Culham of Moose Jaw who replaces Robert W. Hicks. Three players of Port Colborne Recreationists, eliminated from the playoffs, are transferred to Brantford Lions, the replacements being Vernon Kaiser for Earl Braithwaite; Leo Gravelle for Robin Hewson and Lawrence Piper for R. J. Lovell.

Five players, three from Stratford Kroehlers and two from Toronto Young Rangers, become members of the Hamilton Whizzers under the replacement plan. The Stratford trio of Jack Jackson, Emio Sclisizzi and Thomas Tindal take the place of Harry Whitworth Andy Brown, Andmirzo Narducci. In the transfer from Young Rangers, Frank Rutledge becomes a Whizzer in place of A. W. Laidlaw and Albert Dewsbury for Sam Lazich.

Alfred Thurier of the Buffalo Bisons jumped from ninth to fifth place in the American Hockey League individual scoring rase to register 55 points for his total to the close of last week. Three Cleveland Barons still led the drive, with Ted Burlington in first place with 70 points; Cunningham second with 64 and Trudel holding third with 62.

The American Baseball League will open its 154-game scheduled season April 18, with Cleveland at Chicago; New York at Boston; St. Louis at Detroit and Philadelphia at Washington. A record number of 105 night games are listed, compared with [illegible] last season.

The sale of tickets to the Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs May 6 will be restricted to residents of Lousville and vicinity, it was announced yesterday by the office of Defence Transportation, Cleveland, the move being designed, as in the case of 1943 arrangements, to avoid a conflict with wartime travel policy.

Manager Frankie Frisch yesterday announced a re-arrangement of the Pittsburgh Pirates' line-up to improve the team's playing punch. Third baseman Bob Elliott, who batted .315 last year, will be moved to right field; Jim Russell will replace Vince DiMaggio and Frank Colman, London, Ont., boy up from Toronto, will go to left field.

Toronto, Feb. 29 —(CP)— Sport predictions for next Feb. 29; Montreal Canadiens, returning by plane after a National Hockey League game in London, will say English referees are lousy but the English beer is good . . . Canada will threaten to withdraw its team from the Olympic games in Finland unless professionals are permitted to compete . . . Conny Smythe will announce publicly that Toronto Leafs will never play another game on Detroit ice unless Jack Adams is removed as Detroit manager. . . Edmonton's team of second Great War veterans, coached by Neil Colville, will be installed favorites to take the Allan Cup to Alberta for the first time . . . The C. A. H. A. will say in a statement that sports writers who make "fanciful" predictions are a menace to hockey.

Bowling Blitz:

Ten-pin bowling is booming in Windsor, Ont., with at least 30 new alleys under construction and the old ones worrying about excess profits taxes . . . Women are rolling ten-pills as well as men . . . top-ranking Keglers from Detroit frequently cross the river for exhibitions in Windsor and draw large crowds. The visitors pay their own expenses, make no charge for their bowling and often make initial contributions to collections taken among the crowds, proceeds to buy smokes for the boys overseas.

Incidentally:

Jimmy McNamara, former Regina and Calgary hockey goalie, has been wounded in Italy . . . Teddy Lake of the McIntyre Curling Club near Timmins, Ont., scored an eight-end in a curling game with W. R. Lafferty . . . Syl Apps scored four goals and one assist as London Army beat Fingal Bombers 12-4 in a hockey game last week. That same day Apps had been on a 15-mile route march . . . Andy (Toronto Star) Lytle suggests a hall of fame for sport "badgers" would be in order. Andy quips: "Nowadays you have to go to a service track meet to flush a badger and, doggone it, you can't tell a badger from a brass hat, even with a score card."

HOW DO YOU KNOW THEY'RE FOOLISH? EACH ONE MEETS A DEFINITE NEED. BESIDES, THE MEN WHO MAKE THEM...
YEAH! WHAT ABOUT THE MEN WHO MAKE THEM?
...THEY ARE SPECIALISTS IN BUSINESS. EVERY REGULATION HAS BEEN PASSED EITHER TO MAKE VITAL SUPPLIES AVAILABLE FOR THE ARMED FORCES, OUR ALLIES, OR THE CIVILIAN POPULATION...
...OR THEY PROTECT US AGAINST INFLATION AND EACH IS DRAWN UP BY A MAN OF LONG EXPERIENCE IN THE PARTICULAR FIELD HE ADMINISTRATES
WELL, THAT IS DIFFERENT...STILL I MUST SAY...
STILL YOU WISH THE REGULATIONS DIDN'T INCONVENIENCE YOU EH? SO DO WE ALL!

"DON'T SHOOT, HE'S DOING HIS BEST!"
All restrictions are a nuisance, which we tolerate only in order to avoid the greater interference that would result from defeat or even victory plus inflation. It's easy to blame any regulations that affect one's own convenience. But remember that every regulation has been drafted by men who know what they are doing to meet a specific need. # Horse Sense Bridge

LESSON NO. 315

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

Jump bids are the marines or rangers or commandos in bridge. They tip off their partners to the chances for reaching out to higher bids.

There are one-jumps and double-jumps. The one-jump admits tricks enough for a game with sure tricks included. The double-jump promises enough tricks for game with no assurance of sure tricks.

Lamp this pair of partnership hands:

SOUTH
♠A Q 6
♥A K 10 6
♦K J 9 7
♣A 6
NORTH
♠K 3
♥Q 9 7 5 3
♦A 6 3 2
♣8 6

South starts with an opening bid of one heart. North has no take-out suit. But he has an assist for hearts. With five tricks, north sees a game in hearts with what south shows so far.

A simple assist to two hearts would not force partner to bid again. A one-jump assist to three hearts would say the hand also contains two sure tricks. So, the north response should be four hearts, a double jump.

Since the double-jump denies having two sure tricks, it also is a warning that slam does not look favorable from where north sits. But that is only his side of the story.

North might not have enough sure tricks to encourage a slam. But south might have an unusual number of sure tricks. He could have enough sure tricks to make up what north is lacking.

In that case, south is not so interested in the north sure tricks as he is in the north number of tricks. South could get slambitious even if north was not. Which is the case here.

So south now bids four no-trump, the ace and king asking signal. North responds to that with a bid of five hearts, the signal for showing only one ace and one king.

That tells south there are four aces and three kings in their pair. That decides south to take a crack at a small slam in hearts.

If north's response had shown no aces, south could have stopped at five hearts. Which would still be reasonably safe.

You never know from where you sit.

AT THE CAPITOL

"Claudia"

After a brilliant career in the pages of Redbook Magazine, as a novel, and on the stage and radio, Rose Franken's lovable "Claudia" scored a new triumph, completely captivating the entire audience at the Capitol Theatre last night. In the person of Dorothy McGuire, who enacted the title role in the Broadway production, she is a delightfully different heroine who can't miss being a national favorite. Warm, human and enormously popular entertainment, the picture is beautifully and effectively conceived and executed.

"Claudia" is a thoroughly unpredictable young matron. Happily married to a successful architect, she lives in their newly-acquired farm some forty miles out of New York City. Around her activities is woven an unconventional plot, which finds her at first at flighty teen aged girl and moves with her to maturity.

Amusingly naive—to those who don't know her—Claudia discovers in quick succession many things. She meets every situation, from the impulsive charm of the foot-loose male next door, to approaching motherhood and the unexpected loss of her adored mother, with her own light-hearted fortitude and courage.

Dorothy McGuire, who created a furore with her understanding portrayal on the stage, makes her first appearance before the cameras a memorable one. And there is no doubt but that she is destined for stardom. So real, so believable is she that no one can resist her, especially her tolerant, understanding husband, Robert Young. Gentle, and at all times loving, "Claudia's" husband is nevertheless constantly baffled by her approach to life.

"Little Tokyo U.S.A."

The first motion picture to reveal the shocking events that led to the evacuation of Japanese from the coastal areas opened yesterday at the Capitol Theatre with the arrival of 20th Century-Fox's exciting, thrill-packed film, "Little Tokyo, U.S.A."

Although the original screen play is fictional, all incidents in the picture having to do with espionage are based on cold, hard facts gleaned from the records of the Dies Committee. And Producer Byran Foy has seen to it that these facts are hammered home with telling accuracy.

Little Tokyo, the Japanese sector of Los Angeles, is the locale of the story. Preston Foster, as a detective, and Brenda Joyce, as a radio commentator, set out to unmask the Axis-spawned traitors of this sinister city-within-a-city and in doing so, they provide enough mystery, romance and thrills to satisfy even the most avid moviegoer.

The Canadian Universal News completes the big program.

AT THE BELLE

"Girl Crazy"

Mickey Rooney and Judy Garland are teamed together for the eighth time in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's lilting filmization of the smash Broadway hit of a few season's ago, "Girl Crazy", now playing at the Belle theatre.

The original Gershwin score is retained and played by none other than Tommy Dorsey and his band. Judy Garland sings the favorites, "Bidin' My Time" and "Embraceable You" among many others, and dances two production numbers, proving the young singer is fast becoming one of the best dancers on the screen today.

It's Mickey Rooney's fondness for night clubbing and girls that causes his father to send him to Cody College in Arizona, in the hope Mickey will reform. Mickey arrives in Arizona to discover Ginger Gray, played by Judy, granddaughter of the dean is the only girl at the school. He falls in love with her promptly, but Judy wants nothing to do with the tenderfoot quitter. Mickey shows his true character when he decides to stick it out, and Judy relents. When the school is about to be closed for lack of enrollment, Mickey plans a rodeo carnival. The publicity brings in an avalanche of new applications. Cody College is saved and both Judy and Mickey are happy.

Four Newcomers.

Several young newcomers are introduced for the first time to support the Garland-Rooney team. They are June Allyson, Gil Stratton, Nancy Walker and Robert A. Strickland, all of the Broadway stage. After their performances in "Girl Crazy" it's a cinch they're in Hollywood to stay. Among the screen veterans "Rags" Ragland, Guy Kibbee, Howard Freeman, Henry O'Neill and Frances Rafferty contribute outstanding characterizations.

George Stoll, music director of the production, has indeed done justice to the Gershwin melodies, using a regular orchestra in addition to the Dorsey band in the scoring. Norman Taurog directed.

The Canadian Movietone News, described by Lowell Thomas, and a Metro colorfun cartoon "What's Buzzin' Buzzard" precede the feature attraction.

Never Saw Blue Cow Says Judge

Toronto, Feb. 29 (CP)—A mystery concerning a colorful cow, a white one said to have turned blue, was aired in Appeal Court here yesterday in the case of Herbert Anderson, a Stratford farmer convicted of theft of the cow from David Hanson and sentenced to three months in jail.

C. A. Gale, Appeal Counsel, declared if you cross a Holstein cow and a Guernsey cow, you get a blue one. This assertation was scoffed at by Crown Counsel W. M. Common, however, who declared there was a deliberate intent to conceal the beast's identity with a coat of blue paint.

Chief Justice Robert S. Robertson, not visibly impressed with such talk, declared "I never saw a blue cow. I don't know what a blue cow is."

The conviction against the farmer was affirmed under another section of the code and his sentence reduced. He was ordered to spend 10 days more in jail, for a total of 15 days, and pay a fine of $100 and costs, or finish the remainder of the original sentence.

Jury Selection For Lonergan Trial Will Be Tedious

By JAMES H. PORTERFIELD
(Associated Press Staff Writer.)

New York, Feb. 29 (AP)—Extremely thorough examination of special talesmen at Wayne Lonergan's first degree murder trial forecast today selection of a jury will be long and slow—with heated clashes between counsel.

Assistant District Attorney Jacob rumet, who indicated at yesterday's opening session that the State would accept only persons willing to decrees the death penalty, predicted the jury would not be completed before the end of the week.

Only five persons had been examined when the trial was recessed until tomorrow. All were rejected—three by Grumet, one by Defence Attorney Edward V. Broderick and one by agreement.

At the close of the session Broderick repeated his earlier statement that he knew the identity of a lawyer who he said was in the room of Lonergan's wife, Patricia, last Oct. 24, when she was slain.

"We are still looking for him," Broderick said. "He has disappeared since we got close to the trial of Lonergan."

Denies Existence of Witness.

Grumet has denied the existence of any such potential witness.

Broderick said he will call rumet and Assistant District ttorney John Loehr as defence witnesses regarding Lonergan's alleged confession.

"Lonergan never signed that confession," Broderick said, adding that any statement obtained was procured under duress.

Lonergan who is charged with bludgeoning to death his heiress wife, maintained a quiet composure throughout yesterday's court proceedings, following the rocedure closely.

The defence attorney sprung his biggest surprise when he injected into the proceedings a letter disclosing that Lonergan had offered to relinquish all claims to a $2,000,000 share of his slain wife's fortune if exclusive custody of his 22-month-old son were given to his relatives in Canada.

Judge Freschie forbade the reading of the letter in court, but permitted talesmen to examine it. Lonergan wrote the letter to the surrogate of New York county while in city prison.

OSHAWA HANDED SURPRISE BUNDLE BY THE FALCONS

St. Catharines Wins First Game of Group Playoffs by 8 to 3 Count

ST. MIKES, LIONS WIN

By The Canadian Press

The playoffs of the Ontario Hockey Association to settle the Junior "A" championship started off last night with one real upset in three clashes with St. Catharines Falcons handing an 8-3 surprise package to Oshawa Generals at St. Catharines. In the two other engagements St. Michael's College showed strength in defeating Kists at Galt 6-3 while Brantford Lions delivered a 5-1 reverse to Hamilton Whizzers at Brantford.

With five hands figuring in the scoring, Falcons were impressive in their turnback of Generals, who had been setting a hot pace all season. The first period wound up in a 3-all deadlock but the Junior Saints forged to the front after that, doing all the scoring in the other two frames. Frank Delmonte, Pete Long and Phillips were responsible for double scores while Steve Warecki and Frank Long added one each. For Oshawa, goals were netted by Bill Barker, Ken Smith and Bill Ezinicki.

Held in First Period

Hamilton Whizzers held Lions 1-1 in the first period but the Brantforders scored four more in the subsequent 40 minutes. Leo Gravelle, the Quebec puckchaser picked up from Port Colborne as a military replacement, was the scoring star for Lions with two counters, Vern Kaiser, another added player, Powell and McGuire dividing the other three tallies. Comfort was the sole goal-getter for Whizzers.

St. Mikes' kept Kists at a distance all through the contest at Galt leading 2-1 and 3-1 at the close of the first and second periods.

McCormack Notches Pair

Johnny McCormack of the students was the only player to notch a pair of goals, other scorers for the Toronto team being Bob Schnurr, Frank Dunlap, Joe Sadler and Frank Melong. Galt's three were registered by Nellie Podolsky, Johnnie Curik and Kazarian.

The final scheduled game of the Senior O. H. A. season was staged at Hamilton where Majors trounced Toronto Navy 14-3. Doug Runions emerged the hero with four counters while Clarence Shillington, Robertson and Dillon Brady secured two each. The scoring parade included one apiece for Miocinovich, Turner, Davey and Johnny Conick. Navy's three went to Livingstone, Thompson and Cameron. Hamilton now goes to St. Catharines Thursday night for the first of the Senior playoffs.

BOSTON BRUINS NEARLY OUT

By The Canadian Press

The progressive decline of Boston Bruins as a National Hockey League power stands out sharply today in a survey of their record this season against Toronto Maple Leafs.

Grouped among principal contenders before the campaign started, Bruins justified that rating early by defeating Leafs in their first three meetings. They were rolling smoothly when military calls and injuries to key players left them one of the weakest clubs in the league, on paper and on performance.

Leafs capitalized, taking their next four games against Bruins by decisive scores to accumulate a total of 46 goals compared with 32 for Boston. The clubs meet for the eighth time this season in Boston tonight with Leafs strongly favored to move into undisputed possession of third place two points ahead of Chicago Black Hawks.

The Toronto club is six points ahead of Bruins, but a playoff berth is not yet certain. They have only seven games to play compared with nine for Bruins and Chicago.

The Toronto-Boston clash is the only N. H. L. game tonight.

What's Doing in Sport

Boston—(AP)—Cecil (Tex) Hughson, the American League's leading pitcher in 1942 with 22 games won and six lost, yesterday notified the Boston Red Sox he had enlisted in the U. S. Navy. He makes the sixth regular hurler of the Red Sox to join the Armed Forces.

New Orleans—(AP)— Sam Byrd, former Yankee outfielder who expects to be in the Navy next month, yesterday won the $5,000 New Orleans Open Golf tournament by carding a 73 for the fifth round for a 72-hole total of 285, five better than Bryan Nelson of Toledo. Jug McSpaden, who led the first two rounds, shot a 77 to wind up the tourney with a 291 total.

Philadelphia — (AP) — Catcher Babe Phelps, for whom the Phillies traded first-baseman Babe Dahlgren to the Pittsburgh Pirates, advised General Manager Herb Pennock of the Philadelphia Club yesterday he had decided to remain out of baseball to work on the Pennsylvania railroad.

Cleveland, Feb. 29—(AP)— Owners and managers of American Hockey League clubs voted at a meeting here yesterday to permit Buffalo to use Roger Bessette, Pittsburgh goalie, in the championship play-offs next month as a replacement for Frank Ceryance, now in the Armed Forecs the officials drew up a tentative schedule for the best-of-seven games play-off series which start March 21.

JIMMY BIVINS IS ARMY BOUND

Boss Man of Active Heavyweights Meets Lee Q. Murray

Cleveland, Feb. 29 (AP)—Army-bound Jimmy Bivins makes his farewell appearance as a civilian leather pusher in a return 10-rounder with Lee Q. Murray at the arena tonight and the boss man of the active heavyweights intends to give a sellout assemblage of 14,000 something to remember him by.

The Cleveland Negro's main concern is to regain the prestige he lost in his first encounter with Murray. Bivins won the decision but Murray received the applause of a capacity throng for subjecting Jimmy to the roughest treatment of his 14-bout winning streak.

The gangling easterner came close to a technical knockout triumph when a right uppercut opened a deep gash above Bivin's left eye in the sixth round. The flow of blood from the wound virtually blinded the Clevelander in the ensuing rounds but Murray had broken his right hand and was unable to apply the finishing touches.

Lee Q. explains his right hand hurt him so much he forgot to use his left.

"But I'll not pass up an opportunity like that again," he promises. "I know now what Bivins can do at his best. I can beat him."

Cain Maintains Hold in Scoring Race in N.H.L.

Montreal, Feb. 29—(CP)— Herbie Cain of Boston maintained his strangle-hold on first place in the National Hockey League scoring race, in official figures released today.

Cain, with 66 points on 31 goals and 35 assists, is four up on Lorne Carr of Toronto and five up on Doug Bentley of Chicago. Bill Mosienko of the Hawks is in fourth spot with 59 points, two ahead of Canadiens' Elmer Lach.

Doug Bentley crept up into a tie for goal-scoring honors during the week, and now has 31, the same number as Cain who previously led by himself in that division. Carr and Mud Bruneteau of Detroit are right behind with 29 each. Elmer Lach continues as assist leader with an even 40, two ahead of Clint Smith of Chicago.

Harold Jackson of Detroit remained the penalty leader, still a minute up on Mike McMahon of Canadiens. Jackson has 66 minutes to date in minors and majors.

BRILLIANT WEEK OF HOCKEY AHEAD

Command Semi-Final Game May be Played in This City

The possibilities of future hockey games at the Hume Arena this week are little short of staggering, especially after a general run of the season.

For instance following last night's R.C.A.F. Quinte district final, that saw the Mountain View 'Bombers' win the District Air Force Hockey Championship, Group Captain Ripley, commanding officer at Mountain View, announced it was quite possible the Bombers would play a Training Command semi-final game right here in Belleville. The Bombers meet the Camp Borden 'Flyers' in the Command semi-finals and if the Borden R.C.A.F. officials will agree the first game of the series will be played at the Hume Arena, Wednesday night.

"After all we would like to have a Command game here in order, that the boys on our station and the hockey fans of Belleville could have an opportunity of seeing our team play against an outside club", pointed out F/L. Moore, coach of the Bombers.

Wait For Announcement.

Complete information regarding this subject will not be available until this afternoon. However, if the Borden Flyers agree to open the Command series here the game will be played as part of a double-header, the second game seeing the Belleville and Whitby juveniles meeting in a second and final game of the second round of the O.J.H.A. playdowns. The Whitby kids enjoy a four-goal lead, gained in the Ontario County seat last Friday. However, regardless as to the Command game the juvenile game will be played at the Hume Arena. Then tonight there's the all-important Combine-Trenton junior O.H.A. sudden death game here, but the possibilities of a Training Command game with ex-professional and named senior players make the week's hockey chatter in Belleville just equal to any in the country.

CHAPTER 23

There was a stairway just opposite the door, and Tony mounted swiftly to the eighth floor and touched the bell of apartment 810. In a moment the door opened and Joe was standing there. He looked worn and sallow, but his face lighted up when he saw Tony.

"Can you get away for an hour, Joe?" Tony asked. "I've got something I want you to do."

"Sure, I get away," said Joe.

"All right. I'll meet you at the service entrance. I don't want anyone to see us going out together. Understand?"

Joe nodded and closed the door softly and Tony dropped down to the lobby.

"No taxi this time, Terence," he said to the doorman, as the latter raised his whistle, and he walked around the corner into the side street.

The service entrance was at the rear of the building, a third of the way along the block, and Tony saw how easy it would be for anyone to slip in and out there. As he was looking at it, Joe came running down the narrow iron stairway which ran around the shaft of the freight elevator. Tony made a sign to him to follow and walked along toward Broadway, where he picked up a taxi.

"Two-thirty West Twentieth St.," he said to the driver. "Get in, Joe. We're going down to Lieut. Duffy's office," he went on, as the taxi whirled away, "and I'm going to pick up that rope-ladder and see if we can't find out where it was bought. There can't be many places in New York which carry ladders like that in stock."

"No, sir," Joe agreed.

"Do you know the most likely ones?"

"Yes, sir."

"How do you happen to know them, Joe?" Tony asked.

"My father he import one time. I work for him."

"He doesn't any more?"

"Lost all his money two-three year ago," Joe explained.

"That's too bad," Tony said. "By the way, how do you like Dr. Metcalf's brother?"

"Cruel man, terrible," he said. "Not like brother. You sure him brother?"

"No, I'm not sure," said Tony, "but I don't see how there can be any doubt of it. He would have to prove it before he could take possession of the property."

"Not at all like brother," Joe repeated.

"He certainly doesn't look like him," Tony agreed.

"I not stay there," Joe added. "Leave tonight."

"You'll be at home with your father?"

"Yes, sir."

"Because I may want to see you again," Tony explained. "I don't believe he killed himself. Would you like to help find out who killed him?"

Joe's usually impassive eyes gleamed.

"You try me," he said.

"All right, I will," Tony declared as the car stopped. He paid it off and led the way into the station.

The ground floor was occupied by the precinct police, with a high desk at the left and the men's prison at the back. An iron stairway led to the first floor, where the captain of detectives and his staff had their quarters, and then on up to the second floor, the headquarters of the homicide squad and Tony was pleased to find that Duffy was still there, and the two of them were shown in without delay.

"Here's Joe, Dr. Metcalf's boy," Tony said.

"Sure, I remember him" and Duffy looked at Joe with a smile. "Sit down, both of you."

"Joe is anxious to help us," Tony went on. "He doesn't like Metcalf's brother. Have you seen him?"

"Yes."

"Not at all like Dr. Metcalf, Joe says he doesn't believe he is his brother."

"Nobody would dare try anything like that," said Duffy. "But I can check it," and he made a note on his desk pad.

"Now, about the ladder. Joe and I are going to see if we can find where it was bought. He knows something about Japanese importers."

"I've got it here for you, still in that old suitcase," Duffy motioned to where it stood on the floor beside his desk.

Tony lifted it up and placed it on the desk. It was a twenty-six inch suitcase of heavy brown leather, much the worse for wear.

"That was an expensive bag in its day," said Tony. "It has had some labels on it which have been scraped off."

"He studied in Vienna, you know," Duffy answered. "Was there quite a while."

"You recognize the bag, Joe?"

"Dr. Metcalf's," said Joe. "But him never use. Him have new bag."

"And this old one, you say, was stored away?"

"In big closet in storeroom."

"My hunch is that it wasn't in the place at all," said Tony. "It would be safer in a closet in Graham's apartment."

"That might be," Duffy agreed. "Now look at these gloves again, Joe. Do you think they were Dr. Metcalf's?"

"Not sure," said the house boy, after he had examined them carefully. "Might be. Him have glove like them."

"Now, Joe," Duffy went on, "you told me before that Dr. Metcalf never had a pistol."

"Why not?"

"Him never kill anything," Joe explained earnestly. "Not even fly. Him make me catch fly and put him out. Him say life of fly just same as life of man."

"But what about this ladder, Joe?" Duffy asked. "It's Japanese you say, and so it must have been brought in by some importer."

The Jap house boy examined the silk ropes and then went over the bamboo rungs very carefully, one by one. At last he gave a little exclamation of satisfaction.

"Look there, boss," he said, and pointed to a tiny emblem stamped in blue ink on the bottom rung. "Mark of Shoga Company."

Joe was beaming with delight, but Tony stared at the mark dubiously. "It's too easy, Jim," he said. "It's just too easy. Why didn't he scrape off that mark? Why did he leave it there for us to see?"

"Maybe he didn't notice it," the detective suggested. "I didn't. Nobody would see it unless he look for it."

"But anybody who was going to use it as a property in a murder case would look for it," Tony objected. "I'm afraid it is just another plant. However, I'll see what I can find out," and he rolled the ladder up and put it under his arm.

Duffy pulled a telephone directory toward him and glanced into it. "Shoga Importing Company," he read. "Eighteen Cherry St. That won't take you long."

"I'll be back inside an hour."

"Don't hurry," said Duffy. "I'll be here all afternoon," and he turned back to his work.

Ten minutes later, Tony and Joe were entering the office of the Shoga Company, which they had discovered with considerable difficulty in a long, barn-like building in the rear of Cherry St. The only person in sight was an old Oriental who came forward grinning ingratiatingly.

"What you wish, sir?" he asked.

"I have a rope-ladder here," said Tony, and laid it on the counter. "It has the mark of your firm on it and I want to know who bought it."

The old man looked at him more closely and then examined the little blue mark on the bottom rung. Then he ran his eye over Joe. He looked at the mark again.

"It is true we sell that ladder," he said. "I remember well. I sell him myself."

"How long ago?"

"I look," and he shuffled away to a desk and opened a large ledger. back. "April 11."

"Who bought it?" Tony asked, trying to keep the elation out of his face. Last Monday — the day McKibben was killed!

"I not know," answered the man, stolidly. "No give name."

"Did you deliver it?"

"No. I wrap him up and he take him along."

"But certainly you remember what he looked like?"

"Oh, yes," said the other, still more stolidly. "Him dark man, black eyes very bright, little black beard."

Tony's heart sank within him. For the dark man with the bright eyes and the little black beard could have been—Dr. Jerome Metcalf!

It was a somewhat chastened Tony who walked into Lieut. Duffy's office and deposited the ladder on his desk. "Take it," he said. "Let Schneider have it, if he wants it."

"What was it—a washout?" the detective asked.

"Yes, it was bought by a fellow with bright black eyes and a little black beard. Metcalf, in other words. At least that is what the Jap said. But maybe that is what he had been told to say," he added thoughtfully.

"There you go," mocked Duffy. "Well, I've got two reports for you which you'll find hard to explain. The only prints inside the gloves were Metcalf's."

"Of course. What's the other one?"

Mayflower at 12:45 Friday morning

"Schneider checked in at the Mayflower exactly on time."

"Have you thought about the air route?"

"Yes. We found the taxi driver who brought him to the Mayflower. He picked him up at the Union Station, so he must have left New York at 8:35, as he said. Where does that leave you?"

Tony told Detective Duffy: "The gloves were really Metcalf's. The man who killed McKibben never had them on. He stole them at the same time he stole Metcalf's suitcase. While he was doing the job he wore his own gloves, and dipped one of these in McKibben's blood after he had killed him."

"Possible, but not convincing," Duffy commented. "And how about the taxi?"

"He drove from the Washington airfield to the Union Station—it takes only about fifteen minutes—and was picked up there and driven to the Mayflower."

"There's your superman again," scoffed Duffy impatiently. "No man alive would ever think of all those things."

"Herschel Schneider would," said Tony doggedly.

"Has it occurred to you, Tony," Duffy went on, "how much simpler and more reasonable it would be to take things at their face value, instead of trying to read hidden meanings and deep-laid plots in everything? Take this ladder, for example, you thought you had a real clue there, but the Jap who sold it says it was bought by a man who was a dead ringer for Metcalf. You believe that he was bribed to say that. But tell me this—how could the man who bought that ladder on Monday in order to get into McKibben's apartment have any idea that he was going to kill Metcalf on Thursday and would plant it on Metcalf at that time? He thought he was going to make McKibben's death appear a suicide. He didn't know he had slipped up on it until next day when the red carnation was discovered. Who was this fellow—not only a superman, but a clairvoyant who could see three or four days ahead?"

"I can't answer that, Jim," admitted Tony, "but I'm going to find the answer. May I use your phone? I want the morgue at the Record office."

Duffy passed the call to the switchboard operator.

"There's your party," he said, after a moment, and handed Tony the phone.

"This you, Jud?" Tony asked. "This is Tony Bigelow. Have you got a good recent photo of Herschel Schneider in your files?"

"Wait a minute, Tony," said the morgue keeper. And then, "Yes, we've got one."

"I wish you would send it up to my place right away. I'll see that you get it back. Thanks."

Duffy was looking at him quizzically as he laid down the receiver. "Never say die!" he grinned. "It would certainly give me a lot of pleasure to get something on Herschel Schneider, but I'm afraid—"

"Anyway," said Tony grimly, "I'll see you here at two o'clock Monday afternoon for that dictograph demonstration."

"I'll be here," said Duffy, and Tony departed for his daily round of the cocktail bars. At one of them, crowded as usual with afternoon women, he ran into Lily Edgerton. She was sitting by herself at a little table, sipping a tall one, and she greeted him with high good-humor.

"Sit down a minute, Tony," she called. "I know I'm not news any more, but you can spare me one minute, can't you?"

ATTEMPTS MADE TO PASS MERCURY COATED COINS

Attempts to pass pennies coated with mercury as legal tender for dimes have been brought to the attention of the Belleville police recently.

Only yesterday an airman tried to insert such a coin into the coin box on the Mountain View bus, but as the coated penny was too heavy in thickness it could not be inserted, which brought the matter to the attention of the driver. The airman stated he had apparently received the coated coin in change without noticing it.

Last week old fashioned large Canadian pennies made appearances after being treated with mercury and were offered for quarters, police learned later today. However, in these cases merchants were not victimized as the attempted deception was soon brought to the attention of the intended victim who promptly refused to accept the coins.

QUEBEC OBSTACLE TO SOCIALISTIC IDEAS--BRACKEN

Leader Hoped to See Canada Example of Unity in Diversity

QUEBEC CULTURE

Quebec, Feb. 29 —(CP)— John Bracken, National Progressive Conservative Leader, told his first Quebec Province political audience Monday night that they formed "one of the most substantial obstacles to the prevalent danger of a socialistic ideology" and said he did not believe "rumors of a spirit of separatism growing in Quebec."

Mr. Bracken said that no advantage could come to French Canadiens if they formed themselves into a separate block in the Dominion, because "we must stand or fall together—all the provinces, East and West and Centre."

"It is my hope," he said, "that we in Canada may yet stand before the world as an example of unity in diversity and that two predominant races in this country may continue to give what is best in their respective cultures to the enrichment of Canadian life and to the progress of the human family."

Mr. Bracken said that the people of Quebec formed a bulwark against socialistic doctrines because of a strong attachment to the soil and a sense of justice.

"In speaking to the people of Quebec," he added, "I shall express exactly the same views as I would in any other part of Canada . . . . I come to you with no special favors. I shall not insult you with bribes nor deceive you with promises."

Commonwealth Relationships.

Speaking of commonwealth relationships, Mr. Bracken said that if wisely developed, such relationships "could favorably affect the future peace and security of the world" but their virtue would disappear if dependent upon "any form of coercion."

"There will be no reversion to colonialism," he said. "We shall preserve our autonomy. We shall take a positive stand for increased trade and peace in the world and we shall co-operate fully with the commonwealth to meet these ends . . . .

"We Canadians now are a strong, well-equipped people and our voice will be listened to with respect wherever we shall speak through a government capable of making wise decisions and acting on them in good faith."

Of relationship between groups, he said: "You were guaranteed certain rights and privileges under the constitution of Canada. We propose to see that these rights are protected . . . . I am as much against government by a single class as I am opposed to domination by one ethnic group."

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, Feb. 29. (CP)—Moderate weakness was shown in the early session, especially in the industrial list. Turnover totalled 414,000 shares for the first three hours.

In the industrial section prices were lower for the Utility and Senior Oil Groups and the Steels were firm. English Electric A, Pressed Metals and Canadian Car Pfd. firmed fractions.

Weak issues in the Gold group included Teck Hughes, Wright-Hargreaves, O'Brien, Sullivan and Leitch. Nickel and Noranda posted minor losses and other base metals were steady.

Price adjustments were narrow in the western oil list. Dalhousie gained a cent and minor losses came out for Pacific Refineries and East Crest.

HOGS

Toronto, Feb. 29—(CP)—Prices were unchanged at bacon-hog markets reporting early today.

Dressedweight: Hull $16.95 delivered, Stratford, Barrie, London $17 delivered, Chatham $16.40 plus transportation, Hamilton $17.05 delivered.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

Toronto, Feb. 29. (CP)— Cattle trade was very slow up to mid-session on the Livestock Market here today with prices 15 to 25 cents lower for the week on weighty steers and steady on other killers. Veal calves and lambs were steady. No price was established for hogs. No sheep were offered.

Receipts reported by the Dominion Marketing Service were: Cattle 500, calves 200, hogs 800, lambs 250. Unsold from yesterday were 1,000 head of cattle.

Prices in the trade included:

Cattle—A few common to medium weight steers $11 to $11.60, butcher steers $10.50 to $11.85, heifers $10 to $11.50, butcher cows $7.25 to $9, canners downward to $5, bulls $6 to $8.75, fed yearlings $12 to $13.25.

Calves—$16 to $17 for choice, other vealers downward to $10.

Lambs: $13.50 for good westerns.

Hogs closed previously at $17.05 to $17.25 dressedweight at yards or plants.

Multiple Birth Story Is Short-Lived

Trenton, Ga., Feb. 29 —(AP)— A short-lived report that quintuplets had been born in North Georgia was credited today to exaggerated reports of a single birth at a remote farm home.

J. G. Gray, telephone operator at Trenton, said he received word that quintuplet boys had been born to a farm family on lonely Sandmountain. Upon checking, however, he learned only one child had been born.

Many persons in the vicinity had heard the report.

12 Leap Year Babies Born in Toronto

Toronto, Feb. 29 —(CP)— It may be leap year but Toronto girls don't seem to be aware of it judging from marriage statistics issued at the city hall today. The figures show there have been 555 marriages so far this month, 90 less than the 645 last February.

Incidentally, at least 12 babies were born in Toronto hospitals early today.

Mess Room Chatter Of Canada's Airmen

By LOUIS V. HUNTER
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

With the R.C.A.F. in Britain, Feb. 29 (CP)—A Leaside Squadron Lancaster, damaged over Berlin by fire from an attacking enemy night fighter, was pulled out of a 13,000-foot vertical "death" dive from 22,000 feet by PO. J. A. (Jim) McIntosh of Revelstoke, B.C., who braced his feet against the dashboard and wrapped his arms around the control column.

Sgt. L. Bandle of (27 Nasmith ave.) Toronto, rear gunner, said shells from the attacking ME 110 raked the bomber from stem to stern. Bandle and the mid-upper gunner, Sgt. A. F. Dedauw of Tilbury, Ont., opened fire simultaneously and scored hits on the German twin-engined fighter's port engine and cockpit. "The last we saw of him he was spinning down, burning fiercely," Dedauw said. "We definitely got him."

The Lancaster was so badly damaged, McIntosh ordered the crew to prepare to abandon it but he managed to reach an airfield near the English coast. There were hundreds of holes in the fuselage. None of the seven-man crew was even slightly injured.

The navigator was FO. A. J. Small of Norris, Man. Others in the crew were WO. C. N. Scholl of (368 Lansdowne ave.) Toronto, wireless operator-air gunner, and Sgt. R. C. Elvin of (1709 Bloor St. west) Toronto, bomb aimer.

Flt. Lt. Ted Farah, R.C.A.F. public relations officer, reports from a Tunisian city that five Canadian Spitfire pilots who apparently wanted to keep on flying against the enemy until the last shot of the war was fired, all bounced into a base personnel depot there to await new postings. A tour of "ops" for a fighter pilot is 200 hours, but all five had voluntarily gone considerably over that time.

They were Flt. Lt. I. F. (Hap) Kennedy, D.F.C., of Cumberland, Ont., whose score is 10 destroyed and one probable; Flt. Lt. William Olmstead of Hamilton, Ont., who has destroyed two enemy aircraft and damaged four; FO. William Hockey of Kentville, N.S., who destroyed one and damaged two in 280 hours of operational flying; FO. Ross Whitney of Chapleau, Ont., with a half destroyed, 1 1-2 probable and two damaged, and Flt. Lt. John Stock of Ottawa, two damaged.

The five are old acquaintances. Their paths crossed in the skies over Britain, France, Malta, Sicily and Italy. Their total bag is 13 1-2 enemy planes destroyed.

WAAF pilots now in training at Air Transport Auxiliary Headquarters, will fly reserve planes to frontline airfields when the Second Front opens. Hundreds of girls answered an appeal for volunteers. They had to be unmarried and had to pass a medical test as strict as the R.A.F.'s.

It is expected that members of the women's division of the R.C.A.F. will also be given a similar opportunity.

Suggest Hog Grading Slips Be Plainer

Cobourg, Feb. 29—(CP)—Ralph C. Banbury, agricultural representative for Northumberland County, in reporting yesterday on a meeting of the Northumberland Hog Producers' Association, said the members expressed the belief that the marketing of hogs would be facilitated if grading slips were plainer and more uniform from all packing plants.

The meeting decided as a 1944 project to allocate purebred boars, one or more to each township. The Ontario Department of Agriculture will be asked to assist in making the purchases.

Mr. Banbury said hog production in Northumberland had been satisfactory in 1943 and that the hogs marketed 82.7 per cent. were in "A" and "B" grades, compared to 85.2 per cent. for Haldimand, the county raising the best grade in the province.

Efficient Engineers Reported Installed In 5,000 Nazi Plants

Stockholm, Feb. 29 —(AP)— Prof. Albert Speer, Nazi Minister of Munitions, is placing efficiency engineers and controllers in 5,000 German war plants because of the "necessity for increasing production," according to a Berlin dispatch.

The dispatch added that efficiency experts intend to squeeze greater production out of night shifts, increase the efforts of labor conscripts and invalids and use unschooled hands more advantageously.

HIGH PERSONAGES INJURED

London, Feb. 29—(CP)—Lt.-Gen. Giffard le Quesne Martel, one of Britain's foremost tank generals, and Miss Florence Horsbrugh, parliamentary secretary of the Ministry of Health, were injured in the recent German air raids on London, it was learned yesterday.

FEELS LIKE DIFFERENT PERSON SINCE SYNTONA BUILT HIM UP

Was Fatigued and Rundown After Suffering Years With Poor Indigestion; Had Pains In Back, Joints and Muscles. Tells of Improved Health.

"After the way Syntona has helped me, I can plainly see why so many people are talking about this medicine," said Mr. Robert J. Watson, Dorchester, Ontario, in a recent report.

"My stomach had been in such a disordered condition for many years and I felt that my entire system had become rundown and weakened. Food just seemed to ferment in my stomach and cause gas, cramps and sour acid risings. This gas gave me a full, heavy, bloated feeling and I often got dizzy spells with dark spots dancing before my eyes. Then rheumatic pains set in my back, joints and muscles, until I felt sore and lame all over. Many nights I couldn't get my proper sleep, because of the pain, so I felt tired and fatigued from the time I got up in the morning.

"After trying many different medicines without any real results, I was advised to try Syntona and I am glad to say I felt definitely better from the first bottle. Now, after a few more weeks on this medicine, I have come back to tell you that I feel like a different person. For the first time in years I am enjoying my meals without fear of gas and indigestion afterwards. I got relief from the dizzy feelings and the aches and pains have gone away. Then, too, my nerves are more relaxed, so I get a good night's sleep and my entire system feels built up and improved.

MR. ROBERT J. WATSON

Syntona is made from the pure liquid extracts of 12 of Nature's Finest Herbal Plants. It acts on the stomach, kidneys, liver and bowels . . . aids in the elimination of excess acids and impurities from the system and promotes better assimilation of food for increased strength and energy.

Syntona is sold and recommended in Belleville at DOLAN THE DRUGGIST. Find out how it will help you, too.

FOXBORO

Many Assemble For Service of Day of Prayer

Foxboro.—A large number of United and Presbyterian members assembled in the United Church S.S. on Friday afternoon when the World's Day of Prayer Service was conducted. After quiet music had been played by Mrs. (Rev.) E. M. Cook, Mrs. S. C. Gay took charge as leader and the service as outlined followed. During the first part a solo "Garden of Prayer" by Mrs. W. Simmons was greatly enjoyed and some thoughts on Prayer were given by Mrs. Hodgen. Some assisting in the different prayers were, Mrs. W. Scott, Mrs. J. G. Sills and Mrs. Clare Finkle. Miss Tena Watt then took charge and Mrs. J. Lake and Mrs. Bailey assisted in the prayers. Mrs. (Rev.) McDonald, of Roslin, was guest speaker and chose as her topic, the theme "And The Lord wondered that there was no intercessor". She told of the great need of a praying people and said that man's extremity is God's opportunity. She closed her instructive address with two poems "What would He say?" and "His Lamp am I". The latter part of the service was again taken by Mrs. S. C. Gay and Mrs. E. Tummon sang an appropriate solo, 'Tis the Blessed Hour of Prayer". Rev. E. M. Cook gave some helpful thoughts and closed the meeting. Carol Stewart collected the offering and Mrs. George Priest was appointed key woman for next year.

Leap Year Gives Calendar Reform New Prominence

By JEAN THOMPSON
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Leap Year has romantic connotations for the fair sex, but with advocates of calendar reform it's a strictly mathematical matter, an irregularity that makes the boosting of their favorite topic all the more opportune.

Thousands of years before Christ the Egyptians in their sunny land originated a solar calendar of 365 1-4 days. The Romans used a solar calendar from which the civil calendar of all European countries has been borrowed. The Romans were not above juggling the months for political ends and by the time the Julian calendar after himself. three-month discrepancy existed between the solar and the civil year.

Caesar did a repair job on the system in 46 B.C. and named it the Julian calendar after himesif. Since then only one rearrangement has been made to bring the calendar year into line with the solar year. Pope Gregory XIII synchronized them in 1582 by skipping ten days. This reformed calendar known as Gregorian is commonly used today.

But it is not the only calendar in current use. The Hebrew calendar varies between 12 and 13 months. Mohammedan time measurement is purely lunar and the Orient has systems of its own.

A Modern Scheme.

Now the World Calendar Association organized in 1930 has a scheme for making the daily, weekly and monthly operation of the Gregorian calendar automatic. The plan is attracting much attention in this age of mechanical performance.

Its scheme is to rearrange the number of days in each Gregorian month. Anniversaries would then fall on the same day of the same week every year and the same number of business days in each month would permit accurate comparisons between corresponding periods in successive years.

The World Calendar is based on the 12-month solar rather than on the 13-month lunar year. Each year begins on Sunday, January 1.

Each quarter contains three months—13 weeks—91 days, begins on Sunday and ends on Saturday. The first month in each quarter has 31 days, the other two 30 days. Month dates always fall on the same weekdays and each month has 26 days plus Sundays.

The 365th day known as Year End Day and the 366th day in leap year will be world holidays called December W and June W — extra days inserted at the end of their name months so as not to disturb the quarterly arrangement.

14 Governments Approve.

The inauguration of such a calendar would be easiest when it coincides with the Gregorian calendar, Saturday, December 30, 1944 and Sunday, July 1, 1945 are the closest days. Fourteen governments including China, Norway and six Central and South American countries have approved the World Calendar.

One of the noted exponents of calendar reform was the late Moses B. Cotsworth of Vancouver who propounded two different plans. He helped to prepare the international 13-month calendar publicized by the League of Nations Committee on calendar reform. After the League became less prominent he devised a 12-month year with a 30-day month and a six-day week, Saturday being dropped from the calendar.

So there you have three different schemes for organizing the length of time it takes the earth to travel around the sun. Any one of them would solve some of the problems of personal finance. Monthly incomes would not have to last 28 days one month and 31 days the next and the deadline for paying bills would not be subject to the vagaries of irregular month-ends.

It's quite on the cards that calendar reform will have an important place in the post-war world in spite of man's instinctive regard for tradition and dislike of change. The superstitious may even have to survive four Fridays the thirteenth.

MUST PAY FOR FRANK

Bristol, England, (CP) — Two schoolboys were ordered by the juvenile court here to compensate Clifton Zoo for two parrots they had stolen. One parrot died of suffocation after being put in one boy's pocket and the other was lost when they threw it back over the zoo wall.

Marmora and District

Marmora (Special)—Mr. William Aunger caught a wolf in a trap last week. Mr. Aunger had the trap set for fox and had already caught two foxes. The wolf weighed 29 pounds, and had to be dispatched with a club.

WOUNDED SOLDIER

IT DOESN'T HURT . . . AND YOUR HEALTH WILL NOT BE HARMED

Let's be frank about this. You can help save lives by donating some of your blood at any of the Red Cross Blood Donor Clinics. That blood is used in plasma form for transfusions right on the field of battle and for every single battlefield transfusion, four or five men or women must each volunteer a donation!

There are only two reasons why those who know the need hold back. They think it will hurt. Or they believe it will harm them.

Here are the facts! The nurse will give you an arm anaesthetic if you are nervous. Your temperature, blood pressure and haemoglobin will be checked thoroughly. The volume of blood taken, a minimum, will be made up by your system in 48 hours, the blood cells within 14 days. And you may donate that much once every two months without harm of any kind.

Keep your appointment! Our soldiers keep theirs!

20,000 DONATIONS PER WEEK ARE NEEDED, FROM MEN AND WOMEN 18 TO 60 YEARS. REGISTER AT YOUR LOCAL RED CROSS BLOOD DONOR CLINIC TODAY.
